Area forest supervisors are responsible for making the determination of when the ground will be considered snow covered. Bob Wennerstrand, Warroad Area Forest Supervisor, has stated that his will usually be from November through March. If you are unsure about the snow cover and the need for a permit, check with you local fire warden or DNR forestry office before burning.

If you are planning to do open burning, remember that burning is restricted to vegetable material. According to MPCA rules, some materials cannot be burning in an open fire under any circumstances.

State Parks

Wreath Marking

Old Mill State Park will host a wreath-making workshop Nov. 23-24. Activity starts at 1:30 p.m. both days at the picnic shelter. Parking will be in the main parking area.

Participants will have the opportunity to make a holiday wreath out of natural evergreen boughs of balsam, pine or spruce and pine cones.

Those who would like to make a wreath should contact the park at 437-8174 between Nov. 16-20 so that enough material can be gathered. Participants are asked to bring a wire coat hanger or another type of wreath base and a pair of pliers or wire cutters.

The workshop is free of charge, but all vehicles will need a daily or annual state park sticker to enter the park. The new annual stickers are now available, as well as the 1992 state park calendars.

Weather affects deer hunt

Record-breaking snowfalls in the eastern and northeastern portions of Minnesota prompted Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials to make changes in the firearms deer season that began statewide Saturday (Nov. 9).

"The unprecedented snowfalls were expected to make deer hunting very difficult," said Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Wildlife Section. "Hunters were expected to have particular difficulty in gaining access to more remote forested areas."

The access problem was expected to be quite severe at least for the first week or so in the area lying east of a line from the Twin Cities along Highway 65 to International Falls, Bremicker said. With snow accumulations in this area ranging from 12 to 40 inches, hunters were advised to carefully plan their hunts and to bring equipment necessary for a wintertime hunt.

To help hunter meet harvest objectives, the DNR took several action:

- The deer season in Zone 2A east of Highway 169 (Permit Areas 225, 226, 227, 235, 236) will be extended through Nov. 24. The deer season in this area will now be concurrent with the deer season in Zone 1A, which runs from Nov. 9 through Nov. 24.
- Restrictions on the use of snowmobiles, three-wheeled cycles, or other all-terrain vehicles will be significantly relaxed in Zone 1A and Zone 2A. Snowmobiles and ATVs can be used anytime in these zones for access and for dragging or transporting tagged deer, except on wildlife management areas specified in the deer hunting regulations.
- In cooperation with the DNR Division of Forestry, some state forest roads were plowed to improve hunter access. Special efforts were to be made in east-central Minnesota, south of Highway 210, which is an area used by a large number of deer hunters. Deer populations in this area are above the goal and approximately 40 percent of the corn in the nine agricultural sections of this area is still standing. Consequently, the potential for deer damage later this winter is very high unless an adequate deer harvest is achieved, Bremicker said. Some work to improve access will occur north of 210 in Zone 1A. "We are encouraging other agencies and individuals to plow forest roads and other access routes as well," Bremicker said.

Other changes to the deer season are being considered, but will be further evaluated following the outcome of the first week of the deer season, Bremicker said. "It may be necessary to extend the deer season by a week in those areas of Zone 1A and 2A most affected by the blizzard," he said. "Although the rest of the state are generally less affected by the blizzard, we will be watching the deer season and harvest very closely to see if other adjustments to season lengths are necessary," Bremicker said. Any additional season extension or adjustments will be announced by Friday, Nov. 15.

Hunters were advised by DNR officials to use common sense when they ventured into the countryside. Because of the snow, the cold and the possibility of vehicles becoming stuck, hunters were advised to bring shovels and survival kits.

Survival kits could contain a compass, plastic bags for shelter and warmth, 15 feet of nylon rope for a shelter frame, waterproof matches, lightweight food items such as beef jerky or candy, a candle to start fires and a whistle for signaling help.

Other safety tips for hunters:

- Keep in mind the dangers of getting vehicles stuck in snow along remote roads.
- Tell someone your hunting site and estimated return time.
- Wear adequate clothing for quickly-changing weather conditions.
- Bring blankets or sleeping bags in case you vehicle stalls or becomes stuck.

DNR News

Kent Lokkesmoe has been named director of the Division of Waters for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

DNR Commissioner Rod Sando, in making the appointment, said Lokkesmoe has the experience and expertise to lead the Division of Waters during a time when water management issues are coming to the forefront.

Lokkesmoe has been acting director the the DNR Waters Division since January, replacing Ron Nargang, who was named DNR deputy commissioner. Lokkesmoe previously was assistant director of the Waters Division, overseeing all field operations. Before that he was the regional hydrologist for the DNR Metro Region from 1978-88. He joined the DNR in 1974, initially working in the area of public drainage project review and as an expert witness for wetland drainage litigation.

Lokkesmoe, a registered professional engineer, is a 1972 graduate of the University of Minnesota Institute of Technology, where he earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the countless number of people who touched our mother's life through the time of her recent illness, particularly the pastors, the doctors, nurses and other staff at Northwest Medical Center, and the Green Funeral Home staff. Your love was so evident in all the cards, letters, balloons and flowers.

Thank you too for remembering her in her death with cards, flowers and memorials. You were all very special to her.

Also we wish to thank again all of those who have helped ease our sadness by calling us, bringing food over, just showing you care in some way. God bless you!

The Family of Alice Skreland

PUBLIC NOTICE:

It is the policy of Thief River Falls Technical College, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, to comply with federal and state law prohibiting discrimination and with the requirements imposed by or pursuant to regulations issued thereto, to the end that no person in the Thief River Falls Technical College shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, creed, religion, sex, sexual preference, marital status, age, status with regard to public assistance or disability, be excluded from any education program or activity, or in employment, recruitment, consideration, or selection therefore, whether full-time or part-time, under an education program or activity for which the college is responsible.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all my friends for their prayers, cards, flowers and phone calls while I was hospitalized in Fargo.

A special thank you to Pastor Roger Hanson for his visits and prayers and phone calls while I was in the local hospital and also while I was hospitalized in Fargo.

A big thank you to Drs. Potel and Schouneman and to the compassionate and tender care of the ICU staff of Northwest Medical Center.

A very special thank you to Klem and Marion Gigstad for all their many kindnesses.

A special thanks to my family for their love and concern and for being there with me before, during and after the surgery. God's Blessings be on all of you.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON IMPROVEMENT TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that the Town Board of Rocksbury Township will meet in the Town Hall of Rocksbury Township, Minnesota at 7:00 o'clock P.M. on the 20th day of November, 1991, to consider the making of an improvement on Riverbend Drive from its commencement at its intersection with County Road 17 and extending westerly and southerly to its point of termination and also including that portion of the road extending south of the south line of Section Nine (9), thence southwest to the end of the platted road that borders Oen's First Subdivision by improving said roadway through addition of aggregate, bituminous overlay, and ditch work, pursuant to Minnesota Statute, Sections 429.011 to 429.111. The area proposed to be assessed for such improvement is the property abutting on such street. The estimated cost of such improvement is $316,000.00. Such persons as desire to be heard with reference to the proposed improvement will be heard at this meeting.

REPORT From The MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

by Rep. Wallace Sparby
District 1B

State Rep. Wally Sparby says he enjoyed participating in the House of Representatives' successful Legislative Mini-session held recently in the Brainerd Lakes/Cuyuna country area of north central Minnesota.

The first mini-sessions in Minnesota's history were held in greater Minnesota in 1987 as a way to open up state government to people in Minnesota who don't ordinarily have the chance to participate in it. House members and staff picked up their copy machines and hearing gavels, and spent three days in several outstate cities. They did the same thing last week in the Brainerd area.

The goal of legislative mini-sessions, Rep. Sparby recalled, was to get away from the insulated environment in St. Paul, to hear from "real people" other than policy analysts and lobbyists, and to find out what priorities people have for the direction of state government.

"We have always known people outside of St. Paul have good ideas, but it's unrealistic for us to think they can leave their families and jobs very often to come to St. Paul to tell us how they feel about things. This is a chance for them to have access to us and to tell us their concerns and opinions about how we can do a better job managing our state," Rep. Sparby said.

Past mini-sessions have resulted directly in legislation passed in subsequent sessions, he said. "Whether it was tax policy, or education, or the environment, or family issues, we've listened to what people's concerns are. And then we come back to the Capitol in St. Paul and act on those suggestions."

Two other very popular activities that have become a mini-session tradition were also part of the Brainerd Lakes/Cuyuna Country Mini-session: the town meeting and the host a Legislator for dinner events. Town meetings provide a large block of time when citizens can vent their frustration, make suggestions, or ask for explanations about any issue before a crowd of legislators. Host a Legislator offers citizens the chance to sit down over a meal and talk to legislators about anything they choose.

"All the feedback we get during this mini-session affects how we vote on issues during the upcoming session. When the Governor proposes a tax increase, for example, I might think about that family I had dinner with, and imagine how it would affect them," Rep. Sparby said.

"Listening carefully to the people and then acting on their suggestions is something that I consider an important part of my job as a state representative."

The Peterson Report

There has been a lot of talk about education in the past few years, but there has been little effort by politicians to put their money where their rhetoric is.

President Bush, former President Reagan, Gov. Carlson and former Gov. Perpich all have talked up education, calling themselves the "education president" or the "education governor of the brainpower state." But all four have been criticized for miserly expenditures on both K-12 and post-secondary education.

Of course, the popular retort is that more money doesn't necessarily mean a better education. At the federal level, some people wash their hands on the issue of elementary and secondary education funding, saying that it's a state matter.

But when it comes to postsecondary education, there can be no question that money is the name of the game, especially for the middle class. Half of the nation's 13 million college students receive some form of financial aid, and the federal government has had a historic responsibility there.

In the 1980s, a college education became a major problem for the middle class. Eligibility standards for financial aid have been raised. And what financial aid is available has come more in the form of loans than grants. That has left many students in the position of working full-time to make ends meet, stretching out a four-year program into five, six or seven years, and then graduating underneath a crushing debt that often will take years to repay.

I met recently with some students at Moorhead State University, and they had a lot of questions about whether Congress would change the policies.

I'm happy to say that we now are looking at a real commitment to higher-learning. The package now being assembled would increase the number of grants, lower certain eligibility thresholds and put some real money into financial aid for the middle class. Recognizing that it takes longer to complete college than it used to and that there is a more diverse student population, the bill relaxes some restrictions on financial aid.

The bill won't turn us overnight into the "higher education Congress," but it's an overdue step in the right direction.

Here are some of the details.

We'll stop requiring that middle-class families liquidate their assets or deplete their savings in order to make their college-age children eligible for financial aid. We'll provide guaranteed loans regardless of income, although we won't absorb interest for high-income students.

The ravamped loan program would include a phased-in trial project in which we would provide the loans directly, instead of using private lenders as a conduit. It's our guess that we would save some administrative costs that way.

Maximum grants would rise from $2,400 to $4,500. A family's home or farm equity or small business assets or savings would no longer be counted against a student in determining financial need. And the grant amounts would be adjusted along with the Consumer Price Index.

This enriched program would increase the five-year cost from about $10 billion a year to an estimated $20 billion. Predictably, the Bush administration and its congressional allies are complaining that this is too much. They fall back on the 1990 budget agreement which essentially froze overall levels for both domestic and military spending. But I didn't negotiate that agreement, and I won't accept that restraint. Let's scrap the Stealth bomber—at $865 million a plane (before repairs)—and put that money into our children's future.

Diabetes Awareness Month noted

Mayor Bob Carlson of Thief River Falls signed a document Friday proclaiming November as Diabetes Awareness Month in Thief River Falls.

"This month is an important step toward raising the awareness of citizens in Thief River Falls and area as to the seriousness of diabetes," stated Willard Stromberg of Thief River Falls, vice president of the Nordic chapter of the American Diabetes Association of Minnesota.

"We appreciate Mayor Carlson's commitment to helping the ADA/MN as we work to prevent and cure diabetes and improve the lives of all people affected by diabetes."

Approximately 14 million Americans, including 250,000 Minnesotans, have diabetes, a disease which affects the pancreas and its ability to produce insulin, a hormone necessary to convert sugar into energy. Left untreated, diabetes can lead to complications such as heart and kidney disease, blindness, stroke and other damage to the circulatory system. It can lead to death.

Last year approximately 50,000 Americans died from diabetes and its complications, making diabetes the fourth leading cause of death by disease in the United States.

USDA gives information on common mistakes

Holiday turkey needs attention in handling

by Pat Moriarty and Barbara O'Brien
USDA Registered Dietitians

Defrosted on the counter, prestuffed, slow-baked, partially cooked, stored whole without carving...! If any of these situations sounds like your usual Thanksgiving turkey preparation plans, you may be putting those who eat your turkey in jeopardy.

Over the last six years, USDA's staff on the Meat and Poultry Hotline have faced many challenges trying to save Thanksgiving turkeys that have been prepared in questionable ways. "It's difficult to advise consumers on Thanksgiving Day that the turkey they have worked so hard to serve may not be safe to eat," says Susan Templin Conley, Hotline Manager.

According to Conley, there are six basic problems that Hotline staff members hear every year. Read on to see if you may unknowingly be creating any of these scenarios.

MISTAKE 1—Defrosting at Room Temperature: "We've always done it that way...There's no room in the refrigerator...We forgot it was in the trunk of the car...It's in a cold basement." While there are many reasons why consumers find themselves with turkeys defrosted at room temperature, some planned and some unplanned, the result is the same—a potentially unsafe turkey. Bacteria grow rapidly at room temperature. Bacteria will begin to grow on the outside portion of the bird that defrosts first. These surface bacteria can multiply to dangerously high levels that cooking may not destroy.

Instead: Plan on 1 day of refrigerator defrost time for every 5 pounds of turkey. A 10-pound turkey will take approximately 2 days to defrost in the refrigerator, a 15-pound turkey 3 days and a 20-pound turkey 4 days.

Some callers worry that a frozen turkey will spoil if left in the refrigerator for 4 days. Don't be concerned. Even after a turkey fully defrosts, it is safe in the refrigerator for an additional 1-2 days.

If you forget to take your turkey out of the freezer early enough, don't panic. You're not in hot water yet, especially if you remember to use the COLD WATER technique. Even a 20-pound frozen turkey can be defrosted in 10 hours using the cold water defrost method. Submerge the wrapped bird in cold water, adding ice or new cold water every 30 minutes.

MISTAKE 2—Prestuffing a Turkey the Night Before: It's okay to prestuff Christmas stockings, but not Thanksgiving birds! Stuffing a turkey the night before is risky business. The cavity of the bird actually insulates the stuffing from the cold temperatures, and can keep the stuffing in a temperature range that encourages bacterial growth.

Instead: Prepare dry stuffing ingredients the day before. Tightly cover and leave at room temperature. The perishables—butter, or margarine, mushrooms, oysters, cooked celery and onion, broth—should be refrigerated. Combine the dry and wet ingredients and stuff the bird immediately before the turkey goes into the oven.

Mistake 3—Cooking at Low Temperatures Overnight: Every year Hotline staff members worry about "how consumers will go" when it comes to oven temperature settings. On Thanksgiving Day in 1990, Hotline staff talked with numerous families who calmly slept the night away while bacteria were busily multiplying on their turkeys in 200°F ovens. Cooking below below 325°F is unsafe because low temperatures permit the bird (and the stuffing) to remain in the "danger zone" (40°-140°F) too long. While in this "zone" bacteria can grow and some produce heat-resistant toxins.

MISTAKE 4—Partially Cooking a Bird the Day Before: Some time-savers are safer than others. Partially cooking a turkey is not one of them. Interrupted cooking can actually increase the possibility of bacterial growth. The turkey may be heated long enough to activate bacterial growth, but not long enough to kill it.

Instead: Cook the turkey completely in one operation. Several other ideas for SAFE time saving include: 1) Using oven cooking bags, 2) Baking stuffing separately from the turkey, 3) Cooking and carving the turkey 1 to 2 days before the holiday, and storing it in the refrigerator for reheating on the big day.

MISTAKE 5—Cooking a Turkey Ahead of Time and Leaving it Whole in the Refrigerator: Cooking the turkey a day or two before the holiday is fine, but refrigerating the bird whole, without carving, is another form of turkey jeopardy. A cooked turkey, stuffed or unstuffed, is too big and dense to cool down quickly and efficiently in a home refrigerator. In addition, reheating the turkey the next day in a slow oven to prevent drying out could allow even more growth of potential food poisoning bacteria.

Instead: Roast the turkey 1 or 2 days before the holiday. Use a meat thermometer to make sure that the bird reaches 180°F. Remove stuffing immediately after taking the bird from the oven. Allow the turkey to sit for 20 to 30 minutes so that the meat juices can settle. Carve the bird into appropriate serving slices. Arrange turkey slices in shallow baking pans. Cover and refrigerate. Reheat Thanksgiving Day in a conventional oven or microwave. Make sure that meat and stuffing are reheated to "steamy hot", 165°F.

Problem 6—Power Failure: The oven broke down, an ice storm downed power lines, there's no gas for the gas grill. You can't keep your bird hot...or you can't keep your bird cold.

These unplanned situations do arise through the fault of no one. Besides causing anxiety and stress, they can also lead to an unsafe bird.

Solution: Time is of the essence. If your bird has been in any of these situations for over 2 hours, your turkey could become risky. After 2 hours the turkey enters the "danger zone" where food poisoning bacteria can multiply rapidly. But to discuss your unique situation, call one of our food experts on the Meat and Poultry Hotline.

USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline answers questions on the safe storage and handling of meat, poultry and other perishable foods. Normal hours are 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. weekdays, Eastern Time. In November the hours will be extended to 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Hotline will also be open the weekend before Thanksgiving, Nov 23 and 24, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. On Thanksgiving Day, the lines will operate 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Call 1-800-535-4555.

May Corporation gets loan from Initiative Fund

May Corporation of Grygla, manufacturer of the WheelLounger reclining wheel chair, has received a $75,000 loan from the Northwest Initiative Fund's business loan program to be used for expansion and working capital.

According to the Initiative Fund's quarterly newsletter, May Corporation currently sells its products to long-term care facilities but is planning to expand the market to individuals. The expansion is expected to create an additional 25 new jobs.

The Initiative Fund's loan program encourages the start-up or expansion of for-profit businesses by supplementing private investment and loan capital with gap financing. Funds may be used for working capital, machinery and equipment or fixed assets.

Loans between $5,000 and $100,000 may be made, but a minimum of one dollar of new private capital must be invested for each loan program dollar requested. Loans are payable in three to 15 years and interest rates do not exceed 10 per cent.

Businesses that are eligible include technologically innovative industries, value added manufacturers, agriprocessors, information industries, agricultural marketing and tourism.

St. Bernard's sets mortgage burning Mass

To celebrate completion of payment for the church expansion and remodeling program completed only two years ago, St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls will burn the mortgage at a Mass celebrated by Bishop Victor Balke Friday, November 15, at 7 p.m.

November 15 is the second anniversary of the dedication of the church expansion and remodeling project. A reception will follow in the church hall.

Concelebrating the Mass with Bishop Balke will be Msgr. Stanley Bourassa and Rev. Dave Super who were serving St. Bernard's when the building project was undertaken and completed.

"Paying for your church was a gigantic undertaking and you deserve to be recognized for the way you accomplished this task in just three years," wrote Rev. Joe DeCrans, present parish priest at St. Bernard's, in a letter to the members of the parish.

"This is a lot of money for a parish your size to collect in just three years, especially when the economy has not been favorable. It means that a lot of people have really had to sacrifice to build the beautiful place where you worship God, that you can now call your own."

The building project approximated $1 million and the finance campaign was based on a three-year pledge payment program. The total of $701,468 paid to date (in addition to the building fund available at the start of the project) includes gifts from people who did not pledge and donations in excess of pledges by others.

Payment of pledges has been so good, in fact, according to finance committee co-chairmen Art Heinze and Dr. Frank Jung, that nearly $50,000 is available for projects which had been put on hold pending outcome of the building project. Work will start this summer on the installation of an elevator, remodeling of the kitchen which also serves St. Bernard's elementary school students and installation of window blinds. Total project work is expected to cost about $100,000.

Kelsey Carlson of the Satellite 4-H club was the first recipient of the Russell Sortoberg Sportsman award presented at the Pennington county 4-H awards night program November 1 in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Kelsey also received a public speaking award at the event.

Our Saviour's Christian academy in Thief River Falls received a $1,500 check for purchase of computer equipment from Northland Foods last week. The store awards a computer to the local schools for each $100,000 in Northland cash register tapes turned in at the store. This is the third computer awarded to local schools under the Big Dollars for Little Scholars program. Northland manager Marv Knapper presents the check to Our Saviour's principal Delores Kading.

Group seeks info on area highways

"Each year the transportation advisory committee prioritizes regional state trunk highways and forwards these recommendations to the Bemidji district office of the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT)," Warner said.

"We do this to identify existing and emerging highway needs and problems in the northwest region. This information will be used by MnDOT as part of its highway improvement planning process."

Region 1 includes Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Roseau, Pennington, Polk and Norman counties.

"We need your help," Warner said in encouraging public input into the process. "It is extremely important that the transportation advisory committee hears local concerns if we are to accurately identify the most important highway needs within this area of the state. These needs could include resurfacing, safety improvements, removal of spring weight restrictions or even problems regarding an intersection."

Persons with comments regarding highway needs or problems should direct them by November 18 to Sandy Warner at the Northwest Regional Development commission office in Thief River Falls by calling 681-2637 or 1-800-537-0601.

Transportation advisory committee of the Northwest Regional Development commission is seeking information on highway needs in the area, according to Sandy Warner of the regional commission staff.

Baker succeeds Wolfe in MnDOT engineer post

Steve Baker

Steve Baker, director of the office of planning and development for the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) metropolitan district in St. Paul, has been named district engineer for Mn/DOT in northwest Minnesota.

Baker succeeds Bob Wolfe who recently retired from the office in Bemidji. He assumed his duties Wednesday, November 6, and directs 220 employees in the construction and maintenance of state highways in this area of the state.

In his management of the district, Baker said that he will stress his commitment to workforce diversity and to the district's public outreach efforts.

Familiar with northwestern Minnesota through his work in the district from 1977 to 1988, Baker left Bemidji in 1988 to become the assistant district engineer for contract administration at the Oakdale Mn/DOT district.

A 1976 graduate of the University of Minnesota school of engineering, he has 27 years of experience as a technician and engineer with the department of transportation.

Agency on aging funds food programs

Upon recommendations from the Area Agency on Aging advisory committee, the Northwest Regional Development commission awarded Older American Act funds for 13 programs at its October meeting. Funds will be used to provide services for adults age 60 and older in northwestern Minnesota during 1992.

Lutheran Social Services of Moorhead received $196,000 of Federal Title III-C1 and $77,559 state funding to continue to provide congregate nutrition service throughout Region 1.

Lutheran Social Services also received $75,000 of Federal Title III-C2 and $8,549 state funding to continue to provide home delivered meals in northwestern Minnesota.

The following agencies were awarded Federal Title III-B funds to provide Home Health Aide Services: Marshall County Nursing Service, $6,500; Multi-County Nursing Service, $2,000 (to provide service in Norman county); Polk County Nursing service, $9,500; and Roseau County Home Care, $2,260. Additionally, Title III-D funds in the amount of $4,920 were awarded to Inter-County Nursing Service to provide home health aide services to frail elderly in Pennington and Red Lake counties.

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council of Crookston received a Title III-B award of $31,500 to provide housekeeping services in Polk, Pennington, and Norman Counties. Tri-Valley Opportunity Council was also awarded $7,500 for an insurance advocacy program for seniors in Region 1.

The Roseau County Home Care program also received $6,000 to provide housekeeping services to Roseau county seniors.

School Dist. 441 residents favor additional levy

Residents of School District 441, which includes the communities of Newfolden, Viking and Holt, voted themselves a tax increase for the five-year period beginning in 1993 when they approved a special levy at Tuesday's general election.

With 592 votes cast in the election, 424 were in favor of the special levy and only 168 opposed, according to Supt. Gene Busch. The favorable vote constituted 71 per cent of those voting.

At Newfolden there were 247 (71%) in favor and 97 opposed. At Viking there were 105 (80%) in favor and 26 opposed. And at Holt there were 72 (61%) in favor and 45 opposed.

By voting approval of the levy residents of the district authorized the board of education to levy an additional tax of $250,000 per year for a five-year period beginning in 1993. This is expected to result in an increase in property taxes in the district of 37.26 per cent.

With approval of the new levy, the board of education had indicated it would eliminate the last year of a five-year special levy of $96,650 a year approved in 1988. This would make 1992 a "gap" year between the old levy and the start

FAITH SHOULD NOT BE RESERVED FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS

In many a House of Worship, occasionally the children from either its elementary school or the Sunday school enhance the worship service on the Sabbath by singing and dramatizing the songs that illustrate their religious teachings. This is to the credit of both the children and the teachers who direct them. On these occasions, the proud parents are always there to watch their offspring perform, which results in a "packed house." However, on the following week, when there is no performance, the attendance is often relatively sparse. Let us remember that God's love is always with us and that every week at our House of Worship is a special occasion, where we learn all about it. Let us then set those children a good example by our being there regularly.

Delayne, John and Maren Hammer of rural Thief River Falls visited on Sunday afternoon at the Lloyd Sorenson home.

Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson were Sunday supper guests at Jon and Virginia Bems' home of Oklee to celebrate the birthdays of Virginia and her brother Marlan Sorenson. Other guests were Monte, Avis, Bryce and Banji Marquis of Goodridge and Malisse Asselin of Oklee.

Family Birthdays

A family birthday party was held on Sunday the 27th at the home of John and Jane Kolstoe of rural Oklee to celebrate the birthdays of Inga Linder, Leif and Jana Kolstoe and Ann Linder. Attending were the host family; Orrin, Phyllis, Jannia and Ann Linder; Inga Linder and Art Johnson, Marcia, Scott and Alyssa Paterson, and Gladys Kolstoe.

Halloween Party

The annual Halloween party sponsored by the Lioness Club on Thursday evening was a big success with many children gathered for various games and treats. Club members were assisted by the Junior Girl Scouts and several students of PHS. A number of prizes were awarded for the game winners, and Bingo was played with candy to the winners. The Lion's Club furnished the candy and the evening was enjoyed by children and parents alike.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota November 13, 1941

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Norway Army Officer To Speak

"Lieutenant Kaare Gythfeldt, Norwegian officer who fought in the campaign against the Nazis during the invasion of Norway, and who is now stationed with the Norwegian air force in Canada, will give an illustrated lecture at the Sons of Norway hall next Thursday evening, it was announced today."

Deer Count In Smiley Sunday

"The deer census count scheduled to be held recently in Sections 25 and 36 of Smiley township has been postponed to next Sunday, November 16, Game warden William Borchert, in charge of the arrangements, announced today. Those participating will assemble at the auditorium at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and Mr. Borchert expressed the hope that not less than sixty men would take part."

Doctors Aid In Immunizing Children

"The immunization program carried on through the cooperation of the physicians of Thief River Falls will get under way next week, Miss Ruby Goodman, Red Cross nurse, stated today. The county is divided up into areas, the parents in each area to be given a period of one week in which to bring their children in to their own family physician and have the immunizations for smallpox and diphtheria. Parents will be notified through the schools concerning the dates for their area and details of the plan. Diphtheria and smallpox, said Miss Goodman, can be prevented by immunization, and since only about 12 per cent of the rural school children are protected against diphtheria and 47 per cent vaccinated for smallpox, parents are being given this opportunity to have their children immunized."

Additional Payments Needed For Plates

"With 2,500 sets of 1942 motor vehicle license plates issued up to the first of the week, Ales Campbell, deputy registrar here, this week had an augmented staff assisting him in taking care of the last-minute rush of applicants, Saturday, November 15 being the final day for obtaining plates without the payment of an additional fee, which will become effective at the rate of 25 cents November 16, 25 cents more November 17, and on November 18, 50 cents more, or a total of $1, which will hold through the remainder of November."

Red River Valley Bible School Opens

"At a meeting in this city Monday, preliminary arrangements were made for the opening of the Red River Valley Bible school in Thief River Falls January 12, 1942. Present at the meeting were pastors and representatives of various Swedish Baptist churches throughout the valley."

Members of Lincoln Log Staff Go To Minneapolis

"A group of members of the staff of the Lincoln high school Log, bi-weekly publication, will go to Minneapolis Friday to attend the convention of the Minnesota High School Press association at the University of Minnesota. Included in those going are Maynard Tvedt, makeup advisor, John Dablow, editor-in-chief; Lorinda Reiersgaard, managing editor; John Borry, business manager; Bruce Biddick, sports editor; Dale Hostvet, feature editor; and Edward Peterson, makeup editor."

Topics of the Times

—That Polk county man who at the age of 82 fathered his 19th child showed a nice sense of the fitness of things when he chose to live in a place named Fertile.

—Current world events provide a dubious background for the observance of Armistice Day.

—Hitler may be a good executive, but he is a better executioner.

—An oldtimer is he who can recall the days when the federal government balanced its budget each year.

—Speaking of attractive names for summer resorts, consider Stinking Lake near Lake Park.

—In the battle of priorities, the liquor industry remains comfortably on the sidelines.

—Automobiles in the future, it appears, will be built of plastic, but they would bounce still better if made of rubber.

—KILO is a new radio station in Grand Forks, and naturally its wave length is measured in KILOcycles.

—The United States has 1,030 women attorneys, which leads Bachelor Billy Noonan to remark that it also has a lot of other women who lay down the law.

—Senator Langer of North Dakota has been receiving more publicity lately, but he probably doesn't appreciate it.

—Next Thursday is the day when Junior will ask for something besides the neck of the Thanksgiving turkey.

—It would be nice to be fluent in a half-dozen languages, but we would settle for being affluent in one.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota November 18, 1891

From Newspaper Files of One Hundred Years Ago

Fire At Ropp's Store

"Fire was discovered in the rear of the second story of C. G. Rapp's store building last evening about five o'clock, but a few pails of water quenched the flames before much damage was done. The fire caught from a defective chimney. Had it not been seen immediately it would have caused a serious fire. It caused considerable excitement as the wind was from the south and had the building burned it would have taken the whole block. The chimney was found to be very defective and a new one will immediately be built."

Harvest News

"Threshers and others estimate that fully if not more than half the threshing in this vicinity is yet to be done. As near as we can learn there are fourteen rigs at work on wheat tributary here but they have been able to do but very little heretofore. They are all hard at work now however, and are doing good work. Most of the machine owners have announced that they will keep at work all winter if necessary so the work will probably be done before spring."

A Visit From Commissioner DeMers

"Our County Commissioner C. P. DeMers was in town a couple of days this week on official business. Mr. DeMers is proving to be a pains-taking and efficient commissioner and evidently intends to deal fairly with this part of the district. He has secured a liberal appropriation from the county for the road in Sanders township and will try to secure more if possible. He is also trying to secure an appropriation for a bridge at Thief River Falls and other smaller matters in this part of the district."

of the levy authorized by the voters Tuesday.

Supt. Busch said that a key factor in adoption of the special levy is a forthcoming change in the tax law relating to utilities. Approving the special levy at this time will commit the utilities in the district—including pipelines—to about 56 per cent of the excess levy to be assessed. That percentage would drop to about 23 per cent if the levy were approved a year from now—a difference of about $62,000 per year.

In addition, the superintendent said, the district should recover about 25 per cent of the special levy in special referendum aid from the State of Minnesota, Supt. Busch added.

He said that the special levy is needed primarily because of declining enrollment which reduces state school aids. "Our kindergarten classes only have 24 to 26 students," he said, "while our graduating classes have had 35 to 39 students. We are anticipating our 1990-91 enrollment of 452 could drop to less than 400 students in the next six years."

Agency on aging gives funds to food programs

Northwest Minnesota Legal Services of Moorhead was awarded $22,500 in Title III-B funds to provide casework, legal education seminars and a minority outreach project for seniors in Region 1.

Medical transportation will be provided with Title III-B funding to the Kittson County Social Services department ($2,800) and the Roseau County Committee on Aging ($7,000).

Individuals 60 years of age and older are eligible to receive services through Older American Act programs for a voluntary contribution. Services such as home delivered meals and in-home services are provided to those most in need, with an emphasis on service to low-income minority seniors. For more information on these programs, contact Linda Nelson, NWRDC, at 681-2637 or 1-800-537-0601.

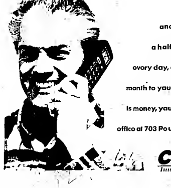
Scott and Maribeth Miller and children and myself left on Saturday for a few days in the Cities. We were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vigstol of Cedar until Tuesday. On Saturday we were joined by Kevin, Jodi and Justin Hauschild and the Dan Vigstol family to watch the exciting Twin's game. On Sunday evening we gathered at the Dan Vigstol home to see the final game along with the David Vigstol family of Lakeville. The Millers had attended the confirmation of their niece, Sonya Birkeland on Sunday morning and spent the day at her family home, the Dale Birkelands of Arden Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller and Mr. and Mrs. David Miller, as well as other family members were there too. On Tuesday we attended the Twin's parade in St. Paul and also toured the Capitol building, which I had never see. That day we were luncheon guests of Debbie Birkeland and then went on to Lakeville to the David Vigstols. On Wednesday Scott had Arthroscopic surgery on his knees in Waconia, as an out-patient, and we drove home on Thursday. It was a busy short vacation but it was good to see everyone and being a part of the Twin's mania was fun and exciting. Scott's surgery went well and he is recuperating at home here.

Double Baptism

The Sacrament of Holy Baptism was administered on Sunday for two grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sorenson. Rev. Clarence Johnson officiated at Immanuel Lutheran church. Ryan Anthony Gerardy son of Anthony and Sheila Gerardy was one of the infants who received the rite. His grandparents are Lloyd and Wavell, Jerry and Carol Gerardy, great-grandparents are Eugene and Willia Prestegaard and Barb Gerardy. Sponsors were Karl and Rita Sorenson, Barbie and Mike Konickson. The other baby was Jeffery Lloyd Sorenson son of Karl and Rita Sorenson. His grandparents are Lloyd and Wavell, Gordon and Connie Lancaster, great-grandparents are Eugene and Willia, and Edith Lancaster. His sponsors were Thomas and Rebecca Willett, Jeffrey Anderson and Russell Sorenson. Little Jeffrey wore the same suit that his father had worn for his baptism. Lunch guests at the Lloyd Sorenson home following the service were Pastor Clarence and Alice Johnson, Art and Avis Froland, Annette Vettleson, Tony, Sheila, Mallary and Brett Gerardy, Jerry and Carol Gerardy, Eugene and Willia Prestegaard and Barb Gerardy, Kevin Gerardy, Tammie and Joshua Gerardy all of Thief River Falls, Corlan Magnell, Jonathan and Virginia Berns of Oklee, Jeffrey Anderson of Trail, Mike and Barbie Konickson of Minnetonka, Russell Sorenson of Roseau, Karl, Rita, Kassandea, John and Jeffery Sorenson of Wannaska. Wavell served a cake baked as a cross and the guests also celebrated the birthday of Willia Prestegaard along with the baptisms.

Edna Hyde, Bunny DuChamp and Dorothy Mahre were dinner and afternoon guests of [illegible] Hughes on Wednesday.



OPEN UP AN OFFICE IN THIEF RIVER FALLS, ST. HILAIRE, PLUMMER, WARREN, HOLT, VIKING, RED LAKE FALLS AND EVERYWHERE ELSE YOU GO.

Thief River Falls, meet Cellular One. We're your new mobile telephone company, here to hook you up to the Minnesota Cellular One System. Which means you can now stay in touch with important business everywhere there's Cellular One coverage. And that's important. Because if you're in sales, contracting, healthcare, agribusiness, real estate, or in business for yourself, a Cellular One mobile phone can be as vital to your success as a regular phone.

To make sure Thief River Falls gets the best cellular service possible, we're investing three-million dollars into our system over the next five years. The cost to you? Affordable enough to pay for itself. In fact, if you spend just a half-hour of working time away from your office every day, a cellular phone can add as much as an extra month to your year. So if you've always believed that time is money, you can finally prove it. Just stop by our Bemidji office at 703 Paul Bunyan Drive, or call us at 759-CELL (2355).

Norm Peterson Was A Hospital Builder

When this editor came to Thief River Falls as a news reporter for the Times just a little over 30 years ago, Norman P. Peterson had been administrator of Northwestern Hospital for five years. Peterson died November 2 and his funeral services were held in Thief River Falls Wednesday.

We had the occasion to work with Norm on a number of news stories regarding the local medical community from that point on, and later while serving for nine years on the hospital's board of trustees, nearly all of that time while Norm was administrator.

Throughout the time that we first met him until well after his retirement in 1982 he had a deep and abiding interest in medical facilities for Thief River Falls. Never content with the status quo at the hospital, he was constantly looking forward to larger facilities, better equipment, more medical staff for local clinics, new and innovative ways to provide for northwestern Minnesota as much of what was available in urban centers as possible.

More important than his interest, however, was his ability to accomplish what he set out to do. He sought out—and frequently found—available sources of funds for building projects, either as grants or as low interest loans. Piece by piece he was instrumental in building the local medical facility with a large acute care addition, a mental health facility, convalescent and nursing care unit and eventually a medical office building attached to the hospital itself.

Anyone who believes the accomplishments came easy is badly mistaken. Seldom was there unanimous support for what was being done. Sometimes friendships had to be compromised on a personal basis to accommodate the bigger picture. While occasionally unable to reach agreement on an individual basis, he was a master at bringing divergent groups and opinions together to form a cohesive and united front. With Norm at the helm or in the background as the need dictated, the work got done and progress was made.

When strong personalities clashed—and Norm had a strong personality—Norm usually won out, primarily because he did his homework, prepared his position and came down on the right side of the issue. Even as the hospital grew in size and services, he had a constant finger on the pulse of every phase of the operation.

As we look now to the total medical facility which Thief River Falls has in this relatively remote area of the state and among a relatively sparse population base—and count ourselves fortunate to have access to such a facility—we can be thankful for the efforts of Norm Peterson. We sincerely doubt that there are more than a handful of people who have called Thief River Falls home who could have accomplished for the local medical community what he did in his lifetime. We are indeed fortunate he chose to pursue that task—and we are grateful.

Do Staffers Pull Too Many Congressional Strings?

While the Clarence Thomas supreme court confirmation hearings involving Anita Hill focused mainly on the witnesses and the Senators, they also brought to light an often-ignored aspect of congressional business—the key role of staff members who are not elected officials.

During the hearings, aides were in constant communication with their Senators, supplying them with documents, pointing out passages in those documents and running messages. Some would wonder if staff members play too large a role in government.

According to America's Future, Inc., since the turn of the century the number of congressional committee staffers has increased about 30-fold from just over 100 to about 3,000 today. Since 1970 committee staff personnel has more than doubled. And the Senate committee with the most staff slots is the judiciary committee which conducts hearings on the administration's judicial nominations.

Personal congressional staffs have also proliferated. In 1930 there were 1,050 people working directly for Senators and Representatives. By 1990 that figure had increased to over 12,000 with more than 8,000 serving Representatives. In addition, Congress also employs more than 10,000 people in support offices, such as the Library of Congress, the General Accounting Office and the Congressional Budget Office.

And that kind of personnel costs money. From 1946 to 1988 the legislative branch budget increased by almost 2,900 per cent to $1.78 billion. During the same period of time, inflation increased by 400 per cent.

"This explosive growth in the congressional bureaucracy matches the huge growth of government in general," states Washington correspondent Chris Warden. "Some observers have dismissed this as coincidental or inevitable. But critics of such staff growth say the two trends are definitely linked. They point out that the Democrats have been in control of both houses of Congress—and their staffing patterns—for all but six of the last 37 years. And the Democrats have portrayed themselves as the party of governmental solutions to social problems.

"In light of this philosophy," Warden adds, "it only makes sense that congressional staffs would grow. Democratic policies favor more government programs, which need congressional oversight, which means more staff. More staff members are able to think up more government programs to recommend to their elected bosses. And the cycle continues."

The question may properly be asked, in light of such statistics, "Who is really running Congress, anyway?"

Learning How to Play in the Big Leagues

This summer, I was excited to go to my son's first baseball game. Unfortunately no one had signed up to be the coach. You guessed it, for the first time in 26 years, I was back on the ball diamond. Not knowing what to expect, I found 10-year olds in a broad spectrum from those with less than basic skills to several very skilled ball players. I love these kids and we all worked very hard. In a short time "the Dodgers" were winning games and we ended the season with a nine and three record. Not too bad for the first year. However, we were not playing in the big leagues, we did fine for the first year in the little league.

You would never think of sending one of those little guys to the plate against a professional pitcher. A big league pitcher can throw 95 mph fast balls and curve balls that break over two feet. My kids would not have a chance. Then I thought about this challenge for an adult with no experience. I can assure you that a 95 mph fast ball is terrifying even with some experience.

What's the point? The only natural way to hit a ball in the big leagues is to watch your child go from the little leagues this year to Babe Ruth next year to Legion the year after and so forth until they have developed their capacity to handle the challenges. Along the way successes are experienced and reinforced by encouragement. That goes a long way toward building the confidence needed to play at the next higher level.

In a period of only 10 to 15 years you have taken an individual who knew nothing about baseball and gradually taught them the skills required to play in the majors. The principle is simple, there are some things which just cannot be done quickly. I believe this principle holds true in learning how to play in the big leagues of business also.

The Small Business Administration claims that on the whole for the entire nation, less than 10 per cent of start up businesses make it past their 10th year. In certain fields, it is as low as three per cent. Could it be that the majority of these adults had basically no experience and yet were trying to play in the big leagues? I think so!

New business owners, like little league ball players, need a way to reduce risk while learning the fundamentals. A small business incubator is the best way I know of coaching these new owners through the critical years. It is the type of program that every serious community should have, and it's one of the strongest steps your community can take for the long run.

Virginia M. Citrana in the September 1989 edition of Northeast International Business writes, "Incubators are places where new businesses can plant their first roots, by sharing office space and services which would be too expensive for one company alone." By sharing secretaries, attorneys, accountants, phone systems, copy machines, computers and etc. businesses can significantly reduce start up costs. At first glance, you might assume that the strength of an incubator is in the availability of shared resources.

However, after studying five large incubator systems, it is my impression that the real strength of the incubator system is in all of the encouragement that they provide. The new business owners in an incubator are like a team. When someone is down the others will encourage that business owner. Starting a business can be one of the loneliest places on earth and incubators really help.

Also from a real estate perspective, an incubator can be a wise investment for your community. Individual businesses usually pay higher rent than in a standard building because of the advantages of an incubator. In many communities there are buildings which currently sit empty that could be turned into incubators. When you take a building which is empty and turn it into one that is fully occupied, you also turn an asset which had low value into one with perhaps substantial value.

Remember, when your community starts a business incubator you might not see success for the first couple of years. But it won't be long before those businesses will be hitting line drives and scoring the runs which will make your community a winner in the game of economic development. Combined with a Young Entrepreneur's Society in high school, and your community will have a powerful business development system.

Even if it takes 10 to 15 years for major league successes, the patience is worth it. Once developed, your community will have a self-perpetuating system invaluable for sustaining continued industrial development.

Snow Storm

Ray and Marion Guse visited the past week in Duluth with Steve and Martha Jonland, Kyle and Kori. We were in the mega-snow storm of the century. A record amount of snow fell at one time. Duluth got 37.5 inches, Minneapolis-St. Paul set a record too, 28 inches.

Plows started working on Saturday afternoon plowing a single lane. Many streets were now plowed until Monday. Tuesday the plows were working on alleys and widening streets.

All malls and stores were closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A few were open on Monday, but the parking lots were not cleared of snow. A few grocery and convenience stores were open on the weekend selling milk and bread to shoppers who came on snowmobiles, skies or walked.

There was no mail or paper delivery on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. All Duluth area schools were closed on Friday and Monday. Buses were only running on open roads on Tuesday.

The children enjoyed the snow, no school and playing in the snow. For the adults it was work, heavy shoveling and pushing snow blowers, clearing the driveways and sidewalks of huge drifts of snow.

Leaving on Tuesday, the streets were like tunnels to Highway 2. It was cleared, but snow-covered and after Grand Rapids, the snow got less and less to home.

Thanks to the participation of Dr. Milton Hoff (left), principal, and Fran Finco, assistant principal at the dunking tank, attendance was up at the Franklin middle school Oktoberfest event this year.

Fire severely damaged this home early Saturday morning. According to Donovan Foss, St. Hilaire fire chief, smoke alarms woke Luke and Sharon Noreen at about 3 a.m. The St. Hilaire fire department responded to the fire which was located roughly nine and one-half miles west of St. Hilaire in Bray township of Pennington county. St. Hilaire fire department got the fire under control with the assistance of a tanker truck from the Thief River Falls fire department. No one was injured. The cause of the fire has not been determined but is believed to have started in the kitchen area of the house. The home was being rented by Luke and Sharon Noreen. Nearly all of their possessions were lost in the fire.

Groundbreaking for TRFTC hangar Wed.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the official start of construction on the $2.8 million hangar facility for the Thief River Falls Technical college aviation program will take place Wednesday, November 20, at the aviation center at the Thief River Falls regional airport.

Program will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the aviation center cafeteria with the groundbreaking ceremony set for 12 noon on the construction site.

According to Gary Hook, senior vice president for the Midwest Division of Kraus-Anderson Construction company, general contractor on the project, work this fall will be limited to cutting out 20-foot wide footing lines in the asphalt and covering the area with straw and plastic sheeting to protect the ground from freezing.

About February 15 the actual excavation will begin and steel for the structural steel building is schedule to arrive the first week in March, 1992. Despite the delayed start from what had earlier been anticipated, completion is scheduled for the second week in September of 1992.

Hook said the 153x160 hangar will have 25-foot sidewalls and a height at center of 46 feet. It will be located northwest of the existing school and directly north of the former Arctic Enterprises hangar.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the technical college, will be master of ceremonies for the groundbreaking program. Speakers will include Rep. Wally Sparby and Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, both of Thief River Falls; Maryel Anderson, who chairs the School District 564 board of education; Bob Madson, representing the state board of technical colleges; and Cecil Anderson, president of Jobs Incorporated.

Joining in the groundbreaking ceremony will be Mark Thornton, TRFTC student senate president, Bob Bergan, executive director of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce; Mayor Bob Carlson; and Ron Kungkson, president of the TRFTC faculty association.

Also Dennis Kiesow and Harry Sjulson, members of the technical college sub-committee of the board of education; Allen Mickelson, dean of aviation; Dean Paskewitz and Bob Wold, aviation instructors; and representatives from Kraus-Anderson Construction company, Anderson-Dale Architects, Lee Plumbing and Heating, mechanical subcontractor; and Fairhaven Electric, electrical subcontractor.

S.D. 564 negotiations session set Saturday

With less than two months remaining before a state penalty is applied for non-settlement of 1991-1993 teacher contracts, School District 564 board and the Thief River Falls Education association (TRFEA) have scheduled a marathon negotiating session for Saturday, November 23, at the Best Western inn, starting at 7:30 a.m.

Previous sessions have involved primarily contract language items and no salary proposal has been presented by the TRFEA. That proposal is expected to be presented on Saturday.

Negotiations involve the K-12 faculty as one group and the Thief River Falls Technical College faculty as a separate group, although the two groups negotiate together on items of common interest.

Representing the board of education on the K-12 negotiating team are board chair Maryel Anderson as chief negotiator, Larry Belmont and Hank Hallstrom. Anderson also is chief negotiator for the technical college team which includes Darla Twomey and Harry Sjulson.

Representing the TRFEA on the K-12 negotiating team are Edith Etter as chief negotiator, elementary representatives Ruth Klosterman, Kathy Olson and Linda Olson, Franklin middle school representative Mary Almquist, Lincoln high school representative Elaine Grovum and Northwest Vocational Center representative Diane Rothschadl.

Representing the technical college faculty are Bob Wold as chief negotiator, Dennis Wilkens and Mike Lopac.

According to the Minnesota Education association, only 52 settlements had been reached by November 15 among 402 contracts to be settled to cover teachers in 431 school districts.

Districts in which contracts have not been settled by the state mandat-

TRF education and business breakfast set

Thief River Falls Education Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will host its annual business/educators breakfast on Thursday, November 21 from 7 until 9 a.m. at the American Legion. This year's theme will be "Capture Your Dreams".

This event is held in conjunction with National Education Week and everyone involved in the educational system and business community are invited to the pancake breakfast.

The education committee's projects throughout the year include: the Thief River Falls Excellence in Education award; Certificates to the seniors at Lincoln high school who attend the honors banquet; representation on the Little Brother/Little Sister board; representation on the Inter-agency transition committee; welcome on the first day of classes to the Northland Community College and Technical College students; the leadership program called "Community Awareness '91".

Individual letters of invitation have been distributed to all schools and businesses.

Health care tops list of needs for NW Minnesotans

Northwestern Minnesotans attending a meeting held recently at the University of Minnesota in Crookston told the state government that "health care needs to be affordable and accessible to Minnesotans no matter where they live and work."

The meeting was one of 15 community meetings being held throughout Minnesota. It was convened by Dorothy McClung, commissioner of the Department of Revenue, who said the following comments were made during the closing up session:

- "Health care needs to be affordable and accessible to all Minnesotans no matter where they live and work."
- "We need to take care of our existing businesses giving them incentives to keep our small towns alive.
- "We need to make opportunities available so that our kids will be able to work in the communities where they grew up."
- "Let's try using mentors at all levels of education so that children see good examples of men and women in the working world."
- "We need to have the same high quality education throughout the entire state. Education is basic to the quality of life we value in Minnesota."
- "Prices for farmers should provide a profit margin which will support families."

The staff of Minnesota Planning will use the ideas derived from the community meetings to develop a state vision for the future and establish "milestones" that can be used to measure the state's progress toward its goals. A final Milestone report will be presented to the governor and legislature in December 1992.

Minnesota Milestones is an initiative by Gov. Arne Carlson.

Arcticwear has it all together for snowmobilers

Seam sealer to make GORE-TEX lined products waterproof is used by Judy Kelley at the Arcticwear plant in Thief River Falls. Arcticwear has only recently begun to use the GORE-TEX product, having it laminated between the outer fabric and a fine nylon mesh inner liner for durability.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Once upon a time a snowmobiler put on all the outer clothing he owned, waddled to his sled and—if he could bend enough to straddle the seat and reach the handlebars—roared off into the winter cold.

Times have changed. So have snowmobiles and snowmobile clothing. For the growing Arcticwear division of Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls, change is the only constant that can be counted on from year to year.

"We have a reputation for having the highest quality product in the industry," states Arcticwear division manager Tim Benedict in a tone of voice that lets the hearer know that the statement is no brag, just fact. He makes it sound as though he expects it to be that way, and he does.

"We take it very seriously and we work very hard to stay at the forefront of the industry," he added. "We are the only snowmobile manufacturer that also manufactures its own clothing and our constant goal is to provide a high quality product that assures wearer comfort."

That concern for quality, coupled with a company-wide interest in the profitable Arcticwear division, have resulted in a number of changes for the division over the past couple of years.

"This is the sixth clothing model year since Arcticwear was purchased by Arctco from Duane Littlevold," Benedict explained, "and it is the sixth consecutive year of increased domestic sales.

" In 1988 we re-started local small run production and contracted out the remainder to regional manufacturers. At one time we had seven different contractors manufacturing our nylon products."

Arcticwear manager Tim Benedict (left) reviews a design idea with stylist Ruae Holmaes in the art department of the snowmobile clothing manufacturer in Thief River Falls. The company closely watches styles in other outdoor sports areas, works with designers of the Arctic Cat snowmobiles and listens to comments from dealers as well as doing extensive testing of fabrics and designs for comfort and durability.

That number of outside contractors has now been reduced to only one—Creative Garments, Inc. of Chisholm. Since 1988 the company has continued to increase production in Thief River Falls. The sewing division was moved into the southwest building in the Arctco complex in 1989 and now occupies a large part of that building.

"There are about 80 people involved in the manufacturing area of the sewing department," Benedict said. "About half are working in the garment area and the other half are working on vinyl snowmobile seat and related snowmobile accessory products."

Evidence of the company's interest in the Arcticwear division is the purchase in May of a Gerber Technology computerized cutting system. Price tag: About a quarter of a million dollars.

The computer-aided design (CAD), computer-aided manufac-

WIC & EPS Hold December Clinics

Women, infants and children supplemental nutritional educational program (WIC) is being held during the month of December.

Infants and children up to the age of five and women who are pregnant or breastfeeding may be eligible for the program. Prenatal nutrition is a vitol part of producing a healthy baby. It is considered important to apply for WIC early in pregnancy; no proof of pregnancy is needed.

All potential clients must write to the EPS-WIC service and complete an application.

The schedule for WIC and EPS clinics for December includes December 2, 9, 19 and 20, all at the Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Immunizations will be given December 20 from 9 to 9:30 a.m. only, at $3 per immunization.

For further information concerning the WIC and EPS programs, call or write: WIC/EPS, Quin County, Park Place Mall, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 or telephone (218) 253-2125 or 1-800-223-1591 (toll free).

The WIC program must treat everyone the same. You can not be treated unfairly because of your race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you think you have been treated unfairly, you should write to: Administrator, Food and Nutrition Services, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

Shoulder to shoulder in most cases. There were so many people at the craft shows that many had to wait in line to get to a particular booth. Craft shows were held at the city auditorium, national guard armory, and Eagles club Saturday. All three locations filled with exhibitors and visitors, shoulder to shoulder. This was the 15th annual holiday fair at the city auditorium. Funds left from sale of booth space to 34 individual exhibitors and the cost of advertising went to Little Brothers/Little Sisters. A total of $400 was donated. This was the first year for the craft fair held at the national guard armory where there were 29 exhibitors. There were 22 individual exhibitors at the Eagles club where funds raised from the sale of booth space and food went to the Violence Intervention Project.

School Dist. 564 mission, beliefs and goals listed

During American Education week November 17-23, placemats will be used in Thief River Falls restaurants which state the mission, beliefs and district-wide goals adopted by the School District 564 board of education April 8, 1991.

Stated mission of the district is that "Each student shall be given the opportunity to develop individual abilities and talents to his or her highest potential within a climate of mutual respect and trust."

Beliefs held by the school board as listed in the statement include:

- Each person can learn, wants to learn and has the right to learn;
- Every individual has inherent value and dignity;
- Individuals learn in different ways;
- A supporting and caring environment promotes learning;
- Self-esteem affects performance;
- Expectations influence performance;
- Education is a home, school and community partnership;
- Change offers an opportnity for growth;
- Cooperation is essential in a competitive world;
- Learning is a life-long process; and
- A global perspective is essential for growth and survival.

District-wide goals set by the board and administration include the following:

(1) All students shall have access to a strong, high quality core program and to quality electives beyond the core program

(a) by use of a creative and flexible school structure;

(b) through use of interactive television, post-secondary options, advanced placement, independent study, correspondence study, etc.

(2) All students shall have equal opportuntiy to access quality educational programs and services so they are prepared for the world of work and/or advanced education or life-long learning

(a) through cooperation and collaboration with other agencies, post-secondary and business partnerships.

(3) All students shall have equal educational opportunities and school environment.

(4) The staff development program shall reflect the goals of the district.

(5) Emphasis shall be placed on the individualization of each student's educational needs and experience

(a) by more effective interacting among the learning team (teacher, student and parent, guardian and family);

(b) by increasing attention to matching teacher strategies to learning styles; and

(c) by increaing local assessment based upon the achievement and expectations for the individual student.

(6) Attention (including intervention) shall be focused on the increasing number of factors that place the student population at risk

(a) by establishing safe, disciplined and drug-free schools;

(b) by increasing attention to emotionally health learning environment;

(c) through early childhood learning opportunities and care and study centers for latch key children;

(d) by providing adult learning opportunities;

(e) by providing alternative learning opportunities.

(7) Emphasis shall be placed on the involvement of parents, students and citizens in the educational process.

(8) Decision-making shall take place at the level where it has the greatest positive impact on education.

(9) The Pre-K-12 curriculum goals shall continue to have a high priority

(a) through use of the curriculum review process.

(10) Values education shall be incorporated into school curriculum

(a) as reflected by the community's values.

(11) Accountability is a fundamental responsibility and should focus on outcomes.

(12) Fiscal stability shall be maintained by the effective use of resources to reach established goals.

(13) The district shall employ personnel who possess skills and values required to assist the district in reaching its goals.

October Activities At Oakland Park

Highlighting the month of October at Oakland Park Nursing Home was a family night held October 3 when residents and their families enjoyed a supper put on by the home.

A Halloween party was held with games, guessing the weight of the pumpkin, followed by a lunch of pumpkin punch and Halloween cookies. Happy Hour was enjoyed with music by Clayton Broton, Robert Broton and Mrs. Monroe. Popcorn was served to the residents. Residents were also treated to music by Vi Moen and Elvina Stevens.

Stanley Clark, 70

Karlstad — Stanley J. Clark, 70, died November 5 at the Karlstad Memorial hospital in Karlstad.

Funeral services were held November 8 at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Rev. Gary Halverson officiating. Special music was provided by the church choir with Kirstin Olson as organist. Casketbearers were Wayne Ruud, Darrold Rodahl, Jim Wollin, Robin Swanson, Loren Germundson and Floyd Kuznia. Interment was in the Dundee Lutheran cemetery with graveside services on November 9 and military honors accorded by the Karlstad American Legion Post. The Collins Funeral Home of Karlstad was in charge of arrangements.

Stanley James Clark was born Feb. 23, 1921 at Fulda, the son of John and Ina (Le Sage) Clark. He attended school and grew up in the Fulda community and graduated from Fulda high school. He served with the U.S. Air Force during World War II and, following service, attended auctioneering school at Mason City, IA, and was an auctioneer in the Fulda area. On Mar. 3, 1947 he was united in marriage to Kathleen Nelson in the "Little Brown Church in the Vale" at Nashua, IA. In 1967 he received his appointment to the USDA as a federal meat inspector and worked first at the Swift plant in St. Paul and later at the Hormel plant in Mitchell, SD. In 1971 the couple moved to Karlstad where he continued as a meat inspector at the Wilson Meat Market and Sandahl Sausage plant at Lake Bronson. He retired in 1986. He was a member of the First Lutheran church of Karlstad and the Karlstad American Legion Post.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Russ (Jane) Roots of Tracy; three sons: Jim of Mankato, Bruce of Watertown and Daniel of Antioch, CA; eight grandchildren; two sisters: Mrs. Harold (Hazel) Benstead of Sun City, AZ and Mrs. Fritz (Nellie) Sterrenberg of Cresent City, IL.

He was preceded in death by three brothers: Robert, Richard and John and one sister, Helen.

Nicholas G. Boerger Sr., 79

Crookston — Nicholas G. Boerger Sr., 79, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died November 11 at the Villa St. Vincent Nursing Home in Crookston.

Funeral services were held November 15 at the St. Paul's Lutheran church in Crookston with Rev. William Reck officiating. Interment was in the Oakdale cemetery at Crookston with military honors accorded by the Crookston Veterans council. The Stenshoel-Houske Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Nicholas G. Boerger was born Sept. 14, 1912 at Milbank, SD, the son of August and Anna (Reisner) Boerger. He moved with his family to Ada as a young boy and then to Thief River Falls, for a few years before returning to the Ada-Twin Valley area. He worked on area farms until entering the U.S. Army in June 1942. For 30 months he served overseas during World War II in North Africa, Sicily, France and Germany. He returned home after his discharge in October 1945. In 1947 he was united in marriage to Victoria Hedin at Twin Valley. The couple lived in Crookston where he was employed by the Northwest Experiment station. His wife died on Nov. 12, 1956. He was united in marriage to Adeline Strom at Crookston on Nov. 14, 1970. After 27 years with the Northwest Experiment station, he retired in 1974 and continued to work part-time for area farmers. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the VFW Post #1902, the American Legion and the DAV. He was chaplain for the VFW post for nine years. He had been a resident of Villa St. Vincent since Apr. 9, 1991.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Nick Boerger Jr. of Crookston; one grandson; one stepdaugher, Mrs. Ed (Carol) Albertson of Moorhead; two stepsons: Lee Strom of Billings, MT, and Vern Strom of Elk River; seven step-grandchildren; four step-great-grandchildren; four sisters: Mrs. Silas (Sadie) Hviding of Minneapolis, Eileen Bjorge of Prior Lake, Nellie Qualley of Moorhead and Mrs. Lou (Florence) Kappes of Ada; and three brothers: Leonard Boerger of Rockaway, OR, Louis Boerger of Aurora and Walter Boerger of Dillon, MT.

He was preceded in death by his first wife; his parents; and two sisters: Lillian Mee and Esther Moe.

Lincoln choir hosts 'Evening of Enchantment'

"The Christmas season is soon upon us and the Lincoln high school vocal ensembles have been preparing a gala show to warm your hearts for this festive season," states Darcy Reese, vocal music instructor at the school.

Called 'The Evening of Enchantment,' the event will begin at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, December 8, at the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls. Socializing will take place from 6:30 to 6:55 p.m. with choir students serenading the guests with piano and string music.

The program begins at 7 p.m. in the dining room with Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools, serving as master of ceremonies. "A number of vocal groups and soloists will entertain with a variety of musical selections varying from Christmas carols to Broadway selections and more," Mrs. Reese said.

Door prizes donated by local business places will be awarded to guests in drawings held between selections.

Candlelight supper will be served at 7:20 p.m. featuring Chicken Cordon Bleu, stuffed with ham and Swiss cheese and served on a bed of rice. The $25 per plate ticket includes a donation to the Lincoln choir department to help fund various choir activities and buy equipment.

Tickets are available from members of the Lincoln choir and at Kezar Music store.

"Dine in a candlelight atmosphere and enjoy the varied talents of our local young people," Mrs. Reese invites the public.

Coin show at Best Western

Thief River Falls Coin club will conduct its 25th annual coin, antique and baseball card show Saturday and Sunday, November 23 and 24, at the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls. Admission is free and public attendance is encouraged.

Approximately 20 dealers will be on hand to buy, sell and trade items. There will also be some woodcraft on display this year, according to Patrick Klemisch, show chairman.

The show will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Door prize tickets will be sold at the show and proceeds are used for coin club support and to provide scholarships at Northland Community college and the Thief River Falls Technical college.

Hourly drawings will be held for one ounce of .999 pure silver. Other prizes will be a U.S. Silver Eagle dollar for fifth prize, 1991 Canadian Silver Maple Leaf for fourth prize, a 1990 U.S. proof set for third prize, a 1991 U.S. proof set for second prize and 25 ounces of .999 pure silver for first prize.

Persons with inquiries about the 25th annual show may direct them to Patrick Klemisch, 223 Crocker Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN, or call him at 681-1656.

Tri-County to present play

Drama department of Tri-County high school in Karlstad will present the play "Our Town" Thursday through Saturday, November 21, 22 and 23, at the Tri-County high school auditorium in Karlstad. All performances begin at 8 p.m.

Students with roles in the play, directed by Robert Gust, include Ryan Grahn, Nathan Koland, Shane Aanenson, Tollef Olson, Erin Dagen, Monica Ruud, Travis Lorenson, Melissa Wollin, Ben Stechmann, Kristine Stusynski, Corey Stusynski, Cory Schouten, Charity Sjodin, Tisa Schwalbe, Heather Hilde, Jonathan Hugg, Jenica Erickson, Matt Kasprowicz, Shawn Anenson, Jeremy Larson, Anthony Schouten and Brock Bostrom.

Kristi Bothum is student director and Nathan Koland is stage manager. Tracey Hjelle handles the lights and Melissa Billings the sound. Erica Lefrooth and Jenny Davis direct the spotlights, Darlene Hallberg did the poster art and Nathan Koland is set construction assistant.

Dear Readers,

When a husband or wife dies, loneliness is a most painful stage of the grief process. So many things in our daily life contribute to that "empty feeling" - a favorite song on the radio, a vacant chair at the table, a couple holding hands, a forgotten photograph. This stage of grief will take time, and is one from which one may never completely recover. Realizing that we grieve because we love, we will always find contentment from loving memories.

Sincerely,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

Elected to the state ADA board from Region 1 are Harvey Baker of Lake Bronson and Allen Paulson of Stevis.

Current board members of the Pennington County ADA are Lowell Peterson, Plummer, chairman; Lyle Swanson, Thief River Falls, vice chair; Howard Person Thief River Falls, secretary/treasurer; Dale Anderson, Goodridge and Mark Hanson, Thief River Falls, delegates; Perry Lundeen, Trail and Lowell Peterson, Plummer, alternates.

Transit needs to be studied

Northwest Regional Development Commission Transportation Program and the Area Agency on Aging are assisting the Red Lake County Committee on Aging in identifying needs and attitudes toward transit service in the county.

A survey to obtain information from county residents is being sent to randomly selected households this week. Surveys are to be returned to the regional development commission in the self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed with the survey form by November 30.

Red Lake County Committee on Aging receives funds from the county each year through the county board of commissioners to provide transportation through Tri-Valley Heartland Express bus service. The committee works closely with Tri-Valley to promote and monitor the service.

The county committee is conducting the survey in an effort to better meet the transit needs of Red Lake county residents. Responses will be compiled by the NWRDC and kept confidential. Comments will not be identified by individual.

"Cooperation of households selected to complete the survey is very important in providing direction to the Red Lake County Committee on Aging and Tri-Valley Heartland Express and will be very much appreciated," states Faith Rud, director of the Area Agency on Aging at the NWRDC office in Thief River Falls.

Mn/DOT to hold aviation system meeting in TRF

Minnesota Department of Transportation, office of aeronautics, will hold a meeting in Thief River Falls on Thursday, November 21, to review the recently completed Minnesota State Aviation Systems plan. The plan includes an inventory of the existing airports; short, intermediate and long term forecasts of aviation needs for each airport; assessments of the needs based upon the inventory and forecasts; and costs estimates and recommendations based on the needs.

Officials from the office of aeronautics, and consultants for the Minnesota Department of Transportation, will be on hand to respond to comments and questions. The public is invited to attend.

The meeting will be held in room 12 at the Technical College, Aviation Center at the Regional Airport in Thief River Falls at 1 p.m.

Marijuana found during search at jail

A county inmate returning from work release has been charged with bringing contraband into the jail after he was found in possession of marijuana.

Pennington county sheriff's deputy Howard Seim said Roger Clay Thompson, 31, route 8, Thief River Falls, was returning to jail while out on work release when he was strip searched, a precaution which is taken at the jail. During the search, a small amount of marijuana was found in his possession. Thompson's work release privileges were revoked and he now faces charges of bringing contraband into the jail, a gross misdemeanor punishable by a maximum penalty of $3,000 fine, and or one year in jail.

LETTERS

I am currently compiling a family tree and wonder if any of your readers can help me.

I am trying to trace Thomas Carr Johnson, who was a missionary in Thief River Falls. He was born in 1857 in Harrogate North Yorkshire, England, and also his brother Henry Johnson, who was I believe known as 'Harry'. He was born in 1864 in Harrogate, North Yorkshire England. He also went to Thief River Falls to join his brother.

CORRECTION

A clarification and a correction have been noted for the Lincoln high school first quarter honor roll. The Nathan Anderson on the ninth grade B average honor roll should be Nathan F. Anderson (there are two Nathan Andersons in the ninth grade). And Patricia Biendara was incorrectly listed as Patricia Anderson on the same B average list.

Local man held following claim he abused woman

Charges are pending against a Thief River Falls man following a report by a local woman that she was physically and sexually assaulted.

Delroy Gene Norlund, 37, Thief River Falls, was taken into custody November 16. Charges have not been formally pressed against Norlund.

A police spokesperson said the arrest follows a police investigation into a report of a physical and sexual assault. According to police, a local woman claimed she was held on the floor with a knee in her abdomen, her hair pulled out of her head and then she was sexually assaulted and struck in the back of the head with a fist. She also reported that over a period of time Norlund had made threats against her and had abused her dog. The threats, according to the report, included one with a knife.

Norlund, also known as "Butch" Norlund, and Dennis William Hansen, was located and placed into custody on the 16th. At the time police located Norlund, he was also charged with driving after cancellation. He remains in custody at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls.

Nordic Alumni association has "Future Fund"

Recently formed Nordic Alumni association at Newfolden has established a "Future Fund" to assist in the replacement of uninsured items lost in the recent fire which destroyed Marshall County Central high school.

These items would include restoration of the large Nordic painting that hung at the entrance to the gym, the state participants "Wall of Fame," various trophy cases, a complete set of yearbooks and the class composite photographs.

The association has been informed that LaMar Photographs still has negatives of the classes of 1976 to present and various team photographs. Photographs of other classes could be reconstructed by private donations. The class photos on the south wall near the music room received less damage and may be able to be restored.

The trophy company that has been used by district and regional committees in the past years will be contacted to explore the possibility of replacing the championship trophies.

Other goals of the Nordic Alumni association, with the help of other community groups, will be to compile a complete name and address list of all Nordic alumni. This computer list will first be used for a direct mail brochure to inform and welcome all alumni to become life members through a donation of $10 or more.

Donations of any amount from alumni, concerned citizens and business people will be accepted at the Marshall County State Bank or mailed to the bank at P.O. Box 127, Newfolden, MN 56738. Please make checks payable to the Nordic Alumni association. For more information contact the following persons:

Impressions . . .

Education, according to my dictionary, is the "development of knowledge, skill, ability or character by teaching, training, study or experience". Those are strong words to define what we commonly think of as "going to school".

When we go to school, or send our children to school, we expect the gain of knowledge. Education certainly is the way to acquire the knowledge of reading. It is also the means of memorizing the addition and subtraction and multiplication tables. And, to the lucky few, it's also the way to learn how to divide!!!

In school, we expect to attain the knowledge of the names of the states, and their capitals. In school, we expect to attain scientific knowledge of varying degrees. In school, we also expect to attain historical knowledge and the knowledge of basic geography. Going to school does mean the attaining of knowledge—from the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic, to complicated scientific data.

Going to school also means that skills will be developed. A budding musical virtuoso can be taught the skills needed to develop his musical talent to the fullest. A budding writer can be taught the basics of good writing in school. A budding mechanic can be taught the skills necessary to become a mechanic. Skills thought to be unattainable become attainable through the disciplines acquired through education in school.

In school, we also expect that abilities will be nurtured. The child who has a good singing voice may find that ability challenged and strengthened in school. The student with particular scientific or mathematic abilities will find those abilities improved in a school setting. Abilities which a student may not even actually know he possesses will become apparent in a school setting, and will be nurtured through education.

Skills, abilities, knowledge, are all expected components of education. Going to school does accomplish these. But, truly the more important accomplishment of education is the development of character.

The child who can recite all of the arithmetic tables, and is also a topnotch reader, but is lacking in character, is a child who has not been thoroughly educated.

Character, according to my dictionary is "moral nature, moral strength or weakness. The special ways in which any person feels, thinks, or acts, considered as good or bad, make up his character."

Education is the development of character. Character can be good, or it can be bad. Developing good character must be the attainable goal of education. It's not good enough to teach the knowledge, without also teaching the life-knowledge of which character is comprised. Life-knowledge is the ability to know how to respond to the challenges which life affords. Life-knowledge is knowing how to channel our feelings and emotions in right ways. Life-knowledge is learning the good way to act in situations which may not make you feel good. Life-knowledge is learning how to think in situations which put your knowledge to the test. Life-knowledge is learning how to be valuable members of society. Life-knowledge is putting the facts of education to work in your life, hopefully for the betterment of your life and that of society.

Too often we gauge the success of an educational program on the facts or skills acquired. We ought to also gauge educational programs on the quality of human beings produced.

Education is not limited to school. Education occurs in all that we do. The school's job is to educate. In that educating it will be shaping the character of its students. The home is where character is more closely shaped. To develop children who become the best they can become needs the cooperation of the home and school.

Parents, train your children in the ways in which they should go. Educators, reiterate that training as you impart knowledge and skills. The end result of parents' and educators' consistent, positive training will be young people of good character.

Are our schools here in Thief River Falls successful? Look carefully at the students; assess their character. I'm guessing that you will find most of them to be of good character. Not only our schools, but also our families must be successful. Our students' lives emulate the good character which is truly the best result of any educational program. Congratulations on lives well educated!!

Computer taken from hospital

Someone took a $3,000 computer from Northwest Medical center, according to police in Thief River Falls.

Beef handling workshop set

Area beef cattle producers are invited to attend the beef handling and equipment workshop Thursday, November 21, at Angelina's Supper club in Bagley.

Conducted by the Beltrami, Clearwater and Hubbard county extension offices and Big Valley Cluster extension counties, the day-long program will run from 8:45 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. Program fee will be $7.50 in advance or $9 at the door and include meal, breaks and materials.

This handling and equipment workshop is designed to look at available technology and the management concepts that can enhance the productivity and profitability of a beef cow/calf enterprise. The day's activities will include a mix of facility/equipment topic presentations and several "live" cattle working demonstrations. In addition, a number of commercial exhibitors will be on hand to discuss livestock equipment, supplies and nutrition.

To pre-register, obtain a program brochure or just to learn more about the workshop, contact the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116.

4-H NEWS

Smiley 4-H Club

Meeting was called to order and secretary and treasurer reports were given. We discussed record judging and information was given to those wanting to do river water testing.

Clover Buds meeting was set for November 21 at 3:30 p.m. at the courthouse in Thief River Falls. First and second grade students can become Clover Bud members and those in third grade and older can join 4-H.

We discussed having a Christmas party and the members decided on $3 gift exchange.

Sharon Larson, foods project leader, informed project members about a Christmas cookie bake November 29. The club members also talked about babysitting at the Holiday Fair.

Following adjournment of the meeting, Natalie McFarlane led in recreation. There were 16 members and eight parents present.

S.S. eases its standards for child disability

"Zebley", a recent federal court decision, has eased the Social Security Administration standard used for determining children's disabilities. This decision means that the Social Security Administration must look at the way in which the child's disabilities impair age-appropriate activities. A large number of children who could not get disability payments earlier can now get financial help. People who applied for children's benefits and were denied between January 1, 1981 and February 11, 1991 may be able to reopen their past applications, establish eligibility for ongoing disability benefits and may receive thousands of dollars in back benefit payments.

All persons who had applied and were denied during this time period should have received a notice to contact the Social Security Office. A response must be sent to the office within 120 days of receipt of the notice. Notices were mailed during July of 1991 so the postcards need to be mailed back immediately. People who had applied but did not receive a notice should contact the Social Security Office and ask for a Zebley class determination. Those persons who have disabled children but never applied in the past can apply now.

If you think you may be entitled to benefits under the Zebley lawsuit or if you simply have questions about the new standards Social Security must use to evaluate disabled children, contact Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 or call your legal services office.

Jones & Co. concert

by Karen and Rev. Neil Gladen

On Thursday, November 7, members of the Thief River Falls Concert association were given another musical treat in the form of Jones & Co. This ensemble of six professional singers hails from Australia.

They beautifully performed a repertoire of music that ranged from madrigal selections of the Middle Ages to music of today. Their songs included pieces done in the lighter pop styles as well as more substantive work. All were performed with ease and finesse. Notable were a stunning rendition of the American folk song "Shenandoah" and a medley of American songs from throughout our history.

The group members really came to life as they sang a selection of songs from their native Australia, including an unusual rendition of "Waltzing Matilda" and a breathtaking piece called "I Am Australian."

They even had a song for the kids in the audience—a rather humorous version of "Old MacDonald" done in madrigal style. Their encore was a humorous calypso piece which left all in attendance with a smile.

Windows in TRF damaged

Downtown business owners suffered over $8,000 damage to store windows over the weekend.

Eleven downtown business reported damage to windows Sunday, according to a police spokesperson in Thief River Falls. It appears that all of the windows were damage by pellets fired from a B-B gun. Most of the businesses are located on LaBree avenue in the downtown section of the community, although, damage was also reported at other locations.

As of Monday morning, businesses reported damage to windows included the following: Kezar Music, Jacalyn's Gallary and Gifts, Bjorkman's, Main Line, Brodin's, Tradehome Shoes, Poppler's Furniture, Lindahl's Used Furniture, Midwest Vision, Lori's Hallmark and Ride On Inc. Police are looking for any information regarding the broken windows.

In addition to the damage to windows of businesses, several car windows were also damaged. Sandy Bremmer of Pelican Rapids reported that a window on her car had been broken with a pellet. Damage loss was estimated at $75. Tammy Dicken reported that a window on her vehicle had been broken. Damage loss was estimated at $150. Tammy Canfield of Grand Forks, ND, reported that a window on her car had been damage by a pellet. Damage loss was estimated at $150 in this incident.

MCC classes going well

Marshall County Central high school classes are going well in temporary facilities throughout Newfolden following the fire which destroyed the high school in the early morning of November 7.

Supt. Gene Busch said the use of space made available by churches and other community resources "has made the community into a campus. We haven't been accustomed to having students moving from one class facility to another between classes."

The superintendent said that a morning assembly for high school students is held in the elementary school gymnasium each day to assist in coordinating activities and to provide information to the students.

"Things are really going quite well," Supt. Busch said. "We had a state fire inspector go through the temporary sites we are using for classes and there are a few modifications we are being asked to make. We don't expect any difficulty in complying with the changes requested."

School District 441 board of education will meet tonight and aftermath of the fire will be on the agenda for discussion. The district is awaiting an engineer's report on what portion of the high school building is structurally salvageable before giving further consideration to building plans.

Local tourism office benefits

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce will be among the tourism organizations to benefit from a total of $114,913 in local tourism joint venture partnerships with the Minnesota Office of Tourism.

Twenty North central/West Region tourism organizations will benefit from the partnership. The local partnership monies will fund a variety of marketing projects such as sport show attendance, direct mail promotion and out-of-state advertising.

According to a news release from the Minnesota Office of Tourism, 49 organizations received a total of $312,823, each dollar of which is matched with a minimum of equal cash raised locally.

Compliance in farm programs

Farmers and other participants in U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) programs can expect the USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) to conduct status reviews, or spot-checks to see that conservation compliance plans are being applied on schedule to reduce soil erosion on highly erodible land.

SCS will conduct status reviews on five per cent of the plans in each county in Minnesota," according to Gary Nordstrom, SCS state conservationist in St. Paul. "We want to be sure that the plans are being implemented and that they are being implemented on schedule. We want the process to run as smoothly as possible as farmers move toward the 1995 deadline to meet their conservation compliance requirements."

SCS began making status reviews on the progress farmers are making in applying their conservation compliance plans in 1990. SCS will continue to check the progress of five per cent of the farmers in each county each year. Farmers will be selected at random. Also, if SCS receives a complaint about someone not following his or her conservation compliance plan, and the farmer is receiving USDA program benefits, SCS will investigate that complaint by conducting a status review.

"There will be room for judgment on the part of the local SCS district conservationist," Nordstrom said.

Farmers will know at the end of an SCS status review visit as to where they stand on compliance. If SCS says a farmer is "not actively applying" his plan and the farmer disagrees with the SCS decision, the farmer can appeal that decision. Farmers have 45 days to file an appeal at the local SCS field office. If farmers are not satisfied with the appeal results at the local level, they can continue to appeal to area, state and the SCS national office.

When SCS determines that a farmer is not in compliance, it is then the role of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service (ASCS) to determine the farmer's USDA program eligibility and reduction in USDA farm program benefits.

There are provisions in the rules which exempt farmers from being "out of compliance" if there are circumstances beyond the farmer's control such as regional drought or crop disease. An extreme personal hardship that impacts the farm operation is also cause for a temporary exemption. Those decisions aren't made locally, however, and requests for these types of exemptions will be carefully evaluated.

"We're definitely interested in working with all farmers who want our help to stay in compliance," says Nordstrom. "But we won't sacrifice quality in conservation practices. I can't emphasize enough that it's each farmer's responsibility to be sure the conservation plan is being implemented and followed on schedule." All practices must be in place by Dec. 31, 1994.

(Part three of this three-part story will appear in a later issue and focus on conservation compliance.)

Singalong set at Fosston Fri.

Monthly old-fashioned Gospel singalong will be held at the Embassy Community center in Fosston Friday, November 22, at 7:30 p.m.

This is the annual 'Harvest Praise Festival' with an 'open' night meaning that any musical group or solo performers may take part by coming to the singalong and being prepared to play or sing.

All persons who play musical instruments are invited to participate in the singalong accompaniment part of the program. There is no charge for the evening but a free-will offering will be received to assist projects of the center and the Ambassadors of Praise musicians.

Julie Rogalla and son, Denver, of Onemo, were visitors one day at the Leslie Nelson home. Her husband came up for deer hunting.

Brandi Hill spent one day at the David Schwartz home in Thief River Falls, visiting with Julie Rogalle, Denver and twins, Jason and Jordon. The Rogallas also visited with other relatives around here while he was deer hunting.

Congratulations to Ray and Sybil Knutson who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the Heritage Center, Sunday, November 10th. A large crowd of relatives and friends. Sybil grew up in Agder township and they are well known in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Trochmann moved into Thief River Falls last week and we are happy to welcome them.

Mrs. John Baril and sons of Warroad, arrived Friday evening and were houseguests at the home of her parents, the Norris Trochmanns. John arrived later in the week and they were overnight guests at his fathers home in Red Lake Falls. They returned home Monday.

Those who gathered at the Norris Trochmann home Sunday to help Matthew Trochmann celebrate his birthday, which was November 1st, was the honored guest, his parents, Lona and Lowell Trochmann and Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Myhrer, Faith, Larry, Seth, Marcy and Tammy Myhrer, Mr. and Mrs. John Baril and sons. A potluck birthday supper with cake, ice cream and birthday gifts were enjoyed by Matthew.

Jae and John Kavanaugh of Minneapolis, came up Friday for deer hunting and were overnight guests at the Jarvis Torgerson home. Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Heath of Duluth, were guests at the Amanda Torgerson home. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Torgerson of Thief River Falls, came to Amanda's to visit with them. Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Torgerson were also callers there.

Bernice Knutson visited Monday with Marvis Hillyer and the Bill Stock family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Williams of Thief River Falls were dinner guests at the Jarvis Torgerson home. Sympathy is extended to the family of Marzella Jorde, who passed away, and her funeral was Friday forenoon, at Trinity Lutheran church.

Lynette Wold of Grand Forks, arrived Friday evening and was an overnight guest at the Reuben Wold home. Saturday, Lynette, the Reuben Wolds, and other relatives enjoyed dinner together at the Best Western. It was Lynette's birthday, so she and the Reuben Wolds and other relatives spent the afternoon at the Lonnie Nyflot home, where a birthday supper was served with cake and ice cream. Cards and gifts were received by the honored guest. She returned to Grand Forks Saturday evening and plans on taking a new job.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Torgerson and Jordan were guests at the Jarvis Torgerson home one evening.

Saturday after supper, Paul Furuseth, Kenneth Sunsdahl and Terry Cuppett came to the Valley Home and entertained the residents. Their music and program was enjoyed by everyone.

Sunday afternoon Pastor John Riveness and Mr. and Mrs. Ingebretson of Kolstad, and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jorgenson entertained Valley Home with their music and singing, and massage by Riveness.

Clifford Barth of Breckenridge, came up Saturday for deer hunting, and was an overnight guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barth. He returned home Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kaushagen of International Falls, came up for deer hunting also, and are spending the week at the Ray Barth home. Other callers there during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barth and family, David Barth and Andy Barth.

Birthday Party

Wednesday afternoon November 13th, Ella Overum was honored on her birthday when a party was held in the royal room at the Valley Home. MPCA sets lead soil cleanup

New state rules establishing cleanup priorities for residential and public playground sites with lead-contaminated soil were approved for adoption Tuesday by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency's (MPCA) Citizens Board.

According to the rules, local health departments or other public agencies designated to disburse public funds for lead cleanup must use the following priorities to prepare lists of potential cleanup sites:

- Priority one—sites that contains more than 300 parts per million (ppm) of lead in soil and are the residence of a child or pregnant woman with an elevated blood lead level;
- Priority Two—sites that contains more than 300 ppm lead and are frequented by a child with an elevated blood lead level.
- Priority three—certain residential neighborhoods known to have lead-contaminated soil.

Public funds earmarked for lead-soil cleanup will have to be disbursed to the sites in order of priority, the MPCA said. However, lead cleanup programs in Minnesota currently do not have public funding. Lead-cleanup supporters plan to seek funding during the next legislative session. MPCA staff are working with the legislature on this effort.

The primary populations at risk of lead poisoning are young children who play regularly in lead-contaminated soil and pregnant women who might inhale windblown lead-contaminated dust. Inhaled or ingested lead is readily absorbed into the bloodstream, bones and major organs, and in high doses is very toxic and can be fatal. Non-fatal doses are known to cause learning problems in children.

The cleanup priorities are part of a plan by the Minnesota Legislature to prevent childhood lead poisoning in the state. The MPCA has already written rules establishing the lead-soil standard of 300 ppm and describing proper cleanup methods. The priorities target lead-contaminated sites where children and pregnant women with elevated blood lead levels live or sites that are likely to produce lead poisoning in children and pregnant women.

The cleanup priorities only apply to publicly-funded soil cleanup, the MPCA said. Nothing in the rules prevents persons from using private funds to clean up a contaminated site, but they must follow proper cleanup procedures as described in Minnesota's rules. Also, the new rules do not require people to clean up lead-contaminated sites at their own expense.

TRF ECFE to hold Daddy'N'Me night

Visits Family in England

Darlene Melander returned Friday from a 2-1/2 week tour in England and visited with her son Major Jeffrey Melander and family. Darlene, Jeffrey and Linda toured several historic tourist attractions including London, Oxford, Blenheim Palace, Woodstock Oxfordshire, The Cotswolds, Warwick Castle, Shakespeare County, Hoot Norton, Anne Hathaway's cottage, Stratford-upon Avon, Burton-On-The Water, Stew on The Wold, Bicester and others.

Major Melander was the sole Veterinary Corps officer affiliated with a three hospital, 2,500 bed contingency medical complex at Upper Heyford during Operation Desert Storm.

In July of 1990 he was awarded the Expert Field Medical Badge.

Major Melander is assigned to RAF Upper Heyford to manage the Dept. of Defense Offshore Food Quality Assurance Programs throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland. His work involves regular cooperation with British and American Agencies and has established a reputation as a recognized expert in this complex and sensitive field. He also provides medical support to the Military Working Dog Program at Upper Heyford and full Clinical Veterinary service and Zoonotic disease prevention at several U.S. bases throughout the United Kingdom.

Next July Jeff and his family will be returning to the United States where he will attend the University of Colorado in a 2-year graduate study in public health, food science and epidemiology.

Woodcrafters to get tips on sharpening

Northland Woodcrafters will get tips on tool sharpening from Fred Grant and Gordon Forester Monday, November 25, when the club meets at 7 p.m. at the Occupational Development Center on highway 32 south in Thief River Falls.

Membership in the club is open to anyone interested in making items from wood. Persons who would like to sit in on a meeting or two to find out more about the organization are always welcome to attend. Annual membership is $10 for individuals or $15 for families.

A number of club members are making toys to be donated to the Violence Intervention Program for Christmas giving to deserving youngsters. Members are to bring the toys with them to the Monday evening meeting and a display will be arranged in the Gunder Legvold memorial display case at the Thief River Falls public library.

College board begins search for chancellor

Minnesota Board for Community Colleges approved a search process recently that will lead to the selection of a new chancellor by February 11, 1992.

Dr. Gerald W. Christenson, chancellor of the Minnesota Community College System since 1983, announced two months ago that he plans to retire next June 30. Christensen, 61, will have served nine years in the post, longer than any other higher education official currently holding office.

The chancellor is the board's chief executive officer, heading a statewide system of two-year colleges. The system covers 21 campuses, 56,000 students in credit courses and 3,900 employees.

The board said it will seek candidates nationally, with a December 20 deadline for applications. The board will choose semi-finalists by January 8 and will interview them January 21 and 22.

Board President Richard Niemiec said the fast-track process is aimed at bringing a new chancellor on board in time for a transition period before Christenson retires.

Because of a pending merger ordered by the legislature, Niemic said the board will look for candidates familiar with higher education in Minnesota, even though they may not now be in Minnesota.

During Christensen's tenure, enrollment in community colleges has grown 50 per cent from a low point in the 1984-85 school year, despite a decline in the number of high school graduates.

Much of the growth has come from students beyond the traditional college-going age, who have discovered community colleges as a less-threatening place to embark on a degree or launch a new career.

About half of all community college students now are over age 25. Many take courses at night or on weekends while holding down jobs. About 56 per cent attend part-time and 60 per cent are women.

Christenson call his campuses "user-friendly" colleges with the ability to challenge honor students while extending a helping hand to those who have been away from classes for several years, or who want a second chance after a poor high school experience.

One major mission of community colleges is to provide a two-year core of liberal arts an pre-professional courses which can be transferred to four-year colleges and universities. A second major role is to provide career training in nursing, law enforcement and other fields.

The Minnesota Legislature has ordered a 1995 merger of the Community College, Technical College and State University Systems. A new Board of Higher Education, or "superboard," would govern the merged systems. This would create a new system of more than 60 campuses and about 157,000 students.

In other action, the board:

- Approved Christensen's recommendation of Sally Ihne as permanent president of Clearwater Community College Region. Ihne, 56, has served as acting president of the three-college region for the past year. She also will continue to head Brainerd Community College, one of the colleges in the administrative region. Also part of the regional structure are Fergus Falls Community College and Northland Community College at Thief River Falls.
- Approved a search process for a new president of Inver Hills Community College, leading to a selection in April 1992. Dr. Jerry Isaacs currently is serving as acting president, following the resignation of President Patrick Roche last June. Inver Hills is located in Inver Grove Heights.

Heritage center gives support to swimming pool

Members of the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls voted last Monday to donate 30 per cent of the net proceeds from its Bingo operation to the Thief River Falls swimming pool fund. The donation is expected to average about $200 per month and will be paid quarterly.

During the past 12-month period the Heritage Community Center charitable gambling fund has donated $9,487 to local groups and organizations.

Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold, a member of the swimming pool committee, spoke to the Heritage center group prior to the vote on Monday. He said that the swimming pool fund set up through the city of Thief River Falls now totals about $120,000 and that a Fargo, NO, architectural firm has been asked to design a pool the committee believes the community can afford—something in the area of $400,000 to $500,000.

"The river pool has been getting worse every year," Wold told the group, "and I became involved with the swimming pool committee in 1987 because I believe the community needs a safer place for people to swim in a summer outdoor setting."

Wold said that there has been a revitalization of interest in the pool project recently—an interest which had been lost when the first design for a pool complex was projected to cost $980,000.

"That was way beyond what anyone believed the community could pay for," Wold said. "We now hope to have a design that can provide ample opportunity for a community our size at a cost that will make it attainable. I hope that next summer we will have a swimming pool in Thief River Falls."

Paulette Nelson 2nd runner-up

Paulette Nelson of Grygla, Marshall county's Farm Woman of the Year, was second runner-up in competition for Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year recently at the Agri-Women's conference held recently in Grand Forks, NO.

Nelson and her husband Wayne have a dairy and grain operation at Grygla. They have two sons, Keith and Kevin. She received a gift certificate for two nights' lodging in either Minneapolis or Winnipeg and $100 from KNOX radio and the Agri-Women organization.

Winner of the Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year award was Lois Jones of Devils Lake, ND—a widow since 1965 who, with her children Laurel, Lawson and H. Lee, has expanded their farming operation to 3,200 acres of small grains, edible beans and sunflowers.

First runner-up was Emily Braaten of Kindred, NO.

Pennington county was represented in the competition by Mrs. Ruth Hasnedl of St. Hilaire.

Speaking Of . . .

. . . A Little History Is a Good Thing

We had an early Thanksgiving at our house this past weekend because all of my children could make it home. Talking is non-stop at these family gatherings, as I am sure it is with many other families. First we discussed present family events, and then we moved on to discuss other interesting subjects, like "Do you remember....," "We're going to ...," "What do you know about..." and "We've been..."

This year my family deviated somewhat from our usual "who, what, where, when and how" dialogue and indulged in a lively conversation about current events. This discussion was precipitated by the news on television that the government may reduce credit card interest rates. One thing led to another, and we found the main topic of our discussion was soon something we knew very little about, the Great Depression.

The kids seemed to think I knew all about this subject, since I am so old. I informed them that I am not that old, thank you, and I didn't know very much about the depression, either. We turned to history books and the encyclopedia to find the causes of the Great Depression of the thirties, and we found, to our dismay, some strange similarities between then and now. Here are some of the things we learned.

Herbert Hoover, a Republican, became president in 1929. Ironically, in his inaugural address, he said, "Ours is a land rich in resources...In no nation are the fruits of accomplishment more secure." And yes, he was also the president who promised "two chickens in every pot and a car in every garage." I bet those voters just flocked to the ballots on hearing such optimistic statements.

Ten months after President Hoover's promises of security, chickens and cars, in October, 1929, the stock market crashed and the country was plunked onto the downhill slide called the Great Depression. Some of the governmental policies leading to the Great Depression are chillingly familiar.

In the summer of 1929, residential construction fell, business inventories increased, consumer spending dropped 400 per cent. In June of that year, industrial production dropped, unemployment went up, commodity prices declined and the stock market continued to boom.

In September and October, the stock market wavered, and on October 24, Black Thursday, the market collapsed. That day President Hoover said, "The fundamental business of the country...is on a sound and prosperous basis." By mid-November, the market lost 47 per cent of its value. Many people lost their life savings.

In order to bolster the economy without actual government interference, President Hoover asked business to keep wages and prices up and made it easy for them to borrow money. Despite the fact that they ignored his requests and used the money to build bigger and better factories and produce more goods rather than pay their workers better wages, the President made cuts in personal and corporate income tax, again helping the rich to stay richer. Lowering taxes, of course, didn't affect the poor or middle class at all, since they paid very little tax anyway.

Bankers cut off consumer credit, so consumer buying faltered. Nobody bought all those homes and cars that the producers were producing. Factories cut back on production and began laying off workers and cutting back on hours. Some plants closed their doors. Too much money had gone into profits, dividends and expansion, and not enough to the workers. Production had increased by 43 per cent.

The President was bound and determined to keep the federal budget balanced, oh yes he was, so he opposed governmental spending which would have expanded currency and bank deposits. In May of 1930, he said, "We have passed the worst, and...shall rapidly recover." Not!

In 1930 and 1931, corporate profits declined, industries stopped producing, unemployment climbed, wages decreased, farm income declined by over half, businesses failed, and many banks closed their doors, wiping out the cash and savings of depositors.

Average middle class families, both urban and farm, lost much or all of their incomes, saw their savings and insurance disappear, and had their homes taken away from them when the couldn't pay their mortgages. The homeless were everywhere, living in cardboard packing boxes and lean-tos made of scrap metal and wood, existing on a diet of old bread, watered soup and beans. Many begged for hand-outs on the streets, "Brother, can you spare a dime?" Others sold apples or pencils on street corners to make enough to buy something to eat.

The administration continued to turn a blind eye to the country's suffering. It said the problem was local, not governmental, and cities and private charities should take care of the needy, despite the fact that localities had no means of raising money nor the capacity to borrow it. As the winter of 1930 closed in upon the country, individual cities dropped people from welfare rolls, leaving many more to fend for themselves in the cold with nowhere to turn for help.

In the spring of 1931, the depression spread to Europe, and many countries were unable to make payments on their debts to the United States and other countries. Now the Depression was worldwide.

The following year, the Republicans renominated Herbert Hoover as their Presidential candidate. The Democrats nominated New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Upon acceptance, Roosevelt pledged a "new deal for the American people." He promised assistance to depression victims, federal controls on agricultural spending, currency inflation, and to incur a deficit budget "if and when human suffering made it necessary."

Herbert Hoover talked about balancing the budget (yet) and said Roosevelt's policies "would destroy the very foundations of our American system." On the last day of his administration, he said, "We are at the end of our rope. There is nothing more we can do."

The American people overwhelmingly chose change, electing Franklin O. Roosevelt with over 57 per cent of the popular vote. He carried the Electoral College 472 to 59. Democrats gained a large majority in both houses of Congress. Americans wanted something better and hoped to find it with Franklin Roosevelt.

So ends the history lesson. I enjoyed learning something about the Depression and I hope you did too. My information came from The National Experience, A History of the United States; America Past and Present; and World Book Encyclopedia.

Car/Deer accidents in reports

Car and deer accidents filled reports at the law enforcement center for the past two weeks.

On November 10 at 5:55 p.m. Pennington county sheriff's department received a report of a car and deer accident from Donald Laidley, Thief River Falls, who was west bound on county road 55 when he hit a deer. Damage to his car was estimated at $200.

On November 10 at 9:30 p.m. the sheriff's office received a report that a pickup driven by Ira Lee Johnson, route 5, Thief River Falls, had struck a deer while going east on SA 3, three miles west of St. Hilaire. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $600.

On November 8 at 6:31 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report from Oary Lee Roisland, route 6, Thief River Falls, that his vehicle had struck a deer while going west on County Road 7 east of Highway 59. Damage loss was estimated at $450.

On November 8 at 7:57 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report from David Bjerke, route 2, Thief River Falls, that his vehicle had collided with a deer while traveling in Rockbury township north on Highway 59. Damage loss to the Blazer was estimated at $1,000.

On November 9 at 12:06 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report from Robert Krause, route 1, Long Prairie that his vehicle had collided a deer while traveling west on County Road 58 in Kratka township. Damage loss was estimated at $800.

On November 1 at 6:44 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report from Michael Fanfulik that while traveling on County road 55 his pickup had collided with a six-point buck. Damage loss was estimated at $1,860.

Other accidents. On November 4 the sheriff's department received a report of an accident in Rockbury township. According to the report, a pickup owned by Keith Lehman and driven by Candice Miller, route 3, Thief River Falls, went to start a pickup to warm it up. She thought it was in neutral and got out. The vehicle then went forward striking a pickup owned by Candice pushing it through a closed garage door and into another pickup owned by Johnnie Miller. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Lehman vehicle, $1,000 the the Candice Miller vehicle, $100 to the Johnnie Miller vehicle and $300 to the garage door.

On November 12 police received a report at 1:56 p.m. of an accident that happened at about 11:45 a.m. According to the report, a pickup driven by Joel Waterworth of Thief River Falls, was going north in the Bridgeman's parking lot driveway when he saw a vehicle exiting the lot. He turned to avoid it but struck a hydrant causing $700 damage to his pickup and $500 to the hydrant.

On November 13 at 7:34 a.m. police received a reort of an accident at Nora and Pennington avenue. According to tha report, a pickup owned by Oary's Bakery and driven by Edwin Greggory of Thief River Falls, was south bound on Pennington avenue and slowed for a right turn onto Nora avenue. His vehicle was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Chad Seibert, Thief River Falls. Damages were estimated at $200 to the Bakery vehicle and $45 to the Seibert vehicle, but Theresa Greggory, 21, Thief River Falls, bumped her head on the rear window of the pickup.

On November 13 at 2:35 p.m. a stationwagon driven by Carolyn Lee, Thief River Falls, was south bound on Highway 59 and attempting a left turn onto First street when the vehicle was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Mary Evens. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Lee vehicle and $1,500 to the Evens vehicle. There were no injuries or citations issued.

On November 16 at 8:32 a.m. police received a report of an accident at Second and LaBree. According to the report, a car driven by Peggy Ann Bergsnev, Thief River Falls, was going west on Second street, and a car driven by Lynnell Sollie, Thief River Falls, was going north on LaBree when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $600 to the Bergsnev vehicle and $1,000 to the Sollie vehicle. Mrs. Sollie reported some discomfort to her lower back.

Hit and run. On November 13 at 8:51 a.m. Kevin Komplien of Winona, reported that while his vehicle was parked in the 100 block of South Arnold he found a dent in the left front fender. He didn't have any idea how it got there. Damage loss was estimated at $200.

Thefts. The sheriff's office has cited the following for issuing a worthless check or dishonored check: Oarcy Lynn Miller, Thief River Falls, age 24, for issuing a worthless check in the amount of $35; Ouane Alan Olson, 20, Olympia WA, with felony theft by check for writing checks in the amount of $794; Gayle Almen of Red Lake Falls for issuing worthless checks in the amount of $94.29; Linda Lou Hamlin, rural Thief River Falls, age 31, for dishonored checks in the amount of $270.45; Oaniel Wayne Oausen, 25, Thief River Falls, for writing $124.81; Jose Antonio Cruz, 32, Columbus Heights for writing $12.95 in bad checks; and Keith Eric Larson, 20, Fifty-Lakes, MN, for writing bad checks in the amount of $32.50; and Thelmer O. Anderson, route 1, Trail, age 27, foc writing $25 in bad checks.

On November 6 at 7:56 a.m. Peggy Gustoff, Thief River Falls, reported that on the previous evening her purse was taken while she was at the Rusty Nail. It was black, four inches by eight inches, had $20 cash in it, a check book, identification and was valued at $40.

On November 7 at 8:46 a.m. Keith Oriffiths of Hamel, MN, reported a theft from the Best Western lounge. The theft occurred the previous evening. A 1991 Arctic special snow suit jacket, black, with gloves and other items in the pockets, was taken. Theft loss was estimated at $219.95.

Driving while Intoxicated. On November 11 at 4:52 p.m. a conservation officer radioed to the law enforcement center that he needed a deputy for a possible drunk driver investigation. Gerald Henry Johnson, Thief River Falls, age 55, was arrested for allegedly driving while intoxicated.

On November 9 at 8:54 p.m. police charged Robert Burstad, age 57, Thief River Falls for allegedly driving while intoxicated.

On November 9 at 12:01 police arrested Darrin Lee Nash, Hillsboro, NO, for allegedly driving while intoxicated.

On November 9 the Minnesota state patrol turned Susan K. Qualley, route 4, Thief River Falls, over to the law enforcement center for holding. She was being charged with allegedly driving while intoxicated.

On November 14 at 1:30 a.m. the sheriff's department arrested Robert Bruggemarr, 31, Thief River Falls, for gross driving while intoxicated.

Fleeing. On November 8 at 1:57 a.m. a police officer patroling an area on Third street clocked a vehicle in excess of the speed limit. He followed the vehicle to the Edgewood drive area where three people got out of the car, one male, and fled from police. They would not stop even after a warning. The vehicle was impounded and alcohol was found inside. Jon Sigerud, route 2, Goodridge, age 20, has been cited for fleeing on foot from a police officer.

Assault. On October 27 around 11 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an assault in St. Hilaire. Dale Marlin Nelson, route 5, Thief River Falls, was cited for an alleged assault. Loren Tverstol, Thief River Falls, was cited for disorderly conduct.

Assault. On November 5 at 7:30 p.m. police responded to a report of an alleged assault on west Fifth street. There was a disagreement at a residence. One party allegedly attempted to call police and the other individual ripped a phone off the wall. The female victim was thrown on the bed, her clothes ripped and then choked. Charges are pending against a 36-year-old male.

On November 4 at 4:45 p.m. police received a complaint of a disturbance at an apartment on North state. A male victim had been allegedly slapped across in the face during a dispute over vehicles in the parking lot. Sheril Schluchter, currently of Thief River Falls, was issued a citation for fifth degree assault.

On November 13 at 11:06 p.m. police received a report of an assault in the Greendale Manor trailer court. A female victim claimed she had been struck in the face and her nose earing ripped out of her nose during an argument. The phone was also pulled off a wall and smashed and a bathroom door broken during the argument. Brendon Zorman, 18, Winton, was taken into custoday and faces charges of alleged fifth degree assault.

Other. On November 4 at 6:49 p.m. police received a report of someone draining oil at the east side Squeaky Clean car wash. Oil was mixed in with water and soap and other evidence was found. It is under investigation.

A dog reported stolen during a burglary earlier this month was located on Novmeber 4. The brown cocker spaniel was located in Newfolden. The colar and tags were missing.

On November 16 at 11:21 p.m. a sheriff's deputy on patrol on State Aid 3 clocked a vehicle traveling in excess of the speed limit. While following the vehicle he observed a 12 pack of alcohol on the highway. The vehicle was stopped and the officer cited the following for possession of alcohol by a minor: Shane Ooyea, 18, Crookston; John Mostoller, 18, Crookston; a 17-year-old male from route 2, Crookston; a 17-year-old male from Crookston; a 16-year-old male from Crookston and a 16-year-old male from Crookston.

Consumption under age. On November 7 at 10:47 p.m. police received two calls of a vehicle driving in an erratic manner on the north end of town. The vehicle was located and stopped. Patric Oean Hanson, route 5, age 20, was cited for consumptinn under age.

On November 7 at noon two 13-year-olds, a girl and a boy, were caught drinking alcohol during school. Police have charged both with consumption of alcohol under age.

On November 15 at 11:15 p.m. police on routine patrol in the downtown area of Thief River Falls heard vehicle tires squealing. Mark James Counter, 20, Thief River Falls, was cited for exhibition driving and consumption of alcohol under age.

Disorderly conduct. On November 13 at 11:35 p.m. police received a call to the Wetch hotel in regard to a disturbance. According to the report, 32 year-old Steven Ray Carlson, Thief River Falls, was taken into custody and faces charges of disorderly conduct.

Negotiations for S.D. 564

ed deadline of Jan. 15, 1992 will lose $25 per pupil unit in state basic aid.

"The pace of settlements is running behind the 66 school districts that had reported agreements at this time two years ago," MEA president Robert E. Astrup said. "We anticipate more requests for mediation and an increase in the number of reported agreements as we get closer to the January 15 deadline."

Teachers and school board negotiators in more than 100 districts have filed for mediation with the state Bureau of Mediation Services.

New recruiter joins staff at local armory

Sgt. Bryan Raguse

Sgt. Bryan Raguse, a native of Alexandria, has been named as the new National Guard recruiter for Company B 2/136th (M) Infantry unit in the Thief River Falls and Crookston areas with offices in armories in both cities.

Sgt. Raguse has a business degree from St. Cloud State university and has been in the National Guard since April of 1985. He transferred to this area from an aviation unit in St. Paul. As a recruiter here he will be talking to people interested in joining the National Guard and explaining what the Guard has to offer.

"In view of Desert Storm and recent heightened tensions in the Persian Gulf," Sgt. Raguse said, "there is a lot of interest in the area of Guard enlistments. We had a lot of veterans looking to return to service, including quite a few Vietnam veterans. Many really believed in the cause and were willing to fight for their country again. Service to country, state and community are some of the reasons people join the National Guard, and the camaraderie of a Guard unit has its own appeal to some."

Sgt. Raguse also pointed out that full-time students in colleges or technical schools can receive 50 per cent of tuition for any Minnesota state college or university by joining the National Guard and training one weekend a month and two weeks each summer.

"We have the G.I. Bill which pays $170 a month to a full-time student and a student loan repayment program which will pay back up to $10,000 in student loans for those who qualify," he added. "There are also enlistment bonuses of up to $2,000."

The recruiter can be contacted by stopping at the armory in Thief River Falls or calling 681-4332.

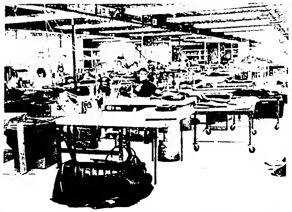
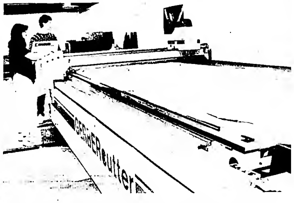
Bonnie Bowman is at the controls of the computerized cutting equipment installed this year at the Arcticwear clothing plant in Thief River Falls. The equipment cuts out pattern pieces in accordance with a computer program which improves accuracy, speeds up the sewing operation as well as the cutting and reduces waste for greater efficiency.

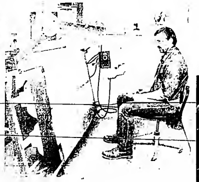


In this area of the sewing department of Arcticwear in Thief River Falls, about half of the company's sewing force is utilized in the manufacture of seat covers and accessories for Arctic Cat snowmobiles. There are about 80 employees involved in the sewing operation, manufacturing the seat covers and Arcticwear nylon garments.

This is the way all the garment pattern cutting used to be done at the Arcticwear sewing operation in Thief River Falls. Layers of material were stacked, the pattern clipped to it and each pattern piece cut by hand. Now this type of operation is restricted to special order items only. Jeff Eckstein is shown operating the cutter.



Computerized cutting of pattern pieces for Arcticwear clothing has increased production speed, reduced waste, improved accuracy and boosted efficiency. Sewing plant manager Scott Daniels is shown with operators Bonnie Bowman (left) and Marge Housker. Layers of material are moved onto the cutting table and covered with plastic sheeting. A strong vacuum draws the material down under the plastic and holds it in place while the computer guides the cutter to cut out the pattern pieces. The cutting machine was installed earlier this year at a cost of about $250,000. About half of the Arcticwear nylon garments are made at the Thief River Falls plant and the remainder at Creative Garments, Inc., at Chisholm from parts cut here.



As material used in Arcticwear clothing is unrolled from the bolt against banks of fluorescent lights, Dave Ulrich watches for flaws in the fabric. Quality control is a major effort of the Arcticwear company which prides itself in being the quality leader in the industry.

Arcticwear has it all for snowmobilers

turing (CAM) system has improved accuracy, increased speed, reduced waste and stepped up sewing efficiency.

Speaking of efficiency, the idea to use scraps from the sewing department as packing in the shipping department has saved the company an estimated $50,000 in packing materials a year.

The computerized cutting replaces hand cutting which, even with the most skilled and conscientious workers, was inconsistent, comparatively slow and wasted more material. The new equipment draws up to 25 layers of material down tight on a vacuum table and holds it there while the cutter head is guided by computer to cut out the pieces of the pattern. Cutting is so accurate that frequently a single cut can be used to form the sides of two different pieces.

"We do all the cutting in the Thief River Falls plant for the sewing that is done for us by Creative Garments in Chisholm," noted Scott Daniels, sewing plant manager. "The material comes in here, is cut into pattern pieces and trucked to Chisholm for assembly."

Benedict said the Chisholm business is "a highly quality conscious company" and willing to take immediate action to identify and correct any problem that might show up in a garment being sewn.

"As a result, of the tens of thousands of nylon garments sewn, our recent warranty work has been practically zero," Benedict added. "I have also been very happy with the quality of work coming out of the Thief River Falls plant. Quality assurance is outstanding. We plan continued clothing manufacturing growth in Thief River Falls."

Despite that effort, there are certain products in the clothing and accessories line for Arctco that are not and will not be produced here. Knitwear, for instance, is provided by a domestic company with which Arctco has contracted for about 15 years. Helmets, boots and gloves are produced elsewhere, although the helmets are stylized in the local plant.

"All four of our leather suit offerings are made in Korea," Benedict said. "The Koreans are the largest producers of leather products in the world. U.S. hides go to Japan for tanning, then are shipped to Korea where every piece is hand cut for assembly. This hand work is necessary because of irregularities and blemishes in the hides. Our new computerized cutting equipment, for instance, would not be effective on leather garments."

Importing leather garments presents some of the same problems that confronted the company when nylon garments were made overseas.

"There is a six-month lead time required for delivery, and that means styling has to be done and quantities have to be determined far in advance," Benedict said. "If I'm short on orders the customers are unhappy and if I'm long the bosses are unhappy. And I'm always either long or short on inventory!"

Styling has invaded the snowmobiling outerwear field to the extent that many garments are designed to match a particular snowmobile model in a particular manufacturing year. Arcticwear is sold only through Arctic Cat dealers, although buyers are certainly not restricted to snowmobile riders. Styling is going on now for 1993 and 1994 model years.

"I would say that 90 per cent of the product line changes in style from year to year," Benedict said. "We work very closely with the people who design the snowmobiles and we constantly monitor clothing styles in other fields—ski wear, motorcycling, stock car racing, mountain climbing, you name it.

"We are continually seeking to create a better functional product that gives the wearer what he or she wants in winter clothing. That means staying warm and dry while having freedom of movement and an attractive appearance. If a person has a bad experience with snowmobile clothing, that person may decide not to snowmobile. We wouldn't want that to happen."

That's why Arcticwear has taken advantage of advancements in fabrics and developments, as well as listened to suggestions for design improvements. Arctco's test drivers are frequently testing Arcticwear clothing as well as Arctic Cat snowmobiles. They know what keeps them comfortable on the job, and they know that the same features will keep other riders comfortable while they play.

When the breathable waterproof membrane GORE-TEX became available, Arcticwear shied away from it at first despite its apparent value in snowmobile suits.

"It wasn't durable enough by itself," Benedict said. "Other manufacturers used it and had trouble because it didn't have the durability to wear well. I always said that when it could be protected from wear I would be interested in it. We now use material which has the GORE-TEX membane laminated between the outer fabric and a fine, flexible nylon mesh which protects the breathable waterproof material."

Arctco orders the fabric to be used which is then shipped from the mill to the GORE-TEX plant where the waterproofing membrane and protective nylon coating are applied. When Arctco receives the laminated fabric it is ready for cutting and assembly. When that material is used, a special machine called a seam sealer is used to heat seal water-proof seam tape into the garment.

Non-GORE-TEX Arcticwear snowmobile pants feature a water resistant insert from the waist to the knees and snow cuffs to keep out snow and wind.

Benedict says that snowmobilers have become extremely style conscious and that often the highest style nylon suits—which are also the most expensive of the nylon suits offered—are the most popular.

Arcticwear is included in the Arctic Cat accessories catalog which is provided to dealers who sell Arcticwear clothing and to each Arctic Cat purchaser for at least the last two years. It also goes to members of the Cat's Pride club. Printed in full color, the catalog shows a wide variety of winter wear items.

In addition to Benedict and Scott Daniels, the division's responsibilities are handled by Brad Kosel, who is in charge of soft accessories and functional items such as helmets, boots, gloves and knit items; Marilyn Helgeland, coordinator at Thief River Falls with the plant in Chisholm for manufacture of nylon products; and Bruce Brink, whose responsibility is for promotional products from T-shirts to watches.

At some point in the not too distant future the company hopes to have its clothing division operate on a year-around basis. It also hopes to expand and further improve the sewing functions in Thief River Falls.

And just when Tim Benedict was starting to feel comfortable with the snowmobile clothing design and manufacturing business, along comes the new Arctco-manufactured personal watercraft which is expected to be produced and sold in the coming year. That will mean design and distribution of beachwear, personal floatation devices and possibly wetsuits to coordinate with the yet-unnamed watercraft units. Design for some of those items has been underway for some time.

"This will be a new field but our goals will remain unchanged," Benedict said. "We will offer a high quality product that assures comfort to the wearer with style and material that are at the forefront of the industry. It's the only way we know how to operate."

Thin ice warning is announced by DNR

Sudden and dramatic arrival of winter, with its heavy snows and below-normal temperatures, create another threat to many Minnesotans – thin ice. Small lakes and ponds across the state are already freezing up, creating early-season hazards, especially for children.

"We have already had reports of children out on some of these frozen pounds, and we're extremely worried about them breaking through," said Tim Smalley, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources boat and water safety specialist. "I suspect that many parents aren't aware that their children are going out on the ice, and it would scare them silly if they found out."

One of Smalley's unfortunate duties as state boat and water safety expert is keeping a record of all the drownings and boating accident victims in Minnesota. "Our records indicate that, many years, young children are the first to drown in ice accidents," said Smalley. "It may be that parents don't think their children need to be told about thin ice hazards, because the conditions are so obviously dangerous. But a 6 or 7-year-old doesn't have the experience to understand the risks."

The DNR is warning all Minnesota residents to say off the ice, at least for the time being. "Every year at freeze-up we have instances of people, snowmobiles and vehicles falling through the ice," said Byron Dyrland, DNR Regional Enforcement Supervisor at Bemidji. "People like to rush the season, or perhaps make the false assumption that new ice freezes to a uniform thickness all across the lake or stream."

"Even falling into shallow water is far more dangerous in the winter time," added Dyrland. "Most drowning victims this time of year actually die of hypothermia."

The official DNR position is that ice is never 100 percent safe. "You can never assume that you are safe," said Dyrland, "because ice conditions vary greatly from one place to the nest and can change dramatically from one day to the next."

Natural springs and water channels, such as river inlets in lakes, can cause thin spots in the ice – the size, shape and location of which can change frequently. Heavy snow cover and freeze/thaw weather conditions can adversely affect the thickness and load bearing strength of the ice. Cracks, pressure ridges, slush and ice chunks left on the surface by Mother Nature or ice anglers, all add to the danger; especially when the extra weight and speed of a snowmobile, motor vehicle or all-terrain cycle are added to the equation.

The DNR offers the following guidelines regarding the relative safety of new, clear ice. Any ice two inches thick or less is not safe – stay off! Four inches of new, clear, solid ice is safe for foot travel or ice fishing, but not for vehicles or heavy ice shelters. At least five inches is required to hold a snowmobile or all-terrain cycle. Eight to 12-inches of solid ice is necessary to support a car or small-sized pick-up. And at least 12-to-15 inches is needed to hold a large car or truck.

According to the DNR, it takes at least two weeks of near-zero overnight temperatures to form four-inch-thick ice. "Most areas of the state haven't had that yet," added Dyrland.

Additional ice-safety tips offered by the DNR: Carry two large nails to use as ice picks to help pull yourself out if you fall through. Drive with your windows down and the nearest door partially open to avoid being trapped if your car does go through the ice. Don't drive on the ice at night – it's much more difficult to spot hazards and there's less chance of you being spotted and receiving help if you do have trouble. Don't drink while traveling on ice – alcohol actually hampers your body's ability to keep warm and slows your reaction time in the event of an ice emergency. Stay well away from open water, and areas with "Thin Ice" warning signs.

Beltrami Co. Man Sentenced

A Beltrami County resident received the maximum sentence in a criminal misdemeanor case involving the illegal bulldozing of approximately one-half mile of river bed in the Gull River, the outlet stream of Erickson Lake near Tenstrike. Fred C. Lahman of Tenstrike was sentenced Nov. 1 by Ninth District Court Judge Peter Hemstad to serve 90 days in jail and pay a fine of $700. Lahman was convicted July 25 by a jury verdict.

Judge Hemstad suspended both the fine and jail time on condition that Lahman serve 100 hours of community service, pay $1,922 in defense costs for his court-appointed attorney and pay a $10,302 judgement that was ordered Aug. 1 in a separate civil suit involving the same incident.

That suit was filed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Division of Waters following an investigation by law enforcement authorities that lead to charges being filed against Lahman for illegally bulldozing the river bed in the fall of 1990. The bulldozing removed logs, beaver dams, aquatic vegetation and soil; lowered the level of the stream bed; and lowered the run-out elevation of Erickson Lake and adjacent wetlands by approximately 18 inches.

Earlier this year, Ninth District Judge Jay D. Mondry ordered Lahman to pay for river bed repairs and the construction of a steel, sheet-piling dam to restore the water level, estimated at $9,211; and pay state inspection costs of $1,091. Judge Hemstad subsequently ordered Lahman to set up a payment schedule by Dec. 1, 1991 and begin paying installments on that judgement. Hemstad also granted a request by Lahman's attorney, Tom Smith, to be released from the case.

Both the Gull River and Erickson Lake are designated protected waters under Minnesota law. Any escavation work carried out at or below the ordinary high-water level, or any action that alters the course, current or cross section of protected waters, requires a permit from the DNR Division of Water.

According to the complaint filed against him, Lahman did not apply for a permit, and he did not receive permission from one of the two landowners on the river before he bulldozed their property.

According to Gerald Paul, DNR Regional Waters Division Supervisor at Bemidji, Lahman has a long history of court cases, both as a plaintiff and a defendant, involving alterations to protect public waters and other issues related to Erickson Lake and Gull River.

"Our records contain approximately two dozen cases and court decisions since 1980 involving litigation between Mr. Lahman and three separate state agencies, and Burlington Northern Railroad," said Paul. "Among those are two other criminal cases filed by the DNR in which Mr. Lahman was found guilty, but no sentence was imposed by the judge."

Storm Took Toll On Pheasants

The record-setting Halloween "mega storm" may have killed up to 50 percent of the pheasants in some areas such as south-central Minnesota, according to Al Berner, the Department of Natural Resources wildlife research group leader at Madelia.

"At this point...I would guess the storm killed between 25 and 50 percent of the pheasants in areas hardest hit by the storm," Berner said. Statewide, Berner said the pheasant death toll should not exceed 25 percent.

The storm, which began Halloween day and continued into the weekend, set numerous snowfall records, including the most snowfall in a 24-hour period.

Berner said there were "several plus factors" that might have held the pheasant death toll down. First and foremost, Minnesota's pheasant habitat, in both quantity and quality, was in its best condition in the last 20 years. Quality habitat is the key to pheasant survival during severe storms. In addition, there was no previous snow on the ground and temperatures stayed fairly mild. Also, the storm came on gradually. "That should have given birds some time to find protection, if there was any suitable cover in the area," Berner said.

On the negative side, the record-setting storm dumped more than two feet of snow on some areas and was accompanied by strong winds. "Any snowfall over 12 inches causes real problems, and if there is a strong wind, it will fill up even good cattail stands," Berner noted. "Of course, any pheasants using drainage ditches for cover didn't stand much of a chance."

Severe winter storms kill pheasants two ways: birds can be buried within deep drifts, unable to force their way out; or when in the open, they can die from esposure. Strong winds, snow and sub-zero temperatures make the worst possible combination for pheasants. "Fortunately, we didn't have those sub-zero temperatures," Berner said.

Conditions were not as severe in the more western counties of the farmland zone, noted Kevin Lines, Farmland Wildlife Program leader. He said area wildlife managers from the state's best pheasant range (west-central and southwest Minnesota) felt pheasant mortality was minimal.

"It's impossible to say with any certainty at this time just what the impact was in terms of mortality," Berner stated. "As always, of course, those areas that have decent habitat or even standing corn will have a higher pheasant survival rate.

DNR Appointment

Dennis Asmussen has been appointed director of the Trails and Waterways Unit of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, it was announced by DNR Commissioner Rod Sando. Asmussen has been acting director of Trails and Waterways since January.

Sando said Asmussen and his staff are challenged with managing an extensive system of state trails and water access sites during a time of increasing recreation demands and espanding environmental concerns.

The DNR Trails and Waterways Unit is responsible for operations of 1,522 miles of state trails, over 1,200 water access sites and 19 designated canoe and boating routes that offer more than 2,800 miles of river recreation. Through grants-in-aid funding, Trails and Waterways also administers more than 10,200 miles of snowmobile trails and 900 miles of ski-touring trails. The unit also publishes water access maps, river maps and trail maps, and provides river level and snow condition reporting.

Snowmobile helmets are stylized at the Arcticwear plant in Thief River Falls by the application of various decals. In the photo above, Janet Logan applies the trim to a special full face helmet which is one of many listed in the Arctic Cat accessories catalog.

Blue Devils advance to state playoff semifinals

Grygla-Goodridge defense smothered the AlBrook offense Friday as the Section 8 champion Blue Devils advanced to the semifinals of the 1991 Minnesota state high school Nine-Man football playoffs with a 25-12 opening round quarterfinal win over the Section 7 champion Falcons at the Metrodome in downtown Minneapolis.

While the defense was shutting down the AlBrook attack, the Grygla-Goodridge offense was on the move as quarterback Mitch Bernstein completed 6 of 12 passes for 135 yards and three touchdowns while runningback Justin Lunsetter carried the ball 31 times for 111 yards and a touchdown.

The win matches Grygla-Goodridge against Section 5 champion Cromwell in Saturday's 9:30 a.m. semifinal. The Cardinals outscored Section 6 winner Win-E-Mac 40-20 in Friday's quarterfinals. Grygla-Goodridge and Cromwell are both 10-1 for the year.

First Nine-Man semifinal will be played Friday at 9:30 a.m. when 11-1 Section 4 champion Wheaton takes on 12-0 Section 2 winner Chokio-Alberta. Wheaton shut out Section 1 champion St. Clair 36-0 and Chokio-Alberta stopped Section 3 winner Silver Lake 28-12 in the quarterfinals.

Nine-man championship game at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 29, will kick off the tenth annual Prep Bowl finals.

AlBrook found the going tough against the aggressive Grygla-Goodridge defense. The Falcons did not pick up a first down until there was just 4:26 remaining in the game, and were limited to 48 total yards worth of offense until their final two possessions of the game.

But for a couple of Grygla-Goodridge turnovers, the AlBrook offense might well have been shut out. The Falcons' touchdowns came on a 20-yard interception return by Matt Radig in the second quarter that cut into a 13-0 Grygla-Goodridge lead and on a 1-yard Brad Matuszak run after the Blue Devils fumbled away the second half kickoff at their 6-yard line.

With AlBrook missing a pair of two-point conversion attempts, the score remained 13-12 until Bernstein went to Jeremy Engelstad for a 25-yard pass play that carried to the Falcons' 2-yard line, setting up Lunsetter's touchdown run on the next play for a 19-12 spread early in the fourth quarter.

The Blue Devils gained additional breathing room when Bernstein and Donovan Quam hooked up on a 45-yard touchdown pass with 5:25 left in the game.

Grygla-Goodridge scoring started when Quam got behind the AlBrook defense and hauled in a 12-yard pass from Bernstein near the midpoint of the first quarter. Bernstein added the conversion kick for a 7-0 head start.

The AlBrook secondary was burned again when Bernstein and Engelstad teamed up on a 29-yard touchdown pass midway through the second quarter for a 13-0 lead.

AlBrook, a 21-6 winner over Grygla-Goodridge in the 1989 state quarterfinals, finished the 1991 season at 9-2. The Blue Devils take a nine game win streak into the semifinals.

In addition to Grygla-Goodridge and Win-E-Mac in Nine-Man, results of the three other area teams in the state quarterfinals – Detroit Lakes in Class A, Mahnomen and Warren in Class C – found the Lakers beating Hutchinson 21-15 and the Indians over the Ponies 55-0. In Saturday semifinals, Mahnomen will face Browerville at 12-noon and Detroit Lakes meets Rocori at 5 p.m.

Grygla-Goodridge defense faces semifinal test

A Grygla-Goodridge defense that has been a key to the Blue Devils' march into the state high school Nine-Man football playoff semifinals will apparently receive a stiff test Saturday morning in a 9:30 day-opening match-up against high-scoring Cromwell.

The Blue Devils beat AlBrook 25-12 in Friday's state quarterfinals, with a pass interception producing the Falcons' first touchdown and a fumble recovery deep in Grygla-Goodridge territory leading to the second score. Otherwise, AlBrook was stopped cold by the Blue Devils' defense.

It's a Grygla-Goodridge trend that dates back to mid-October – a four-game span leading to the AlBrook contest in which the Blue Devils gave up just three touchdowns. They shut out Argyle 27-0 and beat Stephen 21-7 to close out the regular season, then shut down East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 43-6 and Stephen 20-7 to win the Section 8 title.

But against Cromwell, Grygla-Goodridge will be facing a team that has averaged 46.7 points per game in winning ten straight starts following an 18-12 season-opening defeat – at the hands of AlBrook. During their current run the Cardinals have scored 52 or more points four times.

Cromwell doubled Win-E-Mac 40-20 in Friday's state quarterfinals behind junior quarterback Pete Smith, who rushed 10 times for 70 yards, scoring three times – including a 69-yard punt return. Teammate Roger Collman, a sophomore runningback, added 104 yards and two touchdowns on 12 carries.

Extra Points

■ While the Metrodome affords state participants the opportunity to play late-season football in indoor comfort, teams have to either put up with the weather, or scramble to find suitable facilities for practice. Grygla-Goodridge utilized the Red River Winter Valley Shows Building in Crookston for practice before taking on AlBrook in the state quarterfinals, but that option was not available this week.

That left the Blue Devils looking to Northland Community College for a possible practice arrangement in the Pioneers' expanded gymnasium. An outdoor practice was likely at either Goodridge or Grygla later this week before the Blue Devils head to the Twin Cities Friday morning, where they were hoping to a secure a possible work-out site some time that afternoon.

■ Another large fan following is expected to accompany the Blue Devils on their second trip to the Metrodome. An estimated 500 to 700 Grygla and Goodridge area residents were on hand for the quarterfinal game. But those making the trip on a fan bus this week will be looking at a middle-of-the-night departure to arrive by game time.

■ Grygla-Goodridge players reported being stiff and sore after playing on the hard Metrodome surface for the first time. The warm temperatures also proved tough on the players.

■ The opportunity just to play in the Metrodome is a major objective

TRF pair selected All-State

Two Thief River Falls seniors – Matt Kaushagen and John Wallberg – have been named to the 1991 Minnesota State High School League Class A Academic All-State high school football team.

Their selection was reported to Thief River Falls school officials Monday by a telephone call from the MSHSL office.

Kaushagen, a 5-10, 178-pound fullback/linebacker, and Wallberg, a 6-3, 215-pound offensive and defensive lineman, both have a 4.0 grade-point average.

Academic All-State status is awarded on the basis grade point average, football ability and involvement in the community.

According to figures compiled by Lincoln High School head football coach Jeff Mumm, Kaushagen finished his high school football career as the Prowlers' all-time leading rusher, and was also the top scorer on the Thief River Falls defensive charts.

And Mumm ranked Wallberg as the best lineman in Section 8A this fall.

Kaushagen and Wallberg were two of the three captains who helped lead the Prowlers to a 6-4 record and a berth in the 1991 Section 8A semifinals.

High school teams begin winter drills

Monday marked the start of the preseason practice drills for Minnesota State High School League-sponsored girls basketball, girls gymnastics, hockey, cross country skiing and boys swimming programs across the state.

Boys basketball and wrestling will wait another week before opening practice Nov. 25.

Thief River Falls' winter sports head coaches include Glenn Chiodo, hockey; Ryan Lokken, boys swimming; John Anderson, wrestling; Scott Brekke, boys basketball; and Sally Wiltse, girls basketball.

The Prowlers' 1991-92 season openers include:

■ Boys swimming - Thursday, Dec. 5, at Fosston.

■ Wrestling - Friday, Dec. 6, at Larimore, ND.

■ Hockey – Saturday, Dec. 7, vs. Bemidji.

■ Boys basketball - Saturday, Dec. 7, at Kennedy.

■ Girls basketball - Saturday, Dec. 7, at Roseau.

Pool Schedule

Swimmers set school records at state meet

Thief River Falls girls competing in the 1991 Minnesota state high school swimming and diving championships over the weekend at the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis failed to advance past Friday's prelims.

However, the Prowlers did set two school records during their state meet appearance as senior Linnea Dimich, junior Amy Adams, sophomore Lisa Ulrich and freshman Theresa Giauque recorded a 4:05.04 in the 400 freestyle relay, and Giauque turned in a 2:05.45 in the 200 freestyle.

The Dimich-Adams-Ulrich-Giauque combination also qualified for the state meet in the 200 freestyle relay, and Adams swam in both the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly.

"We did okay," reported Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken.

Woodbury won team honors with 206 points, finishing well ahead of second place Edina with 146 and third place Rochester John Marshall with 142.

District 16 Pee-Wees, Bantams...

Hockey jamborees are set at TRF, RLF

Annual Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association District 16 Pee-Wee and Bantam hockey jamboree will kick off the 1991-92 youth hockey schedule Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 23-24.

Teams from Thief River Falls, Warroad, Roseau, Hallock, Bemidji, Red Lake Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Baudette will take part in the event, which includes scrimmage sessions in both Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls.

Pee-Wee A and Bantam A portion of the jamboree will be held Saturday. Pee-Wee B and Bantam B jamboree sessions will be held Sunday.

In Thief River Falls, the Bantam scrimmages will be held at the Sports Arena, while the Pee-Wee match-ups take place at the Old Arena.

Each scrimmage will be about 40 minutes in length. Admission fee is $2 per person for the day.

Win-E-Mac is winner in '91 8A volleyball

Win-E-Mac successfully defended its title Saturday with a 3-0 win over Roseau in the finals of the 1991 Section 8A high school volleyball tournament at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The Patriots swept the Rams 15-11, 15-9, 15-13 to improve their record to 22-7 heading into the Class A portion of the A/AA state tournament, scheduled to be held Friday and Saturday at the Met Center in Bloomington.

Climax stopped Cass Lake 16-14, 15-6, 15-12 in the Section 8A third place match Saturday.

In Friday's Section 8A semifinals, Roseau defeated Cass Lake 11-15, 15-5, 15-5, 15-13 and Win-E-Mac downed Climax 15-3, 8-15, 15-10, 15-7.

Win-E-Mac will be making its fifth state meet trip in six years, and that championship run was preceded by a 1985 title for McIntosh before the Winger, Erskine and McIntosh cooperative produced Win-E-Mac beginning in 1986.

The Patriots will meet 24-2 Section 6A champion Wadena-Deer Creek in Friday's 2:45 p.m. Class A state quarterfinals.

Section 8AA champion Alexandria (22-3) will play Section 7AA winner Hibbing (26-2) in the 11 a.m. Class AA first round state tournament quarterfinals Friday.

Alexandria, switched from the south to the north half of Section 8AA this fall, ended a string of seven straight state tournament trips for Moorhead by beating the Spuds 15-4, 15-7, 15-3 in the Sub North Section 8AA finals earlier this month. Moorhead had won 12 Region 8AA titles over a 13-year span dating back to 1978.

TRF crew at Dome

Thief River Falls will have a connection to the 1991 Prep Bowl Friday, Nov. 29, when an officiating crew of Tom Williams, Paul Williams, Rick Nelson and Tom Bendickson will work the Nine-Man state high school football championship game.

All five MSHSL state football finals will be played that day at the Metrodome in Minneapolis, including the Nine-Man title game at 9:30 a.m., Class C at 12-noon, Class B at 2:30 p.m., Class A at 5 p.m. and Class AA at 7:30 p.m.

Sports Boosters Meet

New Lincoln High School head boys basketball coach Scott Brekke will be the guest speaker Thursday at the weekly 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting in the back room of the Rex Cafe.

Notes...

■ Thief River Falls products in the news at Concordia College in Moorhead – 6-7 freshman guard/forward Pete Balmer is a member of the Cobbers' JV men's basketball team...freshman Darrin Haagenson was the Cobbers' No. 5 runner and No. 56 overall at the 1991 MIAC cross country meet at St. Olaf in Northfield...Kelly Comell is serving as a student assistant coach with the Cobbers' women's basketball team.

■ Instead of a four-division set-up, next year's Minnesota Community College Conference football race will feature a two-division format, with the former Northwest and Northeast Divisions forming a Northern Division, while the old Southern and Central Divisions team up as Southern Division group. However, former Northwest Division member Fergus Falls will be placed in the Southern Division to balance the line-ups. Top two finishers in each division will advance to the 1992 MCCC state playoffs.

Youth Hockey

First practice sessions of the 1991-92 season for the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association Tiny Mites will be held Wednesday at the Old Arena.

There are two age levels in the TRFAHA Tiny Mites – 6-under for players born on or after Sept. 1, 1984; 7-8-year-olds for players born on Sept. 1, 1982 and before Sept. 1, 1984.

Practices are held every Monday and Wednesday at the Old Arena, with Saturday games planned at either the Sports Arena or Old Arena.

Because of the large number of participants, the 6-under skaters will be divided into two practice sessions. The 7-8-year-olds will continue to feature separate practice times for the 7-year-olds and 8-year-olds, but will be grouped together for Elmer Poole Conference games – a policy that has been used in the past.

Numbers indicated there will be eight teams at the 6-under age group and six teams of 7-8-year-olds when coaches and TRFAHA Youth Hockey Director Ron Novak form the rosters for the Tiny Mites' 1991-92 regular season schedule of games.

TRFAHA will provide helmets (with face mask), elbow pads and shin pads to Tiny Mites who do not have those items. The equipment can be used during the season, and then returned to TRFAHA next spring. Equipment will be issued before the start of practice Wednesday. It is suggested that skaters arrive at the arena early to received the equipment and still have time to get on the ice.

Practice groups for ages 6-under include:

Group 1 (Mondays 3:45-4:35 p.m.; Wednesdays 3:45-4:25 p.m.) Benjamin Worker, Elliot McMahon, Dallas Berg, Chase Holmes, Tracy Fanfulik, Reed Waterworth, Bryce Bolstad, Derek Molstad, Rocky Altepeter, Ryan Forney, Stefan Rundell, Matthew Wilson, Travis Wendell, Justin Klinkhammer, Michael Langevin, Travis Mathson, Samuel Harger, Ryan Broden, Eric Leister, Yusuke Ryu, Travis Klinkhammer, Cory Loeffler, Mitchell Pribula, Benjamin Johnson, Matthew Bauer, Anthony Olson, Zachary St. Marie, Shane Loeffler, Bryan Sorvig, Gabriel Carlson, Dan Kjono, Derek Gustafson, Jonathan Walrath, Jared Daley, Preston Johnson, Joshua Jablinske, Stacy Wiseth, Chris Nelson, Andrew Erickson, Patrick Eggleston, Andrew Hoard, Roby Philipp.

Group 2 (Mondays 4:40-5:15 p.m.; Wednesdays 4:25-5 p.m.) Zachary Collins, Andres Carreon, Daniel Christenson, Corey Johnson, Nicholas Hogenson, Shawn Olson, Brett Reed, Reid Haviland, Lance Klaven, Sean Ranum, Tyler Holen, Michael Lunde, Zakary Solem, Houston Kirkeide, Ryan Mattison, Chris Mickelson, Robert Chute, Craig Johnston, Dean Haugen, Parker Comstock, Jared Barron, Matt Nordhagen, Lucas Genereux, Benjamin Lofgren, Aaron Bendickson, Benjamin Clark, Seth Hawkinson, Jordy Harger, Lisa Wigand, Clint Panek, Kyle Johnson, Chris Malter, Bradley Burton, Jacob Collins.

Coaches for the 6-under groups include Art Cloutier, Mark Enge, Al Gustafson, Tim Loeffler, Bud Comstock and Steve Klaven. Additional coaching help would still be welcome. If you are interested in helping as a volunteer coach, contact Novak at the arena, or by calling 691-3959.

Seven-year-olds who will practice Mondays from 6:30-7:15 p.m. and Wednesdays from 5-5:45 p.m. include Cainan Langlie, Chad Olson, Nicholas Harris, Dean Helie, Cole, Cole Holthusen, Krist Olson, Cole Olson, Cody Knutson, Chris Reierson, Justin Barron, Bryan Hallauer, Gavin Martell, Adam Knot, Cliff Juhl, Peter Ihle, Jeremy Anderson, Jeff Schneider, Danny Suronen, Daniel Almquist, Brent Fulton, Michael VanCamp, Michael Kimball, Reid Sjaaheim, Nick Bjerken, Jared Altepeter.

Eight-year-olds who will practice Mondays 7:15-8 p.m. and Wednesdays 5:45-6:30 p.m. include Paul Leister, Kyle Molstad, Ben Owen, John Bulger, David Lundstrom, Brent Grahn, Carson Comstock, Mike Bauer, Robby Anderson, Tyler Lahren, Trevor Swanson, Steve Wiseth, Dewey Worker, Rustin Sweeney, John Sjoberg, Michael Nelson, Kelly Olson, Mike Langland, Aaron Erickson, Brian Newton, David Chrazanowski, Chris Swanson, Dane Jensen, Eric Rendulich, Ryan Sabo, John Marben, Nathan Koland, Adam Dallmann, Neel Patel, Cody Johnson, Nathan Lahren and John Mickelson.

Coaching the 8-year-olds will be Emery Wicklander, Cal Offerdahl and Bruce Lawrence.

The Tiny Mites' 8-year-olds will also be divided into two teams who will participate in tournaments at Crookston Feb. 15-16 and at Red Lake Falls March 21-22.

Rest of the TRFAHA programs includes Squirts (ages 9-10), Pee-Wees (ages 11-12) and Bantams (ages 13-14).

Serving as the TRFAHA Board of Directors are four individuals elected by the TRFAHA general body – president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer – plus the youth hockey director, the head high school hockey coach and representatives from each of the TRFAHA Peewee/Bantam traveling teams – Eagles, VFW, Legion, Elks.

The 1991-92 group includes Rory Anderson, president; Mark Enge, vice-president; Al Gustafson, secretary; Larry Lee, treasurer; Godfred Svir, Eagles representative; Monte Markstrom, VFW representative; Roger Rupprecht, Legion representative; Ken Fletcher, Elks representative; Glenn Chiodo, Lincoln High School head hockey coach; and Ron Novak, TRFAHA Youth Hockey Director.

TRFAHA general membership meetings are held once each month during the hockey season.

Home energy loan program is available

One of the most important items homeowners rely on over winter yet often take for granted is their furnace. A new furnace, as well as other energy-saving improvements, can mean money saved in the form of lower utility bills.

Minnesota Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) offers low cost home energy loans for Minnesota homeowners of all incomes. A qualifying homeowner can borrow between $1,000 and $5,000 at an annual percentage rate of 8 7/8 per cent. The repayment term, a maximum of five years, will be based on the loan amount and household budget. The loan can be prepaid at any time without penalty.

To qualify for a home energy loan, the applicant must be an owner occupant of a single family home located in Minnesota as well as a reasonable credit risk. There are no household income limitations that apply to this loan program.

Loan funds can be used for most improvements that increase the energy efficiency of your home, including furnace or boiler replacement or modification, insulation, storm doors and windows. Other improvements could include weather-stripping and caulking, replacement of inefficient doors and windows, automatic set-back thermostats and water heater replacement.

Another feature of the home energy loan is its ready availability to Minnesotans through the 641 participating lending offices throughout the state. To apply for a home energy loan, call a participating local bank, savings and loan association, credit union or public agency and request an application form. A list of participating lenders throughout the state can be obtained by calling the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency toll-free at 1-800-652-9747 and asking for "Home Energy Loans."

As part of the application process, you should obtain bids and estimates for the improvements you decide to make. You can select your own subcontractors, buy your own materials and even perform some of the work yourself.

The Minnesota Department of Public Service's Energy Information Center can provide you with information on a wide variety of energy-related topics. You can call 296-5175 in the metro area or 1-800-652-9747 toll free to request a free publication or to talk to an energy specialist.

Doctor suggests "card shower" for Doug Anton

A doctor for Doug Anton, a former Thief River Falls resident who was struck by an automobile in Minneapolis this summer, has suggested a birthday card shower for Anton who remains hospitalized at Hennepin County General hospital.

"Doug's birthday is November 27 and it might do much to help his therapists with the bridging of his long and short-term memory problems," the doctor said.

Anton is a former member of the Thief River Falls Jaycees and for a time lived in Red Lake Falls where he was a dispatcher for the Red Lake County Sheriff's office.

Cards may be sent to him through his sister who said it is expected Doug will be placed in rehabilitation at either the Sister Kenney Institute or University of Minnesota hospital after Thanksgiving.

Send cards to Doug Anton, c/o Pat Ose, 11644 Xavis St. NW, Coon Rapids, MN 55433.

THANK YOU

Thank you to all who supported me in my recent bid for re-election. As Abraham Lincoln once said, "I am too old to cry and it hurts too much to laugh."

ORDER AND NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL AND APPOINTMENT OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE IN SUPERVISED ADMINISTRATION AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

In Re: Estate of,
Alyce M. Hegland,
Deceased

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

It is Ordered and Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of December, 1991, at 10:30 o'clock A.M., a hearing will be held in the above named Court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for the formal probate of an instrument purporting to be the will of the above named decedent, dated August 3, 1987, and for appointment of Doris A. Stomberg whose address is 340 Eastern Avenue, Grafton, North Dakota 58237, as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent in supervised administration, and that any objections thereto must be filed with the court. That, if proper, and no objections are filed, said personal representative will be appointed to administer the estate, to collect all assets, pay all legal debts, claims, taxes and expenses, and sell real and personal property, and do all necessary acts for the estate. Upon completion of the administration, the representative shall file a final account for the allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the Court, and close the estate.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Court Administrator within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

County Board Proceedings

Nov. 19, 1991
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS,
PENNINGTON COUNTY
SEPTEMBER 27TH, 1991 - 2:30 PM

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Friday, September 27th, 1991 at 2:30 p.m. Members present: Jensen, Swenson and Penning. Members absent: Koop and Murphy.

Also present were acting County Engineer, George Broadwell and County Attorney, Dave Olin.

Art Desrosiers, candidate for Pennington County Engineer, was interviewed.

Pennington County Attorney, Dave Olin, brought up a personnel matter involving Mike Bello. After advice of County Attorney Olin and pursuant to information received from Adjustco, the workman's compensation claims representatives for Pennington County Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to direct County Attorney Olin to write Mr. Bello a letter indicating that at the present time, Pennington County did not have a job for which his condition would allow him to work. Motion carried.

Meeting was adjourned in regular order.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS,
PENNINGTON COUNTY
OCTOBER 8TH, 1991 - 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' room in the courthouse on Tuesday, October 8, 1991 at 10:00 a.m. Members present: Koop, Jensen, Murphy, Penning and Swanson present at 10:30. Members absent: none.

David Grothe representing the Citizens Advisory vote Committee met with the County Board to review the procedures to be used in conducting an advisory vote on the purposed gambling casino. The vote will be held on October 19, 1991 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Polling sites are listed as the Community Centers in Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge. Mr. Grothe requested that the County Board delay action on the Casino question until after the advisory vote. The County Board stated that they had not intended to take action today and that their next County Board meeting is scheduled for October 22nd after the advisory vote.

The County Board then discussed quotes for demolition of two houses in Thief River Falls that are Tax forfeited and condemned by the City Building Inspector. The proposal required a $250 security deposit per house, copies of certificates of insurance and date of completion. Two proposals were received but only one submitted the required security deposit. Both proposals are on file with the County Auditor. After review by the County Attorney, Commissioner Swenson moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to award a contract to Less Sanitation and Richard Olson, Crane Service for demolition of the following homes:

321 E. 10th St., Thief River Falls $1,800
1106 No Dewey Ave., Thief River Falls $2,700

Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Koop, seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote was unanimously carried:

BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County appropriate $500 to the Riverland Association for 1992.

At this time the County Board discussed the County Engineer applicants they had interviewed. Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Swenson that the County Engineer position be offered to Arthur Desrosiers at the salary of $41,000 with the starting date to be no later than December 1st 1991. Upon call for roll call vote the following votes were recorded: Jensen Aye, Penning Aye, Koop-Aye, Murphy Aye, and Swanson Aye. Motion carried.

Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson that a registered letter be sent to Arthur Desrosiers stating the offer and requesting an answer within 7 days from receipt of the letter. Motion carried.

George Broadwell, Acting County Engineer, then informed the County Board on the status of the County Graveling, traffic painting and state aid projects. All are completed except for the final inspection on the State Aid projects. Mowing of ditches is estimated at 85% complete.

Howard Person, Solid Waste Officer and Richard Nordhagen appeared before the County Board to discuss the Capital Assistance Grant application. It appears now that the composting facility would require a roof and slow speed shredder or the Office of Waste Management will not fund the project. Representatives from the Office of Waste Management will meet with the County Board concerning these issues on October 10th, 1991.

Howard Person informed the County Board that the NWPCA has approved the spreading of existing finished compost on the Alvin Asp property. Other discussion was heard on the Washington School pilot project to do recycling at the school according to SCORE recommendations. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to authorize the pilot project with Washington School and to provide SCORE funds for the roll off and transportation of the recycled material. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the NACO dues of $265.00 for 1992 and authorize the Auditor to pay those dues in 1992. Motion unanimously carried.

John Ellison, County Veterans Service Officer made a request that the County Board adopt a resolution in support of continuation of the County Veterans Service Offices. The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swenson, seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote was unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, Laws of the 1991, Chapter 345, Section 27 directs the State Auditor to conduct a study of the County Veterans Service Offices to examine the possibility of elimination or merger of services and personnel and the possibility of State funding of personnel costs; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 197 of Minnesota Statutes currently mandates county government to provide services to veterans through its Veterans Service Office; and

WHEREAS, veterans and their families represent approximately 28% of the County's population; and,

WHEREAS, the Pennington County Veterans Service Office is largely responsible for over $1.3 million in Federal veterans dependent, survivor, and medical benefits being received by residents of this County each year; and,

WHEREAS, Veterans Service Officers have specialized knowledge of programs and services available to veterans; and,

WHEREAS, The Pennington County Veterans Service Office assists hundreds of Pennington County residents annually through their counseling and claims presentations to the Departments of Veterans Affairs for the State of Minnesota and the United States; and

WHEREAS, The Pennington County Veterans Service Officer provides counseling, claims service and referral in such areas as: alcohol dependency treatment, burial benefits, service-connected disability compensation, dental treatment, discharge reviews, death benefits, education and training, financial assistance programs, United States Department of Veterans Affairs home loan guarantee, outpatient and inpatient medical care, nonservice-connected disability pension, survivor's and dependents' benefits entitlements, as well as numerous other entitlement areas; and,

WHEREAS, in the absence of a veterans service function, the county human service agencies would become responsible for providing many of the services currently provided by the Veterans Service Office; and,

WHEREAS, the volume and variety of constituent requests can best be addressed by a person specialized and dedicated to veterans issues as in the current system; and,

WHEREAS, our County Veterans Service Office has provided and continues to provide a very valuable service of the Pennington County Board in facilitating assistance to County residents.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners supports the mandates of Minnesota Statutes Chapter 197 as the most cost-efficient and effective method for the provision of services to Pennington County Veterans, dependents and survivors.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Auditor of the State of Minnesota, the President of the Minnesota Association of Counties and the President of the Minnesota Association of County Veterans Service Officers.

Commissioner Koop moved, seconded by Commissioner Penning to authorize the Veterans Service Officers attendance at the Annual Fall Conference. Motion unanimously carried.

John Ellison then speaking as County Safety Coordinator mentioned that he has made inquiry on a OSHA onsite preinspection.

Commissioner Swenson moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to approve payment of the following warrants. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then reviewed a letter from the Area Ag Information Center requesting funds for operation of their organization. Commissioner Koop moved, seconded by Commissioner Penning to deny the request of the Area Ag Information Center. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then reviewed correspondence from the Aandal Law Office offered to continue his misdemeanor representation of indigents at the same terms, of $2,000/month, as the 1991 contract. The 1991 contract allows for this extension upon approval of the County Board. The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Koop, seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote unanimously carried:

BE IT RESOLVED, that the contract with Don Aandel to provide misdemeanor representation of indigents for $2,000/month be extended for the whole year of 1992.

Don Stewart, Jobs Inc, Executive Director presented handouts on the potential economic impact of having a casino in Thief River Falls along with a letter from a Perkins owner on interest in Thief River Falls if a casino is established in Thief River Falls. Other discussion was held on the content of the Casino agreement, welfare costs and potential increase in Law Enforcement costs.

Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to adjourn to October 10th, 1991, 3:00 p.m. Motion carried.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS,
PENNINGTON COUNTY
OCTOBER 10TH, 1991 - 3:00 PM

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Thursday, October 10th, 1991, at 3:00 p.m. Members present: Jensen, Murphy, Penning and Swenson. Members absent: Koop.

The purpose of this meeting was to discuss with the Minnesota Office of Waste Management Staff their letter dated September 4th, 1991 outlining unresolved issues that the Office of Waste Management needs answered to convince them that the purposed composting project is technically and financially feasible.

Those present from the Office of Waste Management include Kevin Johnson, Sigrud Scheurle and Robert Routs. Others present at the meeting were Howard Person, Nancy Shumacher - County Consultant, Richard Nordhegen, Steve Nordhegen and Shirley Borgen.

The major issues discussed were the high speed shredder proposed in the original grant application, establishing a pellet market or diverting paper products to compost and the need for a shelter over the compost pad.

Discussion on replacing the high speed shredder with a mixer and having the capability of diverting the paper that would normally go into pellets. If the pellets were unable to be marketed, to that mixer would answer the concerns of the risk of a high speed shredder and the marketing of the pellets.

Discussion on the other major concern on whether or not a roof was needed over the compost pad resulted in no agreement. The County Board will need to address this at the next County Board meeting.

Commissioner Swenson moved, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to adjourn to October 22nd, 1991, 8:00 A.M. Motion carried.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS,
PENNINGTON COUNTY
OCTOBER 22, 1991 - 8:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners' room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, October 22, 1991 at 8:00 a.m. Members present: Jensen, Murphy, Penning & Swenson. Members absent: Koop.

At 9:00 a.m. the Pennington County Board met with Oscar Sortie - Labor Negotiator for Pennington County, Theresa Joppa, Law Enforcement Labor Services Business Agent and Earl Witford, Director of Labor Management Programs for the Bureau of Mediation Services. At 3:00 p.m. representatives of the Law Enforcement Labor Services Union also met with the County Borad.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the labor-management relationship and discuss possible ways to make that relationship better.

At 5:00 p.m. the Chairman called the regular session of the County Board meeting to order. Commissioner Koop also joined the meeting at this time.

The County Board proceeded to open bids for an ambulance as advertised. Bids were received from:

Spectran Inc. Lifeline Paraliner $61,820 - 1992 Chassis Ford E350

Ringdahl Co Inc. - Mobile Medical Type III $64,450 - 1992 Ford E350

Road Rescue Inc. - Paramedic III $62,026 - 1991 Ford E350

Road Rescue Inc. - Promedic RCS III $61,128 - 1991 Ford E350

Road Rescue Inc. - Paramedic III $68,226 - 1992 Ford E350

Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to refer the bids to the County Attorney and County Sheriff for review to report back to the County Board November 12th, 1991. Motion unanimously carried.

Rick Nordhegen and Howard Person met with the County Board to discuss the Capital Assistance Grant Application for setting up a composting operation. Nancy Shumacher - consultant for the County will resubmit the application if the County Board decides to make the changes that the Office of Waste Management seems to be requiring if we want their approval on the grant application. Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to authorize Nancy Shumacher to make the following changes in the Capital Assistance Grant application; Remove - loadout pad runoff pond, roll off boxes, and screen. Decrease amount needed for water supply costs. Replace high speed shredder with a mixer and Add a roof with 16' sidewalls over the compost pad. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard then discussed the procedure of hauling and spreading of compost from the Solid Waste Facility on land belonging to Alvin Asp. The MN PCA has approved this application. Also discussed was the meeting held with management of the Fosston Incinerator to discuss the possibility of burning pellets in their incinerator. This will be researched further.

Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Penning to approve the minutes of September 24th & September 27th as written. Motion carried.

The County Auditor then reviewed correspondence he has had with Arthur Desrosiers concerning accepting the County Engineer position. The County Board stating that they would review the County Engineer's performance in May of 1992 if he accepts the position at this time and that the salary offer is still at $41,000/year. No other changes were made to the offer to Arthur Desrosiers. County Auditor, Ken Olson will relay this message to Mr. Desrosiers.

Representative Wally Sparby then met with the County Board to hear concerns of the County Boards. Items discussed included; Solid Waste, Beaver Control, Wetlands no net loss provision when building roads and the presidential primary election. The County Board thanked Representative Sparby for meeting with them.

Sandy Warner representative of the Northwest Regional Development Commission met with the County Board to review a new Contract for Services between Pennington County and the Northwest Regional Development Commission to provide coordination of the comprehensive local water plans implementation goals. Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to approve the Contract for Services with the Northwest Regional Development Commission and to authorize the County Board chairman to sign the agreement on behalf of Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swenson seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote unanimously carried.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Quin Community Health Services Plan for the years 1992 to 1995, including the plan for Pennington County, be approved according to the plan before the Board.

The County Auditor then made a request that the County Board designate Reserved General Revenue funds as follows: 525,000 for cash flow and 130,000 for Future Expenditures (including the computer purchase and accrued compensated absenses.) Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to designate County General Revenue funds to the following: 525,000 to cash flow and 130,000 to Future Expenditures. Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon vote was unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, the Acting County Engineer has inspected both house demolition sites at 1106 N Dewey and 321 E. 10th St. and has found the contractor has completed the final site cleanup as per the contract.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board approve the contract for House Demolition as complete and authorize the County Auditor to make the full & final payment of $4,500 to Les's Sanitation and Dick Olson's Crane Service.

David Grothe then met with the County Board to review the results of the Gambling Casino advisory Vote. There were 1,208 total votes cast, 1,017 against and 191 for the Casino. He stated that he wished that people would have been encouraged to vote instead of not to vote. Mr. Grothe was pleased with the turnout of the voters opposed to the Casino and felt the vote was a factor the Commissioners should consider.

Larry Rohlf representing the Citizens Committee for a Better Tomorrow then presented a written statement to the County Board of which he also read. They thanked residents for not voting in what they called a discriminatory vote. They also stated that they felt that the county Commissioners could feel assured that the vast majority of the County's residents trust and respect the decision of their elected officials. Also that the vote of the elected officials would be based on review of the contract between them and the Red Lake Band.

Discussion was held on both reports made to the County Board with the County Board Chairman restating the County Board previous statement that they would not vote until a final agreement from the Red Lake Band can be reviewed by the County Board.

Acting Engineer George Broadwell then reported on Highway Department matters stating that the State Aid projects are only waiting for final approval.

Commissioner Koop moved, seconded by Commissioner Swenson to adjourn the meeting to November 12th, 7:30 p.m. Motion carried.

Birthday for Sheena

Sheena Greenwald celebrated her birthday on Friday the 25th of October, after school with friends, Michelle Wilson, Heather Wright, Kelsey Konickson, Tiffany Holmes, Lindsey Hemly, Sarah Hagge, Lilly Vettleson, Rochelle Killian and Stephanie Berberich. Sheena had fun games planned and they all had pizza and birthday cake before returning to their homes. Later in the evening grandparents, Howard and Margaret Greenwald, Jolayne Patrick and Mindy Simpson and friend, Wayne, sisters, Cheryl and Patty, all gathered in her honor.

Brian Fisher arrived last Wednesday at his parents, Al and Lorraine Fisher's, to visit and do some hunting. His friend, Dan Klukas, and his father, came on Friday. Both Brian and Dan are stationed at Yuma, AZ.

Roger and Arlys Konickson left in the recent storm for Minneapolis, and flew to Las Vegas for a week's vacation, to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary, and are back at home now.

Idella Rewertz visited with Amanda Hofius and Harold Hanson of Red Lake Falls last Wednesday afternoon, and was a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Painode. In the evening she, also Berry and Debbie Rewertz attended the memorial service for Mike Berg, at St. John's Lutheran church.

The Women of Immanuel met on Thursday afternoon at the church. Clara Hesse presided at the business meeting and the Thanksgiving program was presented by Bunny DuChamp and the Sarah circle. Hostesses were Charlotte Leining, Ramona Hodon and Alma Hanson.

Inga Linder, Hazel Ollie, Esther Walter, Edna Hyde, Effie Vigstol, Bunny DuChamp and Florence Tvedt attended the allied concert given in Lincoln High school on Thursday evening.

Wavel Sorenson attended the funeral for Oscar Houske on Thursday afternoon at Redeemer Lutheran church on Thief River Falls.

Gerald and Jeanette Vigstol of St. Louis Park, visited on Friday with Effie Vigstol and the Scott Miller family.

Randy Eskell and son, Chad of Elk Grove Village, IL, came on Thursday to spend the long weekend of hunting and were houseguests of his parents, Martin and Fern Eskell. They returned the following Tuesday.

Karl and Rita Sorensan and children of Wannaska, were overnight guests of the Lloyd Sorensons on Friday night, also Sunday night enroute to and from the Cities to visit Karl Jr.

Craig and Darlynne Eskell of Waukegan, IL, arrived on Friday at his parents, the Morin Eskells, to hunt and visit relatives for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fellman of Brainerd, visited on Saturday afternoon with Idella Peterson.

Sheila Gerardy and children and Wavel Sorenson were among several women who were guests of Linda Homly on Saturday afternoon.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greenwald celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on November 9th, at the Senior Center in Plummer. The event was hosted by their children, Sharon and Rodney Wayne and family of Goodridge, Richard and Bonnie Greenwald and family of Stacy, Jolayne and Charles Simpson and family of Plummer, Michael and Sandy Greenwald and family of Plummer, Monte Greenwald of Aurora, CO, and John Greenwald of Mounds View. The festivities began at 6 o'clock with a program led by Jolayne, which included several grandchildren. Chancy and Nora Greenwald presented a humorous lip sinc, and The Chinnigans, Minday Simpson sang "Love Is Our Home," Sheena Greenwald read a definition of Grandfather and Grandmother, and Kimberly Wayne sang "Look at Us." At the close of the program, Charles Follman presented a baseball cap to Howard from the CBI, a group who had served with Howard in the China-Burmese-India Theater of World War Two. Howard responded with thanks to everyone for their good wishes, and then led in table grace. A turkey supper was served to the many friends and relatives who attended, which was catered by Karen Konickson and Dora Derosier. An anniversary cake was made by Joanette McMullan and flower arrangements were done by Modonna Lallier. A collection of "50 Years Together" pictures were on display for everyone to view. All of their children were present, as well as 12 of the couple's 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. In addition to the many relatives and friends from the area were guests from Fargo, Moorhead, St. Paul, Champlin, Lancaster, Shoreview, Owatonna, Stacy, Brainerd and New Brighton. The couple received many gifts and cards as a tribute for their years together, and the high esteem in which they are held in the community. The evening closed with a dance to old time music provided by Vernon and Audrey Rogalla. On Sunday morning many of the guests attended Mass at St. Vincent de Paul's, where Margaret and Howard renewed their vows. Howard was given the honor of reading the lessons for the day. Many relatives joined them for the noon meal at the hall. Supper guests at their home were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jaeger and family and the Mike Greenwald family. Congratulations to a very special couple!

Welcome Home Party

A welcome home party was held on Friday evening at the American Legion club rooms in Plummer, to honor Sgt. Brian Fisher, son of Albert and Lorraine Fisher. This was Brian's first trip home since he returned from Saudi Arabia, as a part of Desert Storm. Commander Paul Wilkens spoke on behalf of the Legion, and Jim DuChamp as president of the Sons of the Legion welcomed Brian home, and presented him with a gift. Brian also spoke and thanked the Legion for being so honored. This was followed by Debbie DuChamp serving Brian's decorated cake and coffee to all of the guests. Brian is home from Yuma, AZ, where he is stationed with the Marine Corps.

Arriving at the Melvin Eskell home for the deer hunt and several days of visiting were Lonnie Eskell and son, Aaron of Great Falls, MT, Eric Eskell and friend, John Thomes of Chanute Air Force Base, Steven Eskell of Fargo, Wesley and David Eskell of Roseau, also Lisa Eskell, student at UND of Grand Forks. Lonnie and Aaron left on Tuesday and the rest later in the week.

Weekend visitors at the Art Schiefert home to enjoy hunting and a visit were Sidney Schiefert and son of Bloomington, Vic Schiefert and friend Zack of Apple Valley, Harley and Josh Schiefert of Fargo.

Jim and Shirley Jaeger of St. Paul, son Nicky and friend, daughter, Diane and friend Jane, spent the weekend here to attend the golden wedding festivities of his sister, Margaret and Howard Greenwald on Saturday and Sunday.

Boy Scouts

Plummer troops of the Boy Scouts served hamburgers on Saturday, at the American Legion hall, with proceeds going to help the troops. Working were Betty Halvorson and son, Eric, Cheryl Roelan and son, Heath, Karen Vigstol and son, Karl.

Shannon Fisher and friend, Dan Durelle of Westport, MA, students at Northland College in Ashland, WI, spent the weekend at the Al Fisher home, getting in on the deer hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kuiper of Red Lake Falls, visited at the George Ollie home on Sunday afternoon.

Eldon, Karen and Karl Vigstol and Roger Hyde were Sunday dinner guests of Edna Hyde.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Art Froiland home were grandchildren, Jerilee, Kerry and Shannon Froiland, Beth and Mike Foster of Roseau, and Janelle Stoo of Badger. Most of them were on their way back to school after the weekend.

Dale and Kelly Flatgord, Angela, Justin and Travis of Austin, were Monday supper guests of Charlotte Leining.

Homemakers Club

Gert Marty entertained the Hollyhock Home Study club on Tuesday evening at her home. Bertha Hughes was in charge of the business and then the group made Christmas decorations under Gert's direction, who also served a delicious lunch.

Wavel Sorenson, Sheila Gerardy, Rebecca Willett and Avis Froiland visited Tuesday evening at Virginia Bern's home in Oklee.

Scott and Maribeth Miller and children left on Wednesday for Cavalier, ND, where they visited until Friday with Dale and Cheryl Raichanski and family.

Ladies Aid

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid met on Wednesday afternoon at the church, with Pastor Schurr leading the lesson, Ruth Wilkens in charge of business and Emma Waldal as hostess.

On Wednesday evening last week, Sandra, Brandon and Adam Scharberg of Rochester, came to spend a few days at the home of her parents, Dwight and Stella Howard.

Dawn, Amanda, Kyle and Cassondra Stanvik of Bejou, were visitors and supper guests at the Howard home on Thursday.

Part of a shipment of five container loads of Hydra-Mac Model 1300 skid steer loaders and many related attachments for Saudi Arabia was loaded recently at the Hydra-Mac plant in Thief River Falls. Two of the containers were loaded here and three others were drop-shipped from Michigan. Gary Flynn of Hydra-Mac said that the overseas demand has been very strong and the Abahsain Co., Ltd. in Saudi Arabia has been the local company's largest customer in the last six months. The containers go from Minneapolis to Baltimore, MD by rail and are loaded on ships for Saudi Arabia. Delivery time is about four weeks. Flynn said Hydra-Mac assembly line is operating but the fabrication area is temporarily shut down. He said the Model 12000 crawler loader—the largest of three models to be produced by the company—is now in testing and should be introduced early in 1992. Demand continues good for the smallest Model 4200 now in production.

Assault charges pend after fight

Charges of third degree and fifth degree assault are pending against a Thief River Falls man following a fight Monday evening.

According to a police spokesperson, police received a report of a fight on East First street at about 9 p.m. Police found a man lying in the doorway of a residence with blood on his face. According to the report, a man allegedly came to an apartment of a woman and started hitting her. The man police found lying in the doorway came to her rescue but was hit in the face and kicked in the ribs. The assailant then left the scene. Both victims were taken to Northwest Medical center. The woman was treated for contusions and the man for two fractured ribs.

The victims were able to provide police with a description of the alleged assailant who was later located and returned to the residence where the incident was alleged to have occurred. According to police, the victims identified the man as the assailant. Glen Russell Hart, 36, Thief River Falls, faces charges of third and fifth degree assault.

State's banks among best

Minnesota banks continue to be among the nation's safest and best-performing commercial banks, according to second quarter data recently released by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

"Minnesota banks continue to be capitalized at a level that exceeds the national average," said Truman Jeffers, executive vice president of the Minnesota Bankers Association. "High capital levels protect banks against potential problems and reassure customers about the safety of their deposits."

Minnesota's 621 banks had an average equity capital to total assets ratio of 7.16 per cent at June 30, 1991, compared to the national average of 6.72 per cent. Minnesota's 558 banks with less than $100 million in assets had an average capital ratio of 8.96 per cent.

Minnesota banks also performed better than most banks around the country. The average return on assets for Minnesota banks for the second quarter was 0.94 per cent, compared to 0.61 per cent for the nation.

The return on equity for Minnesota banks for the second quarter was 13.51 per cent, compared with 9.24 per cent for the nation.

Nearly 94 per cent of the state's banks recorded a profit during the second quarter. Eighty-nine per cent of the nation's banks reported second quarter profits.

Total lending by Minnesota banks grew during the second quarter. Total loans and leases for the second quarter were $33.0 billion, compared with $31.8 billion the previous quarter.

Total bank assets in Minnesota as of June 30, 1991, grew to $54.5 billion from $53.0 billion the previous quarter.

There have been no bank failures in Minnesota during 1991. Nationally, 101 banks have failed.

Risk of spreading AIDS gets attention

Marlene E. Marschall, Minnesota Commissioner of Health, has issued a series of 23 separate recommendations designed to lower the risk of spreading the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) in the health care setting.

HIV is the virus that causes AIDS. The recommendations are aimed at reducing the risk that the virus will be transmitted between health care workers and patients.

"The risk of infection is already extremely low," Commissioner Marschall emphasized. "However, we believe that we have developed a broadly-based strategy for strengthening the current system, so we can do a more effective job of protecting both the health care worker and the patient. That strategy is spelled out in these recommendations."

The recommendations cover a variety of areas—including measures designed to (1) ensure the use of standard infection control procedures in the health care setting; (2) provide appropriate standards and guidelines for HIV-antibody testing of health care workers; (3) provide for effective monitoring of health care workers, to ensure patient safety; (4) provide appropriate standards and guidelines for HIV-antibody testing of patients; and (5) encourage the sharing of information and foster discussion regarding HIV issues between health care providers and patients.

The proposed measures would affect the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH), the licensing boards that regulate health care professionals in the state, hospitals and other health care facilities, individual health care workers and their patients.

The recommendations are part of a report to Governor Arne Carlson, dealing with issues related to HIV-infection in health care workers. Governor Carlson asked Commissioner Marschall to prepare the report last June, partly in response to an incident involving a Minneapolis physician who had AIDS.

The physician had been seeing patients during a period when he had open sores on his hands from a bacterial infection. MDH identified 336 of the physician's patients who were believed to be at increased risk of HIV infection, and over 95% of them were tested for the virus. All were negative.

The recommendations issued by Commissioner Marschall do not call for mandatory testing of health care workers.

"Many people have expressed support for mandatory testing, in the belief that we can completely eliminate all risk of infection," Commissioner Marschall said. "Unfortunately, there is no strategy that will reduce the risk to zero, and that includes mandatory testing."

There will always be a few individuals who are able to evade a system of mandatory testing if they choose to do so, Commissioner Marschall said. Other health care workers could become infected after being tested, so their infection would go undetected until the next time they take the test.

The recommendations emphasize voluntary testing of health care workers who perform "invasive" or "exposure prone" procedures. That approach is likely to be just as effective as mandatory testing, in terms of reducing risk and protecting the patient, Commissioner Marschall said.

The risk to patients is already very low, she emphasized.

There is still only one known case, during the entire ten years of the epidemic, where the virus was transmitted from health care worker to patient, Commissioner Marschall said. That case involved five patients who became infected from the same Florida dentist. There have also been some 60 cases where patients of infected health care workers have been tested for HIV. Over 9,000 patients have been tested so far in connection with these cases, and all were negative.

Since there have been so few actual cases, only theoretical estimates are available regarding the risk of HIV infection in the health care setting. It has been estimated, for example, that the risk of being infected during surgery is one chance for every 2.1 million to 21 million surgical procedures performed, here in Minnesota.

The real question, Commissioner Marschall said, is how low we can make the risk—and at what cost to society.

"We believe that voluntary testing can provide reasonable assurances of patient safety—without creating a false sense of security, or raising false expectations that we can eliminate risk," Commissioner Marschall said.

At the same time, she noted, voluntary testing would avoid many of the potential costs associated with mandatory testing. Voluntary testing would make it possible to avoid the difficulty and expense of setting up a system of mandatory testing—as well as the additional burden of government intrusion into the health care system and the lives of individual health care workers.

"We currently have a system of shared responsibility for protecting the safety of the patient," Commissioner Marschall said. "That system relies on the combined efforts of the state health department, the health-related licensing boards, hospitals and other health care providers, individual health care workers, and the patients themselves."

Safety council advises care when skating

Ice skating is one of the most popular winter sports. And it can be loads of fun, but one hard fall can cause serious injuries.

The Minnesota Safety Council suggests wearing skates that fit comfortably and provide enough ankle support to keep you on your feet. In addition, have the skate blades professionally cleaned at the beginning of each season.

Be sure to skate only on specially prepared skating areas where you are sure that the ice is strong enough to withstand your weight. Always check the ice for cracks, holes and debris.

Census bureau statistical abstract ready

For the 11the year, the "Statistical Abstract of the United States" is off the press, ready to satisfy America's hunger for numbers about every conceivable subject, from the three most popular imported spices to the number of people who have received artificial hips.

Published by the Commerce Department's Census Bureau, the 1,008-page volume features the expected population and other demographic and economic information from the bureau, but also thousands of facts from other government, business, and private research sources.

The "Statistical Abstract" is known as the authoritative summary of statistics on the social, political, and economic organization of the United States. Its statistics are widely used by public officials, business analysts, educators, librarians, research workers, reporters, editors and students.

Added this year are 92 new tables of statistics plus 1990 Census of Population and Housing numbers for the nation, states, metropolitan areas, and major cities. Altogether there are 1,490 tables arranged in 31 sections, ranging from Population and Education to Agriculture and Comparative International Statistics.

Most tables show national data, but some cover regions and states, and others provide metropolitan and large city information. A special section with state rankings also is included.

Copies of the "1991 Statistical Abstract" may be purchased for $28 each, paper-bound (GPO Stock NO. 003-024-07260-2) or $34 each, clothbound (GPO Stock No. 003-024-07261-1) from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from GPO book stores in major cities.

Holders of a MasterCard, VISA, or GPO account number may telephone orders to 202-783-3238; to order or make inquiries by FAX, dial 202-275-0019.

Governor's order allows overweight loads on roads

Governor Arne Carlson has signed an executive order temporarily allowing farmers to carry overweight load with otherwise restricted vehicles on Minnesota highways. The order was issued to help farmers expedite their harvest and transportation of their products to market. The harvest has been significantly delayed in Minnesota this season because of extremely heavy and continuous rainfall.

"Minnesota's agriculture industry is the cornerstone of our economy and our existence," Carlson said. "Because of this year's planting and harvest delays, it is necessary to release certain legal requirements to help farmers have a successful and timely harvest."

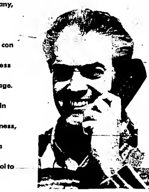
Under the executive order, farmers would be allowed to use non-typical equipment, such as pickup trucks, to haul overweight trailers. The Minnesota State Patrol has been notified of the temporary suspension of the law.

Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Elton Redalen said, "Farmers are rushing to complete the harvest before winter and must commit tractors and other farm machinery to the fields only. The relaxation of this law will allow farmers the help they need. I applaud Governor Carlson for taking this action."

The executive order will remain in effect until December 15, 1991 or until otherwise rescinded.

OPEN UP AN OFFICE IN THIEF RIVER FALLS, ST. HILAIRE, PLUMMER, WARREN, HOLT, VIKING, RED LAKE FALLS AND EVERYWHERE ELSE YOU GO.

Thief River Falls, meet Cellular One. We're your new mobile telephone company, here to hook you up to the Minnesota Cellular One System. Which means you can now stay in touch with important business everywhere there's Cellular One coverage. And that's important. Because if you're in sales, contracting, healthcare, agribusiness, real estate, or in business for yourself, a Cellular One mobile phone can be as vital to your success as a regular phone.



To make sure Thief River Falls gets the best cellular service possible, we're investing three-million dollars into our system over the next five years. The cost to you? Affordable enough to pay for itself. In fact, if you spend just a half-hour of working time away from your office every day, a cellular phone can add as much as an extra month to your year. So if you've always believed that time is money, you can finally prove it. Just stop by our Bemidji office at 703 Paul Bunyon Drive, or call us at 759-CELL (2355).

Reiner . . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hutchinson and family and Bea Hutchinson were among those who attended the open house for Ray and Sybil Knutson in honor of their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. Congratulations to Ray and Sybil!

Mrs. Daryl Mickelson, Zachary, Forrest and Ethan of Salol, spent the weekend at the Richard Miller home.

Dora Vraa and Harry and Mable Sigerud, Trudy Hyland and Mrs. Richard Nelson visited on Tuesday afternoon at the Lloyd and Elaine Wiseth home. Ardelle (Vraa) Gibson of Oak Creek, WI, was also a visitor at the Wiseth home. Our thoughts and prayers are with Elaine during her illness! We all wish her a speedy recovery!

READING THE BIBLE IS RAPID COMMUNICATION WITH GOD

We live in an age of rapid communication: the telephone and all its related devices, the telegram, express mail, and the incredible FAX machine, by which we can relay our messages thousands of miles in a few minutes. Our choice of method depends, of course, on the urgency of the information we are trying to send or receive. There are times, however, when we need help or advice from a higher source than any that can be reached by some modern communication channel. That can be obtained at our House of Worship and by talking to our clergyman. Moreover, when that isn't feasible, there is always the Bible; waiting there on the bookshelf. It contains God's vital messages for us, and we need only open it in order to receive them instantly.

As a guide, the Bible is without a rival

Free business assistance by phone available

Small businesses and entrepreneurs can now get referrals to providers of business and financial assistance by dialing a toll-free number.

Minnesota Project Outreach (MPO) has created a computerized directory, or database, containing descriptions of over 700 sources of business assistance. Minnesotans can dial 1-800-338-7005 outside the Twin Cities or 851-7750 in the Twin Cities with any business-related question or problem. MPO Help Staff will search the business assistance services database for the nearest organizations that can help.

By using the referral service, businesses can find assistance with accounting, financing, marketing, business planning, personnel recruitment and training, legal questions, relocation, and technical questions. The directory includes providers and programs sponsored by federal and state agencies, educational institutions, chambers of commerce, civic organizations, community development groups, local governments, and private industry associations.

In addition to using the toll-free number, interested people can search the directory by going to one of 75 public access sites throughout the state which have a computer connection to MPO. These access sites include the Northwest Technology Research Center in Thief River Falls and the Marshall County extension office in Warren. Any Minnesotan with a computer and a modem may access the business assistance services database by dialing 1-800-367-1033.

The business assistance referral service was conceived by the state legislature in 1989. It is an important new resource for growing businesses, according to Rep. Rick Krueger, DFL-Staples, chair of the House International Trade and Technology committee.

"We recognized that most small businesses in the state would like to use the assistance programs which are available, but they don't want to wade through the alphabet soup in the phone book to figure out which organization can help them," Krueger added.

No other database listing this kind of information is as comprehensive and easy to use, according to Peter Coyle, Teltech, Inc.'s government market director. Teltech, a Minneapolis-based company, created the new database for MPO. "There are plenty of printed directories which offer this kind of information, but most business people find it easier to talk to someone on the phone than to look something up in a book," Coyle added.

Business assistance referral is the latest addition to a wide variety of information services for small businesses offered by MPO. MPO also offers searches for current articles on business and technical topics, referrals to expert consultants, vendor and patent searches, information on technical and business education opportunities, information on University of Minnesota technical research projects and their possible market applications, and information on licensable technology available through the University of Minnesota.

Like the business assistance referral service, many of these services are free and accessible by a toll-free phone number. To use these services, however, businesses must first obtain an identification number at the public access site. To find the nearest public access site, business people can call the MPO Help Staff phone numbers listed above. MPO is sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, Minnesota Technology, Inc., and the University of Minnesota.

THE TIMES' Editorial Opinion

The Times

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Holiday Fair Idea Should Be A Community Event

Good ideas usually prove themselves over a period of time. Such is the case with the Holiday Fair which was held for the 15th year in the Thief River Falls city auditorium Saturday. So successful has this pre-holiday craft show and sale been that demand for space far exceeds what the auditorium has to offer, even with the screening that the sponsors do for quality and variety in items being offered for sale.

Already that demand has spawned additional events, this year held at the Eagles hall and the National Guard armory. Although sponsored by people not involved with the original Holiday Fair, they have provided opportunity for craftsmen and artisans from a wide area to show and market their offerings.

Thanks largely to the abilities and efforts of the founders of the Holiday Fair, and of the people who have been selected to show there, the annual event has established a good reputation for quality and value. It attracts a large crowd each year and it is time, we believe, when a view should be given to expansion of the idea into a community-wide pre-holiday craft event.

Such an effort would have to have full community support, for it would require the use of any and all facilities which could provide space for craftsmen and artists to show and sell their products. That would include the places mentioned above, plus elementary and secondary schools, colleges, vacant buildings and anywhere else space can be found.

We attended the craft fair in Little Falls earlier this fall where the outdoor craft show attracted about 850 exhibitors and who knows how many thousand others who came to browse and to buy. The need for indoor display area would reduce the potential for anything like that number of exhibitors here, but if all available resources were used for a community-wide show it could be at least several times its present size.

We would like to see some organization—perhaps the Holiday Fair committee if it feels so inclined, since it has a proven track record and a good deal of successful experience—take on the task of expanding on a good idea to make it a great one. It would take a concentrated effort and a whole lot of cooperation, but handled carefully to keep it under control it could result in a highly successful event that would certainly benefit the community.

How about it? Anybody else think it is worth a try?

The Bill Of Rights Reaches The States

In Friday's edition of the Northern Watch we published in the editorial section a review of the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution. The following, also from the National Newspaper Association's "The Constitution: The Words We Live By," deals with the 14th Amendment itself:

Before the 14th Amendment, nothing in the Constitution prevented a state from violating the Bill of Rights, which limited only the federal government, not the state governments. In framing the amendments that became the Bill of Rights, James Madison had included a provision to make First Amendment rights binding on the states, but the Senate deleted that provision. Later, Madison lamented that it was the most valuable amendment in the lot.

In 1833, a key Supreme Court case, Barron vs. Baltimore, ruled that provisions in the Bill of Rights restrained "the power of the general government, not.....the states."

After the 13th Amendment abolished slavery, several states passed laws limiting the civil and legal rights of former slaves. Congress passed a Civil Rights Act in 1866, but many doubted Congress' power to make such a law, believing protection of civil rights was a state not a federal matter.

In response, Rep. John a Bingham of Ohio and others proposed a constitutional amendment to extend the Bill of Rights to the states. According to Bingham's draft, Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment would grant "equal protection of the laws" to all Americans and formal citizenship to the freed slaves. This would extend to the states the responsibility to protect those rights "chiefly defined in the first eight amendments to the Constitution."

The amendment became effective in 1868, but the civil rights purposes of the amendment soon became obscured. By the 1890s the 14th Amendment was used by corporations to challenge state and federal regulation of business activity. Lawyers argued successfully that corporations as legal "persons" were entitled to due process rights under the 14th Amendment, and they were able to defeat many regulatory efforts.

The "equal protection" clause of the 14th Amendment suffered a grievous blow in 1896 when the Supreme Court in Plessey vs. Ferguson upheld a Louisiana law requiring segregated railroad facilities. The court said that as long as accommodations were equal, blacks were not deprived of "equal protection" under the 14th Amendment. The ruling established the practice of "separate but equal." Justice John Harlan of Kentucky issued an eloquent dissent that later became widely accepted: "Our Constitution is color-blind, and neither knows nor tolerates classes among citizens."

In the 1920s the tide began to favor protection of civil rights under the 14th Amendment. A series of court decisions cited the amendment as applying to the states many Bill of Rights provisions. In 1925 the Supreme Court ruled in Gitlow vs. New York that states could not abridge First Amendment rights of free speech. The court said, "....freedom of speech and of the press...are...protected by the due process clause of the 14th Amendment from impairment by the states."

In the late 1930s the "separate but equal" practice also began to unravel. Missouri was ordered by the court either to admit a black student to its white law school or provide "equal" facilities. In 1954, the Supreme Court ruled in Brown vs. Board of Education that "separate" segregated educational facilities were inherently "unequal."

In 1961 the court began to incorporate the "rights of the accused" provisions of the 5th and 6th Amendments into the 14th Amendment, including the right to counsel and the right against self-incrimination.

Rep. John Bingham was ahead of his time in interpreting that the 14th Amendment extended the Bill of Rights to the states. In the last 50 years, however, Supreme Court decisions have moved the nation toward the realization of equality for all Americans as expressed in the 14th Amendment.

Recruiting Fundamentals:
How to Prospect for New Businesses

In the world of sales, the process of identifying potential buyers for your product is known as prospecting. While few see their community as a product, it nevertheless is, when it comes to recruiting businesses. And, the prospective buyers of the community are the business owners you desire to recruit. Even though this all sounds so basic, I have rarely found an economic development director who really knew how to prospect and was persistent at the prospecting effort.

Let's first establish a criteria by which to measure the desirability of a business. 1. The prospect should have a potential for well paying professional sector jobs. Remember, most businesses start with a higher percentage of low paying jobs but as the business matures, a layer of management should emerge. 2. The prospect should export at least 65 per cent of goods or services out of state. This is the best way to bring new money into your community. 3. The prospect should be acceptable to the majority of your community. A number of issues may disqualify a business, for instance, environmental considerations. However, professionally specified and operated, I believe very few businesses should actually be disqualified. 4. Finally, the prospect must make a long-term financial commitment to the community.

Once your community leadership has determined what business you want to catch and what bait you need (vision, buildings, land or loans) it's time to go fishing. Generally, the further away the prospective business is, including the international arena, the better.

To help us better identify the prospects, in 1988 Dr. Larry Leistritz, an ag-economist from NDSU researched the characteristics of export orientated businesses which moved in the Upper Great Plains. He was able to get 341 businesses to respond to his request for data. To identify those businesses he obtained the publicly available directory of manufactures from the four adjacent states to North Dakota. He also reviewed past issues of state and local newsletters from EDC directors which identified new businesses.

Dr. Leistritz identified the following medians. Of those businesses which were willing to move, they had average employees of about 20, had average sales of about $2 million and exported out of state nearly 70 per cent of sales. Most importantly, the median age since start up was about eight years. Most business star-up's go through the Valley of the Shadow of Death. Yet most communities don't see those businesses that live this long as probable survivors with a real future. At a time when encouragement and help were needed most, businesses didn't get it. And it is very common for those businesses to lose all loyalty to their communities and become willing to move.

Lastly, regarding the Leistritz report, South Dakota was the big winner among the five states surveyed. Why? Because South Dakota has a well-known pro-business attitude which prevails throughout the state.

If you are looking for a more convenient approach, you can purchase a list from American Business Information, Omaha, NE. They will supply any portion of the Yellow Page's business directory you want. This data comes on mailing labels or on a computer floppy disk. More creative communities have run out-of-state ads, have received foreign directories and have asked consultants for lists of businesses seeking a U.S. presence. Several EDC directors have attended national trade shows looking for businesses who are aggressive marketers. Additionally, you should identify everyone from the surrounding 60-mile area who has left and started their own business elsewhere. They should be strong prospects to move their businesses back to your community. And the list goes on and on.

Once the prospect list is compiled, a persistent long-term marketing effort must be started. Within a three-year period you will have a good chance of catching the business owner in a down cycle. That's when they are the most vulnerable to change and when it is essential to invite the owner personally to your community.

This means, the EDC director must have a budget for travel and entertainment. How much is enough? Would $10,000 to $20,000 annually be out of the question? No! If you have a competent marketing orientated EDC director, it is absolutely essential that you give that director the tools needed to accomplish their job.

In the next article we will explore perhaps the most important factor to consider when recruiting new business for your community: how to capture the heart of the business owner.

Thirty-four Keenagers enjoyed their annual Thanksgiving meal on Friday, November 8th at the Holt center. Marion read a Thanksgiving prayer before the meal. Door prize winners were Hilma Horlen and Lewis Swenson. Marion, vice president, opened the business meeting by having everyone stand and sing our welcome song. The secretary's and the treasurer's and annual reports were read and approved. A thank you card from the family of Nellie Swenson was read. Marion thanked everyone who helped prepare the meal and all who help in the kitchen each meeting. Anyone interested in the telephone hearing equipment should contact Marion. Motion by Linda for Olive and Marion to be delegates to the Northwest Federation meeting in Thief River Falls on November 15th, seconded by Hilma. Membership dues for 1992 are now due and can be paid at the December meeting which is Friday, December 13th. This will be our Christmas party with a two dollar gift exchange, please state if for a man or woman. Turkey and scalloped potatoes will be served, roast potluck to be vegetables, salads, and Christmas goodies. Ham will be used in January. Ann Borg was present to conduct the blood pressure clinic. Julie Helgeson of the New River Record took pictures of those who had birthdays in November, Olive Lunke, her daughter Maxine, Leonard and Shirley Yonke, and Dorothy Rood. The afternoon was spent playing games, more prizes are needed. Birthday cake and ice-cream was served to end an enjoyable day.

Discovery may provide relief

The Arthritis Foundation today announced a discovery that may lead to better ways to control the inflammation that is evident in many forms of arthritis. The finding, by Timothy O'Toole, Ph.D., and his colleagues at Scripps Research Institute in La Jolla, California, suggests new ways to alter the inflammatory process and to treat arthritis and other diseases. Dr. O'Toole's work is sponsored by the Arthritis Foundation. The findings are reported in the November issue of "Science."

"This finding gives us an important piece of information about the inflammatory process and could lead to the development of new ways to control the inflammation that causes severe pain for many people who have arthritis," said Arthur I. Grayzel, M.D., senior vice president, medical affairs for the Arthritis Foundation. The foundation estimates that 37 million Americans have some form of arthritis.

"Dr. O'Toole's discovery deals with integrins, a family of proteins present in cells that help control the ability of white blood cells to adhere to blood vessels and accumulate at the sites of inflammation," said Harvey Luthera, M.D., Chair Medical and Scientific Committee. "To express these adherent properties, integrins must be activated by signals from certain molecules within the cell," he said. O'Toole and his colleagues modified the genetic material encoding these proteins and demonstrated that these genetic changes could cause an increase in cell adhesion. Increased cell adhesion could be responsible for a number of biological processes, including unwanted inflammation.

This finding suggests that the control mechanism for integrin could be affected by naturally occurring or synthetic compounds in man. The compounds could cause decreased integrin activity leading to reduction of cell adhesion and inflammation.

"These research results suggest that we may be able one day to modify the cells of someone with arthritis to reduce the process of inflammation," said Dr Grayzel. He added that more research would be needed in this area before specific treatments would become a reality.

"Even so," said Dr. Luthra, "there is much that can be done now to control arthritis, and the Arthritis Foundation, Minnesota Chapter has programs and services that can help." The Arthritis Foundation estimates that 37 million Americans have arthritis, including 584,000 Minnesotans.

60 Young People Rally At Community Church

"Approximately sixty persons attended a district young people's rally Sunday afternoon at the Community church, large delegations being accompanied by Rev. Paul J. Snyder of Crookston, Rev. Charles Haynes of Warren, Rev. [illegible] of Roseau and Warroad and Mrs. Crawford Grays of Bemidji. Bishop Ralph Cushman of St. Paul addressed the gathering. In the evening 100 persons attended a banquet in the church parlors, Rev. S. S. Olaffson presiding as toastmaster over the program, which included community singing, a trombone solo by Gloria Quist and a marimba solo by Lorraine Quist."

From The Editorial Page

"Among the things we have heard no complaints about during the past week is the weather. On the day before Thanksgiving many farmers were getting caught up on their fall plowing. That just about tells the whole story."

Thanksgiving Is Almost Here

"Tomorrow is Thanksgiving and the people of the Red River Valley have much to be thankful for. It is true things have not been as good as they might have been, still they might have been a great deal worse. Let everyone tomorrow give thanks for the bountiful crops of the past year, and let us all hope that on each succeeding Thanksgiving we will have cause to be more thankful than before."

"There will be a Thanksgiving ball at the Red Lake Falls Opera Hall Thursday evening next by the St. Hilaire orchestra. This orchestra is said to produce fine music, so those who enjoy dancing and feel in a thanksgiving mood should go. The tickets will be 75 cents. The band is made up as follows: Clarionette—Prof. Kupor; cornet—E. H. Stranahan; 1st violin—B. J. Helmes; 2d violin—Martin Williams; bass viol—Will Peters. A competent caller will be engaged."

"Have you got that turkey secured?"

Questions Answered For Veterans

Q—Is service in the Persian Gulf War considered wartime service for VA benefit purposes?

A—Yes. Under Public Law 102-25, the Persian Gulf War Veterans' Benefits Act of 1991, the Persian Gulf period is defined as beginning August 2, 1990, and ending at a future date to be determined by presidential proclamation or by law.

Veterans and dependents with questions on VA benefits may contact St. Paul VA Regional Office and Insurance Center toll-free at 1-800-827-0646.

Q—Has VA's clothing allowance for eligible disabled veterans been increased? What is the amount of the allowance?

A—The new allowance is $436 per year. Depending on the qualifying disability, the award may be recurring or the veteran may need to apply each year.

Prestan Gabriel Marquis, infant son of Arlan and Joani Marquis, was dedicated to the Lord on Sunday, September 22, at the morning worship service at Bethel Assembly in Fosston. Sponsors for Prestan were David and Lori Marquis of Goodridge, and Steve and Karen ReMine of Avon, CT, who were unable to attend. Following the service, the Marquis' hosted a dinner at their home in Prestan's honor. Attending were David and Lori Marquis, Pastor Gerald and June Lewin, Marvin and Ben of Fosston, grandparents, Dick and Marian Marquis, Bonnie Jensen and Lillian Nelson of Oklee. Also Mitch Marquis, Erica, Ethan and Erin of Fosston, and Jim and Doreen Aakre, Devin and Katelyn of Clearbrook. That evening, Kaye and Tim Munt, Elizabeth and Maureen were visitors.

On Saturday, October 5, Joani Marquis, Tara, Shandrea, Britanne and Prestan attended the bridal shower for Diane Jensen, at the Senior Site in Oklee. Afterwards they visited at the Bonnie Jensen home along with Connie Kriel and Mackenzie of Devils Lake, ND. Others there for the shower were Betty Johnson of Hendricks, Kim Jordahl of Fargo, and her mother, Pat Hollands of Fisher.

On Sunday, October 13, the Arlan Marquis family visited at the Mitch Marquis home in Fosston, to bring belated birthday greetings to Justin, who celebrated his 7th birthday on October 7th. Later they visited at the Bonnie Jenson home and had cake to celebrate Joani's birthday on October 12.

On Thursday, October 17, Arlan and Joani Marquis and family traveled to Fargo, to attend the weekend wedding of Diane Jensen and Michael Johnson of Hendricks. Others arriving early to enjoy their time together were Guy and Ludeen Rice, Gavin, Andrea, Callin and Aleisha of Fond du lac, WI, Connie Kriel, Nathan, Lucas and Mackenzie of Devils Lake, ND. Bruce Kriel was unable to attend the wedding, due to a business trip to Korea. Also, Donna and Philip Larson, Lindsay, Elseye and Meredith of Princeton, Alan Jensen of Zimmerman, Barry of Broken Arrow, OK, Eric of Fargo and Alvin and Bonnie Jenson. Alvin arrived home from his ship on Monday from New Orleans. On Friday evening, the Marquis' attended wedding rehearsal at Trinity Lutheran church in Moorhead, and supper following at the Eagles. Tena was a bridesmaid and Shandrea and Britanne were Flower girls in the wedding party. Saturday was the wedding followed by a reception at El Zagel Shrine Temple, where Arlen and Joani were a host couple. On Sunday the newlyweds had a gift opening at the Comfort Suites Motel in Fargo. Afterwards everyone said their goodbyes and headed for home. Barry Jensen left Monday morning from Thief River Falls, flying to Russia, where he will spend the next two months doing missionary work. Alvin Jensen left Tuesday, to return to his ship based in New Orleans.

It's time to review conservation plan

At the end of 1989, thousands of Minnesota farmers developed conservation compliance plans for their highly erodible land. Those plans describe what landowners agreed to do to reduce soil erosion on their farms to maintain eligibility for U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) program benefits. They also identify when they plan to do it.

If farmers don't remember what they agreed to do when they developed their conservation compliance plan, or if they don't understand what's in their plan, now is the time to find out what it all really means.

"By all means, visit your local soil and water conservation district or the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office as soon as you can. SCS and SWCD staff will help you understand what is in your plan and what you must do to meet compliance requirements," advises Gary Nordstrom, SCS state conservationist in St. Paul.

"There has been some criticism that some of the conservation plans may be difficult to understand," says Nordstrom. "We want to clear up any of those misunderstandings now and proceed with helping farmers apply soil conservation practices on their land."

It's critical that farmers understand what their plan means and why it must be implemented according to schedule. Farmer eligibility for USDA program benefits depends on the soil conservation practices being applied to the land according to the schedule in their conservation compliance plan.

"Farmers are supposed to be applying the plan according to the schedule. But that message may have been lost to some extent because there was an emphasis on getting farmers to prepare a plan by 1990 and on getting that plan fully implemented by 1995," says Nordstrom. "However, the intent of the 1985 Farm Bill was to have farmers begin actively applying their conservation compliance plan by the spring of 1990 and to fully implement it by 1995 so that they can stay eligible to participate in USDA programs."

If a farmer's conservation compliance plan shows that a given conservation practice, such as a grassed waterway, for example, is to be installed in May 1992, it must be installed at that time. The farmer does not have until the end of 1994 to install that grassed waterway and expect to remain in compliance.

"There are provisions in the Farm Bill rules which exempt farmers from being out of compliance such as regional disaster, drought or crop disease and an extreme personal hardship, however, we don't expect to make widespread use of the exemptions," Nordstrom said.

The only way the SCS can certify whether or not a farmer is actively applying his or her conservation compliance plan is if the plan schedule is being followed. "We know a lot of plans were written in a short time to meet the 1990 deadline," says Nordstrom. "Some people have questions about what their plan requires. Now is the time to get that plan out, go to the SCS offices and get your questions answered." All practices must be in place by Dec. 31, 1994.

Danny Potter, president of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, who farms in Redwood county in southwestern Minnesota, thinks the strict schedule may upset some farmers, but it can also be helpful.

"A schedule is a benefit to anyone who's trying to do the work. It's helped me," says Potter. "But I think a number of Minnesota farmers and landowners will want to change some things in their plan. For example, some will need to switch from planning to build terraces to some other conservation practice or combination of practices."

Every conservation compliance plan lists which conservation practices will be applied as well as where and when each one will be applied. You can be found "not actively applying" your plan and ineligible for USDA program benefits if you don't carry out what is called for in the plan.

"A farmer could look at the implementation schedule as a negative, but it's really a useful tool for anyone who's serious about controlling soil erosion on the land," says Nordstrom. "Most successful conservation farmers—the ones who already have their plans implemented and applied to the land—will tell you they've done it over a period of time, in a step by step approach."

That's why SCS encouraged farmers to set up schedules that included spreading the application job over the five-year allowable period from 1990 through the end of 1994. If everyone waits until 1994 to implement their plan, it will create a heavy burden for both farmers and the SCS. SCS is charged by Congress to administer conservation compliance, and SCS is strongly encouraging farmers and landowners to do the conservation work over a period of years.

Now is a critical time. Visit your local SCS/SWCD office. Review and understand your compliance plan and make sure you understand what it means and when it is to be completed.

(Part two of this three-part story will focus on SCS status reviews - required spot-checking - to see that farmers are implementing their conservation compliance plans.)

County board okays ambulance purchase

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Pennington county commissioners have approved the purchase of a new ambulance for the county.

According to County Auditor Ken Olson, the commissioners approved the bid of $66,226 from Road Rescue Inc. of St. Paul. The ambulance will be leased to Midwest Ambulance Systems of Thief River Falls. Olson said under the terms of the 10-year lease, the ambulance service will pay the county $1 per year and the county will retain title to the ambulance. The ambulance service will be required to perform routine maintenance, and insure the vehicle. It also has an option to purchase. Olson and Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold said the purchase is in lieu of a subsidy to the ambulance service.

The county commissioners hired a consultant to consider the many options. Sheriff Wold said he enlisted the expertise of O.J. Doyle of St. Paul. Wold said Doyle assisted the county in determining how to set up such an arrangement.

Even with past cash subsidies, the amount was never enough for the company to purchase a new rig, and that's what they needed, said Sheriff Wold. Wold believes the arrangement is better for the county because it replaces a subsidy.

A number of options were considered before the county decided to purchase an ambulance. This appears to be the best option, Wold said.

Wold praised the service provided to the county. He believes the ambulance service is the best the county has had in years and thinks it is worth fighting for. He said an advance life support system such as the one being currently provided to the county is an important benefit to the community and county. Because it is an advanced life support system, and employees have a high degree of training. In addition, because it covers a large geographic area an advance life system is necessary. Wold also believes county residents deserve this kind of service.

Dave Schneider, owner of Midwest Ambulance system, which is the licensed provider for this area, said he is pleased with the new arrangement and looks forward to receiving the new ambulance. The new ambulance should arrive sometime in March.

Schneider has heard complaints about the cost of an ambulance call before. He explained that providing the type of service people are accustomed to is an expensive proposition. The employees in the ambulance are trained paramedics, who work with highly specialized equipment. The ambulance system also provides services to a large geographic area and must be on call and ready to travel at a moments notice. Schneider said he will feel much more comfortable responding to emergencies with a newer ambu-

Orley Gunderson given Torch and Shield award

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the Thief River Falls Technical college, was a recipient of the Torch and Shield award from the University of Minnesota—Crookston for providing leadership and aiding in the development of the college.

Presentation of the award was made at UMC's annual Torch and Shield banquet recently.

Dr. Gunderson has provided leadership for developing large nationally recognized aviation programs, making presentations at national conventions on developing and delivering international customized training.

He received his bachelor of science degree in vocational agriculture education at the University of Minnesota, master of science degree at Penn State University and doctorate of education degree at Oregon State university. He is an active member of many organizations and boards including the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund, Agassiz Region Nursing Education Consortium, Northwest Private Industry Council, Jobs Incorporated, Toastmasters International, United Hospital Corporation, Rotary club and in his church.

His service on the Northwest Educational Link (NWEL) advisory board has been very valuable in establish the ITV links in this area of the state, the awards committee noted. He provided leadership in receiving initial grants for NWEL. He served as East Grand Forks Civil Defense/Flood Fight director for six years and received the Governor's Citation of Honor from the State of Minnesota.

Others receiving the Torch and Shield award were Karl Palmer, orthopedic surgeon; Ralph Peter, president of the Northwest Educational Improvement association; Mary Beth Sargeant, support of UMC activities; Barbara Muesing, executive director of the University of Minnesota board of regents; and David Roe, Medicine Lake, regent for the University of Minnesota.

Heather Olson is state 4-H achievement winner

Heather Olson

Heather Olson, 18, the daughter of Myles and Susan Olson of Thief River Falls, has been named the Minnesota Achievement winner in the state 4-H awards program.

As the state winner, Heather will receive an all expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, IL December 7-11.

Now a student at Concordia college in Moorhead, Heather is a 1991 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 10-year 4-H member. Her major 4-H project areas were child development, breads, fishing, citizenship and junior leadership.

An important part of Heather's 4-H leadership project has been the sharing of her knowledge and skills with other members. She conducted a demonstration training session, organized a county-wide record keeping skills session, taught a babysitting clinic and helped prepare 4-H members to enter their fair exhibits.

She planned, prepared and conducted a community education class sharing fun and inexpensive ideas for children with parents and babysitters.

As a state 4-H Ambassador, Heather served as an emcee, judge's assistant, was interviewed on a Twin Cities radio station and conducted a tour of the 4-H building at the state fairgrounds for Gov. Rudy Perpich. In her 4-H citizenship project she traveled to Washington, DC, for a 4-H Citizenship Focus which sparked her interest in poli-

Amity scholars teach and learn in TRF schools

Roxane Kaupmann and Nadja Cherubini assist in German language classes at Lincoln and Franklin schools

Nadja Cherubini

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Foreign language takes on a new meaning when it is spoken by someone to whom it is not foreign but native. Students at Thief River Falls middle and senior high schools are getting the advantage of that experience this year with two instructors from Germany.

Roxane Kaupmann, 23, and Nadja Cherubini, 20, comprise the second wave of Amity scholars assisting in the Thief River Falls schools. Last year Volker Trede from Germany assisted in the language program for the first part of the school year.

This school year Roxane will be working with the German language classes at Lincoln for the full year and Nadja will be assisting in the Franklin German language program until next spring. Both plan to do some traveling elsewhere in the United States before returning to Germany later next summer.

Under the scholarship program of Amity Institute, young people from many countries enroll in an intern teaching course with residence at cooperating American host schools. They are scheduled to work 15 hours a week assisting in language instruction, helping individual students or small conversation groups, recording lesson materials, serving as a language model in class and generally assisting the supervising teacher in a lively, meaningful language program.

Also basic to the course is full participation by each scholar in 10 hours of classes per week at the host school as a regular student and professional observer, experiencing the American educational system first-hand and sharing a different viewpoint with American students.

The host school arranges for room and board, a weekly spending allowance and pays a sponsor's fee to Amity Institute. It also provides a school lunch at noon and arranges for transportation to and from school if needed. Roxane is staying with Scott and Linda Bentson and Nadja lives with Rev. Luther and Laurie Anderson—just a couple of houses from each other on Eastwood Drive.

Roxane arrived in Thief River Falls in the heat of August—actually during a thunderstorm. It is her first trip to the United States although she has spent three months in England in 1989. She lives in Bad Oeynhausen and has been attending college for three years at Freiburg. She will have two years or more of college study remaining when she returns.

Although she enjoys downhill skiing in Austria or Switzerland, the cold weather of several weeks ago here was the coldest she has experienced.

She said she has found the United States to be more conservative and strict than she had expected, including the age of 21 as the legal drinking age. In Germany the legal drinking age is 16 for beer and 18 for hard liquor. Smoking is allowed at age 16 but a driver's license can't be obtained until age 18.

In the high school (called the gymnasium) students carry eight or nine subjects but do not have classes in every subject every day. They will study two subjects about six hours a week and the other subjects about three hours a week. School runs from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., there are no extra-curricular programs and there is a lot of homework assigned. For a time she did belong to a volleyball club which was not related to the school system.

Jodi Skime and Mark Lehrer wed Sept. 7

Jodi Lynn Skime and Mark David Lehrer were united in marriage September 7 at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Curtis Anderson and Rev. Linton Lundeen officiated at the 5 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Roger and Bernice Skime of Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Karen Longtin and Mike Lehrer, both of Thief River Falls.

Special music was provided by Kristie Lundeen and Shannon Gunderson, both friends of the couple. Trumpets were played by Kris Rokke, friend of the couple, and Marty Semanko, friend of the groom. Audrey Hanson, friend of the couple, played the piano and Jan Lee, friend of the couple, served as organist.

Tammy Rererson of Bemidji, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Faye Erickson of Brookings, SD, Karin Redinger of Thief River Falls, both friends of the bride, and Shellie Skime of Thief River Falls, sister-in-law of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Lisa Colliflower of Warroad, cousin of the bride. Miniature bride was Melissa Colliflower of Warroad, cousin of the bride. Flower girl was Nicole Skime of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride.

Lynnet Swaver, friend of the bride, was the bride's personal attendant.

Brian Lehrer of Thief River Falls, brother of the groom, served as best man, with Jay Jonson of Thief River Falls, Steve Glover of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, both friends of the groom, and Troy Skime of Thief River Falls, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Junior groomsmen was Jim Lehrer of Thief River Falls, brother of the groom. Miniature groom was Dustin Tweten of Wannaska, cousin of the bride. Ring bearer was Marky Colliflower of Warroad, cousin of the bride.

Ushering the guests were Jason Puggen, Michelle Zutz and Kristina Zutz, all cousins of the bride, and Nathan Dalager, friend of the groom.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Howard and Grace Tweten and Harold and Helena Skime, grandparents of the bride, and Ruben and Lucille Lehrer and Alice Longtin, grandparents of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the couple. Host couple was John and Esther Gallagher, friends of the couple.

The wedding cake was cut by Nona Zutz, aunt of the bride, and Polly Longtin, aunt of the groom. Norwegian wedding cake was served by Yvonne Ode, friend of the bride, and JoAnne Rokke, friend of the couple. Coffee was served by Jean Colliflower and Sharon Puggen, both aunts of the bride. Vern and Peggy Gunderson, friends of the couple, served punch.

Flower hostess was Jennifer Puggen, cousin of the bride. At the gift table were James Colliflower and Shawn Tweten, both cousins of the bride, and Nicholas Stokke, stepbrother of the groom. Rice roses were handed out by Tara Tweten, cousin of the bride, and Jennica Gallagher, friend of the bride. Bridal kisses were handed out by Derek Tweten, cousin of the bride, and Brett Longtin, cousin of the groom. Thank-you ribbons were handed out by Tatum Longtin, cousin of the groom, and Wendy Stokke, stepsister of the groom. The ceremony was videotaped by Ruth Bray, friend of the bride, and Howard Rokke, friend of the couple.

The couple is at home in Newfolden. The groom is a 1987 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1991 graduate of the University of North Dakota. He is employed by Dyi-Valley Enterprises. The bride is a 1987 graduate of Lincoln high school. She is employed by Arctco Inc.

Green Thumb has jobs for older workers

Job seekers who are 55 and older may now call toll-free, 1-800-450-5627 (Extension A), to learn about jobs and training opportunities available through the Green Thumb employment and training program.

Green Thumb has provided jobs to over 4,500 older workers in 62 rural Minnesota counties since 1966, according to state director Paul Anderson. In the past 12 months, over 1,000 persons were employed at community service organizations such as schools, parks, hospitals, museums, libraries, food shelves and senior centers.

Participants earn the federal minimum wage while working 20 hours a week. Green Thumb also provides classroom and on-the-job training for those persons wishing to develop new work skills or change careers. To be eligible, applicants must be 55 or older and meet an income criteria.

"These jobs help older men and women supplement their retirement earnings while helping to provide needed services in their communities", Anderson stated. He noted that over 40 per cent of the participants are 70 or older, with a number in their 80's.

Green Thumb, Inc., is a non-profit, equal opportunity employer funded by the U.S. Department of Labor. No applicant will be denied consideration because of mental or physical disability or advanced age.

Interested persons may contact Green Thumb at Box 310, Wadena, MN 56482, or call toll-free at 1-800-450-5627, and ask for extension "A".

Businesses interested in training and employing older workers may call 1-800-450-JOBS, and ask for extension "B".

Concert set at Warroad church

Five choirs at Zion Lutheran church in Warroad will present a Christmas concert Sunday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Public attendance is invited.

Dear Readers,

Suicide is devastating and is often accompanied by excessive guilt feelings for the family. Those left behind struggle with many unanswered questions: "Why this way?" "Why Now?" "How could he?" To help those who grieve, we must listen without judgement, be especially careful not to assign blame, and never probe for details about the death.

Respectively,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

Tawnya Foldoe & John Olson wed Oct. 12

Tawnya Lynn Foldoe and John Robert Olson were united in marriage October 12 at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Mark A. Johnson officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Larson of Thief River Falls and Edwin Foldoe Jr. of Cardiff, NJ. Parents of the groom are Milton and Shirley Olson of Benito, Manitoba, Canada.

Special music was provided by Daniel Trontvet and Kent Hudson, friends of the couple, and Lois Erickson, aunt of the bride. Shelli Pederson, friend of the couple, was the pianist. Judy Jones, friend of the bride, served as organist.

Jodi Tone of Bloomington, friend of the couple, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tara Larson of Thief River Falls, sister of the bride, Laura Makasoff of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, sister of the groom, and Rebecca Vigstol of Thief River Falls, friend of the couple. Flower girl was Kindra Trontvet of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride.

Susan Gustafson and Shelli Pederson, both friends of the bride, were the bride's personal attendants.

Darren Larson of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, friend of the couple, served as best man, with Warren Newberg of Norquay, Saskatchewan, friend of the couple, Clayton Ellingson of Calgary, Alberta, cousin of the groom, and Ian Brager of Edmonton, Alberta, cousin of the groom, as groomsmen.

Ushering the guests were Dean Brager, cousin of the groom, Pamela Johnson, Brent Hanson and Stuart Michalicek, all friends of the couple. Programs were handed out by James Larson, brother of the bride.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Irene Green of Thief River Falls, grandmother of the bride, and Martha Rever of Durban, Manitoba, grandmother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the couple. Host couple was Ray and Shirley Vigstol, friends of the couple. Presiding at the guestbook was Tammy Foldoe, sister of the bride.

The wedding cake was cut by Bessie Sandborn and Fern Enochson, both friends of the couple. Coffee was served by Clara Nelson and Laurie Green, both aunts of the bride. Stuart and Josina Zander, friends of the couple, served punch.

Flower hostess was Glenda Wessel, friend of the couple. At the gift table were Randi Ringling, cousin of the bride, and Amy Wessel, friend of the couple. Waitresses were Danae Dekkers, Jill Dekkers, Holly Miller and Kari Hanson, all friends of the bride. Kitchen helpers were Nancy Johnson, Doris Swanson, Dianne Michalicek, Bev Dekkers, Tami Schneider, Kathy Miller, Ruth Goodrich and Ladonna Grosz, all friends of the bride.

The couple is at home in Benito, Manitoba, Canada. The groom is a 1980 graduate of Swan Valley regional secondary school and a 1984 graduate of the Covenant Bible college in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. He is employed by Home Hardware in Kamsack, Saskatchewan. The bride is a 1989 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1990 graduate of Covenant Bible college in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

Minnesota Library association awards chair M. J. Rossman (right) is shown congratulating Janice Upham, Thief River Falls Library board president, on the Certificate of Merit the Thief River Falls Library board received at the Centennial dinner of the MLA recently. The Certificate of Merit, one of the highest honors given by the Minnesota Library association, was given to the board for their outstanding accomplishments during the past year in celebration of the library's 90th anniversary and in fund-raising for new materials for the library. The award is usually presented to individuals for outstanding service, but as Ms. Rossman stated, "The Thief River Falls board is indeed deserving of this award and is exemplary of what library boards should be, dedicated and visionary."

Speaking Of . . .

. . . Giving Thanks

Thanksgiving is a day set aside for us to do something we should do all the time—be thankful for the blessings we have. Some people don't feel they have anything to be thankful for this year, what with the recession and all, but they are wrong. There is always something to be thankful about.

Be thankful for family. Oh sure, I can just see a harried mom with four or five little ones running around the house thinking I am crazy for saying such a thing, but those harried days are fleeting. Children grow up—too fast—and become less and less of a burden and more and more of a blessing. By the time they are adults, you will find that they are great fun to have around. And, much as I hate to say this because you've heard it before, you will miss having those little people around, too. (But there will be grandchildren!!!)

Be thankful for health. Those of us who are healthy, or comparatively so, rarely stop to think how lucky we are. Too many people are suffering in the world. Now is the time to take a minute to appreciate life and be thankful that we have the good health to enjoy it.

Be thankful for our country. No matter how messed up we feel it is, no matter how many things we find wrong with it, no matter whether we feel our elected officials are good guys or bad, we need to stop and realize that we enjoy tremendous freedom in this country.

Americans have died to defend our right to speak out about what we feel is right or wrong with our country, and for our right to participate in its government. At this time of thanksgiving, we would be well-advised to remember that people in many other countries continue to fight and die for the rights that we have been given because of the simple fact that we were born in America.

Be thankful for the things you have. Most of us in America have so much. Last year, during the war, we saw pictures of people who have, literally, nothing. We have also seen many pictures of homeless and poor Americans. Thanksgiving is the time to remember those who are truly suffering and have nothing, and realize that we are fortunate to have our warm homes, clothing, food to eat, and all of the many "toys" that we enjoy and utilize every day.

Be thankful for good memories. Holidays always bring thoughts of those who are not with us any more very much. But enjoy the memories you have of holidays past with those loved ones. Remember the good times, happy times, and the faces of those you miss. Good memories are treasures more valuable than gold.

Be thankful for your church. Remember that this country was founded for freedom of religion, for the right to congregate and worship our gods as we please. Worship yours this Thanksgiving Day, and give thanks.

Mesaba flight cancelled

Law enforcement personnel and the Thief River Falls fire department responded to a 911 call from the regional airport in Thief River Falls 3:20 p.m. Friday.

According to dispatch at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls, the center received a 911 call reporting an engine fire aboard a Mesaba flight leaving from Thief River Falls. The flight returned after taking off. But, as enforcement personnel were responding, the call was cancelled before they reached the airport.

According to a spokesperson for Mesaba, a fire warning light in the cockpit of flight 3251 came on and as a routine precaution the engine was turned off and the flight returned to Thief River Falls. The flight was cancelled. Nobody was injured.

Adopted this fall in the Junior Volunteer program at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls was a "Candystriper of the Month" award. This award is based on personality, work performance, appearance and attitude. Chosen to receive the first of these awards was Alicia Roadfeldt, shown here. Alicia, age 13, is an eighth grade student at Franklin middle school. She is the daughter of Marie Hvidsten.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

After visiting a Steinbach, Man., hospital on a fact-finding trip, Rep. Collin Peterson, who spent four hours there, came away impressed.

At a town meeting in Greenbush this summer, Rep. Peterson was asked if he would say government-sponsored health care was free. He answered, "No, it would be paid for by U.S. taxpayers." He was reminded that when you take the taxpayers' money to pay for someone else's health care bill this is pure socialism.

Rep. Peterson should spend more time in Canada and see how these socialistic programs are ruining Canada along with Russia, England, Sweden and New Zealand. As Winnipeg columnist and radio personality Peter Warren said, "Don't let it happen to you."

Rep. Peterson said that is is not true that there are long waiting lines for health care. He should have interviewed some Canadians that were waiting for health care.

Sometimes pets receive more prompt attention than humans. An article in the New American magazine reprinted from the Toronto Star June 13, 1991, reported that a hospital in the York, Ontario region is doing brain scans on dogs in the middle of the night at $300 cash per test and no delay for an appointment. At the same time Greg Moulton of Guelph and many other patients have had to wait for three months for the same test on the same kind of machine. Moulton was suffering from excruciating headaches in May and received an appointment for July 13.

Rep. Peterson complains about the present amount of paperwork in our health care system. Most of this is the direct result of government intervention resulting in excessive regulations.

Rep. Peterson said it only takes two people to take care of the paperwork in Steinbach while it takes 20 in the same size hospital in the U.S. What Peterson proposes is all bills would be sent to Washington creating a bureaucracy which will surpass all others we now have. The federal government now pays 30 per cent and the state 10 per cent of medical bills and this is what is making a mess of our present system.

Free and new are known to be the most important words used in selling. Our politicians are trying to sell their votes.

Sincerely,
Arnold Honl

TRF man given tougher sentence after no show

Judge Dennis Murphy went out on a limb when he released Rodney Nissen before sentencing after Nissen assured him he would show up for his sentencing on November 8. Nissen failed to show up for his sentencing until November 18. Those few days of freedom cost Nissen eight months in prison.

Rodney Melvin Nissen, 29, Thief River Falls, had plead guilty in a plea agreement to terroristic threats. The terms of the plea agreement called for Nissen to serve 36 months in prison, which is an eight month departure down from what the sentencing guidelines call for. Because he failed to appear for sentencing, the court had to issue a warrant for his arrest and had to bring him into court. Judge Murphy then sentenced Nissen to 44 months at Stillwater. Nissen was given 11 days credit for time already served and fined a $25 surcharge.

Nissen was represented in court by Don Aandal, assistant public defender. Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin prosecuted the case.

Several accidents reported in news

Several accidents were reported to the law enforcement center during the past week. Some of the accidents were partially caused by icy roads.

Correction:

Last week's law enforcement reports incorrectly identified Daniel Wayne Gausen as having been cited for dishonored checks. The correct name was Daniel Wayne Gasin. The Times regrets any embarrassment or inconvenience caused by the error.

Accidents. On November 18 at 10:07 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident west of St. Hilaire. According to the report, a car driven by Ryan Dupiec, Thief River Falls, was going east on State Aid 3 about three miles west of St. Hilaire, when Dupree lost control on the icy road and the vehicle rolled in the south ditch. Damage loss to the vehicle was estimated at $4,000. There were no injuries.

On November 19 at 9:01 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on highway 32 north. According to the report, a car driven by Barbara Ammerman, Thief River Falls, was going north on Highway 32 when she came to a railroad crossing. The railroad crossing lights came on and the bars came down. Due to the icy road, Ammerman was not able to stop in time and drove her car into the ditch in an effort to avoid what she thought was an oncoming train. It turned out that railroad crews were working on the tracks and had caused the signal to work. Damage to the car was estimated at $800. Ammerman complained of a sore leg.

On November 20 at 3:12 p.m. the police department received a report of an accident in the 200 block of west Third street. According to the report, a car driven by Elizabeth Njaa, Wannaska, was going west on Third street when a car driven by Jason Moll, Cavallier, ND, pulled out of a parking stall and the vehicles collided. Damage losses were estimated at $1,500 to the Njaa vehicle and $900 to the Moll vehicle.

On November 21 at 11:40 a.m. police received a report of an accident on Highway 32 just west of Oakland park road. According to the report, an Astro van driven by Jodel Rondorf, route 1, Thief River Falls, was going south on Highway 32, and a car driven by Lucille Aasland, Thief River Falls, had pulled over to the side of the road and was attempting a 'U' turn when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Rondorf vehicle and $2,000 to the Aasland vehicle. Aasland complained of a bump to her head.

Hit and run. On November 21 at 11:10 a.m. Thomas Spanier, Milbank, SD, reported that while his car was parked at the Super 8 it had been struck by another vehicle which then left the scene. Damages were estimated at $1,700.

On November 25 at 5:18 p.m. police received a report of an accident at LaBree and Second street. According to the report, a car driven by Julie Gustafson, Thief River Falls, was going north on LaBree and a car driven by Janice Critchley, Roseau, was going west on Second when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $2,000 to each vehicle. Gustafson complained of a sore neck and Amber Gustafson, age 6, had a cut on her ear and was taken to Northwest Medical Center, by Midwest Ambulance Systems, where she was treated and released. Critchley was cited for failure to yield.

Thefts. On November 18 at 12:22 p.m. Brian Espeseth, route 8, Thief River Falls, reported that his duck boat had been taken from behind Davidson drive in Rocksbury township. Theft loss was estimated at $300.

On November 25 at 1:07 p.m. Deanna Nelson, route 2, Goodridge, reported that while her vehicle was parked in the west parking lot at Northland Community College between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. someone smashed a passenger window and took her purse from the front seat. Theft loss was estimated at $15. Damage loss was estimated at $150.

On November 19 at 12:45 p.m. police received a report from Katherine Kay Carreon that her vehicle had been taken without permission on the Ninth and was later involved in an accident east of Euclid. Damage to her vehicle was estimated at $800.

On November 18 at 10:49 a.m. Larry Mogen, route 5, Thief River Falls, reported to the sheriff's department that someone had forged some checks on his wife's account. Two checks were cashed in Baxter with the total loss estimated at $265.

On November 20 at 6:45 a.m. Bradley Herzberg, route 6, Thief River Falls, reported to the sheriff's department that while going west on county road 61 in Rocksbury township his vehicle struck a deer. Damage to his car was estimated at $490. He then went home to get a knife and when he returned to clean out the deer, the deer had been gutted and taken.

On November 20 a leather outfit reported stolen on the 18th was found rolled up in the front yard.

On November 20 at 11:19 a.m. Robert Helps, Glyndon, former resident, reported the theft of a welfare check in the amount of $437 from his mailbox.

Vandalism. Several homes and vehicles have been damaged by eggs. The vandalism incidents appear to be related and are being investigated.

On November 22 at 7:38 a.m. LaDawn Olson, Thief River Falls, reported that eggs had been smashed on the east side of her house.

On November 22 at 8:29 a.m. Glen Chiodo, Thief River Falls, reported that eggs had been smashed on and inside his Ford Bronco.

On November 22 at 12:21 p.m. Ruth Ostby, Thief River Falls, reported that eggs had been smashed on her residence and car.

On November 22 at 12:34 p.m. Debbie Rogalla, Thief River Falls, reported that her house had been egged.

On November 22 at 11:20 a.m. Susan Dowers, Thief River Falls, reported that the back window of her jeep had been egged.

Other vandalism reports. On November 22 at 10 a.m. Al Melbye, Thief River Falls, reported that a tail light on his vehicle had been broken. Damage loss was estimated at $75.

On November 22 at 1:58 p.m. Kari Olson, Thief River Falls, reported that someone had poured syrup in her gas tank while it was parked in front of her residence in Greendale Manor trailer court. Damage loss was estiamted at $200.

On November 20 at 3:02 p.m. Lincoln high school reported that someone had shot out a window on the east side of the building. Damage loss was estimated at $40.

Possession. On November 19 at 10:16 p.m. a police officer in the area of the liquor store observed a vehicle pull into the parking lot. A man got out of the vehicle, left a female passenger behind, went in and returned with two cases of berr. The vehicle went to another residence where the man got out and went inside. The car was later stopped after it left, and Susannah Bengtson, Hallock, age 20, was cited for possession of alcohol by an underage person. After the citation was issued, the officer returned to the residence where the man was dropped off and Bradley Koniekson, 21, Thief River Falls, was charged with purchasing alcohol for a minor, a gross misdemeanor.

Assault. On November 20 at 5:25 p.m. a prisoner sent to pick up meals was approached by two men in the alley behind the library. One of the men hit the prisoner in the head with a fist and was last seen running north. The incident is under investigation.

Consumption under age. On November 22 at 1:50 a.m. a police officer on patrol in the area of the college was approached by a female who had been involved in an altercation with some of her friends. She asked the officer for a ride and got in the squad car. The officer alleged she smelled of alcohol and Jessica Brayton, 18, Thief River Falls, was cited for consumption of alcohol by a minor.

On November 23 at 12:43 a.m. police were called about a loud party in Greendale Manor trailer court. The following were cited for consumption of alcohol under age: Christopher Lee Rux, 18, Thief River Falls, Nancy Lynn Vannerman, 18, Thief River Falls, and a 17-year-old juvenile boy of route 1, Thief River Falls.

On November 22 at 9:37 p.m. police received a call from the parent of a local juvenile who claimed another adult had purchased alcohol for the juvenile and other juveniles. A 15-year-old boy, Thief River Falls, a 14-year-old boy of Thief River Falls, and another 14-year-old boy from Thief River Falls, and a 16-year-old female of Thief River Falls, were cited for consumption of alcohol under age. Charges are pending against a 32-year-old Thief River Falls man for contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Driving while intoxicated. On November 24, the state patrol turned over Shelly Marie Jerome, Bagley, for holding on a charge of aggravated driving while intoxicated.

On November 22 the state patrol turned over Richard Joseph Cullen, 28, route 1, Goodridge, to the law enforcement center on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

On November 22 at 5:16 a.m. police received a report of a car parked in the middle of First and Pennington. Upon investigation, Roger Kostrzewski, 36, Warren, was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Check charges. Pennington county sheriff's department issued a citation for dishonored checks to John W. Grinde, 55, formerly of Thief River Falls, for writing checks in the amount of $30.

Arrest. On November 22 Michael Francis Johns, Redlake, age 25, was arrested by the Redlake police department on a warrant from Pennington county. Johns was transported to Thief River Falls where he is expected to be charged with theft of a motor vehicle. According to a police spokesperson, the charges stem from an incident reported on July 28 in which a 1980 Olds. Cutlass belonging to Dave Chaske, was taken and later discovered between Redlake and Goodridge burned in the ditch. Johns remains in custody at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls.

November 28 proclaimed as Family Works day

Thief River Falls has joined a number of communities naming November 28 as "Family Works!" day.

Mayor Bob Carlson has signed a proclamation declaring November 28, Thanksgiving Day as "Family Works" day.

The proclamation states that, we recognize families in our community — in all their diversity and adaptability — need to be supported and acknowledged as the building block of society. Citizens are asked, on this day of family togetherness, to elevate the family to the community agenda, to focus on the need for workable solutions to everyday issues and challenges and encourage the support of healthy family life and values.

Officials explain future of airports in state of Minn.

By David Hill
Associate Editor

Officials from the Minnesota department of transportation, office of aeronautics, visited Thief River Falls Thursday to explain the state's aviation system plan for the years 1990 through 2010.

Ken Hoeper, director of planning, research and information with the office of aeronautics, explained that the state system consists of 140 publicly-owned airports. Because of the importance the airport system plays in the state's economy, (the total economic impact of aviation in Minnesota is estimated at 49,000 jobs and $4.3 billion in income annually) the department of transportation and the Federal Aviation Administration prepared a 20-year State Aviation System Plan, to ensure that the system remains safe, efficient and responsive to the aviation needs of the people of Minnesota.

The plan establishes a number of goals which Hoeper explained, included the following:

- 90 per cent of the state's population should be no more than 30 miles from a system plan airport.
- 90 per cent of the state's population should be within one hour's driving time of an airport with scheduled air service.
- Any city with a population of more than 25,000 should be served by a basic transport airport.
- Special characteristics not related to an area's population (i.e. local industry, proximity to alternative facilities, etc.) should be evaluated to determine airport needs.
- Any paved and lighted airport should have an instrument approach.
- Any basic transport airport should have a precision instrument approach.
- Evaluate airport improvements according to National Plan of Integrated Airport Systems (NPIAS) criteria.

Forecasts of aircraft operations, based on projected national trends and local demographic projects show some dramatic increases. One projection offered that aircraft operations are projected to increase by 75 per cent.

Future projects include answering system needs. Response to the goals mentioned above include improving airports. Only two, maybe three, new airports are projected during the period. But, improvements to airports will mean many landing strips will be improved to intermediate level airports. Intermediate airports are airports that have a paved and lighted runway less than 5,000 feet in length, capable of accommodating all single-engine and most twin-engine aircraft as well as some light jet aircraft. The regional airport in Thief River Falls is considered a key airport. A key airport has a paved and lighted runway over 5,000 feet in length and is capable of accommodating heavy, multi-engine aircraft as well as most of the corporate jet fleet.

Proposed improvements to the regional airport in Thief River Falls include a resurfacing project in 1992 or 1993. Officials also explained that they have plans for a cross-wind runway for Thief River Falls.

OUR SON & BROTHER
THOMAS RAYMOND

A cluster of precious memories sprinkled with love and tears, wishing you had been with us, if only for a few more years.

You left a precious memory, and sorrow too great to hold; and to all who loved and lost you, your memory will never grow old.

You were taken from us so suddenly, we never got to say good-bye.

But we know you're watching over us, from the heavens in the sky.

May God Bless You Tom! We love you and miss you so very, very much…

For the 18th year Mayor Bob Carlson of Thief River Falls made a presentation on city government to members of Cal Lindberg's social studies classes at Lincoln senior high school on Monday. Mayor Carlson will be completing his final term as mayor at the end of this year, to be succeeded by Bob Reeve who won the election in November over Paul Olson. Lindberg said he has appreciated having Mayor Carlson take the time and interest to meet with the students on an annual basis and provide his insight.

Fire destroyed a bicycle repair shop owned by Roger Ness. Thief River Falls fire department responded to a report of a shed on fire on County Road 62 at 11:30 p.m. Monday, November 25. Though the cause is unknown, the fire is believed to have started in the area of a wood stove. It completely destroyed the shop but did not cause damage to a nearby home. Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said the fire rekindled after the department had left and they were asked to return to the residence at about 3:30 a.m.

FMS Christmas Concert set for November 26

Franklin Middle School Christmas concert has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 26 in the Franklin Middle School Fine Arts Gymnasium.

Students and advisors have gone all out in an effort to present a wonderful Christmas concert. Such is their desire that they have temporarily renamed the gymnasium to the Fine Arts Gymnasium.

Accompanists, who typically receive little recognition, will be featured in this concert. One performance includes a piano duo of "How Excellent Is Thy Name" by Tunney, Smith and arranged by Dina Kartsonakis. The duo will be performed by Kendra Dimich and Heidi Johnson.

Prior to the beginning of the concert will be a Christmas Piano Prelude, which features many of the students. Their part of the performance will begin at about 6:30 p.m. Melodies include "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks", "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus", "Silent Night", "Joy to the World" and others. Two Grand Pianos have been provided by Scott's Piano and Sound in Grand Forks, ND.

The Christmas Concert, which begins at 7:30 p.m., includes performances by the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grade chorus, as well as the Orchestra and "Sunrise Singers".

The choirs will sing a variety of melodies including: "Come One, Come All, Come Follow", "I Saw Three Ships", "Star of Peace", "Christmas Greeting", "A Star Shone Bright", "In the Winter", "The Little Drummer Boy", "Baby's Barn In Bethlehem", "Silent Night", "Sing to the Lord" and others.

The Orchestra will also perform during the concert. The plan to perform "Spiritual by Gerry Jan Marsh. For this piece, the orchestra will be under the direction of a student conductor, Jamie Smith.

The choral director is Marcia M. Knuttila. The orchestra director is Connie Haus.

Burglary charges reduced

Charges of third degree burglary resulting from the alleged burglaries of local and area churches were reduced in a plea agreement. According to the plea agreement, Chad William Finke of Thief River Falls, pled guilty to gross misdemeanor theft when the charges were reduced.

Finke pled guilty to and was convicted of two counts of gross misdemeanor theft in connection to thefts that took place at a local and area church. Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced Finke in both cases to 90 days in jail to be served concurrently with other charges. His sentence began on October 7 and he was given credit for time he has served in jail. He was also ordered to pay a surcharge of $25 for each conviction.

Impressions . . .

Thursday is Thanksgiving. Are you thankful this year? Have you taken the time to count the blessings with which you have been blessed? Sometimes it helps us to realize how blessed we are if we do as the old song tells us and name our blessings one by one.

Start counting your blessings with yourself. Are you in reasonably good health? If you are not in good health, are you managing your poor health to the best of your ability? Count your blessings of good health or managed health.

Do you have a job? Count your blessings that you do. If your job is particularly satisfying, count that as a bonus blessing.

Do you have a warm place to lay your head at night? Count your blessings that you are not one of the multitude of homeless.

Do you have a mind that delights in thinking and learning and wondering? Count your blessings that your mind is still an active part of your being.

Do you have many possessions? Count your blessings that you are given the ability to acquire so many things which make your life easier.

Are you happy? Count your blessings that you do not need to spend your days trying to attain happiness.

Be thankful for all that you are and all that you have. Be thankful for your health and home and job and mind and possessions and happiness.

After you have enumerated the things about yourself for which you may be thankful, think of the other things in life for which you should be giving thanks.

Are you thankful for your family? Count your blessings that you have a family. To be loved by your family is a blessing we take too often for granted. Too many people live in unloving families. Be thankful for all that your family means to each other—even if you do not live near each other. Families stand by each other. Be thankful for your family and the times they have stood by you.

Are you thankful for our nation? To live in a nation where freedom does reign is a blessing we also too often take for granted. Our nation is one that is based on a government run for the people and by the people. We must count that as a blessing in this world where too many of the nations are run by a few people for their own personal benefit.

Are you thankful for the education you have received? Can you read? Can you manage your finances? Can your reason? Be thankful for the teachers who imparted that knowledge to you.

Do you have friends? Be thankful for those friends. Friends who stand by you in times of trouble are bonus blessings. Too often people ignore one another in difficult times. A friend who listens and cares and cries and laughs with you is a blessing indeed.

Do you have a faith? Be thankful for the blessings that faith can bestow on you. You may not be the wealthiest person in the world, but the blessings of a faith are not counted in dollars. The blessings of a faith are evidenced in your life. Are you at peace with yourself and with your God? Count that as a supreme blessing of your faith.

Music is a blessing of life we forget to count as a blessing. Music comforts and cheers and romances and inspires us. Something that evokes so many emotions must be a blessing. Don't forget to enumerate music as you count your blessings.

Your blessing list may not be like mine. But, if you do start counting those blessings which you have, you will, like me, not know when to stop. You see, counting blessings, and not counting the ugly things about our lives is a way to feeling truly blessed. Are you feeling unthankful this Thanksgiving? Take a few moments to enumerate your blessings, no matter how trivial. Thankfulness will surely be a blessing you will find.

County board OKs purchase of ambulance

As unpleasant a thought as it seems, the county had to consider what would happen if it didn't have an ambulance service. In the past, if the ambulance service had been unable to provide a service, the county had nothing to fall back on. With title to an ambulance, at the least there are some options available to the county if it were to fail, Wold said. But, he said, the county does not want to get into the ambulance service business nor does it want to force the ambulance system out of business. Insurance rates are very high and the county doesn't have employees who are as qualified as those working at the ambulance service. Wold said that if the county decided to take it over it would spend a substantial amount of money just getting employees the proper training.

In the future, Wold said, the county and ambulance service may consider a subscriber fee to fix the problems associated with a low profit margin.

Wold said he feels much better about the whole thing and it looks good for the service.

BREAKFASTS FROM THE EXPLORING CAREERS CLASS AT FRANKLIN MIDDLE SCHOOL

Polka Dot Oven Pancake

1 8-oz. package brown and serve sausage links
1 cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
shortening

On a cutting board, use a sharp knife to cut sausage into 1/2-inch-thick slices. Cook sausage into a small skillet on medium heat. Cook until brown, stirring once in a while with a wooden spoon. Drain on paper towels. Turn oven to 375 degrees. Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a large mixing bowl. In another bowl mix egg and milk. Melt butter and add to egg mixture. Pour egg mixture into flour mixture. Stir. Mixture should be lumpy. Grease 11 by 7-inch baking pan and pour batter on it. Sprinkle with sausage slices. Bake 25 minutes or until golden. Cut into squares. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Breakfast Pizza

1 package crescent dinner rolls
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper dash of garlic salt
dash of pepper
1 package sliced pepperoni
3/4 grated cheese (monterey jack or mozzarella)
8 eggs (beaten)
3/4 cup mozzarella cheese (topping)

Flatten crescent rolls in bottom of 9 by 13 greased glass pan. Add in layers, onions, peppers, salt, pepper, pepperoni and cheese. Pour beaten eggs on top of layers. Top with mozzarella cheese. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from oven and cut into serving squares.

Wellstone upset over lackluster support for dairy

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Fresh from a debate on the Senate floor on dairy price supports, Sen. Paul Wellstone said he was furious.

Wellstone explained that the senate has been working on a price support program for the dairy industry for nine months with little progress. Wellstone said they had agreed on $11 per hundred weight but he had wanted better for the dairy industry. Despite the slight improvement, Wellstone said he was very worried that the increase would be taken out in committee and it would be back to $10 per hundred weight.

Wellstone offered his recipe for what it will take to turn the economy around. That cure may include a national health care system. He said a plan for national health care will be introduced during the next session.

Turning the economy around is one subject Wellstone promises to discuss when he returns to Minnesota. But, what it will take to turn the economy around, according to Wellstone, is the elimination of the 1990 budget agreement. Wellstone said the process will have to begin with eliminating an agreement which says military cuts cannot be transferred to other programs, such as education or to programs. Wellstone said he voted against the $291 billion military budget when the money could be spent for better programs, such as education, improving the infrastructure and creating jobs.

Secondly, Wellstone proposes investment tax credits for business. The tax credit would also apply to small businesses. Third, Wellstone said unemployment benefits have to be extended. Fourth, Wellstone said he favors tax cuts for the middle class and low income class as long as it doesn't mean an increase in the deficit. Fifth, Wellstone is calling for interest rates to be lowered and a trade policy developed so that products made in the United States can be sold abroad.

Wellstone said Bush does not really understand what's really going on now. It doesn't work, he said, to tell people to go out and buy houses. That won't solve the problem.

Wellstone also criticized the Bush administration for its position or lack of a position on civil rights. One day, he said, the administration is revoking policies on giving preferences to women and minorities in hiring and promotion, the next day they drop the order.

On the issue of term limits, Wellstone said he personally plans to serve two terms. As a matter of public policy, however, Wellstone doesn't believe setting term limits will solve the problem. People should be allowed to vote for whoever they want to vote for. The real problem, he said, is how campaigns are financed.

Volunteers to help prepare taxes needed

VITA and TCE, two programs that provide free tax assistance to people who can't afford professional tax help, are asking people to "volunteer and make someone's taxes less taxing." According to the Internal Revenue Service, VITA and TCE are now recruiting volunteers for the tax filing season ahead.

VITA stands for Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, and it's designed to help your neighbors who are elderly, low income, handicapped or have difficulty with English with their taxes. Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) is a companion program sponsored by organizations such as the American Association of Retired Persons.

Nationwide, some 80,000 VITA and TCE volunteers answered tax questions and filled out basic federal and state tax returns this year. Volunteers come from all walks of life and include business and accounting professionals and students, as well as former teachers and other retired people.

The IRS provides free training to all volunteers. Then volunteers offer free help at convenient community locations such as schools, churches and shopping centers.

To become part of VITA or TCE, or for more information about these programs, call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-829-1040 and ask for the Taxpayer Education Office.

Mendi Rodahl was one of two first place winners last Tuesday evening at the science fair conducted at Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls. Her project dealt with the topic "If Epilepsy Touches Your Life."

Justin Stevenson's entry was one of two selected as first place winners Tuesday evening at the science fair conducted at Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls. His exhibit discussed dams for storing water to produce power.

Oakland Park Nursing Home recognized its staff at its annual recognition banquet. During the banquet service awards were presented to the following: (front row, from left) Marlys Bekken, five years, Verna Schroeder, 35 years, Denise Konickson, five years, and Karen Ranum, five years, (back row) Lola Anderson, 20 years, Judy Scramstad, five years, Joanne Rambock, five years, Sue LeCoursiere, five years, and Kathy Olson, five years.

Arts grants deadlines announced

December 2 is the deadline for organizations to apply for production assistance and sponsorship grants from the arts council of the Northwest Regional Development commission (NWRDC).

Matching grants of up to $3,500 are available for organizations creating, performing or exhibiting arts or to host arts activities by contracting for the services of another organization.

Upcoming deadlines for small arts grants applications are Dec. 20, 1991; Jan. 21 and Feb. 20, 1992. Organizations may apply for up to $500 in matching funds for production or sponsorship projects which do not exceed $1,000 in total costs.

December 18 is the deadline for schools to apply for up to $500 to conduct arts education projects for students and/or teachers. Applications for all arts disciplines (music, dance, visual arts, literary arts, theater and media arts) are encouraged. Types of projects eligible for funding include bringing in a visiting artist, holding master classes, publishing literary works, conducting workshops for students, exhibiting visual art, taking field trips and similar projects.

Individuals in all arts disciplines may apply for up to $500 for assistance in areas such as training, supplies and production and presentation costs. Supported with funding from the McKnight Foundation, this program provides deserving artists with small but critical grants for specific projects which contribute directly to their growth and development as professionals. Upcoming application deadlines are Dec. 20, 1991; Jan. 21 and Feb. 20, 1992.

Application guidelines, forms and instructions for the arts grant programs are available from Linda Nelson, Arts Council Director, NWRDC, 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or call 681-2637 or 1-800-537-0601.

Compensation for disabled

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced that compensation payments for disabled veterans will be increased by 3.7 per cent effective Sunday, December 1.

The cost-of-living allowance was included in legislation signed by President Bush November 12. Since passage of the legislation, VA has been working to ensure that veterans' January 1992 checks reflect the increase.

The increase affects some two million veterans whose monthly payments will range from $83 for a single veteran with a 10 per cent disability rating to $1,680 for a single veteran with a 100 per cent disability rating. Also affected are some 341,000 survivors of service members or veterans who died from service-connected causes.

Veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 30 per cent or more may receive additional allowances for dependents, based on the number of dependents and the extent of disability. A veteran with a 30 per cent or higher rating also is entitled to a special allowance for a spouse in need of the aid and attendance of another person.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

by Gretchen Beito

When I visited with George and Inez Mostue recently, Inez said, "Guess what we did yesterday. We visited George's fifth grade teacher!"

Perhaps that does not sound remarkable, but I knew George was 92 years old. So my question was, "How old is his teacher?" "One hundred two and a half," was the triumphant answer.

George's teacher in country school was Synneva Syversrud Swenson who lives in Oklee. Synneva had not kept in touch with her pupil all these years, but last year while a patient at Northwest Medical Center, she was visiting with Inez and remarked that she once had a pupil named George Mostue.

The former teacher and pupil got reacquainted and so George and Inez went to visit Synneva in Oklee. She lives alone in her own little house and half-block away from her son and daughter-in-law who look in on Synneva often. Synneva keeps house and has a walker to help her get around and spends winters in Arizona. She was crocheting an afghan when George and Inez stopped in.

She remembered George, one of her good pupils. Young George was well brought up. George's father, Elias, was a teacher and a Hauge Synod Lutheran pastor. He and his wife, Regina, were strict with their children.

What does a teacher remember about her pupils more than 80 years later? Synneva remembered the boys that were difficult. Some eighth graders were bigger than she was, and she was not much older. She could still recall the names of the unruly ones and their hijinks. George still has marks from fights during recess.

The one-room school was east of Thief River Falls in Deer Park township near the village of Rhoda, a post office until 1930. The township was so named because of the many deer that roamed the countryside. George's family moved from Winsor to Deer Park to homestead after the western part of the Red Lake Ojibwe Reservation was opened and quarter sections sold to settlers in 1904.

Their place was located about two and a half miles south of Highlanding where his parents traded eggs, cream and butter for groceries at the Ellingson Store.

George remembers traveling on the boat, "Dan Patch" from Thief River Falls, landing at Highlanding, crossing the river by ferry and then traveling to their farm in a wagon pulled by their horses, Prince and Maude.

The Mostue family moved from the farm into Thief River Falls in 1916 after Elias was appointed Superintendent of Pennington County Schools. He oversaw 21 schools in the county. Everyone knew that 'teacher' would be awfully nervous when the County Superintendent came to visit the class.

After graduating from Lincoln, George traveled for Gamble-Robinson. When he was in town he'd hang around with his good pal Milt Larson, who worked at his family's business, Larson's Music and Floral Shop. Located where By Michelle Drapery is now, the Floral Shop was in front, Music Store in the center, and Maytag washing machines sold in back. George got acquainted with the floral designer there named Inez Anderson. He and Inez began to keep company, and after they were married decided to buy out Larson's Floral Shop. After Inez attended floral design school in Chicago and they arranged financing, they moved the shop to the building where Sjoberg's Cable is now. Later they moved the shop to the former bus depot. Today that is Wanda's Flower and Gift Shoppe.

I asked them about the floral business at holiday time. The floral business was a merry-go-round, they said, and sometimes they had to deliver flowers at nine on Christmas Eve. Their own children would be waiting at home for festivities to begin.

Sometimes they had to make up a story about having a mix-up on orders and pretend to apologize for a late Christmas Eve delivery. This was to help out desperate husbands who had forgotten to get their wives a present and would call late Christmas Eve to beg the Mostues to make a flower delivery.

The Mostues were in the flower business together for 30 years. Today George is retired and Inez is working for the third generation of Larsons. She worked for L.H., Justus and Milton, and now Mark Larson, who is manager of Digi-Key Corporation.

Both continue their creative work. Their home is a Santa's Workshop, with Inez making her famous Mauritua nisse and dolls and George building intricate doll houses.

THANKS TO ALL WHO REGISTERED

Maurices opens new store

Maurices, an exciting fashion store for men and women, opened its doors for business in Thief River Falls November 14. The announcement was made by Kim Adolphson, manager of the well-known national apparel store group.

Maurices will carry the latest styles, offering quality fashions for work or play at affordable prices — everything from the trendy pacesetter to the all-American classic. The women's area will serve a full range of junior and career customers in outerwear, dresses, sportswear, jewelry, and other value-priced wardrobe basics. The men's area will offer an assortment of pants, shirts, sweaters, outerwear, and accessories.

Maurices will carry popular brand names, such as Zena, Genera and Maurices' exclusive Paris Sport Club for women and Fluid for men.

"At Maurices, our merchandise mix is designed to meet the fashion needs of the communities in which we serve," said Adolphson. "Maurices is constantly moving forward to meet ever-changing retail trends."

"We take pride in the service we give and in the quality of merchandise we sell. This is reflected in our company philosophy, 'No Sale is Ever Final.'"

"We believe that what customers really want is personal service, and at Maurices, they get just that," stated Adolphson. Many shoppers today come from double-income families that depend on convenience and the need for quick, personalized service. Maurices offers head-to-toe outfits for one-stop shopping and convenient layaway terms. The company has responded to consumers' demands for more smiles and friendly service, too. Associates are encouraged to welcome customers with a prompt greeting and develop customer friendships. Not surprisingly, complimentary letters from satisfied customers are often received by the company.

"With our exciting merchandise, personalized customer service, and beautiful new store, we feel confident that this 'winning combination' will set us apart from the competition," said Adolphson.

Holiday parties made safer

Holiday parties are frequent and fun," said AAA Minnesota spokesperson Barbara Mittelstadt. "However, too often the word 'party' becomes a synonym for excessive consumption of alcohol. Driving after drinking at a party steers people down a path that can lead to death, imprisonment and life-time crippling."

To help cut down on drunk driving, Mittelstadt suggests that the real cure begins before the impaired driver gets behind the wheel of a car—that is, before he or she leaves the party. When the party is at your house, you do not have to worry about a safe ride home. However, you take on a bigger responsibility—the safety of your friends and family.

While you plan your guest list and menu, keep it in mind to serve plenty of food and offer non-alcoholic beverage options such as juice, coffee, soda and fruit punches. Serve dessert and coffee well before the guests begin to leave and suggest ride shares and overnights. Encourage designated drivers by offering a small gift to all who volunteer to not drink for the evening.

To help the party host, AAA has developed the brochure, 'First a Friend, Then a Host.' It contains recipes for non-alcoholic beverages, and various fun, safe, party tips. For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to Traffic Safety Dept., AAA Minnesota, 7 Travelers Trail, Burnsville, MN 55337.

Scott Rindahl followed blockers Aaron Ostby (25) and Jeremy Rychlock (57) for an 8-yard run and a Grygla-Goodridge first down against Cromwell in the second quarter of Saturday's state Nine-Man high school football playoff semifinal game.

Grygla/Goodridge beats Cromwell 44-6 in semifinals...

Blue Devils advance to football title game

Need directions to the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome? Just ask someone from the Grygla-Goodridge area. Anybody. Most of them were there Saturday morning when the Blue Devils walloped Cromwell 44-6 in the semifinals of the state Nine-Man high school football playoffs. Many were also on hand a week earlier when their team handled AlBrook 25-12 in the quarterfinals. And they'll probably all be back Friday when the Section 8 champions take on Chokio-Alberta in the 9:30 a.m. start to Prep Bowl X.

The fact is, by the time the Blue Devils wrap this thing up, they will have played just as many games in Minneapolis as they did in either Grygla or Goodridge this fall.

Grygla-Goodridge advanced to the title game in impressive fashion, dominating a 10-1 Cromwell team on both sides of the football. It was a performance that caught even head coach Darwin Hagen by surprise. Although the Blue Devils had been outstanding on defense lately, they were facing a Cromwell team that had been averaging 43 points per game behind quarterback Pete Smith – potentially one of the most explosive players in the Nine-Man field. And offensively, Grygla-Goodridge was averaging a modest 24 points per game.

Hagen admitted he didn't know what surprised him more – the 44 points the Blue Devils scored, or just the six they gave up. "Offensively, that was something we didn't really expect," he said. "Defensively, we have been playing well, but I don't know if we expected to stop them like that."

A couple of new wrinkles helped the Blue Devils on both offensively and defensively. "On offense we maybe went outside a little more than we usually do," explained Hagen. "On defense, we're fundamentally strong; we play hard and try to get to the ball in a hurry. Their quarterback is their best offensive threat, so we matched up a linebacker with him."

Grygla-Goodridge runningback Justin Lunsetter followed up a 31-carry, 111-yard quarterfinal effort against AlBrook with a 22-carry, two-touchdown, 179-yard semifinal performance against Cromwell. And quarterback Mitch Bernstein, who threw three touchdown passes in his Metrodome debut, scored twice on the ground Saturday while enjoying a selectively effective 2-for-3 passing effort that netted 44 yards.

Neither Lunsetter or Bernstein were on the field after the Blue Devils completed a 9-play, 51-yard scoring drive on the first offensive series of the second half made it 29-0. Lunsetter spent the rest of the morning icing a minor injury – a turf toe – that will not keep him out of the Friday finals.

The Blue Devils scored on five of their first seven possessions. They fumbled away their first try at the Grygla-Goodridge 33, but stopped Cromwell on downs at the 5-yard line, and eight plays later Lunsetter broke off a 44-yard touchdown run. The play started out to the right, but the 5-9, 170-pound senior cut back against the grain and out-ran the Cromwell defense. Bernstein rolled left and hit Shane Wilkens on a two-point conversion pass for an 8-0 lead with 3:03 remaining in the first quarter.

A Cromwell punt four plays later set Grygla-Goodridge up at the Blue Devils' 21, and they scored in nine plays. Bernstein had a 16-yard run on a quarterback sneak for the biggest gain of the drive, while back-to-back 8-yard runs by Scott Rindahl and Aaron Ostby set up a 1-yard Bernstein sneak over the top for the touchdowns. Donovan Quam caught a Bernstein pass in the back of the end zone for the conversion points, making it 16-0 with 2:02 gone in the second quarter.

A second Cromwell fumble recovery – this one at the Cardinals' 32 – was followed by a couple of quick first downs as the Section 5 champions threatened to get back in the game before the half ended. But after a Grygla-Goodridge time-out, the Blue Devils stopped the threat at their 17, and promptly put together another eight-play scoring drive to open up a 22-0 halftime cushion.

"We called the time out to settle the kids down," pointed out Hagen. "They were getting a little frustrated out there."

A 19-yard breakaway by Lunsetter and a diving catch for a 23-yard gain by Wilkens were the big plays in the Blue Devils' half-ending scoring drive – ended by a 3-yard run through the middle by Lunsetter with 54 seconds left.

If Cromwell had any thoughts of making a second half comeback, those dreams were quickly crushed when Grygla-Goodridge took the kickoff and put together a 9-play, 51-yard scoring drive that included six runs by Lunsetter and two by Bernstein – the second one being a 1-yard sneak for a touchdown. Bernstein's conversion kick made it 29-0 with just 3:09 elapsed.

Bernstein and Lunsetter took the rest of the game off, but that didn't stop the Grygla-Goodridge offense.

A mini 4-play, 33-yard drive made it 36-0 when Ostby burst through the right side on an 8-yard touchdown run with 3:23 remaining in the third quarter.

Cromwell averted a shutout when the Cardinals marched 76 yards in 18 plays against the Grygla-Goodridge reserves, scoring on an Allen Dahl dive from inside the one with 3:56 to play.

But those Blue Devils back-ups answered with their own score when Jeremy Engelstad turned a quarterback sneak into a 22-yard touchdown with 1:15 showing as he bounced off defenders in the middle and headed to the right corner. Rindahl completed the scoring with the two-point conversion run.

"As far as overall team play – offensively, defensively and special teams – it was our best performance of the year," offered Hagen. "Our confidence is growing each game. The kids are playing better and better."

While Lunsetter led the way, the 365-yard Grygla-Goodridge rushing performance came from six different ball carriers. Jason Grandstrand contributing 58 yards on seven carries, Rindahl and Bernstein both netted 38 yards on 9 and 10 carries, respectively, Engelstad had 27 yards on three tries and Ostby 25 on four attempts.

Smith, a 5-8, 157-pound junior who has racked up over 1,600 yards worth of offense this fall – equally divided between running and passing – was the Cardinals' leading ball carrier, but netted only 63 yards on 16 attempts and was just 2-for-9 passing for 39 yards.

Blue Devils go after state Nine-Man championship Friday...

Chokio-Alberta title game foe

Final portion of a dream season takes place Friday when Grygla-Goodridge goes against Chokio-Alberta at 9:30 a.m. in the state Nine-Man high school football playoff championship game at the Metrodome in Minneapolis.

The Blue Devils and Spartans will be the first of the five Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) football finals that will form Prep Bowl X.

Rest of the day-long football menu will crown champions in Class C - Mahnomen vs. Mankato Loyola, 12-noon; Class B – BOLD vs. Deer River, 2:30 p.m.; Class A – Spring Lake Park vs. Rocori, 5 p.m.; and Class AA – Lakeville vs. Burnsville, 7:30 p.m.

Grygla-Goodridge is 11-1 for the year, which includes a current 10-game winning streak. The Blue Devils, who began the year missing several starters for off-season MSHSL rules violations, beat Badger-Greenbush 14-0 but lost to Kittson County North 24-0 while shorthanded.

At full strength the Blue Devils finished the regular season with wins over Hallock-Kennedy 21-6, Tri-County 22-20, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 34-9, Valley North 36-12, Argyle 27-0 and Stephen 21-7 to share a Top of the State Conference title with Kittson County North and Stephen.

Grygla-Goodridge rocked East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 43-6 and stopped Stephen 20-7 to win the Section 8 title, then added state playoff Metrodome decisions over AlBrook 25-12 and Cromwell 44-6 to reach the finals.

Chokio-Alberta, meanwhile, put together regular season wins over Hankinson, ND 35-28, Hancock 40-20, Herman-Norcross 36-20, Wheaton 14-8, Beardsley-Browns Valley 28-0, Hoffman-Kensington 19-6, Clinton-Graceville 63-36 and Ashby 46-6. The Spartans won the Section 2 crown with wins over Clinton-Graceville 48-20, Hancock 42-20 and Chandler-Lake Wilson-Edgerton 30-6 before adding state playoff decisions over Silver Lake 26-12 and Wheaton 21-6.

Both Grygla-Goodridge and Chokio-Alberta are in the state playoffs for the second time, but the Blue Devils (1989) and Spartans (1978) were both beaten in the quarterfinals the first time.

Grygla-Goodridge coach Darwin Hagen said the Blue Devils will have their hands full against the Spartans. "We were really impressed with them," he said. "They've got good speed and quickness. We're going to have to play well to beat them."

Leading Chokio-Alberta is 6-1, 185-pound senior runningback Jon Hallman, who has netted 1,790 yards on 281 carries this fall, scoring 36 touchdowns in the process. He has 353 rushing yards in two state playoff games and has gained 820 yards in his last four starts.

A Grygla-Goodridge defense that has been receiving rave reviews the past month will be geared to stop Hallman with a line-up that includes 5-11, 160-pound Dale Manderud, 6-0, 175-pound Brandon Blaine, 6-0, 220-pound Jeremy Rychlock and 5-10, 150-pound Mitch Bernstein across the front line; 5-9, 160-pound Ben Saurdiff, 5-10, 170-pound Jeremy Johnson and 5-9, 170-pound Justin Lunsetter at the linebackers; 6-3, 175-pound Shane Wilkens and 6-2, 160-pound Jeremy Engelstad in the secondary. They're all seniors, except Engelstad, who is a junior, and Saurdiff, who is a sophomore.

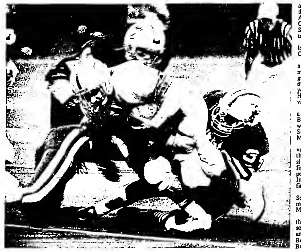
Hallman's counterpart in the Grygla-Goodridge offensive line-up is Lunsetter, who has rushed 229 times for 1,265 yards and 14 touchdowns. He has 290 yards rushing in two state playoff games.

All Prep Bowl games will be carried on KMSP-TV (Ch. 9).

In addition to the Grygla-Goodridge and Chokio-Alberta Nine-Man games, the weekend semifinal results at the Metrodome included Lakeville over Cretin-Derham Hall 22-21 and Burnsville over Richfield 38-35 in Class AA; Spring Lake Park over Columbia Heights 28-14 and Rocori over Detroit Lakes 19-0 in Class A; BOLD over Gibbon-Fairfax-Winthrop 16-7 and Deer River over Breckenridge 13-7 in Class B; Mankato Loyola over Mountain Lake-Butterfield-Odin 27-13 and Mahnomen 38-6 in Class C.

Extra Points

- Grygla-Goodridge football team will leave Wednesday afternoon. They will stay at the Days Inn in Brooklyn Center.
- A welcome home celebration will be held 7 p.m. Sunday at the Grygla school.
- Thief River Falls officials Tom Williams, Tom Bendickson, Rick Nelson and Paul Williams will work the Nine-Man state championship game.
- Grygla-Goodridge will provide the Top of the State Conference with its fifth Nine-Man state championship game representative over the past ten years. Argyle won title games in 1981 and 1986, and finished second a year ago, while Hallock won a state crown in 1988.



Cromwell runningback Dave Mancuso was tackled for no gain by three Grygla-Goodridge defenders as he tried to turn a fourth-and-three at the Blue Devils' 5-yard line into a second quarter first down during the state Nine-Man high school football playoff semifinal encounter at the Metrodome Saturday morning. Brendon Blaine (34), Jeremy Rychlock (top) and an unidentified Grygla-Goodridge defender combined on the stop. The Blue Devils beat the Cardinals 44-6 to move into Friday's finals.

Mustangs receive honors

Team and individual athletic/academic honors were announced recently for Red Lake County Central volleyball players.

The Mustangs' Cheryl Greenwald and Dixie Koskela were named to the Class A volleyball Academic All-State team, while Red Lake County Central was crowned Section 8A volleyball academic team champion.

"It's a great bunch of student-athletes to work with," said Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene.

Academic All-State honors are awarded to senior varsity team members who have maintained a 3.8 grade-point average (on a 4.0 scale) through their sophomore and junior years and have no Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) rules violations on their record.

Team-wise, the Mustangs carried a 3.83 grade-point average this fall. But Class A state academic honors went to Lincoln County High School, located in southwestern Minnesota, with a 3.89 GPA.

The first-year Oklee/Plummer volleyball cooperative went 15-9 this year. The Mustangs started slowly, winning just twice in their first eight starts, but a championship performance at the Sept. 21 Bemidji Invitational ignited a 13-2 run to finish the regular season.

A 3-2 loss to Crookston in the Section 8A Sub-Section 3 tournament quarterfinals ended the Mustangs' season.

"We faced some tough teams at the start of the year, and it took some time getting used to each other and to a new system," pointed out Borene. "But when we won at Bemidji, things really started to cook. That (title) really gave us a big lift."

Jenny Walter and Dawn Bachand were Red Lake County Central selections to the 1991 Polar All-Conference team, with Greenwald receiving honorable mention status.

Individual team awards went to Walter, most valuable and best attacker; Bachand, most dedicated and best defensive player; Greenwald, most hustle and top setter; and Farrah Brantl, most improved.

Other letter winners were Lisa Larson, Kim Magers, Bobbi Berberich, Angel Mickelson, Jill Radniecki and Koskela.

"I was pleased with the way we played this year," said Borene. "The ending was a little disappointing, but overall I was pleased with they way things went. Both schools lost a lot to graduation last year, and it took a while to get going. But things were rolling pretty well toward the end of the year."

Walter, Greenwald and Koskela will be lost to graduation this time around, with Greenwald leaving a major void at the setter position.

"We'll have some kids back, and I think the program, overall, is in pretty good shape," noted Borene, "but we'll have to find a setter. We might have change our offense and go to two setters to spread it around a little more."

Lincoln High School boys/girls...

Basketball teams have jamboree/scrimmages

First-year Thief River Falls head high school basketball coaches Sally Wiltse and Scott Brekke will have an opportunity to watch their teams under game-like conditions with upcoming scrimmages.

Thief River Falls girls, who began preseason drills last week under Wiltse, will host scrimmage sessions Saturday morning that will also involve Valley North, Warroad, Argyle and Red Lake Falls.

The match-ups include Thief River Falls vs. Valley North (old gym) and Red Lake Falls vs. Argyle (new gym) at 9:30 a.m., Thief River Falls vs. Warroad (old gym) and Red Lake Falls vs. Valley North (new gym) at 10, Thief River Falls vs. Argyle (old gym) and Valley North vs. Warroad (new gym) at 10:30, Warroad vs. Red Lake Falls (old gym) and Argyle vs. Valley North (new gym) at 11, Argyle vs. Warroad (old gym) and Thief River Falls vs. Red Lake Falls (new gym) at 11:30.

Practice just opened Monday for the Thief River Falls boys, but Brekke will have the Prowlers in uniform for jamboree outings at Warren Saturday and at Kennedy Monday.

Saturday scrimmages for the boys include Park Rapids vs. Marshall County Central at 6 p.m., Valley North vs. Thief River Falls at 6:45, Stephen vs. Hallock-Kennedy at 7:30, Argyle vs. Crookston at 8:15 and Tri-County vs. Warren at 9.

Boys scrimmages Monday will include Tri-County vs. Kittson County North at 7 p.m., Stephen vs. Thief River Falls at 8 and Hallock-Kennedy vs. Argyle at 9.

Both Thief River Falls teams open their 1991-92 regular season schedules Saturday, Dec. 7, with the girls playing at Roseau while the boys meet Hallock-Kennedy at Kennedy. The boys' home opener is scheduled Tuesday, Dec. 10 vs. Bemidji; the girls' home opener will be Saturday, Dec. 14 vs. Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton.

Grygla-Goodridge runningback Justin Lunsetter headed around the right side on a 9-yard carry to the Cromwell 1-yard line Saturday during the state Nine-Man high school football playoff game at the Metrodome. Quarterback Mitch Bernstein scored on the next play to cap a 9-play, 51-yard drive with the second half kickoff that hiked the Blue Devils' lead to 22-0. Lunsetter carried 22 times for 179 yards in the 44-6 Grygla-Goodridge win.

Hockey jamboree planned Saturday

Annual preseason Section 8 high school hockey jamboree will be held Saturday at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena.

The eight jamboree sessions feature two 11-minute period scrimmages for 16 of the Section 8 members.

Jamboree line-up includes scrimmages at 12:10 p.m. - Indus vs. Bagley; 1:20 p.m. - Hallock vs. Wadena; 2:30 p.m. Lake of the Wood vs. Detroit Lakes; 3:40 p.m. - Crookston vs. Alexandria; 4:50 p.m. - Fergus Falls vs. East Grand Forks; 6 p.m. - Moorhead vs. Warroad; 7:10 p.m. - Brainerd vs. Roseau; 8:20 p.m. - Thief River Falls vs. Bemidji.

Thief River Falls will open its 1991-92 regular season schedule Saturday, Dec. 7, at home against Bemidji.

The Prowlers went 16-8 a year ago and reached the Section 8 tournament semifinals before losing to Brainerd 4-2.

Eleven seniors graduated from that team, including top two scorers John Seaverson and Corey Poole; goalies Ryan Haugen and Jay Lusignan; and a trio of three-year varsity starters on defense – Seaverson, Jamie Harder, Mark Daniels.

Seven lettermen return, including senior Troy Bertram and juniors Aaron Broten, Marc Haugen, Nathan Knutson, Rick Ostby, Carter Rogalla and Jason Svir.

Broten and Bertram are the leading returning scorers with 24 and 18 points, respectively. Haugen is the lone returnee on defense, while senior Barry Dowers is the heir-apparent in goal.

Junior Trevor Haugen and sophomores Eric Dowers, Jeff Lundgren, Ryan Skihicki and Brad Svir are the other goalies in camp.

Rest of the first-week skaters included seniors Chad Frazer and Corey Mattson; juniors Darin Feragen, Jared Goldesberry, Guy Gustafson, Ryan Kraemer, Jason Niemi, Jeremy Olson, Jim Olson, Barry Rhineberger, Shane Skeim, Jeff Stengrim, Chris Thompson, Brett Torkelson and Darin Weleski; sophomores Cory Anderson, Kyle Bowman, Derek Dahlstrom, Ben Engelstad, Justin Erickson, Brian Fogarty, Cole Furuseth, Scott Grand, Jon Hendrickson, Jason Jenson, Brent Kleinvachter, Joby Looker, Cory Olson, Marc Seaverson, and Jeff Twomey; plus freshman Jared Lee.

After a week of work, the entire Thief River Falls roster went to the Duluth area over the weekend for scrimmages against Grand Rapids, Cloquet, Duluth Denfeld and Osseo. The Prowlers will face Brainerd in Friday night/Saturday morning varsity and junior varsity scrimmages before their jamboree outing.

"It was a typical first week – a lot of kids vying for different positions," noted Thief River Falls head coach Glenn Chiodo. "You could tell there was a lot of nervousness."

Chiodo figured the Prowlers "held their own" during the weekend scrimmages. "We felt it was a good weekend," he said. "It helped produce some answers to some questions the coaches might have had as far as personnel goes. Now we have to start to mold it and put it all together."

Tracey Wensloff and Bill Stock return as Chiodo's assistant coaches this winter.

The 1991-92 season marks the start of the two-tier state hockey tournament. Each hockey section will hold seeding meetings as usual at the end of the season, but instead of all the teams competing in a single field, there will be two classes. The top eight seeds in each section will go into the Tier I draw, while all the others compete in Tier II.

In Section 8, the Tier I and Tier II tournament quarterfinals will be played at home sites of the higher seeded teams, while the semifinals shift to the Thief River Falls Sports Arena – Tier II Friday, Feb. 28; Tier I Saturday, Feb. 29. Both championship games will also be played here – Tier II Thursday, March 5; Tier I Friday, March 6.

State tournament Tier I tournament will follow much the same format as the old one-class tournament did with a Thursday, Friday, Saturday run at the St. Paul Civic Center March 12-14. The Tier II state tournament will include quarterfinals Wednesday, March 11, at the Civic Center. The semifinals and finals will held Friday and Saturday afternoon, March 13 and 14, at the Target Center.

Youth Hockey

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) traveling teams will open their 1991-92 season this week.

Friday openers at the Sports Arena will find the Eagles Pee-Wee A team meeting Crookston at 1 p.m. and the VFW Bantam A team taking on Bemidji at 4:30 p.m. Elks Pee-Wee B team will play Crookston at 1 that afternoon at the Old Arena.

Bantam A and B, plus the Pee-Wee A and B teams, will all be in Fergus Falls for Saturday/Sunday games.

Squirts

TRFAHA Squirts In-House schedule gets underway Saturday at the Old Arena with Pizza Hut playing Hardee's at 8 a.m. and Pepsi taking on Bridgeman at 9:30.

No Boosters meeting

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, there will be no weekly Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting Thursday.

The 12-noon luncheon meeting schedule will resume Dec. 5 at the Rex Cafe.

Bergland scores goal

Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland scored his first goal of the 1991-92 National Hockey League season Friday night in the Washington Capitals' 6-3 win over Boston.

The Capitals currently have the best record in the NHL.

Fish & Wildlife Support

Minnesota Deer Hunters Association officials announced recently that the MDHA is a supportive member of the Fish & Wildlife Alliance (FWLA).

With over 19,000 members and 68 chapters throughout the state, MDHA claims to be the most vocal voice of deer and deer hunting. According to officials, the MDHA goal is simple: all efforts are directed to achieving the best possible deer herd, and to promote quality deer hunting through Minnesota.

To accomplish those goals, the MDHA has set forth a four-pronged approach, which includes conservation management by using hunting as a management tool; habitat as a whitetail ecological necessity; education to inform the general public on the necessity of good wildlife management; and legislation as a vehicle to ensure the necessary protection an enhancement of a hunting heritage.

MDHA is dedicated to achieving the best possible deer herd, and promoting quality deer hunting through the following activities:

- Present the MDHA position to government officials, departments and legislators.
- Promote good sportsmanship, good ethics and safe hunting practices.
- Promote and maintain a high-quality deer habitat program.
- Provide opportunities for deer hunters to meet, share experiences and develop a fraternal spirit.
- Educate all sports persons and the public on the value of sport deer hunting.
- Support enforcement of regulations which curtail the illegal taking of deer.
- Support emergency winter feeding programs when appropriate.
- Support efforts to increase opportunities for deer hunting on private and public lands.
- Establish a position on predator control.

MDHA sells itself as a group of organized bow, camera and firearms hunters, plus those who just plain like seeing deer, and officials hope that as a single group, a united voice will be heard representing the Minnesota deer hunter.

For any legislative concerns relating to deer and deer hunting, or for additional information, contact the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association, 2820 Highway 169 South, Box 4123, Grand Rapids, MN 55744, or call toll-free, 1-800-450-DEER. Information on legislative representation may be obtained by contacting the FWLA at P.O. Box 65006, 1500 National Plaza Building, 3800 West 80th Street, Minneapolis, MN 55431-4408.

WHEREAS, The City of Thief River Falls has been awarded a $1,000,000.00 grant from the Economic Development Administration ("EDA"), Project number 06-01-02478; and

WHEREAS, A special condition of the EDA grant award is that "Prior to start of construction, Recipient shall provide evidence satisfactory to the Government that no occupant of the site occupied by Bridgeman Dairy Products at 122-128 South Main Avenue in Thief River Falls, in the Northeast Quarter (NE1/4) of Section 33, Township 154 North, Range 43 West of the Fifth Principal Meridian will be permitted to utilize surface or underground water from the said site unless such utilization is otherwise authorized by the United States Environmental Protection Agency or the cognizant State Agency"; and

WHEREAS, Repeal or violation of the ordinance may result in recovery by the Federal Government of the entire amount of the EDA grant.

THEREFORE, be it resolved that:

ORDINANCE NO. 183 2ND SERIES

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA, RELATING TO RESTRICTION OF USE OF UNDERGROUND OR SURFACE WATER IN A CERTAIN PORTION OF THE CITY AND BY ADOPTING BY REFERENCE CITY CODE CHAPTER 1

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THIEF RIVER FALLS ORDAINS:

Section 1. City Code Chapter 20 entitled "List of Uncoded Ordinances in Effect" is hereby amended by adding to Chapter 20 the following:

Restriction on Water Source. No occupant of the site located in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota and described as follows, to wit:

Lots Twenty-three (23) through thirty (30) of Block Sixty-three (63), of the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls.

Lots Thirty-one (31) and Thirty-two (32) of Block Sixty-three (63), of the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls.

That part of vacated Bay Street lying West of the East line of the vacated alley in said Block 63 of the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls and East of the East line of Main Avenue in the City of Thief River Falls.

That part of the vacated alley in said Block 63 of the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls lying South of a line which is 10' South of the North line extended of Lot 31 of said Block 63 in the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls.

will be permitted to utilize surface or underground water from the said site unless such utilization is otherwise authorized by the United States Environmental Protection Agency or the cognizant State Agency.

Section 2. City Code Chapter 1 entitled "General Provisions and Definitions Applicable to the Entire Code Including Penalty for Violations" is hereby adopted in its entirety by reference, as though repeated verbatim herein.

Section 3. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Passed by the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 12th day of November, 1991.

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by Chairman Vigen. Pledge of Allegiance was given.

Hanson moved, Kotrba seconded, to approve the minutes of the October 15, 1991, regular meeting. Motion carried.

Hyland moved, Gallagher seconded, to approve the November computer checks, October handpayables $39,815.19, and October extra payroll $8,247.56 pending an audit of bills by board auditors. Motion carried. (see reports #3.11-#3.13 attached to the official board minutes.)

Superintendent Hoffert gave the district budget, cash flow and investment reports. The district had an investment of $107,369.94 on October 31, 1991. (see reports #3.21-#3.23 attached to the official board minutes.)

No patron concerns, student council report or support staff reports were presented to the board.

November 26, 1991, 3:45 p.m. was set for a meet and confer meeting with a committee of three from the Goodridge Education Assn. Gallagher, Hyland and Hanson were appointed to serve on the committee from the board with a set agenda to be given to the entire board, administration and faculty members prior to the meeting.

Coach Rehn reported that the letterperson's milk and juice vending machine has been closed due to poor sales since the pop machines have been on during the day. The student council will check into getting a timer for the pop machines which would further restrict the times that pop would be available.

Nicole Paulson and Stacey Dahlen, senior class representatives, requested that the time for graduation be moved from 7:00 p.m. on May 30, 1991, to 5:00 P.M. following discussion. Gallagher moved, Hyland seconded to change this years graduation ceremony from 7:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on a trial basis for the year. Motion carried.

Coach Rehn reported on the number of students participating in the boys basketball program. He also reported on the curriculum materials which will be covered in the 7th, 8th and 10th grades health classes. A letter will be sent to parents inviting them to review the curriculum.

Superintendent Hoffert reported on the changes made in the school calendar due to school being cancelled for football quarter finals on November 16, 1991. (see report #8.2 attached to the official board minutes.)

The administration gave a brief financial report on the quarter and semi-final football games and activities.

Hanson reported Northwest ECSU Activities, and on the Minnesota Rural Education Legislative Platform meeting.

Kotrba reported on the October 23 pairing meeting. Concerns over the student activities pass will be discussed at their spring meeting for the 1992-1993 school year.

Hyland and Gallagher reported on the school climate meeting. Some of the items discussed at the meeting included: Education week activities, assistant football coaches attending the games at the Metrodome, need for certified and classified staffs to work together to support each others positions and jobs, ordering tissue for the classrooms, and community pepfest and spaghetti supper.

Hyland reported on the activities of the N.W. RIC. Superintendent Hoffert reported that the N.W. RIC director will address the items of non-compliance with the special education monitoring office.

Superintendent Hoffert reported on legislators plans to consolidate school districts. Hanson requested that the board consider forming a plan of action for the district.

Vigen reported on the activities of the N.W. Vocational Center school.

Principal Henrickson thanked the community for their financial support of the football teams activities.

Principal Henrickson also reported that the Farmers Union Green Thumb program has hired Harry Paulson to work at the school.

Superintendent Hoffert reported on the upcoming MSBA meetings scheduled for new board members.

The next regularly scheduled December board meeting was set for 3:00 p.m. December 17, 1991.

Gallagher requested that the board consider involving a board member in all hiring procedures. The consensus was to discuss this further at the January board meeting.

Meeting adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

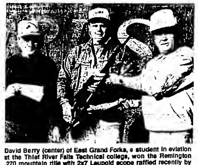
Thief River Falls Swim club received $2,000 from the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters recently in support of the swimming program in the community. Tom Dimich (right), who received the check from Joel Swanson of the Sports Boosters, said the donation will reduce insurance costs for the swim club and make it possible to reduce individual membership costs next year.



David Berry (center) of East Grand Forks, a student in aviation at the Thief River Falls Technical college, won the Remington .270 mountain rifle with 2x7 Leupold scope raffled recently by the Thief River Falls chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters association. Raffle tickets were sold at Erl's Market and resulted in $750 being turned over to the local chapter. Shown with Berry are Conrad Gonsorowski (left), president of the Thief River Falls chapter, and Erling Olson, owner of Erl's Market.

Money donated to hospital by local business

Thief River Falls Dairy Queen donated $415 to Children's Hospital MeritCare at St. Luke's hospital in Fargo, ND, through a special promotion, donation canisters and other events held in conjunction with the Children's Miracle Network-Telethon earlier this year.

Together area Dairy Queen stores raised $15,500 to help purchase equipment, fund parent and family support programs, educational programs and research.

Amity scholars teach, learn in T.R.F. schools has not been a problem, she said, although she finds more fast foods and cheaper prices here. German restaurants are not fast food places and meals are more expensive.

Roxane has studied English since she was 11 years old and handles the language well. She said she misses people of her own age and keeps in touch with her family in Germany both by letter and telephone. She has two brothers, one and two years younger than she is. She has found that having a car is necessary in our area.

Working with the students is an enjoyable experience, she said, and she finds first year students to be the most enthusiastic and serious about learning the language. In her own study of German in her home country, grammar is taught early in the program, then literature and writing.

Nadja Cherubini is from a small town near Karlsruhe in the southwestern part of Germany. She has attended a teacher training college for one year in Karlsruhe, a city of about 300,000 people. She is able to take the streetcar from her home to the college, a distance of about nine miles.

There were no surprises for Nadja when she came to the United States. She had been here once before for about three weeks, although not to this part of the country.

At her high school in Germany classes were held from 7:20 a.m. to 12:25 p.m. Students usually went home after their class schedule was completed. She studied English for nine years in elementary and high school and one year at the college. She plans to teach English, history and politics at the university level.

Nadja has been involved in aerobics, holds a blue belt in karate, served as a volunteer counselor at youth camps operated by her city and has made a two-week trip to Africa on vacation. She has one brother, a year older than she is, who also attends the university.

Her mother does not work outside the home and her father is employed in the office of Mercedes Benz.

Nadja said she finds the Franklin students seem to like the language program and are willing to participate. Among the activities have been folk dancing and a celebration of Oktoberfest, a continuation of a celebration which originated in 1810 in Bavaria and is a major celebration in Munich, Germany each year.

Like Roxane, Nadja has not had a problem adjusting to American food but does not like soft bread and isn't accustomed to quantities of food consumed. She also noted the absence of fast food facilities in Germany, pointing out that her town has 17 or 18 restaurants, none of them offering fast food.

Instructors Paivi Young and Lincoln and Cay Donlin at Franklin have appreciated having the Amity students available to assist in their programs. The find it adds realism and a new dimension to language instruction and students seem to appreciate the added help available.

All students at Franklin have an exposure to German as a foreign language. All sixth graders have a four and one-half week program that is required while seventh and eighth graders have German as an option. There are presently 80 Franklin students in the German I program.

During the afternoon Nadja and Roxane are enrolled in college prep composition and speech courses at Lincoln. During the second semester they will likely be placed in government or American history classes.

"We think having the Amity students here is a plus for all concerned," Paivi Young said. "We are especially grateful to those families who have opened their homes to provide a place for Roxane and Nadja to live and would encourage other families to consider being hosts if the program is to be continued in future years."

While Joah Jimenez, one of Paivi Young's German language students at Lincoln senior high school reads aloud, Roxane Kaupmann listens and provides assistance with pronunciation. Roxane is an Amity scholar from Germany who is spending the 1991-92 school year assisting with instruction at Lincoln. She also attends classes in college prep and speech at Lincoln during the afternoon.

Roxane Kaupmann, an Amity scholar from Germany, reviews parts of the body for German language students at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls. She will be at Lincoln for the 1991-92 school year to assist Paivi Young in the German language program and to attend classes to further her own education.

Making a visit to Die Bank (the bank) during role playing in one of Cay Donlin's German language classes at Franklin middle school, Amity scholar Nadja Cherubini exchanges U.S. currency for simulated German marks with seventh grader Chad Paulson. Nadja will be assisting in the German program at Franklin for the 1991-92 school year before returning to her studies in Germany.

Agassiz area moose hunting

The 1991 moose hunting season on Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, Elm Lake Eckvoll and Mud Lake Wildlife Management Areas will be held Nov. 30-Dec. 8 in accordance with Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and federal regulations.

The population is estimated to be 250 moose within the 130 square miles of Zone 2. Moose hunter success was 95 percent in 1989 when a total of 12 bulls and seven cows were harvested.

A total of 20 permits were issued for Zone 2. A total of 2,001 applicants applied to hunt Zone 2. Only successful applicants are permitted to hunt moose. Once a moose has been killed by a party, then additional helpers may aid with the processing and dragging of the animal after they notify refuge personnel.

Moose hunters are required to attend either the 10 a.m. or 1 p.m. orientation session on Friday at the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge maintenance center before they can participate in the hunt. Scouting of the refuge will be allowed on Friday.

Moose hunters are reminded that they are required to wear blaze orange or red clothing when hunting. Small game or archery hunters on the three adjoining state wildlife management areas hunting during the moose season are not required to wear blaze orange or red clothing during the moose season, but are encouraged to do so for their own safety.

Writer finds Spain via the "Rock" of Gibraltar

If the monkeys leave so do the British

by David Hill
Associate Editor

What made Columbus sail towards the setting sun?

There seems to be quite a debate about Columbus and the holiday named after him. After reading a copy of his diary, I believe Columbus was motivated to take the risk because he wanted prestige, and to be considered a good Christian. During Columbus' time I believe gold and riches beyond belief were what made men good Christians, especially if you gave a lot of it to the church. Having riches or knowing where riches could be found also helped convince others to support your cause. Times have changed maybe, just maybe we no longer understand the forces that motivated Columbus.

People are motivated by different things, that's clear. Some people come alive when you talk about gold and riches. Some people simply come alive when they talk about their grandchildren. Marvin Lundin comes alive when he's talking about pheasant hunting. My dad says my mom's eyes simply sparkle with fire when she talks about travel to different countries.

As a basis for understanding why and how I got to Spain, my parents invited me to join them on a trip to Spain. While on sabbatical for three months they had exchanged homes with a woman in Southern England. From there they took many side trips, one of which included a trip to Spain. After I returned from my trip, John, my publisher, asked if I would write a story or two about my trip.

Seven time changes and roughly 30 hours after leaving Thief River Falls I was finally able to relax and sleep. It didn't take 30 hours of travel but changing planes and changing time zones can absorb a lot of time.

Though it was tiring, it was also exciting. Because of past experiences, we (our family) don't plan out daily schedules. We like to travel by the seat of our pants, so to speak. As a result we usually see a lot of different things off the beaten path. This trip we saw the monkeys on the "rock" of Gibraltar, rode camels in Morroco, and saw a flamenco show in Seville.

We lifted ourselves off the seats as we looked out our windows. From the window of the Boeing 737 we were flying in it didn't look like there was much room for error. And, I wouldn't have wanted to be a fisherman. The airport runway was virtually sea level.

Gibraltar is where we started and where we finished our trip. The "Rock" as popularized by a commercial looks more like it's made of limestone than granite. The advertisement also leaves out the crowd of buildings around the rock and the fortifications, which appear at many levels.

I guess I suspected that there had to be caves in the "rock" but I didn't expect large caverns capable of seating 400 to 500 people, nor did I expect to see so many fortifications. I expect that there are hundereds of miles of caves, some natural and some manmade. In fact, there are car routes right through the "rock".

At one time, Gibraltar was an

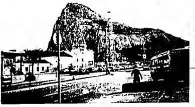
From the "rock" of Gibraltar tourists get a good view of the city, harbor and airport. The airport runway, which extends into the harbor, is practically level with the sea. Gibraltar is a self-governing British colony.



The rock of Gibraltar, as it appears to the tourist visiting the area, isn't much like the advertisement. Gun emplacements can still be seen in the cliffs and many buildings and homes are located around it.

Guns. The rock of Gibraltar has played a significant role in military history. Some of the older guns, now memorials, are on display for tourists visiting the rock of Gibraltar.

Close relatives? The saying goes that if the monkeys leave so do the British. Gibraltar is a self-governing British colony, and the monkeys are still found on the rock of Gibraltar. Tourists are able to get quite close to them and even feed them.

THERE WILL ALWAYS BE MANY THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

We hear so much depressing news,
  While every night throughout the week
It seems each commentator views
  Our country's future looking bleak;
Recessions, wars and all of those
  Calamities we must survive;
And yet, despite the nation's woes,
  We're thankful just to be alive.
We all have problems we must face,
  Financial or some other kind;
But when we put them in their place
  We then regain our peace of mind.
And so, for ways in which we're blessed,
  By which we find our faith restored,
Our gratitude should be expressed;
  Let's give our thanks unto the Lord.

— Gloria Nowak

O Lord! that lends me life, lend me a heart replete with thankfulness!

Writer finds Spain via Gibraltar

important British naval and air base. Its history has always been linked to military conquest, primarily because of its strategic location at the entrance to the Mediterranean at the tip of the Iberian peninsula.

Gibraltar was captured from Spain in 1704. A long-standing dispute over who owns Gibraltar has festered for years, but in 1967, a referendum showed overwhelming opposition to a return to Spanish rule. Gibraltar is now a self-governing British colony.

Near the top of the "rock", live the monkeys of Gibraltar. An old tale states that if the monkeys of Gibraltar ever leave, the British will also leave. At one time the monkeys were so close to extinction that the government of England took steps to ensure they continue to survive.

I didn't expect to see the monkeys at the top but they were there and obviously doing well. Several had small babies clinging to their mothers. Our driver admonished us not to touch the babies. He explained that a French woman riding in his taxi a couple of years before didn't heed the warning and was attacked by an alarmed mother when the French woman picked up its baby. Her injuries required 67 stitches.

Our taxi driver who whisked us over impossibly narrow and dangerous roads explained that England looks after the country's international interests. Most of England's military presence has left the country. The loss of the significant military presence to the economy was devastating, our taxi driver said. The small country, which occupies about 2.5 square miles in area, was forced to establish its own military police and find a replacement for the economic loss. England still maintains small naval and air bases on the rock. For the most part, tourism played an important role in the early development of the economy, and it still does. Banking, shipping and light industry now play a much more significant role in the country's economy.

The next two installments include a story about a trip to Seville and a trip to Tangier in Morocco.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

This letter to the public is long overdue, but with all the flurry of talk lately about AIDS I can no longer put this off.

It is a well known and established fact that the AIDS virus is spread through the direct contact with body fluids of an infected person. yet, I have never heard anyone question or investigate the very potential spread of AIDS or other diseases, such as hepatitis, through the application of cosmetics, shampoos, lotions, etc., that are enriched with human protein.

Many of these products, especially the more expensive products, commonly add human protein for its benefit to the hair or skin when massaged in. In probably all cases, the human protein is obtained from "products of conception" which is usually aborted fetuses that are cheap and readily available and a few use placentas discarded after deliveries of full-term babies.

Those in the pro-life movement who were aware of this practice have been boycotting these products for some time now in attempt to stop the use of "hydrolizing" or blenderizing fetuses into skin products. Often times the product won't label the ingredient as protein but as hydrolyzed protein, collagen or urea and new terms keep coming as the manufacturers attempt to disguise the source of the ingredient.

Despite your personal stand on abortion, I feel that there are important questions that need to be answered by the medical field and the cosmetic industry. First, what testing, if any, is being performed on these fetuses or "products of conception" to establish any potential diseases? The mothers entering abortion clinics are not tested for AIDS or other diseases. So the chances are quite likely that some, if not many, of these fetuses and placentas are infected. The manufacturer then puts them through the blender, adds it to the product, and you bring it home to smear on or massage in to your heart's content.

Second, if these products do actually contain the AIDS virus or other diseases, can the medical field guarantee that a person massaging it into their skin or applying it to their eyes won't infect themselves with the disease? Is the public willing to even take that chance?

The public needs to be made aware and demand answers. In the meantime, read the list of ingredients on the labels of all cosmetics, lotions, shampoos, etc. If you see that it contains possible human protein or it lists a suspicious ingredient, then contact the manufacturer and ask if the product contains human protein of any form. If you have any doubts, then don't buy the product. There are many other wonderful products on the market that contain animal protein if you want the protein and the label will clearly indentify it as coming from an animal source.

I see no reason why human protein has to be used at all instead of using animal protein. There is no difference in quality of protein when comparing human to animal. The molecular nature is identical. Human protein is apparently more expensive anyway, judging from the prices of the products that contain it. I only hope we don't discover later that it has cost us more than we realized. If the industry sees that enough people are concerned about the safety of their product they will have to at least investigate if not change the policy.

Please don't disregard this letter as another "Nah, it couldn't be" situation or even, God forbid, of less priority than our own vanity. Think about it.

Sincerely,
Terri Olson

The Peterson Report

by Congressman Collin Peterson

WASHINGTON—In the vocabulary of Washington, "reform" is one word that often should inspire dread.

It was the post-Watergate campaign finance "reforms" that brought us an election cycle dominated by special interest money.

And it was the 1986 tax "reform" act that brought economic hardship to the 7th Congressional District, along with many other parts of the country.

While billed as a simpler, fairer tax code, the 1986 act simplified tax law only by making the lack of equity in government policies more pronounced and obvious.

As a certified public accountant in Detroit Lakes, I saw, up close, the financial difficulty caused by the 1986 reform. Farmers, small businesses and average working people lost ground, while big business and the wealthy prospered. The rural values and lifestyles of Fosston, Sauk Centre and Crookston were rated below the intgerests of suberbia and corporate boardrooms.

It's a problem that shouldn't be ignored any longer. So I have introduced the Tax Equity and Antirecession Act of 1991.

My bill would:

- Restore income-averaging. Our farmers have notoriously unpredictable income fluctuations. This provision would help them even out their tax burdens.
- Restore the investment tax credit. Farmers have passed up purchases of needed equipment because of tight budgets. With this 10 percent credit, for example, a farmer could buy a $100,000-combine and deduct $10,000 from his tax bill.
- Allow self-employed individuals to deduct the full cost of their health insurance. Now, only a 25 percent deduction is allowed. But spiraling health care costs mean that we must do better for those who do not have access to group coverage.
- Lower Social Security taxes for low- and middle-income taxpayers. And by applying those taxes to all earned income, the wealthy pick up more of the tab.
- Make the income-tax system more progressive by adding three tax brackets for high-income individuals. For example, income over $1 million would be taxed at a 45 percent rate, up from 31 percent in current law. (However, that still would be lower than the pre-1986 rate of 50 percent.)
- Exempt half of real property from the capital gains tax. This would inject some life into our moribund housing industry and make it more likely that farmers can keep their farms in the family. It differs from the Republican proposal, which instead would give a tax break for gains on sales of stocks and bonds. Again, I'm more concerned about average Americans than about the rich.

Of course, many members of Congress believe that they did the right thing in 1986. As the only practicing C.P.A. ever elected to Congress, I will try to play an educational role and show that the "reform" actually widened the gap between the haves and the have-nots. What we need is parity, not the ongoing party that the affluent have been attending during the Reagan-Bush years.

Turkey Farming: A Winning Deal for Minnesota

Turkey comes into prominence around Thanksgiving time and remains in the public eye until after the New Year holiday, although it is gaining greater acceptance as a year-around food. The following information from the Minnesota Turkey Growers association was provided by Russ Christianson, general manager of the Northern Pride turkey processing plant in Thief River Falls:

You might not know it, but folks across this nation look with envy upon Minnesota's turkey industry.

Many states, particularly those in the South and Southeast, would dearly love to benefit from the economic contributions made by Minnesota's turkey industry.

First, the farmer benefits through direct income. Minnesota's turkey industry generated $343,000,000 of on-farm receipts in 1991 through the production of 60 million turkey eggs and 46.3 million market turkeys (851,920,000 pounds). This ranks Minnesota second in market turkey production behind North Carolina.

While turkey farms have grown in size, the vast majority of eggs and birds are still raised in family-owned operations. In fact, Minnesota has the largest concentration of independent turkey growers found anywhere in the United States!

Second, the crop farmers in this state benefit because of higher prices. Since turkeys consume16 million bushels of soybeans and 28 million bushels of corn annually, the value of those crops are increased to local markets by eight to 10 per cent.

Turkeys, as is true with all livestock, are the most basic form of "value added processing." Minnesota needs to make sure these natural "processors" don't move to other states, for the impact on crop farmers would be disastrous.

Third, the turkey industry is a good customer of other Minnesota products. During the past year the turkey industry purchased $8 million worth of wood products, $8 million worth of propane, $20 million worth of buildings and facilities, $4 million worth of electricity and $4 million worth of debt financing, plus more.

Fourth, the turkey industry provides jobs to this state. To be exact, this year the turkey industry will directly contribute 8,000 jobs to rural Minnesota while indirectly contributing to the existence of another 32,000 jobs in related services such as veterinary health care, trucking, construction, utilities and others.

Fifth, Minnesota processors will take those 851,920,000 pounds of turkey and further process them into other innovative products such as turkey bacon, turkey ham, deli meats, roasts and fresh parts, contributing another estimated $1 billion to Minnesota. Since 90 per cent of all turkey is exported out of this state, the turkey industry brings in significant new money to this state's economy.

Sixth, the turkey industry has never participated in a federal government price support system. Turkey sales and marketing take place totally within the free market economy, reaping both the great rewards and risks of that great system. None of your tax dollars have ever gone to support the price of turkey.

Despite the lack of artificial supports, turkey consumption jumped 80 per cent during the last decade.

Seventh, and last, each year the turkey industry funds over $300,000 of original research at the University of Minnesota. This is producer money contributed for the purpose of self-help. Unlike its beef, pork and dairy counterparts, the turkey check-off is totally voluntary, and yet it can boast a 90 per cent participation rate. Such success can be attributed to a vital grower association and commodity council both directed by a board of producers.

Is turkey farming a good deal for Minnesota? When you consider putting money in the pockets of farmers, raising grain prices, creating jobs, producing nutritious food for consumers and bringing new dollars into this state the answer is easy. Yes!

Mammenga should rethink decision

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Will Marshall County Central in Newfolden arise from the ashes?

If the state has its way the high school will consolidate with another school and the school district will build something like a kindergarten through grade 8 school to replace the aging elementary school. It's all part of State Education Commissioner Gene Mammenga's plan to force smaller schools to consolidate into larger, supposedly more efficient and less costly schools.

It should come as no suprise to Mammengo that his plans have not been greeted warmly in Newfolden and here's why:

First, Mammengo owes the school district an apology for his insensitivity. The letter he sent to them the very day students began returning to school expressed some sentiment for their situation but his actions spoke loud and clear.

Second, Mammenga owes it to the state and school district to study the issue more closely before closing his mind to rebuilding. Instead of relying on the incomplete study of one man, he should invite a new study and the cooperation of the school district. He should listen to the voices of students and parents and maybe as a result of cooperation and the study, there might be a different result.

Third, Mammenga has turned the intent of a new law inside out in an effort to make the law suit his own goals. Mammenga should listen to those who created the law. Legislators involved in passing the bill say what's happening is not what was intended. Attempting to subvert the intent of the law could result in a change in legislation — perhaps too late to benefit Newfolden.

Fourth, strong-arming the community into a decision won't work. Strong-arm tactics send the wrong message to neighboring school districts, as well. There are 169 schools in the state smaller than Newfolden. What will happen to them? Will they cooperate and silently close their doors?

Sure, Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls could accommodate students from Newfolden, but as one S.D. 564 board member said, "we're not interested in forcing them to bring students to Thief River Falls." Why? Because of open enrollment the students can go anywhere they want; the same thing might happen to Lincoln high school and other school districts; and, forcing students to travel such long distances probably isn't in their best interest. And, I guess, that's the crux of this whole issue, or should be.

What is in the best interest of the students? Perhaps Mammenga and others, in their desire to save the state a little money, have lost sight of that goal.

The Rutherford Report

Recruiting the Heart of a Business

Over the years I have had several individuals approach me about moving my business to their community. Although they didn't succeed, there was one community that just about pulled it off. If you are trying to recruit an industry to your community, perhaps it would be helpful to know how an entrepreneur thinks. With this knowledge, you should be able to deliver a more effective recruiting presentation.

One community in the western part of Texas really did their homework. They acknowledged being distant from any key market so they looked for successful companies, direct marketing their products from rural America. It started with a surprise. A pair of pre-paid tickets to fly me down there for a couple of days (significant investment in advance of my interest). They knew I was about to go through a major expansion and offered me a $3 million building under incredibly good terms. Further, they took me to their bank and assured me that they would make available the expansion capital required. However, they made one major mistake, they did not deal with the fact that I personally did not want to live in western Texas. Even though they were very gracious and offered a healthier financial package than any other community had, they never found the key to my heart. Obviously I did not move.

On the other hand, a person from a community right here in North Dakota did understand the heart of an entrepreneur and nearly won my heart. Three business people initially came and gave a very professional presentation. Afterwards, one of the men asked to stay with me and he turned out to be the "heart surgeon." This person was a successful entrepreneur and came as someone who really understood what I had gone through in my first eight years. Here's what we discussed: 1. How I felt about the lack of personal financial gain I was experiencing. 2. How I felt about the business after being short of cash sometimes and not being able to pay bills on a timely basis. And how that resulted in criticism and cash on delivery transactions. 3. How I felt about the large amount of time I was spending at work and away from my family. 4. How my wife and I felt about investing almost every penny that we had including a second mortgage on our house to finance the business. 5. How I felt about the lack of encouragement I was receiving from the community.

Later, I thought, either I was very much like many other business startups, or he knew me very well. He said that if I would consider moving to his community many of the problems would go away because their whole business community understood. That understanding led to the availability of help and encouragement which is uncommon in many communities.

Furthermore, they were willing to give me a very good deal on the terms to purchase a 77,000 square foot building which was recently vacated. But, the main incentive which they offered was, "We understand you and we care." He presented a clear vision of his hope for the community's future. Yet, it was clear that there was no hope unless businesses like mine would move there and I was important. He said that in his community, I would be a big fish in their little sea, something that I would never be in the city I was currently in. Finally, they needed my help and advice and in turn, they were willing to help me to reach my goals so they could reach theirs.

You know, I almost moved my company. They knew if they could win my heart over then they could move my business to their company. The only thing that kept me from moving was the problem of an adequately trained staff. If they had dug out this concern, helped my management staff move and helped me to train a new work force, I think I would have probably moved.

That's the idea, focus on the person and not the business needs alone. Talk in human terms to a business owner. THE BUSINESS WILL COME IF YOU GET THE HEART OF THAT BUSINESS OWNER. You have to understand what that person wants and feels. Once you understand the business owner, be persistent and you will be well on your way to bringing new businesses into your community.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — November 27, 1941

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Night School For Farm Youth To Start

"The annual part-time evening school for farm boys of ages 16 to 25 will open next Monday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock in the agriculture room, No. 106, in Lincoln high school, it was announced today by Harold F. Harrison, agriculture instructor. Mr. Harrison urged farm youths to attend the classes to aid the country's national defense effort, and to profit by the information gained from the course of study."

Avalon Theatre To Close Dec. 2

"Thief River Falls moviegoers will be served exclusively by the Falls theatre beginning next Tuesday, December 2, when the Avalon theatre will be closed for an indefinite period, it was announced this week by Miss Dorene Gadde, acting manager, who added that Joseph Schwangler of Alexandria will arrive early next week to take over the duties of manager, representing Baehr Brothers, owners of both local movie houses. Given as the reason for closing of the Avalon was the state law prohibiting block-booking of films, which has made it impossible to obtain enough worthwhile pictures to supply both theatres."

Oxygen Tent To Be Secured By Fire Department

"The Thief River Falls fire department today announced the sponsorship of a plan to raise funds for the purchase of a portable oxygen tent, to be used in cases of pneumonia and other diseases where the administration of oxygen is necessary. When purchased the oxygen tent will be housed at the Thief River Falls fire hall and will be available to the residents of Thief River Falls and the surrounding towns and rural areas at all times without charge, except transportation."

From Newspaper Files of One Hundred Years Ago

Swedish Lutheran Church To Have Social

"The Swedish Lutheran Congregation in St. Hilaire will have a festival in the Norwegian Lutheran Church Wednesday Dec. 16th at 7 p.m. The program will consist of singing by the Black River Church Choir and the St. Hilaire quartette and music by the St. Hilaire orchestra, also vocal solos and duets with organ accompaniment and speeches in the various languages. Admission free but usual price will be charged for supper. All are cordially invited."

A Big Opening For a Saw Mill Firm

[The village council is having the following advertisement published in the Mississippi Valley Lumberman]:

"The Village of St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minn., will offer inducements to the right kind of a saw mill firm to locate there. St. Hilaire is situated in the northeastern part of Polk Co. on the Great Northern railway and on the Red Lake reservation. This reservation is now being surveyed and pine can be purchased next year. It is estimated to contain two billion feet of the finest pine in Minnesota. Logs can be secured this winter from the Indians who will cut several million feet. St. Hilaire is located in a fine farming district, markets over 350,000 bushels of wheat and the demand for lumber is large. The townsite company will give to the right kind of firm, twenty acres of land on the river convenient to the business part of town, and free shore rights and good boomage for two hundred million feet of logs. The village council and citizens will add a very liberal bonus. Lumbermen who are figuring on the Red Lake pine cannot afford to overlook this offer. Address all communications to H.B. Ives, St. Hilaire, Minn."

MPCA names waste contractor

Commissioners Dana B. Badgerow, of the Minnesota Department of Administration (Admin), and Chuck W. Williams, of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) have announced a contract with Aptus, Inc. of Lakeville for management of state-generated hazardous waste.

The contract was awarded to Aptus following a one-year bidding process during which Admin, the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) and the MPCA received and considered bids from several environmental contractors. Under the contract, Aptus will analyze state-generated wastes to determine if they are hazardous; package, label and haul the wastes in accordance with applicable state and federal regulations; store the wastes at their permitted storage facility; and propose and implement waste disposal options.

The contract covers all hazardous waste produced by state departments or agencies. Cities, counties, townships, school districts, and other governmental organizations may also use Aptus' services under the contract. Such organizations may be producing hazardous waste if they do printing, vehicle or building maintenance, painting, photo processing, pesticide application, general maintenance, or laboratory work. Examples of hazardous wastes are used solvents, inks, caustics, acids, pesticides, paints, laboratory chemicals, adhesives, preserving agents, PCBs, photo solutions, cleaning fluids, and unused chemical products.

For more information about the contract, contact Aptus at 612/469-3475.

Beginning this month, the department of administration will sponsor one-day workshops for government employees involved in waste management, to acquaint them with the contract and help them comply with the state's hazardous waste rules. The workshops will include presentations by representatives from Admin, MnDOT, the Attorney General's Office, and Aptus. MPCA staff will be available to answer questions about hazardous waste management. The free workshops will be held from 8:3B A.M. to 4:30 P.M. at the following locations: Detroit Lakes on October 30; Brooklyn Park on November 5; Duluth on November 1; St. Cloud on November 22; and North Mankato on December 5.

To register for one of the workshops, interested government personnel should fax the following information to Norma Cameron at the Department of Administration at 612/297-3996: name, address, phone number, agency, city or school district, and first and second workshop choice. Please also indicate if you will be eating lunch at the on-site cafeteria.

FmHA supervisor David Altenbernd completes course

David W. Altenbernd, county supervisor, with Farmers Home Administration in Thief River Falls, recently completed the "Credit and Financial Analysis" training course sponsored by FmHA.

The training course is designed to help FmHA personnel improve their skills in understanding financial statements, analyzing financial information from borrowers and guaranteed lenders, and using this information in the credit process.

This week-long course provides in-depth training in farm financial analysis techniques, much of it done through actual case studies.

As a County Supervisor, Altenbernd makes and services a variety of farm loans provided by FmHA in Pennington, East Marshall and Northwest Beltrami counties.

"By completing this course, Altenbernd is better prepared to serve FmHA's constituents in the development of financial alternatives for their farming operation," said Russ Bjorhus, FmHA state director for Minnesota.

Approximately 10B FmHA employees from Minnesota and nearby states attended the training conference which was held in St. Louis, Missouri on September 9, 1991 through September 13, 1991. FmHA plans to present the course to nearly 5,000 employees nationwide.

"Each person who attends this course obtains increased knowledge and skills to provide better supervisory assistance to FmHA borrowers," Bjorhus said. "Our agency is dedicated to helping farm families reach the director's goals and objectives. Altenbernd is now prepared to serve our constituents better."

Altenbernd serves Pennington, East Marshall and Northwest Beltrami counties from the FmHA office located at North Dale Street, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, (218) 681-2843.

Preparing students for future falls to schools

[illegible] It is our obligation [illegible] to provide all of our students [illegible] education program that prepares them for the [illegible] program in a community [illegible] technical college or a baccalaureate degree in a university, [illegible] Dr. Robert Duncan, [illegible] of schools for Thief River Falls. Following is his review [illegible] Tech Prep program [illegible] underway here.

by Dr. Robert Duncan
Superintendent of Schools
School District 564

Thief River Falls was one of seven sites in the state of Minnesota to receive a $200,000 three-year Tech Prep planning grant. The grant was awarded to the Tech Prep Consortium schools which include Thief River Falls K-12, Thief River Falls Area Learning Center, Northwest Vocational Center, Northland Community College, Thief River Falls Technical College and the University of Minnesota at Crookston. The business partnership includes Thief River Falls Jobs Incorporated, St. Hilaire Cooperative Elevator and the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Gene Mammenga, Minnesota Commissioner of Education, recently stated, "We can boast that two-thirds of our graduates go on to post-secondary education or training within a year of receiving their diploma but that leaves a third who do not. Another 10 per cent of our young people do not graduate with their peers each year.

"Of the students who enter college, only 20 per cent actually earn baccalaureate degrees and the average age of enrollees in our technical colleges is 28, which means that many of them have spent 10 years drifting from one low paying job to another," he said.

Traditionally our schools have been geared toward the student who plans to continue his or her formal education and earn a four-year college baccalaureate degree. As already noted, although a large percentage of high school graduates may start out working toward a four-year baccalaureate degree, only 20 per cent complete that degree.

Furthermore, only about 20 per cent of the jobs available require a four-year degree. Now and in the future the vast majority of jobs will require workers who have a strong background in technical education.

In the book "Tech Prep Associate Degree: A Win Win Experience" written by Dan Hall and Dale Burnell, five substantial enemies are identified as standing in the way of excellence in modern American schools and college education programs. First, we've allowed the traditional college prep/baccalaureate degree curriculum to be the one and only definition of excellence in education.

Second, in too many instances we have allowed the curriculum to become disconnected from real life issues. Teaching and learning in formal education usually takes place outside the context of real-life situations, activities and problems. Studies have show, however, that most individuals learn best when they are taught in a context of application.

Third, scant attention has been given in education to the subject of continuity and learning. As a result, American schools and colleges have become a collection of disjointed courses that more often than not fail to connect with one another and with the students they want to teach.

Fourth, little attention has been given in defining educational excellence due to the pressing dilemma of how to meet the great range of individual differences among students.

Fifth, we've allowed too many students—even those in so-called vocational education programs—to graduate from secondary and even post-secondary programs without the competencies required to secure entry level employment in a rapidly changing environment or the flexibility to retrain later as job market requirements change.

What Tech Prep proposes to do then is:

- Offer a first rate alternative to the traditional college prep/baccalaureate degree program for students who are unlikely to complete a baccalaureate degree. This alternative would be in the form of a college prep/technical program.
- Offer students a solid academic foundation based on concrete real-life applications.
- Coordinate the efforts of secondary and post-secondary schools to achieve maximum results in minimum time.
- Effectively address some of the key differences in student needs, backgrounds and learning styles.
- Provide students with the life-long learning competencies they need and the flexibility they will need in the future—while providing employers with the kind of workers they need to remain competitive.

It's safe to say that most people regard public education as preparation for life and work. That being the case, elements of career education should begin in kindergarten and intensify as students move through the middle school so that students can begin making broad career decisions in the ninth and 10th grades. From these grades on, all students should be following a program of study that would prepare them for specific career areas.

Presently, the majority of students are in a "general" plan of study which, in the most part, is supposedly preparing them for the four-year baccalaureate college degree. As noted earlier, that is of very little value to all but perhaps 20 per cent of a given high school graduating class. Students should either be in a college prep/baccalaureate plan or a college prep/technical degree plan.

One group of technical preparation students should be enrolled in a tech prep/associate degree program. These would be the future professional technicians and they would be provided with advanced skills through studies and experiences in applied academic skills and advanced technologies. These students would join the work force after completing a two-year secondary technical degree.

Another group of technically prepared students would pursue vocational education and training through studies and experiences in applied academic skills and possibly work-based learning. These would be the future workers in crafts, human and business services. Most of these students would enter the work force after high school graduation but would have the necessary preparation to return for more education or training according to whatever the work place requires. The third group would be those who are preparing for a four-year college baccalaureate degree and beyond.

Tech Prep does not create a three-track system, however. It does strongly emphasize career preparation for all students and does allow for movement among the three career paths if their interest, abilities, resources or confidence indicate to them that they can—and should—reach higher and further.

Scholarships were awarded by the Thief River Falls Education Association Thursday morning at the education breakfast held at the American Legion club. Elaine Grovum (center) presented scholarships of $100 each to Vickie Brown, student at the Technical College, and Melissa Kezar, Northland Community College.

Prepare for winter motoring

Winter weather and road conditions can change rapidly for the worst. The Minnesota Safety Council reminds motorists to be especially alert. The following suggestions can help keep drivers out of trouble through the winter months:

•Keep an emergency kit in your car at all times. An ideal kit contains a flashlight with fresh batteries, blankets, warning flares or reflectors, a scraper with a brush at one end, tow chain, jumper cables, shovel, a bag of sand or cat litter and a high energy candy bar.

•Have your car tuned up to prevent problems from occurring. The brakes, battery, exhaust system, headlights, fluids, tires, wipers and cooling system should be checked by a qualified mechanic.

•Brush all the snow off the car windshield, windows, mirrors, roof, hood and trunk lid before each trip. Tail lights and headlights also should be brushed off so that other motorists can see you.

•Since sunlight and snow create a dangerous glare, sunglasses should be worn for daytime driving. A day of exposure to sun and glare without sunglasses can reduce your ability to see at night.

•If you find yourself stranded, stay calm and stay put; do not wander off and risk frostbite or hypothermia—unless help is within sight. If not, run the engine for heat about once every hour (or every half hour in extreme cold). Leave one window cracked open to avoid being sealed inside of the car by freezing snow and sleet. Clear an area around the end of the exhaust pipe to prevent carbon monoxide back up. Tie a brightly-colored cloth to your antenna to signal other motorists you are stranded.

•When weather conditions are bad, reduce your speed and increase your following distance. If you should begin to skid, take your foot off the gas and turn the steering wheel in the direction of the spin. Never hit the brake.

Flu vaccine shortage hits Falls Clinic

About 75 doses are left of Falls Clinic's supply of flu vaccine as of Tuesday, December 3. Once that's gone it will be extremely difficult for the clinic to get any more, according to Jan Nyflot, manager Falls Clinic in Thief River Falls.

Nyflot explained that Falls Clinic is part of the Dakota Clinic system and receives its supply of flu vaccine from the Dakota Clinic pharmacy. According to what she learned when she talked to a pharmacy representative, their sources are depleted and they haven't found another source as of yet.

Media hype about this winter's flu strain has put a strain on supplies nationwide. Nyflot said Falls Clinic traditionally sees a lot of patients for flu vaccines in November. The incidence of reported cases, however, have not necessarily been higher than normal — not in the Thief River Falls area anyway.

The demand for the flu vaccine has been up about one and one-half times in the Dakota Clinic system, Nyflot said. The largest increase has come from the younger population, which Nyflot defined as individuals younger than 50 years of age.

Falls Clinic has been giving the vaccine out on a first come first serve basis. Once they are out of the vaccine, they may not be able to get any more. Nyflot said there are rumors out there that say a large manufacturer is producing some more vaccine, but that will take at least two weeks to produce a vaccine and longer to deliver the vaccine.

BSU to offer two courses in T.R. Falls

Bemidji State university's center for extended learning will offer two courses in Thief River Falls this winter quarter through interactive television as part of the university's northern Minnesota extension program.

"Course Construction in Vocational Education," a three-credit course, will be taught by Madalyn Novellino Fridays from 6 to 10 p.m. January 10, 17, 18 and 31 and February 1 and 15 in the ITV room at the Thief River Falls technical college.

"Interactive Television Teacher Education," a two-credit course, will be taught by Pam Landers Fridays from 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. February 14, 21, 22 and 29 in the same location.

Pre-registration is recommended at least a week prior to the first class meeting. For more information contact the center for extended learning at Bemidji State University, Deputy Hall, 1500 Birchmont Drive NE, Bemidji, MN 56601-2699, phone 755-2068.

Set Christmas lighting contest for Plummer

Plummer Community club is sponsoring its annual Christmas lighting contest again this year and those interested in entering may register at the Plummer bank by December 16. Judging will take place on Tuesday, December 19.

The only way to enjoy the Christmas tree lighting ceremony in Thief River Falls last Sunday was to be dressed warmly as this youngster appears. The ceremony included performances by a brass group, the Swingsations, and reading by Terry Seine.

Proechel has resigned from Global Studies

Glen Proechel, recently appointed director of the Northwestern Minnesota Global Studies Institute in Red Lake Falls, has submitted his resignation as director and Russian language instructor to Supt. Russel Sethre of the Red Lake Falls school district.

Supt. Sethre said the resignation will be acted on by the board of education at its next meeting. School board chairman Dennis Haglund said that Russian language classes will be continued by another instructor without interruption and that Proechel's director duties will be divided among other school district administrative staff.

Haglund also assured parents and students that the global studies curriculum and residence program at the International Pavilion will not be affected by the resignation.

"Our priority now is focused on students and staff," Haglund said. "We are committed to the global studies program and to its growth and development for students in Red Lake Falls and across the world."

Thirty-five international students from more than a dozen countries and other foreign jurisdictions are involved in the program and live at the International Pavilion which serves as a residence hall and office area for the global studies program. They attend Lafayette high school where Russian, Japanese, French, German and Spanish are taught as languages.

Proechel was the second director of the Global Studies Institute. Last year the Red Lake Falls school board did not renew the contract of Robert Bester, principal at Lafayette high school and first director of the institute.

Business coalition fears budget crisis

Hodder carries message of concern to NW Minnesota

William Hodder, president of the Minnesota Business Partnership, was in Thief River Falls Monday to help create an increased awareness of the budget crisis facing the state of Minnesota in the next biennium and its relationship to the state's business, industry and the people they employ. A budget deficit of $1.3 billion is projected over the next three years.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"Minnesota state government is about to face another financial crisis and only by working together can we resolve this crisis and improve our economic competitiveness."

That was the message delivered by William Hodder, president of the Minnesota Business Partnership, a participant in the Coalition of Minnesota Businesses, Inc., at appearances in Thief River Falls Monday afternoon.

The coalition was founded by the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce, Minnesota Business Partnership, Greater Minneapolis chamber of commerce and St. Paul Area chamber of commerce and is a non-partisan group of business organizations including local chambers of commerce and trade associations.

Speaking at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club and an early afternoon meeting of area business people, Hodder emphasized that a possible budget shortfall of $1.3 billion for the next budget period is "an enormous problem which, if not handled correctly, can destroy our state's economic health."

Hodder was direct and to the point as he outlined the situation as he sees it. "We Minnesotans have much to be thankful for," he said. "By many standards, our state is on excellent place in which to work and live.

"By other standards, however," he warned, "Minnesota has serious problems. Increasingly, businesses do not create new jobs here. Often, they move current jobs outside of the state. A billion-dollar budget crisis hurts our competitive position, our ability to maintain and create jobs, and ultimately our quality of life."

Businesses today are extremely mobile, he pointed out, and have a wide range of choices about where to locate or expand. Inevitably, businesses make their choices based on competitiveness. Business owners ask where they can locate in order to have the highest return on their investment. They ask which states offer them the best advantages and which states hurt them the most through high costs.

Hodder said the $1.3 billion shortfall figure for the next biennium comes from the following:

- An existing $400 million shortfall (which was forecast last spring).
- A carry forward of the $291 million from the projected shortfall for this year; and
- An additional $600 million in lost revenue from the slower-than-expected economic recovery.

"If the legislature spends more money in 1992 for new or expanded programs, the $1.3 billion shortfall will rise by the cost of those additional programs," he said. "This enormous shortfall problem, if not handled correctly, will gravely impair our economic competitiveness.

"Many competitive factors, such as geographic location and climate, are beyond the control of a state," he added. "Factors which we can control, however, include state-imposed costs such as taxes and workers' compensation. Minnesota is not competitive on those costs."

Hodder showed a chart which showed Minnesota ranked first nationally in commercial property taxes, fourth in government spending, sixth in state income taxes, eighth in state and local taxes, 10th in corporate income tax and 13th in worker's compensation.

He also pointed out that a survey of 200 medium-sized Minnesota-based companies showed that of 18,000 jobs they created in 1990, only 2,000 were created in Minnesota and the rest elsewhere. Most common reason given by 39 per cent of the business owners was Minnesota's "bad business climate."

He also said that 966 Minnesota businesses failed in the first six months of 1991, an increase of 178 per cent from the same period in

SD board hears choir request to tour Europe

At its recent meeting the board of education for School District 564 heard a request for permission for the Lincoln high school choir to tour Europe in June of 1993, approved a three-year contract with the school district maintenance workers and made note of the annual public hearing on the levy to be held Monday, December 16.

Darcy Reese, director of the vocal music department at Lincoln, made the European tour presentation on behalf of a group of parents and students. She projected a trip of 10 to 14 days in June of 1993 and said expectations were the group would need to raise about double the amount raised in the past for previous choir performance trips. The board is expected to make a decision on the request at its December 16 meeting.

Maintenance worker contract approved by the board involves 16 people working in custodial and maintenance areas in the district's schools. It has a first year salary range from $7.10 per hour for new employees with no experience to a maximum of $10.29 per hour in 11 experience steps. For the third year of the contract the range is from $7.85 to $11.04. The contract expires June 30, 1993 and is retroactive to July 1, 1990. Persons classified as cleaners on the custodial staff are not covered by the contract.

Crookston, Red Lake Band discuss casino

Negotiations regarding the proposed casino in Thief River Falls are still underway, but just in case the proposal falls through, the Red Lake Band of Chippewa is looking at a proposed site in Crookston.

According to the city clerk's office, the Crookston city council adopted a resolution November 26 that would allow the city and the tribal government to enter into a compact for a casino in Crookston.

Allen Chesley, city clerk, said there was nothing in the resolution indicating that a site had been chosen. The resolution would only help speed negotiations between the tribe and the Crookston city council.

A small group of investors called Valley Investors, are interested in luring the tribe's casino operation to Crookston. According to the city's community development director Steve Mercil. According to Mercil a number of sites in the community of Crookston are under consideration as possible sites for the Casino including the Northland Lodge, and Anderson Fabrics.

Mercil said the tribe seems to be looking at Crookston only as a contingency to locating in Thief River Falls.

Since the band proposed a casino in the city of Thief River Falls, several communities have offered to work with the tribe in negotiations for a casino in their communities. Crookston is just one of the communities. Other communities that would be interested in luring the casino away from Thief River Falls include East Grand Forks, Roseau, Middle River, and Red Lake Falls.

Goodridge seniors note 10th anniversary

The Goodridge area senior citizen group will meet December 5 at 1:30 p.m. to commemorate the first meeting held in their new center ten years ago, on Dec. 3, 1981. Music at this meeting will be provided by Vernon Iverson and friends. Hilda Hoffman will reflect on the past ten years. Lunch will be served with ice cream and an anniversary cake.

The building was made possible through cash donations and cooperative efforts of many Goodridge area residents, the McKnight Foundation and a grant from the Northwest Area Agency on Aging. Foreman of the project was the late Oldrich Hoffman assisted by an all volunteer crew who donated a total of 3,867 hours for the center.

A wide variety of organizations use the center for their meetings such as 4-H clubs, AA groups and the city council, as well as receptions for individuals.

The senior citizens group meets every Thursday for an afternoon of cards, games, visiting and lunch. Special programs are planned for several holidays. Area musicians volunteer their time to provide entertainment.

At noon on Thursdays all seniors 55 year of age and older are eligible to eat at the cafe for a reduced price, made possible by the Goodridge Area Development Fund.

State/IRS agents to investigate cash transactions

Twenty-five federal and state tax agents are scheduled to visit more than 150 businesses statewide this week to see if large cash transactions are being properly reported to the Internal Revenue Service.

As part of their ongoing joint compliance efforts, agents from the IRS and the Minnesota department of Revenue will visit businesses in the Twin Cities, Duluth, Rochester, St. Cloud, Mankato, and other areas of the state to check compliance with a seven-year-old anti-money laundering statute. Under this federal law, a business that receives cash payments over $10,000 must promptly report them to the IRS on Form 8300. Car, truck and boat dealers, people in the real estate business, jewelers, and furriers will be among the businesses visited, the tax agencies say.

Last spring the IRS sent letters to 42,000 Minnesota businesses informing them of this reporting requirement. Though compliance remains low, the number of forms filed by Minnesota businesses has risen to 223 thus far in 1991 compared to 110 for all of 1990. IRS officials believe annual filings should be in the thousands based on known and suspected levels of money laundering in the state.

People with questions can call the IRS at 644-7515 in the Twin Cities area or toll-free 1-800-829-1040 in Greater Minnesota. Form 8300 can be ordered without charge along with Publication 1544, Reporting Cash Payments of Over $10,000. IRS speakers are also available to address groups interested in this topic.

THE TIMES' WEDDING POLICY

The Times' policy on wedding write-ups is as follows:

◆ If the wedding took place within one month from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture if submitted.

◆ If the wedding took place from one to three months before receipt at The Times office, there will be brief write up, including names of participants but no description of decor, gowns, flowers, etc.

◆ For a wedding that took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of the wedding, and where the couple is residing.

◆ There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

◆ Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write-up within two issues of receipt.

◆ Forms are available free of charge at The Times office to help in organizing information about the wedding for publication. Nearly all information can be filled in on the forms prior to the wedding. To request forms by mail, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to The Times, P.O. Box 100, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

◆ Photographs may be picked up at The Times office after the wedding write-up has been published. Photographs will only be returned by mail if accompanied by a self addressed stamped envelope.

Impressions . . .

It has been most difficult writing this column this past month. Every time it was that time for me to once again sit down at my word processor and type my columm, I first had to find my word processor.

Now, you may think "how can she lose a word processor?" Well, it's easy if you also move from one house to another.

This past month our family moved. If you have never tried moving, I don't recommend it unless you are willing to put up with losing, at least for a while, everything you own!!!

Amid the boxes and boxes and boxes of possessions are the things that you may need. The first time you need that mixing bowl (or word processor) you may easily find it in the box it is supposed to be in. But, it's after you removed an item, you remember that you have shifted cupboards to make something else fit, but you no longer know in which cupboard you placed the now lost item.

Finding a lost item can give you a feeling of great success. You don't know how much you actually need or use any of your possessions until they are lost and hopefully found. A lost item in our house has been the tie rack on which my husband hangs his ties. Yes, we know we took it down and placed it in safe keeping in just the right place to keep a tie rack. But, needless to say, we just didn't remember where that special place was. So, what a surprise we had when at the bottom of the bag in which we had placed his neckties we found the tie rack. It was logically packed, but impossible to find. Before we lose it again maybe we had better nail it to the wall where it belongs.

Packing is an integral part of moving. When you move across the country you pack in an entirely different way than if you move across town. When you move across the country you have to pack in boxes that will be able to be sealed. If you label these boxes with the contents of the box and into which room of the new home you want the boxes placed, you are well on the way to winning the losing game.

Packing for an across town move is another story. Any box or bag will do. Any drawer will do. Boxes do not have to be sealed, and so you don't need to label them. It's still helpful to label the boxes with the destination room in mind, but as you can see into the box, even this is not necessarily necessary. Unlabeled boxes, placed anywhere in the new house, are a sure sign that you will lose the items for which you are searching!

As this move we made was across town, I packed using the across town method of packing. The first column I wrote from this new home, I miraculously found the word processor and my desk. We replaced the legs on the desk and placed the word processor on it, but then we had to find an electrical outlet. Well, after removing some boxes from along the wall, lo and behold, a plug in was found and a column was typed.

The column you are now reading was typed from the same word processor, now hopefully permanently placed on its desk in the corner of our den, conveniently placed next to a plug-in.

Beside me I hear the snoring of my faithful writing companion, my dog CoCo. So, the lost has been found, and a feeling of security and peace is settling in for even the canine member of our family.

Moving is not easy. Besides losing one's possessions for a while, you also lose the feeling of contentment that comes from a house and surroundings with which you are familiar. Just yesterday I reached into the cupboard for my mixing bowl only to realize that it's not in that cupboard in this house, but it used to be in that location in my former home.

Moving disrupts the order we need to thrive. But, moving also causes us to strive to recreate that order with better ideas.

Moving stretches us to our limits at times, but in the end, after the dust has finally been dusted from our furniture for the first time in our new home, we can be once again content. I hope that time is quickly upon our family.

public hearing the budget will be reviewed, levy information presented and questions answered. The hearing will follow the regular board meeting which is scheduled for 5 p.m.

Recognition was given to a number of people by the board. Included were Bonny Stechmann, technical college student, recognized for receiving the 1991 outstanding student award from the Minnesota State Council on Vocational Technical Education; Angie Goulet, Lincoln's representative to the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar; Matt Kaushagen and John Wallberg, Class A Academic All-State football team; Elk's club for donation of $656 to the Lincoln drug awareness program and Domino's Pizza for $162 to Project Charlie.

Also recognized were recent Area Learning Center graduates Juy Bechard and Bob Bechard, Goodridge; Tony Beadle, Tony Henderickson and Leah Shaw, Warroad; Lyla Salmon, St. Hilaire; Karen Thompson and Todd Muller, Thief River Falls.

Ed Leeper presented his concerns about not allowing certain types of music to be played in the elementary schools and those concerns also will be discussed at the December 16 meeting. The music which an elementary teacher did not permit a student to play was a tape recording of rock music by a performer who had other recordings with lyrics which many consider to be offensive.

Reports were given by board members and administrative staff on a number of meetings and school district activity in progress.

James Smillie, 81

Thief River Falls — James R. Smillie, 81, died November 25 at the CNC unit of Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held November 29 at Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. Ron Calvert officiating. Special music was provided by LeRoy Aasland, soloist, and Dorothy Larson, organist. Honorary casketbearers were John Anderson, James Carlson, Lee Erickson, Harry Kling and Erling Olson. Active casketbearers were Bob Reeve, Clair Larson, Ormond Johnson, Vernon Lee, Mayer Holen and John Kotaska. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery with military honors accorded by the Thief River Falls VFW and American Legion posts. The Green Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

James Richard Smillie was born July 25, 1910 in Johnson county, KS, the son of Leland and Rebecca (Branch) Smillie. He moved with his parents to Grafton, ND, where he attended school and attended from high school in 1928. In 1933 he graduated from NDAC in Fargo, ND. He worked as a pharmacist in Rolla, ND and Lakota, ND until 1935 when he began working for Fargo Drug. He served as a pharmacist is the U.S. Army, Pacific Theatre of War, from Feb. 19, 1943 until his discharge on Nov. 1, 1945. In 1956 he moved from Fargo to Thief River Falls where he managed the J & B Drug store for 18 years, retiring in 1974. On June 20, 1936 he was united in marriage to Edna May Johnson at Moorhead. He was a life member and past commander of the American Legion, a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a member of Northern Lodge 236 and was past high priest Northern chapter and a member of the Constantine Commandrey and Kem Temple of Shrine.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Kay Smillie of Fergus Falls; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Ray.

Signe Svean, 97

Thief River Falls — Signe Svean, 97, died November 29 at the CNC unit of Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services will be held December 4 at 10:30 a.m. in the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Curtis Anderson officiating. Special music will be provided by Lowell Hogberg, soloist, and Carolyn Trontvet, organist. Casketbearers will be Clifford Eggen, Mike Holen, Lowell Hogberg, Dan Lykken, Marvin Roghold and Vernon Wikstrom. Interment will be in the Wanger Baptist cemetery, Wanger township, Marshall county. The Green Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Signe Mathilda Swanson was born Mar. 7, 1894 near Argyle, the daughter of Andrew and Anna (Holmstrom) Swanson. She was baptized in the Christian faith, attended rural elementary schools near Warren and grew up in Wanger township. On June 24, 1920 she was united in marriage to Carl Svean at Argyle. The couple lived for a short time in Marshall county before moving to Virginia in 1921. They returned to Marshall county in 1935 where they farmed until moving to Thief River Falls in 1953. Her husband died on Oct. 3, 1989. She had been a resident of the CNC unit of Northwest Medical center since 1987.

She is survived by one daughter, Delia Morgan of Grand Forks, ND; three sons: Floyd Svean of Forest Lake, Myron Svean of Thief River Falls and James Svean of Minneapolis; nine grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; and one brother, Edwin Swanson of Bemidji.

She was preceded in death by her husband; one infant son, William; her parents; one brother, Walfred; and three sister, Hilda, Selma and Edna.

Dear Readers,
To minimize anxiety and financial problems for our survivors, we should take steps to draw up a will - secure adequate life insurance - list the location of all assets and important documents - and perhaps preplan some funeral and burial arrangements.
Respectively,
Belmont Funeral Home

State urged to settle Workers' Comp issue

Let's settle the Workers' Comp issue in 1992
by Russ Schwaadt
MN Agri-Growth Council

This has been an ongoing struggle which should have been resolved years ago. It is truly unfortunate that blatant political maneuvering has continued to stop needed reforms at the expense of business, labor an the public.

Perpich should hang his head in shame for his repeated vetoes of good remedial legislation.

I can sympathize with many of our good legislators over the extreme frustration they must feel over the failure to see a good reform measure adopted and signed by the Governor. The last session, thanks to the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce, saw this issue dissolve into a political shambles. Through it all the Minnesota Agri-Growth Council has been consistent and at the last annual meeting adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, the Minnesota Agri-Growth Council, Inc. is committed to improving the overall competitiveness of Minnesota companies; and,

Whereas, workers' compensation costs in Minnesota place Minnesota employers at a significant competitive disadvantage, on a regional and national basis; and,

Whereas, tangible results are essential to encourage greater economic growth at the earliest possible time, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Minnesota Agri Growth Council, Inc urges the Minnesota Legislature to adopt reasonable reform measures calculated to improve Minnesota's competitive position with respect to workers' compensation costs.

We have lost and continue to lose businesses to our surrounding states. It is utterly ridiculous to watch company after company move to Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas due to rates that are one-half those in Minnesota. If you would like some dollar illustrations to support this, contact Tom Cochrane, executive director, Minnesota Agri-Growth Council, 8030 Cedar Avenue South, Suite 231, Bloomington, MN 55425, (612) 854-1665.

It is time to talk to our legislators and ask them to help resolve this situation now. It is time for all our citizens to become vocal.

No Bill To The Twins For Winning

"Here's a story that hasn't been too widely known but one that came to mind as we watched the public celebration of the Minnesota Twins' World Series victory," write Wy Spano and D. J. Leary in a recent issue of "Politics in Minnesota," a newsletter published in St. Paul.

"Back in 1987, when the Twins first captured the magic, the public salute to the hometown heroes was topped off with a wild parade through downtown Minneapolis, over to St. Paul and through that downtown. That '87 celebration culminated with a big event on the front steps of the State Capitol in response to an invitation from then-Governor Rudy Perpich.

"All of this is, of course, part of the public record. What isn't known is that following the celebration by an estimated 500,000 people, the State of Minnesota sent a bill for just under $20,000 to the Minnesota Twins. What we've heard is that the bill was to pay for the wear and tear that such a huge number of people had visited on the lawn and shrubs surrounding the State Capitol.

"After it was pointed out that it was somewhat inappropriate to invite people to the Capitol and then turn around and bill the 'honored guests' for minor damages done to the property, the billing was quietly pulled back, kept secret and taken care of out of normal state operational budgets."

The final decision was a wise move. In the first place we can't believe a crowd of people in the late fall could cause that amount of damage. In the second place there was an invitation to the public to participate (so the politicians could cash in on the public enthusiasm). And in the third place, there were enough Minnesotans enthused about the World Series championship to make a state expenditure of that amount justifiable.

And in the furor of the 1991 world championship the taxpayers would have given their blessing to the happening and its attendant costs all over again. Winning has a way of making payment worthwhile.

Travel Safely This Holiday Season

Guest Editorial by Tom Frost, Commissioner
Minnesota Department of Public Safety

As everyone's thoughts turn to the holiday season, keeping this time of year safe and happy is a primary concern for you and the members of your family. With the amount of travel and celebrating often involved, extra care should be taken when getting to and from your celebrations.

Unfortunately, last year over Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's holidays, 18 people were killed on Minnesota's roads. Nearly 1,300 were injured. These shocking figures are even more tragic when you realize almost half of these crashes involved alcohol and could have been prevented. It's also likely that many of these injuries and deaths would not have occurred if people had been wearing their seat belts.

How serious are these problems? In 1990, at least 73 per cent of all those who died in alcohol-related crashes had been drinking. And almost one-third of all people killed or injured in motor vehicles in 1990 were not wearing seat belts at the time of the crash. An extremely sad fact is that this number increases even more for young children ages one to three; we observed in studies last year that more than 44 per cent of these children were not in child safety seats to protect them from injury.

Statistics like these are frightening at any time. But at this time of year, when celebrating with family and friends is important and part of so many people's lives, the numbers are particularly disturbing.

As you reflect on your wishes and hopes for your loved ones during these holidays, give a gift that will last forever—safe travel. Make certain that all young children are properly fastened in their car seats. Buckle every passenger into their seat belts and buckle up yourself every time you drive.

If your holidays involve drinking, please make sure you don't drive and don't let friends or family members get behind the wheel if they've been drinking.

Holidays ought to be a time of celebration remembered with happiness. So please, buckle up and don't drink and drive.

The Whole Truth.... And Some Of The Truth

First, the whole truth:

Retail clerks likely may empathize with the woman who was asked by her friend why she was no longer working at a dress shop. The former clerk said she had lost her job and then explained:

"One day we were really busy and this pushy woman came into the store. She had a really high opinion of herself and took almost two hours of my time trying on about 25 dresses, all of which— according to her—had something wrong with them. Then she asked me, "Don't you think I would look nicer in something flowing?" And I couldn't help but suggest the Mississippi river."

Next, some of the truth:

The middle-aged man went to the clinic for a physical examination and was told frankly by the examining physician, "You're fat and flabby and you have no muscle tone. You should change your eating habits and start getting some vigorous exercise. For a man of your age, sir, I'm amazed at the condition you are in."

"What did the doctor tell you?" his wife asked upon his return home.

"Well," the man replied, switching on the TV set, "he told me that for a man of my age he was amazed at the condition I was in."

Enough said.

The Rutherford Report

Wanted: Leaders Who Lead

The ability to diagnose a problem, propose a solution, create a plan, obtain public support and then implement the plan by inspiring others to be part of it is a definition of community leadership.

Apparently, however, there must be a great deal of confusion as to who a leader actually is. For example recent polls show that the public believes that elected "leaders" have failed miserably on domestic problems. Leaders spend millions on studies and numerous hours in committees, but seem unable to effectively diagnose, propose solutions, and create plans or implement plans that others are inspired to follow. Yet, the public sends these "leaders who don't lead" back to Washington year after year.

Has the public given up on finding effective leadership and settled for a new definition of what leadership is? Perhaps today a leader is one who best promises performance, but never intends to take the action required to solve problems.

If so, leadership in the public mind has degenerated into the art of habitual delay, like a person who condemns an overweight condition but delays going on a diet until "tomorrow."

Now, just between friends I have to say that one of rural America's biggest needs is also leaders who actually lead. Current media reports indicate that three out of four small towns are currently in decline. Communities across America desperately need leaders who not only verbally handle solutions, but implement plans arriving at these solutions. We need no more studies, it is now time for action. Someone in every small town has to be decisive on that local level and must inspire the community.

If you are fortunate enough to have such leadership, be "actively thankful:" get behind them and encourage them onward. On the other hand, I've met with leadership in many small towns who generally identify the loss of young people as their most disturbing problem. When I ask how long this problem has existed, they generally say 20 to 40 years. I then ask for a copy of their plan to solve this problem. Does it astonish you to know that I have yet to get a plan of any kind?

I do believe there is a real concern over losing youth, but I do not understand leaders who have neither prepared nor implemented a plan to solve the problem. As tough as the medicine may be to take, I have to tell you that our leadership problems are not in Washington alone.

Most communities have informal leaders, the "sparkplugs" of the community. Whenever a fund-raising project is undertaken these people will rise to the occasion to see the project through to a successful completion. They can be counted on to get the job done. Such a person may be just the candidate to lead a community development effort.

On the other hand, community projects are usually well-defined, take less than a year to execute, and result from needs that are clearly seen. But real economic development is long-term, far more difficult and larger, and while absolutely urgent, is seen as less important since it results from slow-moving erosion.

Thus, volunteer community leaders, even thought "sparkplugs" may not be prepared to mobilize the community to handle the very complex, time-consuming job of economic development. And it may be the same reasons that prevent well-meaning leaders from developing and implementing a plan for retaining and/or returning youth to your community.

What is the answer? Volunteer leaders who can raise funds simply have to form a pool of funds for hiring a effective, full-time development director. Neighboring communities might pool funds and share a development director. The point is, one element of good leadership is to know your limitations how to get help when you need it. It is a simple fact, that real economic development is a full-time job. And while I take my hat off to the effective volunteer leaders, most communities need the help of a full-time development director.

Erwin and Adeline Prevost of Oklee, and Rose Aaknes visited their sister, Lillian Tanem at the hospital at Bagley on Sunday afternoon. Enroute home they were coffee guests at the Wayne Bakke home at Gonvick.

A large crowd attended the VFW Auxiliary supper at the VFW hall on Saturday night. Winners of the door prizes were Gilbert Nilson and Janet Halvorson. The lucky winner of the 40# of beef went to Miles Flateland, and 40# of pork went to Mrs. Enock Samson.

Al and Vi Radniecki and Erwin and Adeline Prevost, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Anderson and Eugene and Eva Asselin all of Oklee, attended the VFW Auxiliary supper at Trail on Saturday evening, November 16.

On Friday forenoon November 22, Erwin and Adeline Prevost of Oklee, went to see their sister, Lillian Tanem at the Bagley hospital. On the way Erwin Prevost had a heart attack. He was taken to the home of Wayne Bakke at Gonvick. The fire department and the ambulance was called, he passed away at the Clearwater Clinic, at the age of 66 years. Rose Aaknes stayed with her sister, Adeline in Oklee until Monday forenoon. Our sympathy goes out to Adeline Prevost.

Friday evening visitors with Adeline Prevost at Oklee, were Rose Aaknes, Wade and Roxy Bakke and Samantha, Scott and Leeann Bakke, Megan and Brennen all of Gonvick, Merle Hruby and Rosetta Hruby and Alex of Oklee, Doris Boucher, Vi and Al Radniecki all of Oklee.

Those that attended the funeral of Erwin Prevost at the St. Francis Xavier church at Oklee on Tuesday forenoon were Gail Bergland and John Eisbrener of Thief River Falls, Frederick Eisbrener of St. Paul, Doris Eisbrener of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tanem of Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Tanem of Oak Creek, WI, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Verbout of Fargo, ND, Frances Sunsdahl of Tower, Arvin and Penny Sunsdahl of Sudan, Judy Sunsdahl of Sudan, Dean Radniecki and son, and other friends and relatives from Oklee, Gonvick, Trail and Bemidji.

Thanksgiving dinner guests at the home of Wayne and Kathy Bakke at Gonvick were Rose Aaknes, Scott and Leeann and children and Kurt Bakke and Alice Aos of Gonvick. In the evening Wayne and Kathy Bakke of Gonvick and Rose Aaknes visited with Adeline Prevost and Lillian Tanem and Lloyd Tanem of Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Tanem of Oak Creek, WI, and Adeline Prevost of Oklee, went to Bagley hospital to pick up Darwin's mother, Lillian Tanem, who had surgery on her knee. Lillian will be staying at the home of Adeline Prevost for a few weeks.

Mavis Christopherson and Berthe Woods enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner at the Ginell's Cafe at Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Tanem of Oak Creek, WI, visited with Rose Aaknes on Wednesday afternoon. They came to pick up their flat bread. They also took some boxes for Rose Aaknes' daughter, Paulette. Thanks Darwin and Pauline.

Bertha Woods made a business trip to Fosston on Friday afternoon.

IT'S TIME TO ADOPT THE TRUE SPIRIT OF THE HOLIDAYS

Holiday time is again upon us, as the culmination of a year that was marred by war and in many cases, financial hardship caused by the recession. Nonetheless, regardless of our situation or our faith, it's time to put those distressing things behind us and renew the true spirit of the season: getting in touch with friends and loved ones, mending quarrels, and being kinder and more patient even with strangers. Whether you decorate your home with Christmas lights or Chanukah candles, it will seem a lot brighter if you are at peace with the world and with yourself. As busy as you are at this time, take the time to attend your House of Worship for a refresher course in the true meaning of the holiday spirit. It's love and tolerance, for now and all the other times of the year.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy.

Even in the bitter cold, a brass group performed Christmas melodies during the Christmas tree lighting ceremony held at Elks park in Thief River Falls Sunday. About half way through the second tune, valves and slides began and freeze shut. The eight below 0 degrees Fahrenheit temperatures didn't stop about 50 people from enjoying the festivities, which included a brass group performance and a performance of the Swingsations.

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

More Than 2,000 Attended Times Cooking School

"With attendances averaging from 700 to 800 at each of the three sessions, the cooking school conducted Monday and Tuesday in the auditorium under the sponsorship of the Thief River Falls Times attracted total of more than 2,000 women in addition to a sprinkling of men. Contributing to the interest taken in the event was the award of a large collection of valuable merchandise prizes, supplied through the generosity of cooperating business places of the city."

Santa Claus To Make Pre-Holiday Visit Here

"News of special interest to children of the Thief River Falls community arrived this week from santa Claus' headquarters at the North Pole in the announcement that 'Jolly Old Saint Nick will pay his annual pre-holiday visit to his little friends here Saturday afternoon, December 13. Ole Ekeren, chairman of a special reception committee, stated that Santa will bring with him a load of remembrances which will be distributed to his little friends at the auditorium following his arrival."

Speaking Of . . .

by Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Don't Give me the Christmas Crabbies

Just like the flu, the Christmas crabbies are going around. Better watch out or you'll catch them.

I don't get a bad case of Christmas crabbies. I usually just get a little touch of it now and then. I got a twinge of Christmas crabbies last weekend when I was doing my post-Thanksgiving shopping. Actually, I caught it from some other shoppers. Let me explain...

My daughter and I got up very early on Friday. We were going to go shopping the day-after-Thanksgiving sales, yes we were. Despite the early hour, we were in good spirits, humming little Christmas ditties, writing lists, checking our check books, putting on our running shoes.

We arrived at the store filled with that old Christmas spirit, smiling and happy. We shopped. Oh yes we did! We shopped and stored packages in the car, shopped and stored packages in the car, shopped and stored packages in the car.

To be fair, I must say that many people out shopping that day did not have the Christmas crabbies. They were the ones who smiled at you as you passed in the crowded aisles when your shopping carts locked wheels and you could not get them undone.

These Christmas spirited people kept right on smiling when shelves filled with Christmas decorations fell on their heads when they reached for something; kept on smiling when the people with crabbies ran into their heels with shopping carts and scowled at them; kept on smiling when they couldn't find what they were looking for and there was nary a sign of a salesperson to help them; kept on smiling when they came to the end of a checkout line that wound its way through half of the store; kept on smiling when the salesperson crammed all of their purchases into a bag that was much too tiny and beginning to split up the side before they walked out of the door with it.

These happy people were wonderful to be around. I wish I had become infected with their Christmas spirits instead of catching the Christmas crabbies.

But some of the people in the crowded stores had the Christmas crabbies. You could see that they had them by the look on their faces.

Their faces were sour, dour and sullen. They scowled as they pushed their carts into your heels, and scowled at you when you turned around to see what happened. They scowled as they waited in the checkout line.

I probably wouldn't have caught the Christmas crabbies if I hadn't tried to be nice. You see, I was waiting while my daughter went through the checkout line. This, in itself, involved at least one-half hour of time. Anyway, I was waiting in the lobby of the store, so I thought I would hold the door open for people who came through. Yes I did.

So...each time some person came toward the door with their arms filled with packages, I opened the door for them. I even smiled. As person after person, male and female alike, filed through that door, I became more and more infected with the Christmas crabbies. The reason I caught it was because, you see, only one person bothered to say, "Thank you."

Can you imagine, adult people, barging through a door held by a smiling, friendly person (who was rapidly becoming less and less of a smiling and friendly person), using no manners whatsoever! Any Christmas spirits I started out with that day began to disappear. By the time my daughter came through the door, I had a raging case of the Christmas crabbies.

Thankfully, I recovered from my crabbies rapidly, so I didn't infect the rest of my family with it. That might have been catastrophic! They would have gone out to infect whole legions of people with the Christmas crabbies, I know.

Nonetheless, I plan on staying as far away from people who have the Christmas crabbies as I possibly can. I certainly don't want to catch it again. If you have the Christmas crabbies, keep it to yourself and stay away from me. In fact, the best thing you can do if you have the Christmas crabbies is go to bed and stay there. While you're there, read How the Grinch Stole Christmas or Scrooge, too.

Wellstone bill aims to triple renewable energy

Senator Paul Wellstone today introduced his alternative national energy bill aimed at tripling our renewable energy sources and decreasing our energy use by 10 percent over the next 20 years.

Called the Sustainable Energy Transition Act of 1991, the bill (S. 2020) is intended to wean the country from our dependency on imported oil.

"People are concerned about threats to the environment, dependency on foreign oil and declining economic prosperity," Wellstone said. "These problems are tied to our wasteful energy habits. People want us to begin a transition to sustainable energy technologies by maximizing energy efficiency and expanding renewable production."

Wellstone and several other Senators earlier this month were successful in their efforts to stop Senate consideration of the Johnston-Wallop National Energy Bill. That bill would have allowed drilling for oil in the Alaskan wilderness and placed continued emphasis on oil, gas and nuclear energy. Wellstone and other critics noted that the bill did not emphasize conservation or use of alternative fuels such as ethanol, solar and wind.

Wellstone's bill represents a unique approach to development of a national energy policy. It is based on a grass-roots effort to get the best ideas from around the country, and it is designed to funnel billions of dollars back to states and local governments to carry out innovative energy projects.

The backbone of the bill is the creation of a multi-million dollar Sustainable Energy Transition Trust Fund. The fund would finance state and local energy efforts beginning with assessments of the energy use of a state or region and plans for achieving efficiency improvements and renewable production.

The fund would be financed through repeal of the passive loss exemption to the alternative minimum tax; phase out of the depletion allowance for oil, gas and coal and a carbon tax on fuel production that would be the equivalent of about 1/2 cent per gallon of gasoline.

The tax changes and the carbon tax would generate an estimated $6 billion a year. In Minnesota, that would mean at least $54 million in 1995 and every year thereafter. In California, at least $224 million would be available by 1995.

Wellstone said his bill has won the support of grass-roots groups around the country.

"Senator Wellstone's bill closely parallels the mission of the Sun Day 1992 program, which is a grass-roots organizing and educational program with 300 groups nationwide to promote renewables and energy efficiency on a local and state level," said Ken Bossong, coordinator for Public Citizen of the Sun Day 1992 program.

"We have long argued that relying on state and local initiatives is an appropriate way to develop a sustainable national energy policy," Bossong added. "Sen. Wellstone's bill is now the best vehicle in Congress to achieve that goal."

Wellstone said he expects his bill will be an important part of the debate when the Senate takes up energy legislation again next year.

SDA church presents musical "Star Quest"

by Marilyne Sayler

An evening of Christmas music will be held at the Thief River Falls Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1024 South Tindolph, on Saturday, December 7, and Sunday, December 8, at 7 p.m. both nights. The program will be divided into two parts, the first half consisting of congregational singing and a variety of Christmas music by area musicians. The second half will be the performance of "Star Quest", a musical presentation by choir, orchestra and actors.

Included in the first half of the program will be musical selections by a handbell choir. The handbell ringers under the direction of Mrs. Marion Madden are Penny Nordvick, Billy Simpson, Corrie Zimmerman, Cody Gillund, Luke Nordvick, Jesse Hanson, Amy Pervis and Crystal Zimmerman. They will perform the following numbers: "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", "Silent Night", and "Go Tell it on the Mountain".

Joining the handbell choir for "Carol of the Bells" will be a student orchestra, under the direction of Kari Lindemoen. Orchestra members are Joshua Efta, Ingrid Dyrud, Dr. Jim Grindley, Benji Sayler, Kali Chaplinski, T.J. Super, Lisa Reierson, Michelle Peterick and Danny Sayler, all on violin. The student orchestra will also join a children's choir in performing the song "C-H-R-I-S-T-M-A-S".

The children's choir, under the direction of Mrs. Marion Madden, includes Cody Gillund, Billy Simpson, Penny Nordvick, Alex Efta, Scott Simpson, Luke Nordvick, Nathan Rittenour, Tasha Efta, James Pervis, Steven Umber, Tammy Rittenour, Cody Frame, and Jenny Novellino.

A student choir, under the direction of Mrs. Marion Madden will sing "Long, Long Ago", "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Angel Lullaby". Student choir members include Billy Simpson, Cody Gillund, Luke Nordvick, Corrie Zimmerman, Jesse Hanson, Benji Sayler, Nathan Rittenour, Penny Nordvick and Scott Simpson. Accompanist is Mrs. Ida Nordvall.

The second half of the program will be a musical presentation for Christmas entitled "Star Quest". Program planners have taken "Star Quest", originally arranged by Dick Bolks and Paul Miller for choir and reader's theatre, and adapted it to a touching production for choir, orchestra and actors.

"Appealing to the sense of sight as well as hearing has been a challenge for us in this presentation," said director Dr. Ben Sayler. "The audio part of Star Quest alone is very moving. But we are very pleased with the added impact that the actors and audiovisual effects have."

The main character in Star Quests is a wise man (Dr. Leo Herber) who searches for a Baby whom he believes is born to be a King. During his quest, the wise man is frequently side-tracked as he responds to the needs of others whom he encounters along the way. Thirty-three years after beginning his search, the now-aged wise man still looks for the King. He senses that his days are numbered. Will he find the King before he dies? The unexpected answer is not one for the wise man alone. It is a message of hope and conviction for every listener in every age.

Choir singers include: Jane Olson, Corie Erickson, Diane Meekma, Jan Zimmerman, Solveig Swenson, Lisa Pervis, Debbie Meekma, Jolayne Simpson, Sandi Kendall, Jodi Meekma, Marion Madden, Penny Nordvick, Amy Pervis, Crystal Zimmerman, Gloria Umber, Diana Simpson, Sarah Erickson, Grace Juhl, Marilyne Sayler, Dr. Jim Grindley, Peter Novellino, Dr. Tim Rittenour, Aaron Pervis, Bill Simpson Jr., Norman Zimmerman, John Umber, Carrie Zimmerman, Chuck Simpson. Soloists include: Dr. Jim Grindley, Jan Zimmerman, Peter Novellino, Heidi Hoks and Jane Olson. Orchestra members include: Kari Lindemoen, concert mistress; Jim Solsten, Bonnie Swantek, Melanie Krepp (violin); Connie Haus and Dawn Klopp (cello); Tom Swantek (bass); Marie Hvidsten and Christie Halsa (flute); Mrs. Ida Nordvall (piano). The director will be Dr. Ben Sayler.

Actors include the following; Larry Juhl and Kee Teeters Asp as newspaper reporters; Jim Hoks, Eugene Meyers, George Daily and Dr. Leo Herber as the Magi; Chip Meekma, Stephanie Dagen and Lorie Erickson as Joseph, Mary and Baby Jesus; Heidi Hoks as a peasant mother; Dave Foremen, Leonard Rondorf, Glenn Meekma and Eddie Heinricks as Roman Soldiers; George Herber as an injured man; Holly Nordvick as a slave girl; Sylvia Rondorf as an onlooker; Joe Forberg, post commander and members of Post 117 of the American Legion Color Guard including Orville Ellingson, Floyd Johnson, Ned Blodgett and Clair Larson as present-day soldiers, and Rodney Glass as the voice of God.

Program coordinators are Mrs. Helen Juhl and Mrs. Joyce Meekma. Rodney Glass will run the sound system and special sound effects. Costume designers is Barbara Holt and Helen Juhl; decorations by Sylvia Grindley, Pat Wangsnes, Helen Juhl and Deb Meekma.

Following the program, refreshments will be served. The community is invited to attend.

Dr. Leo Harber, in the role of the wise man in Seventh-day Adventist's production of "Star Quest" provides assistance to George Herber who plays the role of an injured man. The musical presentation will be performed 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, December 7-8, at the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Three wise men (Jim Hoks, Eugene Meyer and George Dailey) discuss the correlation between a bright star which they see in the eastern sky and the prophecies foretelling the birth of a King. The three wise men are performers in the Seventh-day Adventist production of "Star Quest" which will be held 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, December 7-8, at the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Heidi Hoks, in the role of a peasant mother, receives the attention of Dr. Leo Herber, who is cast in the role of the wise man in Seventh-day Adventist's production of "Star Quest". Little does the wise man realize that this casual conversation will bring him face-to-face with Herod's soldiers who are also looking for the baby. The musical production will be performed 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, December 7-8, at the Seventh-day Adventist church in Thief River Falls.

Students in Lynn Dyer's class at Lincoln high school participated in a ride-along program with the Thief River Falls police department recently as a class project. Police Chief Ken Froschheiser (right) and Juvenile Officer Jim Haugen visited with members of the class to review their experiences and answer questions following the program. Chief Froschheiser also met with the class prior to the ride-along program to stress the importance of confidentiality, make the students aware of possible danger and arrange the schedule. The students concluded their evening rides at 10 p.m.

Promoted to Trooper I recently at the Minnesota State Patrol office in Thief River Falls were Brett C. Kent (left) and David R. Spray (center), both of whom have served all of their first five years of employment with the state patrol out of the Thief River Falls office. Kent and his wife Brenda live at St. Hilaire with their three-year-old daughter Danielle and nine-month-old son Ryan. Spray lives at rural Thief River Falls with his wife Lori and their one-year-old son Nicholas. To qualify for promotion to Trooper I, patrolmen must have a minimum of five years of service and pass a job-based test and evaluation, according to Capt. Lynn Daniels (right) of the Thief River Falls station.

Agreement on Northwest Airlines deal spelled out by Gov. Carlson

Governor Arne Carlson, Congressman James Oberstar and Northwest Airlines President and CEO John H. Dasburg have announced an agreement to finance construction of two Northwest Maintenance facilities in northern Minnesota. The facilities, in Duluth and Hibbing, will begin operation in 1993 and eventually employ approximately 2,000 workers.

The agreement provides the full amount of financing approved by the Minnesota legislature earlier this year. The $740 million financial package includes $350 million to be used to finance construction of the facilities and a net $320 million to be loaned to Northwest Airlines for other uses. The remaining funds in the package will be used as financial reserves to guarantee bond payments.

"This is a good, sound agreement for both Minnesota and Northwest Airlines," said Governor Carlson. "It means thousands of high paying jobs and billions of dollars in economic activity not only for northern Minnesota but for the entire state. What could be a better way to attack recession?

"Our state negotiators have put in many hours to secure these jobs and to make sure the state's investment is fully protected. It truly is a 'win-win' package for all parties," Carlson said.

"A month ago, this project was in grave jeopardy," said Oberstar. "Governor Carlson and I urged everyone involved to carefully re-examine all options and find a way to make this work. Representatives of all parties — especially the state, the Metropolitan Airports Commission, the Iron Range Resource and Rehabilitation Board and Northwest, rolled up their sleeves, got back to work and found a way to do it — and the people of Minnesota are going to be the winners," Oberstar said.

"The future of Northwest Airlines is critically important not only to Minnesota, but also to our national air transportation system," said Congressman Oberstar, who is chairman of the House Subcommittee on Aviation. "This agreement is a very positive step toward assuring that future, and I fully support it."

"Northwest Airlines has always been proud to call Minnesota home and this is an exciting new chapter in our partnership with the state," Dasburg said. "The 45,000 people of Northwest — including 18,000 here in Minnesota — are the best in our industry. There can be no better place for us to grow our business in the years ahead, and we look forward to adding these thousands of new jobs to the Minnesota work force."

Carlson said that the agreement now will be presented to the MAC, the IRRRB and the legislative Commission on Planning and Fiscal Policy for ratification during the next 10 days.

"All of the public bodies that will participate in this package have been closely involved throughout the negotiating process and we are confident that they will not hesitate to approve the agreement as written, which is what we now must do," Carlson said.

The agreement provides that the $350 million in state revenue bonds issued to finance construction will be repaid entirely through Northwest's lease payments on the new facilities, as supplemented by a $47.6 million subsidy from the city of Duluth and a $10 million grant from the IRRRB. Approximately $200 million of the bonds will be guaranteed by the state and St. Louis County. The remaining $100 million will be guaranteed by Northwest.

The second part of the financing package will include $270 million in general obligation bonds issued by the MAC, with the proceeds loaned to Northwest; up to $79 million in revenue bonds issued by MAC, with $50 million of the proceeds loaned to Northwest and the remainder held in reserve to guarantee bond repayment; a $35 million to $45 million loan from the MAC construction account for the bond reserve fund; and a $15 million bond reserve guarantee by the IRRRB and the city of Duluth.

Carlson, Oberstar and Dasburg noted that the due diligence review of this transaction, including exhaustive independent financial analysis of Northwest, concluded that the airline will be able to meet its obligations under the agreement.

"I can't think of another company that has undergone this level of intense public scrutiny of its financial condition. We're pleased but not surprised that we passed the test," Dasburg said.

In return for the financial package, Northwest agreed to build and operate the facilities in Northern Minnesota and made additional commitments to the state, including:

- To guarantee employment of a minimum of 1,500 workers at the new facilities. Northwest also pledged to maintain total Minnesota employment at no less than current levels and to maintain its operations and headquarters in the Twin Cities.
- To secure the financing with assets valued at a minimum of 125 per cent (145 per cent for the MAC loans) of the outstanding balance. The collateral package will include the new facilities themselves, international route authorities, parts inventories and other Northwest facilities, including the NATCO training facility in Eagan.
- To contractually commit to increased noise abatement efforts at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport, including double the funding for sound-proofing for area homes, guaranteeing acquisition of quieter Stage 3 aircraft, use of Stage 3 aircraft commensurate to use in other national markets, with no future deterioration from the best level of noise abatement, and an 11 p.m. until 6 a.m. curfew on scheduled flights by Stage 2 aircraft.

Under the terms of the agreement, the state-backed debt by Northwest will hold a comparable position with other major lenders. Northwest will continue to provide the state financial reports similar to those required of publicly held companies.

During the initial five years of development, up to $20 million of corporate income tax credits will be made available to Northwest for new jobs that are created. Sales tax exemptions for new construction could add an additional $9 million of benefits. Various federal, state and local grants will contribute about $11 million for infrastructure improvements associated with the Duluth and Chisholm/Hibbing facilities.

Carlson said that with today's agreement, "we have overcome the last major obstacle to actually breaking ground on this project. We're all looking forward to turning the first shovel in Duluth next Spring."

Half the adventure was in getting there

Trip to Seville, Spain, includes Flamenco show

by David Hill
Associate Editor

We needed a push to get our red compact Citroen going when we left Gibraltar and I was just the person to do the pushing. Later, as we practically flew along a highway at 140 k/mh or about 90 miles an hour it was hard to imagine that it took just one person to push start this tin can called a car.

What I could see of the rolling countryside as we swept by said a lot about the country. There were palm trees, pine trees, olive trees and orange trees, wheat fields, cotton fields, rows of vegetables and, of course, cattle.

Bull fighting is a national pastime and would rank up there with baseball if compared to the United States. In fact, there are some bigger than life black billboards that look like large bulls. I suppose they're like our version of Paul Bunyan statues.

With motorscooters darting in between cars four times their size and cars bumper to bumper, my dad finally found the brakes. In Seville we decided to stop at a park.

People were relaxing under clear skies and with temperatures hovering in the 70s it was a good day to visit the Parque de Mario Luisa, which was laid out by the Infata Maria Luisa Ferdinand de Borbon. People in the park were feeding white pigeons, others just enjoying the scenery, some jogged by, some rode by on bikes, some rode by on roller skates and, yes, even on in-line skates.

For the equivalent of $25, getting acquainted with the large park via a carriage ride, was a good bargain. Our carriage ride carried us past ancient memorials, over large avenues and under trees that formed a tremendous arch above us. I can't imagine a better way to see the many memorials and fountains.

After searching through the "Baedeckers Guide to Spain" we located the Seville Cathedral, which was, and maybe still is, considered the third largest in the world.

Pale white faces of four large statues carrying a box. That's what I noticed first. "Ghastly," that's what I thought.

Ignoring the tourist guide looking for a quick buck, we proceeded into the Seville Cathedral. We just weren't in the mood to pay another guide who spoke broken English.

We waved our copy of Baedecker's guide to Spain and said a very final "no" to his offer.

The Seville Cathedral is so large that it's not difficult to get lost inside. Okay, so we stumbled around trying to determine north and south and trying to read the fine print in the dark. Eventually, we went into a courtyard where there were some orange trees and we could read the book and get our bearings.

Though it was dark and netting way above our heads kept the larger pieces of plaster from falling on us, each display was resplendent in gold and silver. Many were encased in protective glass and under constant guard.

One thing different about churches in Europe — sometimes, no, many times they have dead people buried inside. Of course they have to be famous or saintly. This one had the bones of some people considered saints. It also had the remains or at least tomb of Christopher Columbus' son. Oh, by the way, the ghastly memorial of four robed statutes with pale faces I mentioned at the beginning, were "supposedly" carrying the tomb of Christopher Columbus.

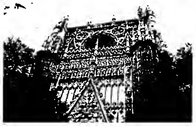
Christians buried in churches reminds me of Manuel de Falla (1876-1946) who is buried in a crypt at the cathedral at Cadiz. We visited that cathedral and were impressed by the artifacts at the cathedral, especially a silver monstrance the size of a small house. For those of you unfamiliar with the name, Falla is a famous composer. He composed a number of pieces influenced by native Andulusian folk music — music native to an area of Spain.

Why bring up Falla? While in Seville we went to a flamenco show. A flamenco is a particular dance style common in Spain. Dancers wear colorful clothes, make broad sweeping gestures and often times use castonets during their performance. Getting back to Falla, some of his music is used in flamenco dances.

While the flamenco and the matador are what I think of when someone starts talking about Spain, I didn't see the average person dressed to perform in a flamenco show or at a bullfight. They looked like North Americans and vice versa. Obviously, there will be differences due to culture, economies and climate. For example, many were wearing heavy coats even though the temperatures were in the 60s. Compared to the hardy souls in Northern Minnesota, they don't know what it's like to be cold!

The Parque de Marie Louisa was a busy place on a Sunday afternoon. Many brought families to the park to enjoy the weather. Some took time to feed the birds, others went for a stroll.

Flamenco dancers dress flamboyantly as they perform many many native dances.



From the orange grove in a courtyard at the Seville Cathedral we could see the intricate artwork in the facade. On this facade are the 12 apostles.

MATHCOUNTS again open for area students

This year students in northwestern Minnesota will again participate in MATHCOUNTS, a nationwide math program for seventh and eighth grade students. The program is being sponsored in northwestern Minnesota by the Lake Agassiz chapter of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers, several local industries, consulting engineering firms and private individuals.

MATHCOUNTS is both a coaching program and a series of competitions at regional, state and national levels. Those who make the school math team will compete against other school "mathletes" on Feb. 28, 1992 at the University of Minnesota in Crookston. Winners at Crookston will advance to state competition in March.

The engineering society anticipates that as many as 100 northwestern Minnesota students will enter the program this year. Nationally, as many as 7.4 million seventh and eighth grade students can enter the program and have the opportunity to be coached in such accelerated math topics as probability, statistics, linear algebra and polynomials. The winning teams of each state will receive trips to Washington, D.C. for the national finals in May.

By sponsoring the MATHCOUNTS program, the engineers hope to address the nationwide problem of declining math skills among precollege students. The engineering society will supply, free of charge, contest information and coaching materials to all participating schools and also will assist in coaching students for the first MATHCOUNTS competition in February.

Most schools in northwestern Minnesota should have already received information on the competition. Persons who like to know more may contact Graig Gilbertson, Minnesota Department of Transportation, 401 Paul Bunyan Drive SE, Bemidji, MN 56601, phone (218) 755-3807.

Adoption meet December 16 in Moorhead

Minnesotans who are interested in adoption are invited to attend a free informational meeting Monday, December 16, at 7 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 1500 South Sixth street in Moorhead.

Lutheran Social Service places children from Minnesota as well as infants and toddlers from Romania, Peru, Bolivia, Colombia, Thailand, Haiti, Brazil, El Salvador, Chile, Guatemala and several other Latin American countries.

There are also Minnesota children with special needs who are waiting to be placed in families. Many of these children are eligible for financial subsidies that assist with medical coverage and other special needs.

Topics to be discussed will include registration—which is open for all programs—waiting periods and fees.

For individuals who are unable to attend, a private orientation may be arranged. For more information contact Lutheran Social Service in Moorhead at 236-1494.

"Stay Home for the Health of It" is the modest suggestion of the staff of the Pine to Prairie Home Health Care for National Home Health Care Week, December 1-7.

And to observe the week the public is invited to attend an open house Wednesday, December 4, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Pine to Prairie Home Health Care, at the Falls Mall in Thief River Falls. Coffee will be served.

During the national week, Pine to Prairie invites the public to join them in celebrating the week. Staff says they are celebrating "the fact that home care services offer cost-effective alternatives to higher priced care. With advance technology, many of the services offered in hospitals can be provided at home and at considerable savings.

They add "Of course there are times when hospital or nursing home care is necessary, but more and more sophisticated treatments are now being delivered at home.

"A study from Aetna Life and Casualty shows significant cost savings when home care was provided for certain health problems that were traditionally treated in hospitals. For instance, the average cost for treating a patient dependent on a respirator in a hospital is $270,000, compared with equivalent home care that costs about $21,000 per year.

"A baby born with breathing and feeding problems, often associated with premature births, may incur monthly expenses for acute care in a hospital in excess of $60,000. At home the infant can be treated for about $20,000 - a savings of $40,000 per month.

"A ventilator-dependent child can incur average yearly expenses of $250,000 for care in a hospital. At home this same child can be cared for at an average yearly expense of $50,000.

"Pine to Prairie Home Health Care Agency was founded in 1984 and has been providing high-quality professional home health care services to Fosston and the surrounding communities since that time.

"Employing nurses, therapist, home health aides and other caregivers, the agency offers comprehensive home care from the most basic assistance to sophisticated high-tech medical treatment."

Another large delegation of Grygla-Goodridge fans were on hand Saturday morning when the Blue Devils took on Chokio-Alberta in the Nine-Man state high school football playoff finale to kick off Prep Bowl X at the Metrodome. After beating AlBrook and Cromwell in the quarterfinals and semifinals on earlier trips to Minneapolis, Grygla-Goodridge title hopes came up one-point short in a 7-6 championship game loss to the Spartans. An outstanding fan following accompanied the Blue Devils on each of the three visits to the Twin Cities for the Section B champions.

Chokio-Alberta over Grygla-Goodridge in Nine-Man football finals...

Blue Devils fall 7-6 in title game

Emphasis was on defense Friday morning when Chokio-Alberta edged Grygla-Goodridge 7-6 in the championship game of the 1991 Nine-Man state high school football playoffs at the Metrodome in downtown Minneapolis.

The victory in the Prep Bowl X opener finished off a perfect 14-0 season for the Section 2 champion Spartans and ended a 10-game win streak for the Section 8 champion Blue Devils, who wound up 11-2 overall.

Both sides featured runningbacks with big numbers, but while Jon Hallman of Chokio-Alberta and Justin Lunsetter of Grygla-Goodridge both showed their worth, it was a defensive struggle from start to finish. Only touchdowns came on a 2-yard dive by Hallman with 7:46 left in the second quarter and on an 11-yard quarterback keeper by Mitch Bernstein 2:07 into the fourth quarter.

The difference came in the extra-point department. Eric Tomoson put his placement through the uprights following the Chokio-Alberta touchdown, but a Grygla-Goodridge attempt to take the lead with a two-point try following the Blue Devils' touchdown was stopped short of the goal line.

Hallman, a 6-1, 186-pound senior, came into the game with 1,801 yards rushing and 36 touchdowns, including 353 yards and seven touchdowns in state playoff wins over Silver Lake 28-12 and Wheaton 36-0. He wound up with 92 yards on 32 carries, finishing off the Spartans' six-play, 56-yard touchdown drive by scoring one play after Shaun Leuthard broke a 31-yard run off left tackle – the game's longest run.

Lunsetter, a 5-9, 170-pound senior, came into the game with 1,265 yards rushing and 14 touchdowns, including 290 yards in state playoff wins over AlBrook 25-12 and Cromwell 44-6. He didn't add to his touchdown total against Chokio-Alberta, but did net 98 yards on 31 carries.

Hallman set a Prep Bowl record with his 32 carries. Lunsetter tied the old mark with his 31 attempts.

Outside of the touchdown drives, neither side was able to mount a serious scoring threat against the stubborn defenses that controlled play. For the Grygla-Goodridge, it was a continuation of a sensational season-ending performance on defense that found the Blue Devils giving up just 45 points over their final seven games – an average of 6.4 points per game.

The Blue Devils' 12-play, 42-yard scoring drive began after Chokio-Alberta came up short of a first down on a fourth down fake punt near the end of the third quarter.

Grygla-Goodridge converted a fourth-and-inches into a first down at the Chokio-Alberta 21 on a sneak by Bernstein and turned a fourth-and-five situation into a first down on a Bernstein to Ryan Bakken pass that carried to the Spartans 9-yard line. Bernstein squirted through the left side for the touchdown, but his attempt on the conversion was smothered by the Chokio-Alberta defense – on what proved to be the game's winning play.

Going for two points was a ready-made decision, according to Grygla-Goodridge coach Darwin Hagen. "We had talked about it beforehand," he said. "If we scored, we were going for two. With the way the defenses were playing, we didn't know if we would get another chance. We had a little mix-up in the call, though, and they stopped it."

The Blue Devils had two more possessions before it was done, but wound up surrendering the ball on downs at the Spartans' 37 on both occasions – first with 3:26 remaining, then with just seven seconds left.

"I thought we played well enough to win," said Hagen. "It just came down to a few small things. Defensively I thought we played well – we just gave up that one big play on the counter that set up their touchdown."

It was the second state playoff appearance for both teams, but the first title game for either side. The Spartans were beaten in first round play in 1978, while the Blue Devils met quarterfinal round defeat in 1989.

In the other Prep Bowl finals Friday, Mahnomen shut out Mankato Loyola 42-0 in Class C, BOLD stopped Deer River 14-0 in Class B, Spring Lake Park defeated Rocori 20-0 in Class A and Burnsville edged Lakeville 10-7 in Class AA.

Jason Grandstrand (36) and Mitch Bernstein (90) were lead blockers for Grygla-Goodridge runningback Justin Lunsetter (32) as he tried to get around the left side during Saturday's Nine-Man state high school football playoff championship game against Chokio-Alberta at the Metrodome. The Spartans' Kyle Neitzel (23) and Pat Kahoe (10) closed in on the ball carrier. Lunsetter netted 98 yards on 31 carries, but the Blue Devils lost a 7-6 decision to the Spartans.

NCC hosts weekend tournament...

Pioneers opening schedules tonight

Northland Community College men's and women's basketball teams open their 1991-92 seasons tonight (Tuesday) with a doubleheader against Rainy River at International Falls. The women's game starts at 5 p.m.; the men's game gets underway at 7.

The Pioneers will host their second annual Pepsi-Cola Invitational Friday and Saturday. Northland, Willmar, UND-Lake Region and the Concordia junior varsity will compete in the women's portion of the event, with Northland, Willmar, Iowa Lakes and UND-Lake Region competing for the men's title.

Northland men actually made their debut Saturday when the Pioneers out-scored an alumni team 145-90 in a game that may or may not be included in the overall season record.

NCC Women

There are only eight players on hand, but four of them are returning sophomores, providing Northland women's head coach Sue Barnd with optimistic expectations this winter.

"We should be competitive," said Barnd. "We've got some good kids back inside, and we've got some new kids who can shoot from the outside."

Top sophomores on hand are Thief River Falls products Rhonda Rothschadl, a 1990-91 Minnesota Community College Conference all-state selection after averaging 17.8 points and 9.1 rebounds per game, and Alice Dunning, who was an All-Northwest Division pick and an honorable mention MCCC all-stater after averaging 10.6 points and 9.2 rebound per game.

Nanette Berg (Middle River) and Nikki Anderson (Grygla) also return from a 10-12 team that finished one game away from a state tournament berth.

Newcomers include Jill Brantl (Plummer), Susie Bengtson (Hallock), Melanie Martin (Hawley) and Maria Ditsch (Roseau).

"We should be strong inside with Rhonda and Alice, and people like Susie and Melanie can shoot from the outside," mentioned Barnd, who will continue to employ the fast break whenever the opportunity presents itself.

NCC Men

Five sophomores will be in the starting line-up tonight when the Northland men take the court against Rainy River.

The group includes Larone Greer and Travis Brown from Cleveland Heights, OH; John Clark, Waubun; Paul Lofberg, Thief River Falls; and Kelly Dahl, Newfolden. Green, Brown, Clark and Lofberg were members of last year's 16-6 squad.

Freshmen on hand include Fred Sculfield, Joe Comstock, Donald Hardaway, Chip Carter, Nate Carlin, Kurt Leader, Derrick Thomas and Brian Hernandez.

Travis Brown averaged 14 points and 12 rebounds per game last winter, but All-America guard Jonathon Marshall, now a starter at the University of North Dakota, Jim Stewart, Ed Brown and Chris Powell – along with their double-figure scoring averages – are all missing from the 1990-91 Northland line-up, producing more questions than answers for head coach Chet Engelman as he heads into the season.

"This is the least sure I've been of a group in a long time," said Engelman. "At times we play well, but at other times we look like a bunch of freshmen. If we can play with some consistency; if our freshmen come through, we'll be okay."

1991 NCC Pepsi Invitational

Friday, Dec. 6 - 2 p.m. Northland vs Willmar (women), 4 p.m. Iowa Lakes vs Willmar (men), 6 p.m. UND-Lake Region vs. Concordia JV (women), 8 p.m. Northland vs. UND-Lake Region (men)

Saturday, Dec. 7 - 10 a.m. women's third place game, 12:00 men's third place game, 2 p.m. women's championship game, 4 p.m. men's championship game

TRF boys basketball...

New coach leads 1991-92 Prowlers

Thief River Falls, after out-scoring Hallock-Kennedy 24-18 in a two-quarter jamboree scrimmage match-up in Kennedy Monday, will return to the Wolfpack gymnasium Saturday for the real thing – a 7:45 p.m. opener to the 1991-92 boys high school basketball season. Junior varsity game starts at 6:15.

It'll be the official debut for new head coach Scott Brekke, named to succeed Tom Hunt, following his resignation at the end of the 1990-91 season.

In addition to the Monday scrimmage, Prowlers also participated in a jamboree at Warren Saturday, where they were out-scored by Valley North 25-23.

"Overall, I thought things went pretty well," said Brekke in assessing the two preseason outings. "I was pretty pleased with our performances."

But the Prowlers, who host Bemidji in their first North Sub-Section 8AA test Tuesday, will have their hands full trying to replace eight seniors lost to graduation off last year's 13-11 team, including the top six scorers.

"We've got some work to do," acknowledged Brekke. "It may take some time. The kids have to get used to new coaches and a new system."

Pressure defense and motion-type offense will be the foundation Brekke will build on, with emphasis placed on defense. "We hope to play some strong defense," he explained. If we let teams score in the 50's we could be in trouble; if we keep them in the 40's we'll be okay. You can get a lot of offense out of good defense."

Seniors Kelly Swonson, Tom Upham, Darin Wold and John Wallberg, along with juniors Josh Bolmer and Tony Greene are returning lettermen. Rest of the varsity candidates include seniors Nathan Egge and Ron Northup, along with juniors John Gunstad, Wade Evenson, Shone Zutz, Corey Thorson, Jason Lombert, Devon Grandbois and Eric Olmstead.

"I'm excited, but I'm a little nervous, too" said Brekke about his first head coaching opportunity. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Bemidji is first-game foe

Two 11-minute periods didn't decide a thing, so Thief River Falls and Bemidji will see what a full 45 minutes will produce Saturday when the Prowlers host the Lumberjacks in their 1991-92 high school hockey opener. Face-off is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Sports Arena. Junior varsity game starts at 5:30.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji were matched up in Saturday's annual preseason Section 8 Jamboree and wound up skating to a scoreless tie through the abbreviated contest. The Lumberjacks will get an earlier opener, though, when they visit International Falls tonight (Tuesday).

Thief River Falls went up against Brainerd in Friday night/Saturday morning scrimmages that were longer in length, but did not include a scoreboard. However, head coach Glenn Chiodo didn't need a storekeeper to tell him things weren't going as well as he had hoped.

"We weren't very happy with our scrimmages against Brainerd," acknowledged Chiodo. "We didn't play at the level we thought we should be at. We knew we had a lot of work to do, and we didn't expect to be perfect, but we just didn't think we did the the things were were capable of doing."

The situation improved in the jamboree session, pointed out Chiodo. "Saturday night we felt we played like we should be playing – at the level that we should be at right now."

Line combinations that were utilized over the weekend will be together for the opener, pointed out Chiodo – Aaron Broten centering Carter Rogalla and Jason Svir on an all-junior line; junior Rick Ostby between senior Troy Bertram and junior Nathan Knutson; sophomore Marc Scaverson centering seniors Cory Mattson and Chad Frazer; sophomore Jeff Twomey with juniors Brett Torkelson and Ryan Kraemer. Mattson missed the jamboree because of illness.

Marc Haugen anchors the defense, where he will be joined by Shane Skeim; Jeremy Olson, Jeff Stengrim, Brent Kleinvachter and Dasin Weleski. Kleinvachter is a sophomore; the rest of the defensemen are juniors.

Senior Barry Dowers will start in goal, with junior Trevor Haugen serving as his back-up.

Thief River Falls junior varsity replaced Indus in the Section 8 line-up Saturday, where they were out-scored by the Bagley varsity 4-2. The Thief River Falls junior varsity also scrimmaged Brainerd during the weekend.

The Prowlers will be facing a veteran Bemidji team, one that features 17 seniors, including Andy Brink, considered by some as the top player in Section 8 this winter. "He is an outstanding hockey player," pointed out Chiodo. "You have to be aware of him every time he's on the ice. But you can't just concentrate on him and forget about everybody else."

Chiodo said the jamboree scrimmages showed how competitive and well-balanced Section 8 will be this season. "There are going to be six-seven teams right in the thick of it all year long," he predicted.

TRF girls open at Roseau

Some of the puzzle is already completed, but first-year head coach Sally Wiltse is still looking for a couple of pieces to complete the picture as the Thief River Falls girls head into their 1991-92 high school basketball season opener Saturday at Roseau. Junior varsity contest starts at 6:15 p.m., with the varsity game to follow.

The Prowlers lost point guard Becky Bjerken and center Dawn Lambert to graduation off last year's 16-8 North Sub-Region 8AA runner-up team, but they do have senior Jodi Kruta, junior Amy Adams and sophomore Toni Chiodo as returning starters, and senior Torik Koivisto was a top reserve a year ago. They are expected to form the nucleus for a team that also includes juniors Leslie Ammerman, Vanessa Anderson and Alison Peterson, along with sophomore Lisa Ulrich as returning letter winners.

Kruta is the headliner. She joined the 1,000-Point Club last winter when she became the Prowlers' all-time leading scorers with 1,301 career points. She averaged 21.4 points per game as a junior.

Adams enjoyed a big sophomore season with 13 points and 10.8 rebounds per game, but the Prowlers will miss Lambert's size and her 10.5 points and 8.8 rebounds per game.

Kruta and Koivisto are the only seniors on this year's roster.

"Our biggest weakness right now is our size," pointed out Wiltse, who coached the Thief River Falls freshmen last year. "We're really short."

The Prowlers hope speed will help overcome the problems that (lack of) size will produce. "We're very quick," noted Wiltse. "We've got good foot speed."

A short line-up means the Prowlers will be looking for pressure, gambling-type defense and outside shooting to make them competitive in a season that had an early preview Saturday with scrimmages against Valley North, Warroad and Argyle. "We learned a lot," said Wiltse, who will probably start the year with Adams at center, Koivista and Ulrich at forwards, Kruta and Chiodo at the guards.

Rest of the young 1991-92 Thief River Falls roster for grades 10-12 includes sophomores Jami Dehnert, Kari Wolseth, Lori DeLap, Stephonie Swonson, Nicky Armstrong, April Klinker, Lori Golightly, Holly Miller and Danita Miller.

Kruta, Koivisto and Adams are serving as tri-captains.

Wiltse succeeds Tom Schafer as the Prowlers' head coach. Schaefer stepped down at the end of the 1990-91 season. Howard Thorson remains as the Thief River Falls varsity assistant-junior varsity coach, while Amy Roche takes over the freshman squad. Franklin Middle School coaches include Bob Wayne at the eighth grade level; Michelle Erickson and Kim Carlson with the seventh graders.

Much of the early season preparation will center around the adaptation of a new offensive scheme, and rebounding, explained Wiltse. They will try to open up the middle on offense, she said, and they will concentrate on blocking out in an attempt to get their fair share of rebounds.

Thursday dual; Saturday invitational starts swim season...

Fosston meets open schedule

Back-to-back trips to Fosston this week will open the 1991 high school swimming schedule for the Ryan Lokken-coached Thief River Falls boys.

The Prowlers will meet the Greyhounds in a 5 p.m. dual Thursday and will return for the 1 p.m. Fosston Invitational Saturday.

Lokken is looking for a much-improved showing for the 1991-92 Prowlers, who did not have a senior on a team that went 2-7 in dual meet competition last winter. They are still without a senior this season, but they do have 10 returning lettermen.

"We should be solid," said Lokken. "We've got a lot of kids back and they're a year older. They should be stronger and they should be more disciplined."

Matt Carlson, Adam Jacobson and Tony McEnelly ranked 1-2-3 in the Thief River Falls scoring charts are sophomores a year ago. Other returning lettermen include juniors Daryl Kiesow, Brad Kragness and Tony Sculthorp; sophomore Brad Cota; freshmen Simon Krystosek and Brian Stenseth; along with eighth grader Chris Hagman.

Clint Armstrong, a student at the Thief River Falls Technical College who competed in high school swimming at West Fargo, ND, will work as Lokken's assistant coach

Youth Hockey

Thief River Falls VFW Bantam A hockey team opened its 1991-92 season with an 0-3 weekend – a 5-1 Friday loss to Bemidji in the Sports Arena and 5-4, 6-4 setbacks at Fergus Falls Saturday and Sunday.

Keith Anderson scored the lone Thief River Falls goal against Bemidji. Thief River Falls goalie Chane Keefe stopped 28 shots – a figure matched by the Bemidji goalie.

Fergus Falls scored with 1:41 left to tie Saturday's game 4-4, then picked up the game-winner just 29 seconds into overtime. Anderson scored twice, while Steve Rambeck and Aaron Ehrenstrom both scored once. Shane Duffy had 20 saves in the Thief River Falls nets, with the Fergus Falls goalie coming up with the same save figure.

Sunday's 6-4 final included an open-net goal at the end. Brian Howe, Tim Barry, Kaine Mastell and Anderson scored the Thief River Falls goals. Keefe stopped 26 shots; the Fergus Falls goalie came up with 18 saves.

RLCC boys will begin basketball schedule with weekend contests

A rebuilding project faces Red Lake County Central boys high school basketball coach Todd Fore heading into the 1991-92 season after graduation took seven seniors from last year's 12-13 ball club.

The Mustangs, who begin play with a pair of weekend games in Plummer against Marshall County Central Friday and Red Lake Falls Saturday, hope to use their all-around athletic talents to overcome their varsity basketball inexperience.

"We've got a lot of raw apples," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "Scoring might be a question mark. We might have a tough time putting it in the hole. Hopefully we can play some defense. I know they have a lot of heart and they'll go a hundred miles an hour."

Personnel losses include double-figure scorers Jeff Bachand, Jason Nelson and Eron Mattson. Bachand went over 1,000 points for his high school basketball career.

This year's roster includes seniors Eric Kolstoe, Andy Dalka, Jody Martell and Bill Maul, along with juniors Ryan and Jacob Melby, Darrin Schmitz, Jamie Hruby, Isaac Peterson, Jonathon Sundrud and Conway Olson.

In Kolstoe the Mustangs have a good athlete, in 6-5 Schmitz and 6-4 Dalka they have some size, while Ryan Melby shows promise of being a strong outside shooter.

Wolverines fall 50-37 in first outing

A 21 percent shooting performance from the floor hurt Grygla-Goodridge Monday in a season-opening 50-37 girls high school basketball loss to Badger-Greenbush.

The Wolverines made just 15 of 72 field goal attempts as they fell behind at the quarter stops 17-6, 29-17 and 42-27.

"We moved the ball pretty well and I felt we got some quality shots, but we're just not a scoring machine," explained Grygla-Goodridge coach Mike Gast.

A 14-point effort by Lisa Verbout led the Wolverines, who started the 1991-92 season battling a flu problem that weakened the team.

Badger-Greenbush shot 36 percent from the field, hitting 21 of 58 attempts. The Bulldogs were 6-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Wolverines went 5-for-14. The winners finished with a 33-28 rebound edge.

The Wolverines were scheduled to visit Warroad tonight (Tuesday), and will continue a busy early-season schedule with games in Grygla Thursday vs. Marshall County Central and Monday vs. Lake of the Woods.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Grygla-Goodridge	6	11	10	10	37
Badger-Greenbush	17	12	13	8	50

B-G - Angie Berger 8, Stacy Dalager 22, Raquel Klein 6, Jessica Reese 14.

RLCC girls will feature new line-up

Hit hard by personnel losses, the revamped Red Lake County Central line-up will have its shake-down cruise tonight (Tuesday) when the Mustangs open the 1991-92 girls high school basketball season at Fertile-Beltrami. They will have another go at it Thursday in Mahnomen, then try again Monday against Clearbrook-Gonvick in Clearbrook.

Graduation took all-conference players Sara Radniecki, Sarah Magers and Jill Brantl, while Kristi Koralewski, a Northern Plains All-Conference honorable mention pick, transferred.

A bundle of points left with those graduates – 1,094 for Radniecki, 969 for Magers and 807 for Brantl, who also had 777 career rebounds.

Senior Jenny Walter and Dawn Bachand, who were part-time starters on last year's 16-8 District 30A third place team, will be looked to for scoring this time around, while senior Cheryl Greenwald directs things as a ball-handling guard, much like she did as the Red Lake County Central setter in volleyball this fall.

Mustangs coach Rick Koivisto is also hoping from some solid inside work by 5-10 sophomore Angel Mickelson.

Rest of the probable varsity performers include seniors Jenny Linder and DeeAnn Austad; junior Jill Radniecki and Lisa Howard; along with sophomores Farah Brantl and Amy Arlt.

"We lack experience, and we're not very quick," admitted Koivisto, who said the usually fast-paced Red Lake County Central attack will probably be slowed to a more deliberate style of ball more suited to the current personnel.

Giauque selected top TRF swimmer

Most valuable honors went to freshman Theresa Giauque Monday as the Thief River Falls girls closed out the 1991 high school swimming season with their annual awards banquet at the Northland Community College/Thief River Falls Technical College cafeteria.

Giauque was also named the Prowlers' hardest worker. Other special awards went to eighth grader Jennifer Olin, most improved; senior Lisa Dicken, most spirited; and senior Linnea Dimich, who earned the Coaches Award.

Juniors Sanna Torgerson and Amy Adams were named the Prowlers' 1992 co-captains, succeeding Dimich and Gimse Wedul.

Junior varsity awards went to seventh grader Kelsy Stalboerger, most improved; eighth grader Myndy Olson, hardest worker; and freshman Mandy Sjaaheim, Coaches Award.

List of letter winners included the three seniors – Dicken, Dimich and Wedul; juniors Leslie Ammerman, Lisa DeLap, Ingrid Morken, Adams and Torgerson; sophomores Jane Bentson and Lisa Ulrich; freshmen Sarah Harger, Mandy Johnson, Maja Turenne and Giauque; eighth graders Robin Bollesen, Bobbi Jo Teiken, Kelly Newton and Olin; plus student manager Guy Drevlow.

Participation certificates went to senior foreign exchange student Tarsila Pontes; Sjaaheim; eighth graders Ann Alger, Lauren Lavalier, Cami Sorenson and Olson; seventh graders Alicia Bakken, Gretchen Bataiden, Elizabeth Blazek, Kristin Chrzanowski, Becky Harger, Melanie Johnson, Kelly Martinsen and Stalboerger; along with sixth graders Sunny Carlson, Amanda Clark, Rachel Dahlen, Jamie Kalsnes, Wendy Lindquist and Sandy Timm.

Giauque led the swimmers in scoring this fall with 284 points, followed by Adams with 251, Dimich 210, Ulrich 180, Morken 135, Johnson 113, Bentson 95, Torgerson 89, Ammerman 69, Harger 55, Bollesen 37, Turenne 34, DeLap 31, Newton 30, Harger 1 and Sjaaheim 1.

Wedul led the divers in scoring with 45 points, followed by Dicken with 32, Olin 18 and Teiken 15.

"We did a nice job this year," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "We accomplished pretty much all of our goals, but because of all the illness we had, it took a lot more work."

With just three seniors on hand this fall, Lokken looks for the Prowlers to field a solid team, filled with proved point-producers, in 1992. "We should be in pretty good shape next year with all the kids we have coming back," he acknowledged.

Kelly Egenes served as Lokken's assistant coach this fall.

Wrestlers make debut on Friday

A trip to Larimore, ND Friday for a 6 p.m. dual will start Thief River Falls' 1991-92 high school wrestling schedule.

With just four seniors and two juniors on hand, it'll be a young Thief River Falls line-up, pointed out Prowlers head coach John Anderson. "We're awfully young. We've got some good athletes, but now it's my job to turn those good athletes into good wrestlers."

There are some quality wrestlers on hand, noted Anderson, including senior tri-captains Jason Kainz, Matt Kaushagen and Joel Davis. Junior Lee Nieland, sophomore Jon Parish and freshman John Davis are returning lettermen who could also become proven point-producers, and Anderson likes the potential of several younger wrestlers – like freshman Steve Burslie.

Senior Scott Anderson and junior Dan Lavalier also lettered last winter.

Senior Derrick Anderson, sophomores Tom Swantek, Mark Sullivan and Travis Torblaa, along with freshmen Max Radniecki, Mark Spyhalski and Dusty Eddleman round out the roster of boys in grades 9-12 reporting for the preseason work-outs. Another 17-to-20 Franklin Middle School wrestlers in grades 6-8 round out the program, with a couple of those having a shot at a varsity spot, according to Anderson.

Wrestle-offs are being conducted in practice this week to determine Friday's season-opening Thief River Falls line-up.

The Prowlers were 12-11 in dual meet competition last year.

"With the individuals we have, we could do well in tournaments," pointed out Anderson. "But we might have trouble in dual meets when our younger kids are matched up against older kids."

DNR News

Wildlife Food Planting

Early-season snowfall has created an increased concern among Minnesotans for the welfare of wildlife, according to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Minnesota landowners who value wildlife have an opportunity to develop habitat on their lands that will aid wildlife during future winters, noted DNR officials. A special packet of tree and shrub planting stock available from the DNR Forestry Division will provide food and cover for wildlife.

The four-season wildlife food planting stock is being sold in packets of 500 seedlings for $160, plus tax.

Order forms and price lists for the wildlife food packets and for a variety of other deciduous and coniferous seedlings available from the DNR may be obtained from DNR Forestry offices; Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices; Soil Conservation Service (SCS) offices; county extension service offices; the DNR General Andrews Nursery, P.O. Box 95NC, Willow River, MN 55795 (phone 218-372-3183); or the DNR Forestry Division, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4044 (phone 612-296-4480).

Grygla-Goodridge Blue Devils split up for boys high school basketball...

Huskies, Eagles go separate ways

Saturday morning defeat at the hands of Chokio-Alberta in the finals of the state Nine-Man playoffs ended the 1991 high school football season for the Grygla-Goodridge Blue Devils. Monday they went their separate ways as the Grygla Eagles and the Goodridge Huskies for the 1991-92 boys basketball season.

The long football season forced both schools to alter their early-season basketball schedules. Goodridge moved a Dec. 6 game at Fisher to Feb. 8 and a Dec. 10 home contest with Climax to Jan. 18. Grygla rescheduled a Dec. 10 home opener against Warroad to Feb. 3.

The Huskies will now open Friday, Dec. 13, at home against Fisher, while the Eagles wait until a Dec. 19-21 invitational hosted by Northland Community College, which will also include Goodridge.

- Goodridge -

With four starters returning from a 17-7 team, Goodridge received preseason recognition in the form of a 19th place Class A ranking in the statewide Full Court Press publication. Warren was tabbed No. 16 in the same poll.

"It may take a while, but we've got the makings of a pretty nice basketball team," acknowledged Goodridge head coach John Rahn. "But a lot of these kids are coming right from football, and it's going to take a while before they become fully adjusted to basketball."

Graduation took two-year starter Kurt Quam, who averaged 14.7 points per game and provided the Huskies with a strong three-point shooting threat, but six seniors return, including Donovan Quam, Brandon Blaine, Shane Wilkins, Willie Vettleson, Peter Grosz and Shane Vettleson. Quam average 16.7 points and 10.2 rebounds per game as a junior, while Blaine carried a 13.4 scoring average.

"We should get a very balanced attack and very strong leadership from those six seniors," said Rahn. "We should be able to go inside, we hope be able to hit from the outside and we should be able to fast break. We will have to do a better job on defense and our younger players will have to develop to provide us with some depth."

Junior Jerry Parnow, along with sophomores Mike Arveson and Travis Kotrba could provide some help off the bench, but Kotrba may not play until after Jan. 1 because of a back problem that forced him to miss the entire football season.

- Grygla -

Grygla basketball coach Vern Johnson, a member of the Blue Devils' football coaching staff, is counting on the gridiron success to carry over into the gymnasium this winter.

"The (football) success should help," said Johnson. "The sports go hand-in-hand, and should feed off each other."

Blue Devils quarterback Mitch Bernstein and 1,000-yard rusher Justin Lunsetter don the Eagles' colors in basketball. As juniors a year ago Bernstein scored 12.8 points per game and Lunsetter averaged 7.4.

Third returning full-time starter is 6-3 senior Ryan Bakken, who averaged 10.5 points per game during a 13-10 season a year ago. Juniors Scott Rindahl and Jeremy Engelstad were used as part-time starters last winter, when Engelstad averaged 10.4 points per game. Rick Warne scored 20 points per game as a sophomore on the 1990-91 junior varsity.

Others looking for varsity playing time include senior Jason Warne, junior Mike Cleven and sophomores Ben Saurdiff, Jason Grandstrand, Lonnie Larson, Mike Jelle, Ryan Cwikla and Kurt Englund.

"We're going to be about two weeks behind because of football," admitted Johnson, "and it may take some time to heal some bumps and bruises. But we think we'll win our share of games if we play ball. We feel if we play up to our potential, we can play with most teams. We don't have any one outstanding player that can go out and get it done every night, but we'll rely on balance. We've got seven-eight kids who should be able to do a pretty nice job for us."

Wolverines face early-season obstacles

Success enjoyed by the Grygla-Goodridge Blue Devils in a state runner-up football performance this fall might wind up producing some problems for the Grygla-Goodridge Wolverines in early-season girls high school basketball, but head basketball coach Mike Gast isn't complaining. That's because as a football assistant coach he was enjoying the post-season ride.

Afternoon football practice meant early-morning basketball practice. And with a Friday state football championship game squeezed between Thanksgiving and the weekend, the Wolverines started the 1991-92 season Monday night against Badger-Greenbush without a practice since Wednesday.

"We're not ready," admitted Gast. "Football did affect basketball, no question. But, we're not complaining. We enjoyed it."

A rush of season-opening games won't help either. After visiting Badger, the Wolverines drive to Warroad tonight (Tuesday), then meet Marshall County Central Thursday and Lake of the Woods Monday in back-to-back Grygla appearances.

Complicating matters even more is the fact that the Wolverines' best ball player, senior Kathy Smeby, is sidelined by a knee problem that forced her to miss most of the 1991 volleyball season. She averaged 12.2 points and 9.6 rebound per game on last year's 7-13 ball club.

A knee brace has been ordered, explained Gast, that may allow Smeby to get back on the court, although her effectiveness may still be hampered.

Without Smeby, the Wolverines will look to seniors Lisa Verbout and Jacki Kiesow for scoring, while sophomore Kristy Johnson does much of the ball handling and 5-9 junior Jenni Ryan works inside.

The fifth starter was a question mark, admitted Gast, especially with sophomore Sue Ann Verbout battling the flu bug. Some help might come from the freshman ranks, he said.

"To tell the truth, I'm looking at defense to get us through," said Gast. "I really don't know if we're going to score many points, but we've got some girls who are willing to work very, very hard, and I think they'll do a good job on defense for us."

Dr. Rittenour joins staff of Falls Clinic

Dr. Timothy Rittenour, a specialist in family practice, recently joined the staff of Falls Clinic Division of Dakota Clinic, Ltd., and moved to Thief River Falls from Tabor.

A resident of the Grygla area from 1979 to 1981 and a former student at Northland Community college in Thief River Falls, Dr. Rittenour is married to Alvina Nordvick, a Registered Nurse originally from the Grygla area. They have four children.

In addition to Northland college, Dr. Rittenour received his pre-medical education at Union College in Lincoln, NE. He graduated from the Loma Linda University medical school in California in 1988 and recently completed a residency in family practice at United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND.

Licensed to practice in North Dakota and Minnesota, he is also certified in advanced cardiac life support, neonatal and pediatric advanced life support. He is a member of the Minnesota and American Medical associations and has also been an active staff member of the Karlstad and Fosston hospitals, providing emergency room coverage. His hobbies include singing, gardening and various snow and water sports.

Dr. Timothy and Alvina Rittenour have recently moved to Thief River Falls from Tabor and Dr. Rittenour has joined the staff of Falls Clinic Division of Dakota Clinic, Ltd., as a family practice specialist. Their children include Nathan, 9; Tammy, 4; Melody, 2; and Carl, 1. Dr. Rittenour is a former student at Northland Community college and his wife is the former Alvina Nordvick of the Grygla area.

1990. Nationally business failures increased by 55 per cent during the same period while the percentage was 62.5 per cent in South Dakota and 9.6 per cent in Wisconsin. In North Dakota there were 23.1 per cent fewer business failures than the same period the previous year.

State and local taxes paid per family in Minnesota already are the highest in the area at $6,764. The average in Wisconsin is $6,330, in Iowa $5,356, in North Dakota $4,614 and in South Dakota $4,184.

"Our state government must slow the growth in taxes and spending," Hodder said. "We must avoid raising taxes even further to cover the shortfall."

To finance a $1.3 billion shortfall, Hodder said, the average Minnesota family would have to:

- Increase its personal income taxes by about $450 per year (a 22 per cent increase);
- Increase the property tax on its home by about $900 per year (state average);
- Pay a sales tax rate of 8.4 per cent (a 29 per cent increase); or
- Have the tax on the employers of its wage-earners' businesses more than double.

"The second option is to control the growth in state spending," Hodder added. "In fact, we do not have to cut spending at all; we simply have to control the growth. A $1.3 billion shortfall will be solved if we limit the growth in state spending to about four per cent a year—about the expected rate of inflation. Our goal should be a simple one: Let's not spend more than we are taking in."

He noted that each dollar spent from the budget reserve would require $3 in more taxes in the next budget period—one dollar to finance the same program in each of the next two years and a third dollar to restore the reserve.

In addition, reducing the reserve would limit the state's cash flow balancing ability, forcing expensive short-term borrowing which would further hurt the state's fiscal condition.

"The Minnesota legislature and Governor Carlson, to their credit, handled the 1991 budget crisis relatively well," Hodder said. "While many states saw huge tax increases, Minnesota balanced its budget primarily through spending control.

"In the 1992 and 1993 legislative sessions again, many groups will urge more spending and more taxes. These pressures must be resisted. Just as spending control was used in 1991, it can and must be used in 1992 and 1993.

"Minnesota and our economic climate are on the brink," he added. "We can make the right choices and move forward aggressively to re-establish economic competitiveness, or we can give in to spending pressures and continue to lose ground to our competition.

"Minnesota businesses want a strong and healthy state. We know that solving this crisis will not be easy, especially when we need to protect essential public services. We pledge our assistance to our public officials as they deal with these critical issues."

Hodder said the coalition was having representatives visit a number of communities in the state to help create an awareness of the budget crisis and hopefully to have that sense of concern communicated from the public to state legislators who must deal directly with the problem. He said the effort was being made to build a network that would deal with the situation collectively.

"We recognize the difficulty and the enormity of bringing together enough concerned people to effect change," he said, "but the alternative is to do nothing, and we have the commitment to do what we can. It's an issue for everybody who cares at all about the future of Minnesota."

Legislators give views about MCC reconstruction

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls have reacted to Commissioner of Education Gene Mammenga's early decision not to permit School District 441 to rebuild Marshall County Central high school which was destroyed by fire.

Sen. Stumpf prepared a statement on the decision and Rep. Sparby provided the Times with a copy of a letter sent to the commissioner.

Sen. Stumpf stated the following:

Having insult added to injury is one of the most infuriating things that can happen to anybody. In Newfolden it has happened to an entire community.

When a fire there destroyed Marshall County Central High School on November 7 it was hard on folks in Newfolden, Viking and Holt who are part of the school district. They were justifiably proud of the 21-year-old structure and the quality of education students received there.

The fire was the injury. The insult came a week later.

When Department of Education officials met with the school board, the board learned that Commissioner of Education Gene Mammenga planned to issue a "negative review." In educational jargon, that means he would not let them rebuild.

(If Mammenga's name sounds familiar, it should. Last winter he proposed consolidating all districts of fewer than 1,300 students. He believes a school needs 100 students per grade in K-12 to be efficient. No one picked up on the idea and it quickly died.)

Arguments against building often focus on money. That's not the case here. Insurance dollars will pay the bill. No state or local funds will be used. Considering Mammenga's ideas on school size, he is apparently trying to do with one school what he could not do with the entire state—force consolidation.

Rep. Sparby wrote the following letter to the commissioner:

The people of the Newfolden school district, the board of education, the staff, the students and, yes, many people from other districts, have said they believe Newfolden should be allowed to re-build their school, and I wholeheartedly agree with them on this issue.

It is really ironic that you have made a preliminary decision based on a study by Dr. Womer, and have neglected to review the facts as well as a proposed plan that will be provided to you by the board of education after which your are to review and make a recommendation.

You have clearly exceeded your authority in this situation!

*The district has paid for a premi*um insurance policy for all these years to protect the school in case of such a tragedy, only to have you attempt to destroy it in the end.

They have the necessary funds available to rebuild their facility with insurance money which will cause no burden to the taxpayers. The district is also willing to design the structure so it is modular in the event it may some day have to be used for other purposes such as a middle school, elementary or other.

The intent and purpose of the law under statute 121.148 and 121.15, which I understand you are using, were never intended to be used in an emergency situation.

The Newfolden school is an efficient, well-run school that has an excellent graduation rate, excellent test scores and an excellent success ratio in post-secondary education participation.

Commissioner, you need to review your snap decision and analyze the facts. I am confident such a review of the facts will prove that you should give the Newfolden district a favorable review and recommendation..

I will be looking forward to your favorable response.

Johnson ends training cycle

Marine Pvt. Ira L. Johnson, son of Lawrence and Alberta Johnson of rural Thief River Falls and a 1991 graduate of Lincoln high school, has completed the recruit training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, CA.

Recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participate in an active physical conditioning program and gain proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.

Members of the Swingsations, a Lincoln high school choir group, shiver the cold prior to their performance at the Christmas tree lighting ceremony which was held Sunday, December 1, at Elks Park in Thief River Falls. Despite the bitter cold, about 50 people showed up for the annual event.

Public Notices

THANK YOU

The troubles that beset you
Along life's winding road
Are sent to make you stronger
To share another's load

We cannot share a sorrow
If we haven't grieved a while
Nor can we feel another's joy
Until we've learned to smile!

Sweet mystery of music,
Great masters and their art,
How well we understand them
When we've known a broken heart!

In loving memory of Floyd Haugan who passed away Dec. 2, 1985. We miss you Floyd! Love, your family, Mom and Dad, brother and sisters. 1t97c

NOTICE OF HEARING
PRELIMINARY PLAT REVIEW
PLANNING COMMISSION
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 12 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Southwoods Corporation, c/o Kenneth Berg, 101 Idlewood Court, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, and the owners of certain other properties have submitted a Preliminary Plat for review by the City of Thief River Falls. The properties to be platted and replatted are legally described as follows:

Part of Government Lot 1 of Section 35, Township 154 North, Range 43 West and part of the Southeast Quarter of Section 34, Township 154 North, Range 43 West and a replat of Outlot A, Oakville Addition and a replat of Lot 2, Block 1, Oakville Second Addition, Thief River Falls, Minnesota containing 17.7 acres, more or less.

The properties to be platted and replatted lie east of Minnesota Highway No. 59 and east of Block One of Oakville Addition and between the Norwest Bank Southside Facility and East Greenwood Street. As part of the platting and replatting, Southwoods Corporation is requesting that a portion of Outlot A of Oakville Addition, currently owned by the City of Thief River Falls as park greenspace, be transferred to the ownership of Southwoods Corporation and that Southwoods Corporation transfer certain other abutting properties to the ownership of the City of Thief River Falls for park-greenspace. The portion of the properties abutting Highway No. 59 and East Greenwood Street are proposed to be zoned as C-2 General Commercial.

This Notice of Hearing will be mailed to all property owners within 350 feet of the Proposed Plat.

Notice is further given, that the Planning Commission will conduct a Hearing on the Proposed Plat at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, December 16, 1991, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the Proposed Plat will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

Dated this 2nd day of December, 1991.

County Board Proceedings

Dec. 3, 1991

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS, PENNINGTON COUNTY
NOVEMBER 12, 1991 - 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, November 12th, 1991 at 10:00 a.m. Members present: Jensen, Murphy, Penning and Swanson. Members absent: Koop.

It is noted that the Special County Board meeting called for 10-29-91 to review the final casino contract proposal from the Red Lake Tribal Council was cancelled due to the fact that the contract was not available.

Mike Canfield representing Schilet & Associates presented a Section 457 Deferred Compensation Plan designed for employees of Schools, Counties and Cities by Jefferson National. He asked that the County Board authorize him to offer this Deferred Compensation program to the employees and authorization to use payroll deduction. After further discussion on whether there was a need for another Deferred Compensation Plan the County Board decided to not sponsor the Jefferson National plan or allow them to use payroll deduction thru the County Payroll system. The County Board further stated that they would continue offering the Minnesota State Deferred Compensation plan and the National Association of Counties Plan but would not sponsor any private plans.

Maggie Leach and Gary Lane then met with the County Board to request the County Board to pass a resolution approving a Pennington County Abandoned Wells Grant Application. The grant funds would provide a 75% cost share up to $2,000 to seal high priority abandoned wells. The landowner would be required to pay the remaining amount.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Penning, seconded by Commissioner Swanson and upon vote was unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, the State of Minnesota through its Board of Water and Soil Resources has made state grant funds available to counties to share the costs with the landowners of sealing high priority abandoned wells, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County wishes to apply for up to $20,000 in these state grant funds.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners approves of Pennington County entering into a Grant Agreement with the State of Minnesota to receive state funds to share the cost with landowners of sealing high priority abandoned wells, under the terms of the Grant Agreement and all statutory requirements, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Chairperson of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners and the County Auditor are authorized to execute the Grant Agreement together with all related documents.

The County Sheriff Robert Wold and Joe Prondzinski paramedic with Midwest Ambulance Service reviewed the ambulance bids opened at the previous County Board meeting. County Attorney Dave Olin noted that the two 1991 ambulance bids by Road Rescue had to be rejected because the bid specs called for a 1992 Chassis. Mr. Prondzinski stated that the 1992 Road Rescue Ambulance was the ambulance they would recommend for some of the following reasons. 1) The Warranty is better 2) They provide a free loaner ambulance if our vehicle ever goes down for any reason 3) It is built stronger.

The County Board decided to hold over any action on the ambulance purchase until 2 p.m. and made a request that Dave Schneider be there so that the lease agreement could be discussed and settled before the County purchases an ambulance.

County Sheriff, Robert Wold then discussed the problems with the radio reception at the Law Enforcement Center. He should be getting authorization for a new frequency soon. It was also noted that Deputy Sheriff Ray Kuznia had completed the D.A.R.E. training program.

The County Board then reviewed correspondence from OPTIONS regarding The Americans with Disabilities Act.

Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to approve the minutes of October 8th, October 10th, and October 22nd, 1991 as written. Motion carried.

The County Board then discussed the next regular meeting date of 11-26-91 which is the same time as the Association of Minnesota Conference. This meeting will be changed to 11-22-91 at 2:00 p.m.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Penning and upon vote was unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, Beaver dams cause flooding that damages timber, cropland, roads and drainage systems, and

WHEREAS, The Department of Natural Resources, Division of Fish and Wildlife, has authority and responsibility under M.S. 97.576 to control beavers, and

WHEREAS, The Department of Natural Resources, Division of Fish and Wildlife, has recently stopped performing their responsibilities for beaver control and beaver dam removal.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County urges the legislature to require the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Fish and Wildlife, to resume actively fulfilling their responsibility for beaver control and beaver dam removal.

George Broadwell, Acting County Engineer then discussed Highway Department matters including possible 1992 projects. The new County Engineer will be starting November 18th, 1991 and Mr. Broadwell will resume his position as Assistant Engineer. The County Board thanked George Broadwell for taking over the department in the absence of a County Engineer.

At this time the County Sheriff, O.J. Doyle, Dave Schneider, and Joe Prondzinski met with the County Board to discuss the Midwest Ambulance Service. O.J. Doyle and Bob Wold discussed ways of helping to fund the ambulance service. M.S. 471.476 does allow counties to levy for funding an ambulance service. It was recommended that a Emergency Services Committee be set up to review all EMS services in Pennington County.

The County Board then discussed the ambulance lease with Dave Schneider and a consensus was reached.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Murphy, seconded by Commissioner Penning and upon vote unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, Pennington County has subsidized the Midwest Ambulance Service and,

WHEREAS, The Midwest Ambulance Service is in need of a new ambulance to provide emergency services to Pennington County residents.

BE IT RESOLVED that the Board Chairman and the County Auditor are hereby authorized to enter into a lease with Option to Purchase Agreement with the Midwest Ambulance Service to provide them with a new ambulance and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it is understood that the ambulance leasing is provided in lieu of the current subsidy amount.

Commissioner Penning moved, Commissioner Murphy seconded a motion to authorize the Sheriff to establish the framework for an E.M.S. Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

After review of the committees recommendations on the ambulance bids the following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote was unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, the bid by Road Rescue, Inc. for a 1992 Ford E350 Paramedic III with/CPR Seat has the following advantages:

1) A better Warranty
2) A free loaner for any reason the ambulance is not in service
3) A better built rear module

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners approve the bid of Road Rescue, Inc. for a 1992 Ford E350 Paramedic III with/CPR seat for the price of $66,226.00. Other reasons for choosing this ambulance are on file in the County Auditor's Office.

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield representative Tom Williams then discussed the new rates for Health Insurance beginning 1-1-92. The Health Insurance rates could increase 20% for 1992. Tom will be back when he has the final rate.

Howard Person and Rick Nordhagen then appeared before the County Board. Howard distributed the Comprehensive Solid Waste Plan Update. Commissioner Swanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the legislature of the State of Minnesota requires that Minnesota's counties develop a Solid Waste Management Plan in accordance with Minn. Stat. 115A.46, Minn. Stat. 115A.551; Minn. Stat. 115A.63, Minn. Stat. 115A.84, Minn. Stat. 115A.914, Minn. Stat. 115A.96, Subd. 6-7, Minn. Stat. 115A.97, and applicable rules, and

WHEREAS, Minnesota counties recognize the need to plan for and practice environmentally sound methods of managing their solid waste stream,

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners hereby approves and adopts the Pennington County Solid Waste Management Plan and supporting documentation dated October 1991.

BE IT THEREFORE FURTHER RESOLVED, that Pennington County agrees to maintain and implement the plan as required by Minn. Rules pt. 9216.0140, subd. 1.

BE IT THEREFORE FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board submits this document to the Director of the Minnesota Office of Waste Management for final approval pursuant to applicable Minnesota laws and rules.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Murphy and upon vote unanimously carried.

Howard Person then reviewed a estimate of costs to rewrite the Capital Assistance Compost Grant Application received from Nancy Schumacher of JWP Environmental Composting Technologies, Inc. Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Penning to approve entering into an agreement with JWP Environmental Composting Technologies Inc. to rewrite the Capital Assistance Compost Grant Application for $5,660. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Auditor then read correspondence from JWP Environmental Composting Technologies Inc. requesting that the amount held over on their contract to update the Pennington County Solid Waste Plan be paid before the plan is approved. The County Board decided to hold JWP to their agreement and not pay any additional amounts of the contract until the Solid Waste Plan is approved.

Howard Person then discussed the hauling of the compost to the Alvin Asp farm. The County Board asked Howard to offer Alvin Asp $1/yard to haul it himself.

Rick Nordhagen discussed fuel pellet sales. The Hospital has started burning them again this year and he will be taking two loads to Fosston to see how they burn in their incinerator.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Murphy to approve bills. Motion carried.

DIRECTOR OF NURSING-LONG TERM CARE

Roseau Area Hospital District is a 45-bed acute care facility with 64 beds of Long Term Care. We currently have eight active physicians on staff with another one scheduled to arrive in August of 1992. We service 15,000 people in Northwestern Minnesota and southern Canada, with 2,000 of these people being over the age of 65. We are seeking a Director of Nursing who wishes to accept the challenge of providing quality long term care services to our golden citizens.

A 44-bed replacement facility is scheduled to begin construction in the spring of 1992. This facility will have 40 single bedrooms with the balance in semi-private. This will be attached to a present 20-bed skilled care facility. This will create an opportunity to provide resident centered quality care.

We are seeking an individual who is an R.N. with two to five years of supervisory experience in a Long Term Care setting with increasing responsible track record. This person will be responsible for long term care nursing, activities and social services. We provide a very competitive salary and above average benefits.

Night driving tips given

Driving at night is a challenge even for people with perfect eyesight. Statistics show that fatal accidents increase sharply at night, and that a motorist's risk of being involved in a fatal accident triples after dark.

With this in mind, and the days getting shorter as we head into winter, the Minnesota Safety Council offers the following suggestions for reducing the risks of night driving:

- Before you start out, check headlights, taillights and directional signals to be sure they work properly.
- Keep the windshield clean both inside and out.
- Have your headlight aim checked periodically.
- When leaving a lighted building, wait two to five minutes before driving to allow your eyes to adjust to the darkness.
- Concentrate on the driving task and keep your hands on the wheel. Talking on the phone and smoking are not recommended while driving. In fact, the nicotine and carbon monoxide contained in cigarettes can reduce night vision.
- Increase your following distance and lower your speed at night when it is harder to see and your reaction time is decreased.
- Turn your headlights on at twilight and use your low beams when following a car within 300 feet. When approaching another car use low beams within 500 feet. Use low beams in fog or rain.
- Have your eyes checked. If you have new glasses, allow your eyes to adjust to the new prescription before driving.
- Older drivers should drive with extreme caution at night. The average 60 year old need seven times more light than the average 20 year old to perform the same tasks.
- If an oncoming car does not switch to low beams, do not turn on your brights—that just makes two blinded drivers. Instead, watch the right side of the road, using the lines or edge of the pavement as a steering guide.

TIPS
For writing ads that sell . . .

Your want ad works best when it contains what the reader wants to know.

GIVE FACTS: Put yourself in the buyer's place. What would you want to know? List the item's age, condition, size, brand name, model and approximate value. If you are selling a car, state the type of transmission, mileage if it's low and special equipment.

DON'T EMBELLISH: It's risky business to exaggerate and it won't increase your chances of success. Misleading information may get a buyer to your door. It may also get you a punch in the nose.

AVOID ABBREVIATIONS: While a few abbreviations can save you space, too many of them strung together can create confusion. A confused reader won't take time to sort out your meaning.

INCLUDE PRICE: Surveys indicate that buyers are more interested in the merchandise when they know the price. This applies to everything from household furnishings to automobiles. Good merchandise, priced fairly, is the best guarantee of success.

BE AVAILABLE: A telephone number is fine if you're at home when your ad runs. If you're not going to be home, state the time you will be. Most people won't call back twice.

These suggestions can help you get started. For additional assistance, call us today. One of our want ad specialists will help you word your ad for best results.

Several accidents listed in local enforcement reports

The Law enforcement center in Thief River Falls received several reports of accidents during the past week.

Accidents. On November 28 at 3:43 p.m. police received a report of an accident on South Markley. According to the report, a parked car owned by Renae Strand, Thief River Falls, and driven by Kevin Strand Jr., Thief River Falls, was left running with a 3-year-old boy in it while parked facing North in the 400 block of South Markley. The child, which was left in a car seat, apparently put the car in gear and caused it to strike a 1990 Oldsmobile owned by Patrick Sabol, Grand Forks, ND, which was legally parked facing south. Damages were estimated at $100 to the Strand vehicle and $350 to the Sabol vehicle. There were no injuries.

On November 26 at 8:52 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on County road 17. According to the report, a car driven by Tracy Ann Swanson, route 4, Thief River Falls, was going south on County road 17 when a car driven by Edward Krystosek, Thief River Falls, was pulling up to a stop sign at the intersection of an airport road and County road 17. Krystosek was unable to stop the car on ice and it slid through the stop sign and onto the highway where the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $400 each.

On November 26 at 12:55 p.m. police received a report of an accident on Third street. According to the report, a car driven by Esther Johnson, route 6, Thief River Falls, was going west on Third street and a pickup driven by John Wayne Olson, Thief River Falls, was going west on Third street as well and attempted to turn into the left lane and hit the right front of the Johnson vehicle. Damages were estimated at $600 to the Johnson vehicle and $100 to the Olson vehicle.

On November 30 at 11:54 a.m. police received a report of an accident in the Kmart parking lot. According to the report, a car driven by Gwen Anderson, Thief River Falls, was going south in the Kmart parking lot and a car driven by Paul Tangquist, Thief River Falls, was going west in the parking lot when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Anderson vehicle and $600 to the Tangquist vehicle.

On November 30 at 2:22 p.m. police received a report of an accident on East Muzzy and Kendall. According to the report, a van driven by Merlin Schroeder, Thief River Falls, was going south on Kendall and a car driven by Cory JOrgenson, Thief River Falls, was going east on Muzzy when the vehicles collided. After the collision, the Jorgenson vehicle went into the yard of Ed Berggren and struck a tree. Damages resulting from the collision were estimated at $1,200 to the Schroeder vehicle, $700 to the Jorgenson vehicle and $200 to the Berggren yard.

On December 2 at 10:24 p.m. police received a report of an accident at First and Pennington. According to the report, a car driven by William Zeller, Thief River Falls, was going east on First and a car owned by Michael Olson and driven by Kristi Olson, Thief River Falls, was going west on First and making a left turn onto Pennington avenue when the vehicles collided. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Zeller vehicle and $2,000 to the Olson vehicle. Zeller was arrested for gross driving while intoxicated and refusal to submit to a test.

Assault. On November 25 police received a report that a pregnant woman had been hit in the abdoman by another woman. According to the report, the female victim, who is pregnant and a student at Lincoln high school, was struck by a 17-year-old female of Thief River Falls who now faces fifth degree assault.

Thefts. On November 26 at 2:18 p.m. Northland community college reported the theft of two VCRs. Police believe the VCRs were taken in separate incidents. One was taken from the men's locker room and another from the student lounge. Both were Panasonic VCRs valued at $400 each.

Pennington county sheriff's department has charges of dishonored checks against the following individuals: Monty Alan Johnson, route 2, Strandquist, age 22, for writing $111.88 in checks; Marcy Triepke, Thief River Falls, age 20, for writing $69.04 in checks; Jennifer Leigh Anderson, route 2, Detroit Lakes, age 19, for writing $40.74 in checks, and Scott John Hamilton, route 1, Goodridge, age 24, for writing $69.31 in checks.

On November 27 at 11:33 a.m. Hugo's reported that a shoplifter had been caught. A 40-year-old male faces charges of shoplifting.

On November 30 at 1:30 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report from Marie Engen, route 3, Thief River Falls, that a spruce tree on their property had been cut down and taken. It had a value of about $50.

On November 30 at 3:38 p.m. police received a report that a snowmobile and trailer had been stolen from a lot owned by the St. Hilaire elevator on North Davis. The snowmobile was a 1987 Arctic Cat El Tigre 6000 and was owned by David Sorenson, Thief River Falls. The trailer was owned by Arctco. Theft loss was estimated at $2,500.

On December 2 at 1:41 p.m. Kmart reported it had a shoplifter. A 17-year-old girl of route 1, Newfolden, faces a charge of theft.

Burglary. On November 29 at 10:23 a.m. a local resident reported that someone had taken his chainsaw which he had left in a garage he was building. Theft loss was estimated at $100.

Vandalism. On November 26 at 2:40 p.m. Maurices reported damage to three windows at the store. Damage loss, apparently caused by B-B pellets, was estimated at $900.

On November 1 at 3:42 p.m. Joe Lesmeister, Thief River Falls, reported that when he returned to his residence after Thanksgiving he found a front window broken. The cost to repair the window was estimated at $60.

On December 2 at 3:26 p.m. the police department received a report from the St. Hilaire Co-op elevator in Thief River Falls that trucks belonging to the elevator had been damaged. Employees reported that two boys had been caught in the trucks earlier. Missing from the trucks were speakers and an extension cord. In addition, glass gauges in the trucks were broken. Damages were estimated at $250. The incident is under investigation.

Driving while intoxicated. On November 28 the sheriff's department arrested Raymond Allen Jones, 46, Goodridge, for driving while intoxicated.

On November 28 Minnesota state patrol turned over Conley Dale Larson, route 2, Thief River Falls, to the law enforcement center for holding on a charge of gross driving while intoxicated.

On December 3 Eric Aslakson, 20, rural Thief River Falls, was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Dog attack. On November 29 at 7:43 p.m. Lowell Trochman, Thief River Falls, reported that while his son was being chased by a dog he fell and broke his arm. The incident is under investigation.

Consumption under age. On November 30 at 12:28 a.m. police were called to a loud party on South Crocker. The following were cited for consumption of alcohol under age: Jason Hoeft, 18, Thief River Falls; a 16-year-old male from Thief River Falls; and a 17-year-old female from Thief River Falls.

Future Leaders from Plummer hear Wetterling

Eight members of the Pershing high school chapter of Future Leaders of Americian (FLA) heard a presentation by Patty Wetterling, mother of Jacob Wetterling who was abducted, when they attended a workshop at Northland Community college in Thief River Falls recently.

Members attending were Karlene Jolly, AnMarie Haugen, Steph Nelson, Farrah Brantl, Marci DuChamp, Meekenzie Malwitz, Beth Killian and Amy Arlt.

Mayor Bob Carlson welcomed the audience at the Christmas tree lighting ceremony held in Elks park in Thief River Falls Sunday. Despite the -8 degree Fahrenheit readings, about 50 people turned out for the ceremony. Pictured next to Mayor Carlson is Larry Rohlf, president of the Chamber of Commerce and who was master of ceremonies.

Middle River concert Dec. 8

The Greater Middle River Community Choir will be presenting a Christmas cantata entitled "I Believe (He's the Son of God)" by John F. Wilson. There will be two presentations, the first at the First Lutheran Church in Middle River on Sunday, December 8, at 2 p.m., and an evening performance on the same date at 7 p.m. at Bethlehem Lutheran in Newfolden.

The choir consists of performers from Gustav Adolph of Strathcona, First Lutheran of Middle River, Our Savior's of Thief Lake, Bethlehem of Newfolden and United of Gatzke.

The performance will include musical selections with a Christmas theme and Victor Westlund narrating.

The youth group of Middle River will be serving lunch following the Middle River performance with the combined youth group serving pie and coffee following the Bethlehem performance.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Plummer Honor Society members attend meeting

Six members of the Pershing high school honor society in Plummer recently attended a convention in Proctor. Cheryl Greenwald, Dixie Koskela, Jenny Linder, Jenny Waller, Wendy Konickson and Darin Schmitz attended along with advisor Mrs. Brustad.

Rep. Peterson at RLF office this Thursday

Congressman Collin Peterson will conduct office hours at his office in the Wheat Growers building in Red Lake Falls Thursday, December 5, from 8 to 11 a.m. Those who want to meet with the Congressman are invited to call at the office during those hours.

Notice Of Proposed Property Taxes

The Pennington County board of commissioners will soon hold a public budget hearing to vote on the amount of property taxes to collect to pay for services the county will provide in 1992.

The property tax amounts below compare Pennington County's 1991 property taxes with the property taxes the county board proposes to collect in 1992:

1991 Property Taxes	Proposed 1992 Property Taxes	Increase from 1991-1992
$2,133,008.00	$2,487,212.00	16.6%

Attend The Public Hearing

All Pennington County residents are invited to attend the public hearing of the county board to express their opinions on the budget and the proposed amount of property taxes on:

Tuesday, December 10
5:00 p.m.
County Board Room
Pennington County Courthouse
101 Main Ave. North
Thief River Falls, MN

If the discussion of the budget cannot be completed, a time and place for continuing the discussion will be announced at the hearing.

You are also invited to send your written comments to:

Board of Commissioners
Pennington County Courthouse

We Like Tradition

Like quite a few people, I guess, we get a little hung up on tradition once in a while and it gets uncomfortable to have our values challenged.

At Christmas we like the giving of gifts which brings a sparkle to the eyes of youngsters and reminds us of the Wisemen who brought their gifts to the Christ Child. It makes us uncomfortable when it is indicated to us that gift-giving is wrong or even anti-Christ.

Is the giving of a gift less an act of love because it is purchased at a store from a commercial vendor? How did the Wisemen obtain the gifts they brought to Jesus? Undoubtedly they obtained them in the accepted form of exchange for that day.

Because of our traditions and beliefs, most of us take something like Christmas quite personally. We find it difficult to accept - in spite of our modern age - even a moderate departure from what we have come to expect year after year.

35 Buy Gifts in Operation Christmas

Thirty-five underprivileged children were provided with money and assistance to shop for gifts for their families recently through the annual Operation Christmas project conducted by the Thief River Falls Jaycees and Jaycee Women.

Members of the sponsoring organization accompanied the youngsters on the shopping tour, assisted them in selection and purchase of gifts (Ace Hardware was the shopping site this year) and wrapping them for Christmas giving. Lunch was furnished by McDonald's and Christmas stockings made by the Jaycee Women were distributed to each child participating. Items in the stockings were donated by local merchants.

Seven Poor Families Receive Substantial Gifts

A gentleman who is always thinking of the welfare of others went around among his friends Tuesday and raised enough money to purchase a large amount of groceries for seven poor families in this city. Each of the seven families received the following list of goods; Two 100 pound sacks of flour, 50 pounds of cream of wheat, $1 worth of sugar, $1 worth of coffee, 50 cents worth of tea and three chickens.

It is needless to say that seven families spent a very happy Christmas as a result.

They Foretell Christmas

The Stores of the City Have Their Windows Very Elaborately Decorated. This is a Constant Reminder That Christmas is Once More Near at Hand.

The elaborate decorations in the various stores in our city are a continuous reminder that there are only ten days in which you have to do your Christmas shopping. Their cry is "do it early;" "get first choice, while the stock is complete."

The merchants are doing all they can to make Christmas shopping easy for the early shoppers. The hardware stores, furniture stores, department stores, drug stores and grocery dealers have anything and everything that will make very fine Christmas presents for any member of the family - young or old. You should read their ads which are in the News this week. They will all do right by you.

An elaborate six o'clock Christmas dinner will be served at the Hotel Evelyn the evening of Dec. 25th. Fine music will be rendered through the evening.

Latin Club Has Party

The Christmas party of the Boys' and Girls' Latin club was held in the gymnasium of the high school on the evening of Dec. 10. The chief features of the evening were the humorous contests which were staged to the immense amusement of the onlookers, and, later, the distribution by "Santa Claus" of "joke" gifts to everyone present. At ten o'clock a delicious lunch, which had been prepared by the girls of the club, was served. An abundance of good music was furnished by those of the pupils who are skilled in the art. When the evening was spent, each one went home with a satisfied feeling that the time had been well spent, and with an unspoken wish that there may be "more Latin club parties and lots of 'em."

Topics of the Times

—Always original, this column takes occasion to wish its readers a Merry Christmas.

—Mistletoe is scarce this year, but maybe Thief River Falls folks don't need any extra incentive.

—Many a woman doesn't realize how helpless a husband can be until the time comes to set up the family Christmas tree.

—A straight line is the distance from a boy with a new pair of skates to the community rink.

—This is the time of the year when Dad's pocketbook looks as though an elephant had stepped on it.

—Wall street, we imagine, is a little bit dubious about the existence of Santa Claus.

—We haven't run across anyone yet who looked busy enough to be excused for writing it "Xmas."

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

[Luke 2: 1-20, King James Bible]

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that while they were there the days were accomplished for her to be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them and the glory of the Lord shone round about them, and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem and see this thing which is come to pass which the Lord has made known unto us. And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in the manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherd. But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Speaking Of . . .

Here is a little children's story about a Christmas Wish that came true, but grown-ups can read it too. Who knows, maybe your Christmas Wish, like Sally's will come true, too.

. . . A Christmas Wish that Came True

Once upon a time there was a little mouse named Michael. He lived with his mother and his father and his little sister, Sally, in a snug home in the corner of a hay loft in a barn in a far-away land.

Every day, Michael's father went to work to find food for the family. Every day, Michael's mother worked at cooking and cleaning and keeping their little home cozy.

Every day Michael and Sally would go outside. Michael would hold Sally's hand and help her to walk slowly, with the help of a cane, to the very edge of the loft, where he would lift her onto a comfortable seat on a bale of hay. You see, Sally's legs were crippled and did not work properly. She could not scurry and scamper like Michael and other mice.

Michael would then hurry down the wooden ladder from the loft and scamper through the barn, helping his family by picking up bits of grain from under the feet of the cattle that lived there. Sally loved to watch Michael as he went about his work. Sometimes she imagined what it would be like if she could run in the barn with Michael. She wished she could.

Michael would sometimes stop to gaze out the door of the barn. He loved to look at the busy world of the village outside the door.

He saw people passing by, carrying bundles and bags, leading donkeys laden with packs of food and goods from far-away places. He saw men and women working, building things, pushing and pulling carts of merchandise, selling things from wooden stalls, drawing water from the well, carrying laundry to the river, visiting with one another.

He heard people speaking to one another in many different voices as they talked, laughed and dickered over services and goods. He heard donkeys braying, cows lowing, pigs squealing, babies crying, loud voices, soft voices, old voices and young.

He smelled many things, the different foods that were being cooked and sold, the hay and grain that people were carrying from one place to another, the strong smells of animals that passed by the barn door, the spices and perfumes that were sold in the market.

Sometimes Michael would venture out of the barn and dash through the crowds of people to gather up extra special bits of food and trinkets that fell from the vendors' carts or food stalls, or people threw carelessly away. He always brought these treasures back to Sally so they could share them and enjoy them together.

One day Michael noticed that something was different. The small village had become even more crowded with people. He saw people of different colors, speaking different languages, wearing different clothes. The people he saw looked worn and tired, as if they had come from a great distance. They did not talk much, or laugh, or even smile. They passed by the door of the barn, whole families, mother, father, children, babies and grandparents, carrying bundles of food and clothing, some leading heavily-laden donkeys, some pulling carts.

"What is happening?" Michael asked himself. He hurried to the loft to tell Sally about the strange things he had seen.

"I wish I could see outside," said Sally. "I wish I could go to the barn door to see the people, too. What do you think is going to happen, Michael?"

Michael and Sally talked about the strange things that he had seen and what they could be until it was time to go home for supper. That night Michael told his mother and father about what he had seen.

"I can tell you what is going on," Father Mouse said. "The governor is taking a census. People from all around must come to register their families in our village. That is why there are so many new people here."

"Where will they all sleep?" asked Sally.

"I don't know. Our little village has barely enough room for its own, let alone extra beds for strangers," answered Mother Mouse. "But it is bed time for you and Michael right now, and be happy you have your own warm places to sleep this night."

Michael and Sally said their prayers and curled up in their beds, tails tucked tightly under the covers. They were fast asleep in no time.

Suddenly Michael's eyes opened. A bright light was shining right through the window of the loft. He blinked. It was the middle of the night! What was that bright light?

Michael ran to the edge of the loft and peeked down. The bright light shone through the barn windows, making the scene as bright as day. There below him, beside the resting cattle, Michael saw strangers, a man and woman and, standing nearby, a donkey laden with packs. The woman was lying on a bed made of straw, covered with a blanket, while the man sat beside her, holding her hand. Michael hurried back to wake Sally. As she dressed and prepared herself to go with him, Michael excitedly told her what he had seen.

"They are not from our village and they look tired! The lady is resting in the hay, and the man looks worried! And they have a donkey with them. It is strange! The donkey is so quiet. The cows are quiet too. They are just lying there, watching the strangers."

"The lady must be sick! Oh, hurry, Michael, help me go faster! Maybe we can help them. I must see what is happening."

The two made their way slowly to the edge of the loft, Sally leaning heavily on Michael's arm. They peered down into the barn and saw a scene such as their eyes had never before beheld.

The women lay smiling, on her bed of straw holding a tiny baby in her arms, so swaddled with blankets that at first it appeared to be merely a bundle. The man stood, smiling proudly, beside them.

Behind the three, arms outstretched, stood a tall person who shone with a radiant light so blinding and shimmering that he or she appeared to be floating above the ground.

Dazzling light filled every corner of the barn. It glittered and sparkled as if made of diamonds and gold. People stood about or knelt in the straw, looking adoringly at the tiny baby, faces shining with joy and wonder. Animals, too, were gazing at the child. Although the people and animals, and even the baby, were completely silent, Michael and Sally could hear the sound of many beautiful voices singing from far away.

"Oh, Michael, look at the baby. He is so beautiful. I wish I could touch Him."

"He must be someone special. See how everyone is looking at Him. And who is that shining person behind them? I'd better go wake mother and father so they can see this."

Michael ran back to wake his parents.

Sally's eyes glowed as she looked at the child. Her heart was filled with love for Him, and she wished that she could touch the baby more than anything else in the world.

Suddenly, the distant singing stopped. Everything was completely silent. The barn and the loft seemed to become dark. Light shone from only one place, from the face of the tiny baby in the woman's arms.

The mother lifted her head and looked up at Sally. She held the child toward Sally, smiling and nodding.

Sally smiled back and slid slowly off of the hay bale. Her feet touched the wooden floor of the loft, and then moved, carefully, hesitantly, toward the wooden ladder. One foot followed the other, gently, slowly, down the steep ladder.

She walked on the barn floor, slowly at first, then more and more quickly, at last nearly running, to the woman's side. The woman held up the child, and Sally took him gently, so gently, in her arms. She looked into his happy face and saw him smile up at her. Once again the bright light shown all around, and the beautiful angel voices sang. It was Christmas night and Sally's wish had come true. She held the Christ child.

And from that time to this, Sally could walk.

United Methodist Sunday school gives December 15 program

The United Methodist church Sunday school will present "A Christmas Wish For Everyone" December 15 following the morning worship service at about 11 a.m. The program will feature about sixty children, preschool to eighth grade, explaining what makes a Christmas wish. Each class has prepared a large Christmas card with one word featured, such as "Peace," "Joy" or "Love," things we all wish for others in this season.

The classes will also present examples of "Christmas Wishes" from scriptures throughout the Bible using the words on their greeting cards. Each class, from preschool through fourth grade will sing a Christmas carol in a different language (such as "Joy to the World" in Japanese) and all the children will present "Silent Night" in sign language. The older children will take part in the Nativity scene, narrations and music. Everyone is welcome.

Assembly of God Tabernacle presents Christmas program

On Sunday, December 15 at 4 p.m. the Assembly of God tabernacle Sunday school will present "The Christ of Christmas" which will include a slide presentation, recitations and music. The slide and tape presentation will show the children sharing their thoughts on Christmas, a Christmas skit by the junior and senior high class and testimonies of adults who will tell about what Jesus means to them. There will be songs sung by the children and a solo by Julie Waterworth. Everyone is invited to celebrate the Christ of Christmas with the congregation. Refreshments will be served following the program.

First Baptist church Sunday school program Dec. 22

The First Baptist church Sunday school of Thief River Falls will present "A Musical Portrait of the Birth of Christ" December 22 at 7 p.m. at the church. The program will feature the children's, youth and adult choirs with narration. The scriptural narration and vocal selections tell the the story of the coming of Christ into the world. Following the program, refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited.

Trinity Sunday school presents "Beg Lady Finds Christmas"

Trinity Lutheran church Sunday school will present "The Beg Lady Finds Christmas" December 22 with an instumental prelude by several of the children at 6:15 p.m. followed by the program at 6:30 p.m. The program will begin with a skit which will set the tone for the Nativity and musical portions of the program. This part of the program will be presented by 130 children in the pre-school through grade six. Everyone is invited.

Precious Seed Baptist church to give Dec. 21 Christmas program

The Precious Seed Baptist church Sunday school will present "Christ Was Born To Save You" December 21 at 2 p.m. at the church. The program will include a play with Rachael Forsberg, Tammy Myhrer and Marcy Myhrer as candy cane characters. Renae Forsberg will be the narrator and scripture reading will be done by Larry Myhrer. Music will be provided by Marcy Myhrer, Rachael Forsberg and Tammy Myhrer and the church choir with Faith Myhrer and Rebecca Forsberg as pianists. Everyone is welcome.

Zion to present "Three Wee Kings" as Christmas program

On Sunday, December 15 at 4 p.m. Zion Lutheran church Sunday school will present "Three Wee Kings," an adaptation of the well-loved story of the Magi who followed the star to find the king. This musical fantasy brings together all the human and animal characters from the Christmas story (plus a few heretofore "unknown" characters): kings, shepherds, an angel, a donkey, a camel, goats, lambs, lions and even talking stars. These characters and their themes are taken from scripture.

As the story unfolds each group discusses who is to be THE king, wondering if one from their group will be chosen. The journey of the kings and the animal ends at the manger, where the angel shows them all that the King is a human baby who will be called the "Good Shepherd," the "Lamb of God," the "King of Kings" and the "Bright and Morning Star."

Featuring children in preschool through high school, this program has a cast of 40. The songs range from such Christmas traditionals as "We Three Kings" and "O Come All Ye Faithful" to such humorous new numbers as "The Camel's Lament" and "Today the Jungle" to rock and roll in "The Lamb From the Flock of David." Taped accompaniment will be used for this program.

Kelsi Holland is the featured soloist in "The Lamb From the Flock of David." Beth Carpenter and Kristen Nabben sing the duet in "This is the King of Kings" while Andrea Olin and Kimberley Schneider preform the duet in "Carol of the Stars."

Program directors are Jim and Heidi Hoks with student assistant directors Melanie Krepp and Dan Lavalier. Music directors are Jean Larson and Muriel Olin. Sets, costumes, make-up and ushering crew are eighth grade students.

St. John church to hold musical Sunday school program

The St. John Lutheran church Sunday school will present "God Come In the Flesh" December 15 at 7 p.m. The program theme reflects the Biblical truth that Jesus Christ is both true God and true Man in one person. This will be expressed through use of the traditional Christmas story found in Luke 2 and other scriptural passages which deal with the subject. There theme verses for the program are John 1: 1,14 "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God. The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only-begotten son of the Father, full of grace and truth."

Sixty-six Sunday school children have memorized parts and songs. The program will follow the live Nativity which will feature a solo by Mitch Borneman and a quartet consisting of Myron Hallauer, Myron Peterson, Mitch Borneman and Rev. Daryl Rothchild.

Holiday Travel Tips

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety offers this list of holiday travel tips to help make the winter driving season safer:

- Make sure your vehicle is properly winterized. Check lights, tires, fluids, belts, brakes, battery and wipers—get a full tune-up before heading on longer trips.
- Refill the fuel tank often; especially in rural areas, an open station may be hard to find on a holiday.
- On longer trips, plan to make periodic stops, even in cold weather. It's important for children to stretch and get rid of excess energy, and drivers need frequent refreshers, too.
- Put gifts and other heavy items in the trunk if possible, or secure them tightly in the back of the vehicle. In a collision or even a sudden stop, loose objects flying around the inside of the car can cause serious injury. Keep loose items off the dashboard as well.
- Secure yourself and everyone else in the vehicle with a seat belt, and in a child car seat if applicable, no matter how short the trip. (For information on child car seats, contact the Minnesota Passenger Protection Program at 612-224-5121 or 1-800-B-BELTED.) Eighty percent of all vehicle collisions happen within 25 miles of home.
- Remove bulky outdoor clothing before fastening your seat belt. For maximum effectiveness, seat belts should be snug against the body. This is particularly true for infants and toddlers in car seats—the car seat harnesses are not made to fit over bulky clothing. Dress the child warmly, but leave the bulky snowsuit off until you arrive at your destination. Bring a warm blanket in the car to lay over the child after he or she has been properly secured in the car seat.
- Secure children in car seats indoors while another person warms up the vehicle, for the comfort of the child. A comfortable, happy child is less likely to distract the driver.
- Never leave a child unattended in a vehicle.
- Always carry a winter survival kit in your car. Winter survival kits can be made at home and consist of candles and matches, a brightly colored cloth to attract other drivers to your car, quarters for phone calls, a plastic whistle, a flashlight, and high-energy snacks. Also carry extra blankets and wraps during the winter months.

State Patrol to emphasize enforcement during holidays

In order to insure that this holiday season is a safe one for all Minnesotans, the State Patrol will be emphasizing enforcement of drinking and driving and seat belt laws, the Department of Public Safety announced today.

"We hope that all Minnesotans will celebrate their holidays by driving sober, always fastening their seat belts and properly putting their children in child car seats," said Tom Frost, Department of Public Safety Commissioner. "And our State Patrol will be out in force to help remind them to enjoy their celebrations by traveling safely."

Last year, 11 people died and 377 were injured over Thanksgiving, 3 died and 662 were injured over Christmas and 4 people died and 564 were injured over New Year's. Crashes for the holidays in 1990 were 845 for Thanksgiving, 1,907 for Christmas and 1,457 for New Year's.

"The State Patrol would like to help people avoid the thousands of crashes that occur over the holiday season," Lt. Col. Dennis Lazenberry of the State Patrol said. "If you are out celebrating, please use good judgement."

People who are wearing their seat belts and involved in a crash are 60 percent more likely to escape death or serious injury than those who are not. Statewide surveys indicate about one-half of Minnesotans currently buckle up when they travel. There is a $25 fine for not wearing your seat belt.

In 1990 in Minnesota, 235 people were killed and 6,762 were injured in alcohol-related crashes. The groups most often represented were 20-24 years of age and 30-34 years of age. 41 percent of all deaths and 15 percent of injuries in all crashes were determined to be alcohol-related.

Space heaters, fireplaces can cause home fire

Space heaters and other heating equipment are the number one cause of home fires. With winter on its way, now is the time to give some thought to fire hazards that may threaten your family this winter. The Minnesota Safety Council offers these suggestions to help you warm up without worry:

•Begin the season by having the furnace checked by a professional to ensure that it is in good working order. The flue and chimney also should be cleaned each year.

•Keep babies and toddlers away from all sources of heat by watching them closely and using physical barriers. Warn young children that they must not touch heating devices. Older children and teens should be instructed about proper use of heating equipment.

•Always have a screen in front of the fireplace to prevent flying sparks from landing on carpets and furniture.

•Burn only a limited amount of paper—to start the fire—and dry, seasoned wood or logs. Never use evergreen branches or anything that will flare up. Do not use chemicals, fuels or other substances on the fire. Holiday gift wrappings should not be put into the fireplace—often they contain chemicals that will give off hazardous fumes.

•Avoid huge, blazing fires; it is best not to leave a fire unattended.

•A fireplace will use oxygen and create carbon monoxide. Ventilation is recommended to help avoid asphyxiation.

•Do not store papers, wood or other flammable materials near any heating device.

•Fill oil (or kerosene) fueled space heaters outside (never while in use). Burning space heaters should not be left unattended.

•Avoid using extension cords for space heaters. If such cords are necessary they should be UL tested, as short as possible, and of the proper wire gauge to handle high wattage. Be sure to keep space heaters in a place where they will not tip over.

Food Shelf Needs Community Help

by David Hill
Associate Editor

November was the highest census month in recent memory for the Area Food Shelf in Thief River Falls. During the week of Thanksgiving, when everyone is giving thanks for a bountiful harvest, 63 individuals or families required assistance from the Area Food Shelf.

November is typically a high census month, said Arlene Swenson, director of the food shelf. It is a busy month because it is a time of transition for individuals who have seasonal employment.

Most of the individuals and families who received help, Swenson said, were not students. Students typically need assistance in the fall when they are waiting for loans and other assistance. They also usually go home for Thanksgiving.

This November has been an unusually high month, Swenson said. It should tell us something about the economy, she added.

As a result, the food shelf is in need of just about any food donation, canned or boxed. Specifically, the food shelf could use fresh fruit, peanut butter and meat.

The Area Food Shelf is sponsored by the Area Ministerial Association and the many churches that belong to the organization. The food shelf is recipient of donations from many other organizations and individuals, as well. Most recently, it received a donation from the Apple Valley trucking coropany that brought the large desorber through the community.

With the donations it receives, the food shelf purchases food stuffs at a greatly reduced price from the North Country Foodbank in Crookston, which is a regional distributor for food shelves.

The food shelf is not equipped to handle clothing donations. Swenson said Seventh-day Adventist Church does a wonderful job of handling clothing donations. Recently, Swenson said, Jean Hellie has been knitting mittens for those who visit the foodshelf. "I wish she could have seen the delighted smiles of the children who have received the mittens," Swenson said.

Hellie said it's something she does in her spare time. It hasn't cost her anything either. Hellie has been using what's left from her knitting. "It's something I can do on cold nights," Hellie said.

Anyone interested in making a donation of either food or money to the Area Food Shelf can contact Arlene Swenson at 681-4708 or by sending your donation to P.O. Box 802, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

CHRISTMAS RECIPES

Julekaka

2 pkg yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup water
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
2 1/2 tsp salt
3 eggs
1/2 cup currants
1/4 cup chopped citron
1 cup raisins
1/2 cup candied cherries
3 crushed cardamoms, if desired
Flour to make a stiff dough.

Mix well and let rise. Punch down and mold into 2 large round loaves. Let rise double in bulk and bake 40-45 minutes at 350 degrees. Frost w/powdered sugar icing.

Poppy Seed Bread

1 cup margarine
1 1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
2 tsp baking powder
2 Tbsp Poppy seed, soaked in 1 cup buttermilk
1/2 tsp salt
2 eggs, separated
1 tsp soda

Beat margarine sugar, and egg yolks. Add dry ingredients with poppy seed buttermilk mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into mixture with vanilla. Mix 1/2 cup sugar with 2 tsp cinnamon and put several Tbsp of mixture in greased loaf pans (8x5x2 1/2 inches) Sprinkle with half the sugar-cinnamon mixture. Add the rest of the batter into each pan and bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Christmas Bread

1 cup melted butter
2 tsp salt
2 cakes yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup luke warm water
8-9 cups flour
1/2 cup chopped almonds
1 cup chopped raisins
2 cups scalded milk
1 cup sugar
1 Tbsp. cardamom
1/2 Cup sliced candied cherries
1/2 cup citron.

Add butter to scalded milk. Add salt and sugar. When lukewarm stir in yeast which has been dissolved in water. Stir in 4 cups flour. Put in warm place about 2 hours. Punch down. Add cardamom, almonds, cherries, raisins and citron. Work in remainder of flour until dough is soft. Let rise until double. Knead slightly. Divide into 2 parts. Let rise until double and bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 55 minutes. Glaze with confectioners sugar icing.

Caramel Cookies

1 cup soft butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tsp. vanilla, if desired
1 tsp soda (in flour)
3 cups flour
1 cup chopped nuts
about 1/2 tsp. salt

Mix in order given, then shape into a roll, and chill in refrigerator over night. Slice thin and bake in moderate oven. (Dough may be frozen, too)

About 355 degrees for 12 minutes seems about right. Watch carefully.

Christmas Nut Balls

1/2 lb. butter
1-1/2 cup nuts
2 cups flour
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Use soft butter. Cream with hands. Add sugar and continue.

Almond Bark Fruit Loops Cookies

2 lbs white almond bark
2 cups rice krispies
2 cups fruit loops cereal
2 cups colored mini-marshmallows
2 cups salted nuts

Melt almond bark in a double boiler. Mix dry ingredients and pour the melted bark over all. Stir until coated and drop on waxed paper. Work fast as it hardens fast.

Orange Balls

1 lb. vanilla wafers, crushed
1/4 lb. butter softened
1 cup frozen or juice concentrate
1 lb. powdered sugar
flaked coconut

Mix well, form into balls, roll in flaked coconut. Place on cookie sheet. Set.

Angel Crisps

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp soda
1 tsp. cream of tarter
4-1/3 cups flour

Form into balls, roll in granulated sugar and flatten. Bake at 350 degrees until cookies are crisp.

Candy Cane Freeze

1/2 gallon Edy's Peppermint Ice Cream (available October through December)
1 cup hot fudge
16 fresh mint leaves
16 mini candy canes

Scoop peppermint ice cream into shallow dessert bowls or plates. Warm hot fudge and pour over peppermint ice cream. Garnish each dish with fresh 2 mint leaves and 2 mini candy canes. 8 servings.

Christmas Cherry Candle Cake

1 pks. cherry angel cake mix
1 No. 2 can (2 1/2 cups) crushed pineapple
1 pkg lime flavored gelatin
1 cup heavy cream few drops red food coloring gumdrop bows
1 - 10" red candle

Prepare batter and bake in 10" tube pan. Cool. Meanwhile prepare pineapple filling; drain pineapple, add enough water to syrup to make 1 3/4 cups. Heat mixture to boiling; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill till partially set; beat till light and fluffy. Fold in drained pineapple. Whip 1 cup heavy cream, fold into gelatin mixture, tint pale green. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds when spooned.

To assemble cake: Cut crosswise in 3 equal layers, spread bottom layer with half gelatin mixture, add second layer and spread in remaining gelatin, top with third layer. Chill till firm, 2-3 hours. Just before serving, whip 1 1/2 cup heavy cream and tint pale pink with red food coloring, spread on top and sides of cake. Trim cake with gumdrop bows. Secure candle in center. Holly leaves around candle on top of cake. Makes 12-16 servings.

Caramel Frosting

1/2 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 cup milk
2 cups conf. sugar (more if needed)

Melt butter, add brown sugar. Boil over low heat 2 minutes, stirring all the time. Add milk. Keep stirring until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Cool. Add sifted sugar. Beat well after each addition. Add pecans if desired. May be pressed on sides of cake. Add cream if it gets too thick.

Makes a lot of frosting but keeps well - add cream and heat.

Noel Eggnog Pie

1 pkg lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 pt. vanilla ice cream
1/4 tsp nutmeg
3/4 tsp rum flavoring
2 stiff beaten egg whites
2 well-beaten egg yolks
golden Coconut Shell

(Combine 3 Tbsp soft butter with 2-3 1/2 oz. cans flaked coconut. Press in buttered pie-plate, building up sides. Bake in slow oven 300 degrees 20-25 minutes.)

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Cut ice cream in 6 chunks; add to gelatin; stir till melted. Chill till partially set. Add nutmeg and flavoring; stir in egg yolks; fold in egg whites. Pour into cooled Golden Coconut Shell and chill till set. Top with fluffs of whip cream; dust with nutmeg.

Egg Nog Pie

1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp nutmeg
1/4 tsp salt
1 Tbsp gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/2 tsp vanilla or rum flavoring
3 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup shipping cream (whipped)

Scald milk in top of double boiler; beat egg yolks. Add sugar nutmeg and salt. Stir in hot milk; return to double boiler and continue cooking and stirring until mixture coats spoon. Soak gelatin in cold water. Let stand 5 minutes or until it softens, add to custard mixture and stir until gelatine dissolves. Add flavoring. Beat Egg whites until almost stiff. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and beat until very stiff, fold into custard mixture and pour into crumb shell. Chill for several hours. Spread with whipped cream flavored and sweetened to taste. Garnish with chopped nuts. (Can use regular baked pie shell if desired.)

Candied Fruit Cake

1 lb. pitted dates, cut up
1 lb. candied pineapple
1 lb. candied cherries
2 cups flour
4 eggs
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
8 cups (2 lbs.) pecan halves

Cut dates & pineapple in course pieces. Mix with whole cherries. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Mix with fruit. Beat eggs and gradually beat in sugar. Combine with first mixture. Add pecans and mix weith hands until nuts are thoroughly distributed. Pack into two 9 inch spring form pans which have been greased again. BAke in oven at 275 degrees about 1 1/4 hours.

• Cakes can also be baked in two 9x5x3 in. loaf pans. Bake these for 1 1/2 hours.

Buttermilk Popovers

3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/8 tsp. salt
3/4 cup buttermilk
2 eggs
1 Tbsp plus 1 tsp. reduced-calorie margarine (tub), melted

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. On sheet of wax paper sift together flour and salt; set aside.

In blender process remaining ingredients on medium speed until combined; add flour mixture and process on low speed until smooth.

Set four 6-ounce custard cups on baking sheet and place in oven for 5 minutes. Spray each cup with nonstick cooking spray and pour 1/4 of batter into each cup. Return to oven and bake for 20 minutes. Turn oven control to 325 degrees and bake 20 minutes longer. Remove popovers from custard cups and serve immediately (popovers will fall slightly after removing from oven).

Each serving provides: 1/2 Protein; 1 Bread; 1/2 Fat; 1/4 milk.

Blueberry Pumpkin Muffins

1 2/3 cup flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp cinnamon
1/2 tsp allspice
1 cup cooked pumpkin
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup blueberries
1 tbsp. flour
Streusel

Combine first six ingredients. Combine pumpkin and evaporated milk until blended. Cream shortening and sugar in large mixer bowl. Add egg. Beat until mixture is fluffy. Add flour mixture alternately with pumpkin mixture, beating well after each addition. Combine blueberries and flour. Gently stir into batter. Fill 15 paper-lined muffin tins 3/4 full. Sprinkle streusel over top of muffin. Bake at 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

Streusel:

Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Cut in 1 tablespoon butter until mixture is crumbly.

Dreamy Caramel Nutcracker Sweets

1/2 gallon Edy's Nutcracker Sweets Ice Cream (only available October - December)
1 cup caramel topping
10 Wafer cookies
1/4 cup Crushed nuts (cashews, peanuts or almonds)
10 Maraschino cherries

Warm caramel topping in saucepan over low heat. Scoop out Nutcracker Sweets ice cream into serving dishes. Place wafer cookie on side of ice cream scoop, partially inside the ice cream scoop. Spoon warm caramel over ice cream. Garnish top of caramel with crushed nuts and a maraschino cherry. 10 servings.

Pumpkin Gingerbread Surprise Ice Cream

One quart Edy's Pumpkin Ice Cream (available October through December)
1 cup Ginger Snaps
1/2 bag of mini marshmallows
2 tablespoons butter
Pumpkin allspice or nutmeg

Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat; slowly add marshmallows, stirring constantly until melted.

Place ginger snaps on bottom of serving bowls or dessert plates. Scoop pumpkin ice cream and place on top of ginger snaps. Spoon melted marshmallow over pumpkin ice cream. Sprinkle pumpkin allspice or nutmeg on top of marshmallow for garnish. 4 servings.

Ice Cream Truffles

Truffle Ingredients:
1 quart each of Edy's Grand Ice Cream's Vanilla, Chocolate Fudge Mousse and Almond Praline and Edy's Grand Light Ice Cream's Cafe Au Lait
1/2 cup coconut
1/4 cup cocoa powder
1/4 cup finely chopped pecans
1/4 cup chocolate sprinkles

Chocolate Sauce Ingredients:
8 oz. bittersweet or semi-sweet chocolate
3/4 cup whipping cream
5 tablespoons Frangelico (or hazelnut) liquor

Utensils Needed:
1 1/2 inch diameter ice cream dipper
Bamboo skewers or toothpicks for rolling
Tray lined with wax paper
Double boiler

Truffles Method:

Toast coconut in oven for 10 minutes at 350°

Have topping ingredients ready. This works best with each topping on a dinner size plate to allow room for rolling. Also have ready a wax paper-lined tray for coated truffles.

Scoop one flavor at a time making 4 small scoops of each flavor. Scoop vanilla ice cream and roll in toasted coconut, using skewer or toothpick inserted in truffle to make rolling easier.

Set coated truffle on wax paper-lined tray.

Working quickly, scoop other three vanilla truffles and coat with toasted coconut. Place vanilla truffles in freezer while you roll the other flavors.

Repeat rolling process, rolling Almond Praline truffles in the chopped pecans; the Cafe Au Lait in the cocoa powder and the Chocolate Fudge Mousse in the chocolate sprinkles. Freeze truffles 2-3 hours.

Chocolate Sauce Method:

In a double boiler melt chocolate. Add cream and liquor. Remove from heat. Stir until well-blended.

To Serve:

Place one each of the flavored truffles on a dessert plate that has been layered with chocolate sauce. 4 servings.

Auction Sale

The West Steiner Homemakers' Club served lunches during the four-party auction sale, Melvin Saugen being one of them, at the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory, Wednesday evening, November 6, starting at 4 o'clock. Members assisting with serving were Darlene Muzzy, Shirley Yonke, Irene Rausch, Theresa Walrath, Angeline Larson and Evonne Moe.

Ozark/Branson Trip

Thirty-four members of the Overland Travel Club boarded the Carpenter Charter bus in Thief River Falls Monday morning, November 11, by 7 o'clock, stopping in Erskine to pick up Helen Clementson and Alma Peterson, and continuing on to Grand Rapids, for a coffee break and to pick up Agnes Seedorf. The day seemed long, due to cloudy weather with some rain. Overnight arrangements had been made with the Super 8 Motel in Des Moine, IA. The morning of the 12th was again cloudy with intermittent rain, but before the bus reached Branson the sun was shining. That evening everyone enjoyed the program presented by the "Foggy River Boys". As Esther Evanson, one of the tourists had a birthday the previous day, she was given the big hug by one of the Foggy River Boys. For the next four nights lodging had been scheduled at the Holiday Inn in Branson. Wednesday the 13th, was started with shopping in downtown Branson, followed with a tour of the "College of the Ozarks", where the students work their way through college. The afternoon was spent at the "Engiers Mall," and the evening at the "Memory Makers" show. After the show the group was taken downtown to see the Christmas lights a beautiful sight. The morning of the 14th, was started with a tour of the "Trout Hatchery," followed with a stop at the "Stone Hill Winery" with tasting of the wine. Lunch stop was at a very unusual bakery. In the afternoon some of the travelers attended "The Roy Clark Show" and others went to the "Factory Outlet Mall." The evening country show was entitled "Moe Bandy." That evening the bus driver, Randy Carpenter and his wife, Jennie were happy to meet their son, Mark and wife Ladonna, and their daughter, Roxanna and husband, Robert, with their little girl, who is Randy and Jeannie's first grandchild, for a good visit at the motel. Friday the 15th, was a full day with the first stop at "The Purse Shop," after which the group had a picture taken, followed with an hour spent at "Mutton Hollow." The afternoon was spent at "Silver Dollar City." There they stayed until dark to better appreciate the 70 to 100 miles of lights, a really fairyland sight creating a Christmas mood. Later in the evening everyone attended the "Ray Stevens Show." The last morning in Branson, the group enjoyed a southern breakfast with their tour guide, Norma Judah. It was raining, which helped make the parting less difficult and glad in a way that they were leaving instead of just coming, as other buses were doing. The rain followed the bus all the way to Cartridge, MG, where the group enjoyed a chapel tour displaying "The Precious Moments" figurines, first made in 1978. Overnight was again at the Super 8 Motel in DesMoine, IA. The groups last day together was now Sunday, November 17. Stops were made at Clear Lake, IA, and again at Rogers, MN. The rain seemed to follow the bus as it continued northward, but it never hit icy roads. Again Arno and Agnes Seedorf were dropped off at Deer River, and Helen Clemetson and Alma Peterson at the rest stop by Erskine. The rest of the passengers got off in Thief River Falls. They were Bernard and Lucille Myers from Mahnomen, Paul and Harriet Grandbois and Ksough and Lillian Fournier all from Red Lake Falls, Johnny and Elsie Clow from Hallock, Carl and Adeloyde Johnson from Gelo, Melvin and Harriet Copletran and Leonard and Virginia Field all from Stephen, and Cheryl Smsky of St. Hilaire. The rest were from Thief River Falls and included Myrtle Thune, Esther Evenson, Richard and Myrna Olson, Ray and Inez Gleon, LaVerne and Maxine Filpula, Leonard and Vivien Brekke, Bill and Joyce Helbasch, Verdeen and Eunice Grove, and Helen Wysocki, besides Randy and Jeannie Carpenter and Eldon and Evonne Moe, the bus drivers and tour guides.

Weekend of November 8-10 and November 15-17, a houseguest at the home of Jim Moe was Wayne Swenson, who was deer hunting in our area.

Late afternoon Saturday, November 16, Lloyd and Harryet Larson were callers at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, the Eugene Kleinwachters at Strandquist.

Mrs. Alfred Solem attended the meeting of the Esther circle at the Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon, November 13. Hostesses were Lyla Quam and Elma Ollie. There were seventeen members present. Mrs. Hannah Homseth led Bible study.

Thursday afternoon November 21, Mrs. Harryet Larson attended the meeting of the Esther circle at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt.

West Steiner Homemakers' Luncheon

The Strandquist Senior Citizens seem to be the few who have been doing anything this past week but relaxing from entertaining hunters. On November 21, they had an early Thanksgiving dinner at Irene's Cafe with 15 registered. After a delicious dinner they went to the Center for a business meeting. Gladys Johnson opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving poem. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved and plans were made for Santa Claus Day on December 7, at which time they will serve coffee and cookies and have their crafts for sale. The Center will be open at 1 p.m. The Senior Citizens decided to give the Legion Auxiliary $35 for candy for Santa Claus day. They played games until all the prizes were given away. There were three winners, Adeline Stennes, Evelyn Kline and Toni Kasprowicz. After they said the Pledge of Allegiance and prayed Table Grace, lunch with coffee and goodies were served, brought by the ladies.

LaVerne Rasmussen from Chicago, IL, and George Rasmussen, who is staying with Glen Rasmussen of Walker, had dinner at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's on Wednesday before returning to their homes. They had been up to International Falls, to Allan Rasmussen's since Thursday.

Earl and Ebba Sihlberg say they have been in seclusion since all the hunters have gone to their homes. They really enjoy the time of hunting to have all their friends around, but it takes a few days to rest up at their ages. Most of us agree with them.

Paul, Kristopher and Kenrick Anderson attended the Baptist Harvest Festival on Sunday afternoon, while Shirley attended the Convenience store in Strandquist.

Elsie Lefrooth visited Peter E. and Pearl Thompson on Friday and Saturday and helped Danny and Jeramy Johnson cut up their deer. On Friday evening Pearl and Elsie went to the dinner at Heritage School.

Betsy Thompson was one who [illegible] to Bronson on Friday to the D.A.Z. and helped serve cookies at the craft sale.

Carol and Beverly Lindstrom were in Strandquist on Monday, where Carol was doing the assessments for the county and making many not-so-happy residents before he is done. Beverly was along to see so he would not get lost in the city.

Leatrice Larson returned from Thief River Falls on Monday, after a few days stay at the hospital there. We all wish her a good recovery, as she has certainly put up a valiant fight for a long time.

The Peter E. Thompsons and their families celebrated Michelle Johnson's birthday last week. On Monday Pearl Thompson accompanied Isaac and Betsy Thompson to Thief River Falls, to the Light for the Lost banquet, at the Assembly of God church there.

Lisa Lefrooth visited Elsie Lefrooth on Wednesday afternoon.

By next week most of the residents will be out of seclusion and be entertaining friends and relatives on Thanksgiving Day, so until next week, we wish you all a very nice and happy Thanksgiving Day.

City budget hearing almost unnoticed

Mayor Bob Carlson offered advise to the state's legislators following the 1991 budget hearing in Thief River Falls Tuesday night.

With no one in attendance — other than city officials and media — Mayor Carlson concluded that the public has confidence in its local representation. "Spending is not out of control at the local level," Carlson said.

Tuesday night the city held its second annual budget hearing. The hearings became required by law when the legislature adopted the Truth In Taxation laws all the while hinting that spending at the local level was out of control.

The lack of interest should send legislators a message that some repealing of law should take place in the next session, Carlson said. Carlson did add, however, that it was too bad that no one was there to listen to the excellent presentation made by Roger DeLap, city finance officer, and Don Stewart, community development director. Following the presentation, the meeting was adjourned and the city council will formally adopt its 1992 budget on December 10, and bring to an end the budget development process which begun June 10th.

Overall, the city will take in about $15,036,088 in revenue and spend $15,482,327. Use of fund reserves will account for the $446,239 deficit. Revenue comes from a variety of funds including: 12.8 per cent from liquor sales, 35.2 per cent from electric sales, 9.1 per cent from water and wastewater fees, 6.8 per cent from airport -sanitation-miscellaneous enterprise funds, 2.6 per cent from interest earned, 5.9 per cent from state and federal airport aids, 5.9 per cent from local tax collection, 4.2 per cent from liquor and electric transfers, 11.7 per cent from Minnesota state aids, and 5.8 per cent from miscellaneous governmental revenues.

Expenses include the following: 33.3 per cent for the cost of sales for liquor and electric, 8.4 per cent from enterprise operating expense, 24.6 per cent payroll expenses, 9.3 per cent lease payments, 9.8 per cent capital outlay, 4.3 per cent transfers to other funds, and 10.3 per cent general government expenses.

The required Truth and Taxation publication and generic notices sent to property owners will show an increase in the "local" tax levy allo-

"See Red, Think Sober" is the message provided by the Thief River Falls Chemical Awareness Task Force as it emphasizes responsible driving during the holiday season. Red ribbons are being distributed to local business places by the organization which is joined by local law enforcement agencies in encouraging people to take ribbons and tie them to the antennas on their cars. The ribbons are intended to be a reminder to people to refrain from driving after drinking and to use the designated driver idea. Task Force members Donna Olson (seated) and Charlotta Bjorgaard are shown with law enforcement officers (left to right), seated, Police Chief Ken Froschhalser, Sheriff Bob Wold and State Patrol Captain Lynn Daniels; standing, police officer Jim Fulton, state patrolman Jerry Jansen; and state patrolman Brett Kent. Captain Daniels said the state patrol's emphasis for enforcement is on seat belt use, speed and driving while under the influence. Chief Froschhalser and Sheriff Wold added their warning against drinking and driving and encouraged caution when considering driving during storms.

City Council invites casino to be built

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Thief River Falls city council has approved an invitation to the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians to establish a gaming casino in the city of Thief River Falls and authorized the "finalization of agreement" with the band.

Roughly 15-minutes after the meeting that was announced last Friday began it was concluded. Mayor Elect Robert Reeve said he felt comfortable with the agreement. Today, he said, was not a time to rehash all of the same arguments heard at the public meeting earlier this year. Reeve said the council has had ample time to consider the proposal.

Between 40 and 50 people showed up for the meeting, many hanging onto the beliefs they held when the issue was raised. Thief River Falls Mayor Bob Carlson said the issue was probably one of the most difficult he has faced in his tenure. It is by no means over, the decision for the Red Lake Band council includes other options as well. Crookston and East Grand Forks are still in the running for the casino.

During the meeting, the city council voted six in favor, none against and one abstaining on the resolution. Mayor Bob Carlson's vote on the matter counted as an abstention. According to the city's attorney, Paul Ihle, Mayor Carlson's vote counted as an abstention because he said he approved of the resolution only if the land was held in fee and not in trust.

Following weeks of speculation about what was contained in the compact, a copy of the agreement was made available to the public. Some of the highlights include the following:

- Types of gaming activities not to be conducted at the casino include pull tabs, tip boards and bingo.
- Control of gaming will conform to state gaming regulations.
- The band will not sell or give away or permit another to sell or give away intoxicating liquor, beer or wine at the casino.
- The casino will not operate between 3 a.m. and 12 noon on Sundays.
- In lieu of taxes, the casino will pay an amount equal to property taxes as in the ordinary course of business as with all other buildings, improvements and real property in Pennington county, however, there shall be a freeze on the amount for the first six years of the agreement.

Copies of the proposed agreement are on file with the city clerk.

The draft resolution approved by the council is as follows:

"Whereas, the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians (the RLB) have proposed to establish a gaming casino in Pennington county (the county) within the City of Thief River Falls (the City) on property located at 1565 Highway 59 S.E. in Auditor's Replat of Block Seven of Park Addition, presently known as the vacant Red Owl Supermarket building; and,

"Whereas, the RLB has requested that the City provide the RLB with a resolution tendering an invitation to the RLB to locate the gaming casino within the City, which resolution will be delivered to the Governor of the State of Minnesota and any other entities which the RLB deems appropriate; and,

"Whereas, the Federal Code of the United States of America "Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, Title 25, Section 2701 through 2721," which provides for clear standards and regulations for the conduct of gaming on Indian lands, recognizes such facilities as a legal business; and,

Whereas, the State of Minnesota has approved Gaming Compacts with the RLB and other Indian Bands, Tribes and Nations to conduct these businesses within the State and, specifically, for the RLB in the City of Warroad, MN; and,

"Whereas, the City, in its hiring and all other matters of its conduct, has, as a matter of policy and resolution, affirmed that it does not and will not discriminate on the basis of age, sex, race, language or color; and,

"Whereas, the RLB, the city and the county desire to encourage and foster economic development and growth within the lands owned by the RLB in the city and the County and, by providing mutual support, encouragement and assistance, certain economic development activities, not otherwise possible, may be accomplished; and,

"Whereas, the proposed casino is in the best interests of the RLB, the City and the County and is not detrimental to the surrounding properties near the proposed casino, and,

"Whereas, the City Council believes that the establishment of this business within the community will promote job creation in an economically depressed region of the State, increase tourism for the area, cause growth in the retail and service sectors of the local economy, and, in general, enhance the prospects for economic development in Northwestern Minnesota, as well as, for the community of the Red Lake Reservation; and,

"Whereas, the county and the city have certain concerns which relate to the operation of the pro-

County board echoes city's decision today

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Tuesday morning (today), by a vote of 3 to 1, Pennington County Board of Commissioners approved a resolution inviting the Red Lake Band of Chippewa to establish a casino in Thief River Falls and Pennington county.

"The leadership of this community is opening their community to more vice and I definitely want to speak against it," said Commissioner Bill Penning, who was the only dissenting vote.

Penning stated early in the proceedings Tuesday morning that "anybody who decides to gamble picks his own pocket". Penning made his position very clear, but it failed to sway the rest of the members of the county board who have been considering the issue for about four months.

Following the vote, board chairman Don Jensen, allowed members of the audience to say a few words. Jensen said he did not open the meeting to general discussion prior to the vote because the board has had about four months to listen to what people from various walks of life had to say about the issue.

Dennis Pederson, who had been against the casino since the beginning, said he has been reading a lot of news accounts about casinos around the state and has concluded that it will not attract the numbers of people anticipated. In addition, Pederson said leaving God out of the issue puts us on thin ice.

Roger Shaffer, who has been a proponent of the casino, expressed his appreciation to the board for their work over the months and for their support.

The resolution considered by the Pennington County Board of Commissioners was the same as that passed by the Thief River Falls city council the day before. The complete resolution appears in the article about the city council.

Longest living AIDS patient speaks at NCC

by David Hill
Associate Editor

"We, as a nation, better clean up our act. We have too," said Amon Petersen. Petersen has the distinction of being the longest living person living with the AIDS virus. He knows what he's talking about.

Petersen delivered his message Friday at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls to a crowd of more than 70 who attended the Health Awareness week event at the college theatre. Petersen's message also included some graphic descriptions of what it's like to live with AIDS and the warning that, "there's no such thing as safe sex."

Petersen, who is 54, tested positive in 1979 or 1980. He is in the final stage of the virus. The three stages include an asymptomatic stage, AIDS related conditions, and full blown AIDS. The first, which is asymptomatic or having no signs or symptoms, cannot be detected unless the individual tests positive. The first stage can last six to eight years. According to Petersen's statistics, there are currently 17,000 to 20,000 people in Minnesota infected with the AIDS virus and many don't know it. By 1992, he estimates there will be as many as 30,000 people infected with the AIDS virus in the state of Minnesota. The second stage or AIDS Related Condition, includes such things as your figner nails turning brown, thrush, mild fatigue and persistent infections. The third stage is full-blown AIDS.

Petersen explained that there is no cure for AIDS and he doesn't believe there will ever be a cure for the disease. AIDS, he explained is a virus, and science has never found a cure for a virus so he doesn't believe they will ever find a cure.

Petersen said he was angry at Magic Johnson when he announced he had Aids. Petersen said Johnson is a star and has a certain amount of influence as a star. He has no problem with Johnson as a star athlete but, he said, he was furious when Johnson told the nation to, "Practice safe sex, use a condom".

"There's no such thing as safe sex," Petersen said. "Condoms are not safe."

While he seems to promote abstinence he also recognizes the futility of such a position. He believes education will help slow the spread of the disease. There comes a point in a youth's life, he said, when you have to ask yourself, "do I want a son infected by

Debra Hanson-Timothy Meyer wed Sept. 7

Debra Kaye Hanson and Timothy James Meyer were united in marriage September 7 at the Bethany Covenant church in stillwater. Rev. Michael Palkie, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Hanson of Newfolden. Parents of the groom are James Meyer of Welcome and Mrs. Dick Krueger of Fairmont.

Special music was provided by Marcia DeWolf and Kent Hudson, both friends of the bride; Steve Hanson, cousin of the bride friend of the groom; Dale Schneider, brother-in-law of the bride; Tami Schneider, Karla Palkie, Kari Hanson, sisters of the bride; and Brent Hanson, brother of the bride. The prelude was provided by Dave Anderson on the guitar and Joanne Radke on the flute, both friends of the bride. The postlude was provided by a string ensemble which included Travis Peterson and Liz King on the violin and Tanya Opel on the viola, all friends of the bride. Bonnie Hanson, cousin of the bride, served as organist and Mike Pearson, friend of the groom, played the trumpet.

Kari Hanson of Newfolden served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Karla Palkie of Grygla and Tami Schneider of Thief River Falls, both sisters of the bride; Melissa Meyer of Bloomington, sister of the groom, and Sherri Carlson of Clear Lake, friend of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Brenda Hanson of Newfolden, sister of the bride. Flower girl was Lynne Hanson of Newfolden, sister of the bride.

Anna Meyer, sister-in-law of the groom, and Kim Weaver, friend of the bride, were the bride's personal attendants.

Tory Meyer of Bloomington, brother of the groom, served as best man, with Alan Eveland of Plymouth and Mark Ostlund of Fargo, ND, both friends of the couple, Brent Hanson of Thief River Falls, brother of the bride, and Shawn Rasmussen and Brent Rasmussen, both of Welcome, stepbrothers of the groom, as groomsmen.

Ushering the guests were Ty Hauer, Brad Bergstresser, Greg Abel and Steve Hanson, all friends of the groom. Programs were handed out by Matthew Hanson and Nicky Lundgren, cousins of the bride.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Ted and Ruth Meyer, grandparents of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the couple. Hosts were Cal and Sarmita Peterson, friends of the bride, and Marilyn Forstrom, aunt of the groom.

The wedding cake was cut by Penny Bjorlin and Kathy Scott, both friends of the bride. Coffee was served by Cann Hanson, friend of the bride, and Amanda Forstrom, cousin of the groom. Deanna Schaefer and Tricia Wells, friends of the couple, served punch.

Flower hostess was Marlene Sherwood, aunt of the groom. At the gift table were Clint and Hillary Forstrom, cousins of the groom. Bridal favors and thank yous were handed out by Abram and Amber Hanson, cousins of the bride. Waiters and waitresses included Tom Wells, Ethan Weaver, Mark Powell, Danielle Peterson and Tanya Opel, all friends of the couple.

The ceremony was videotaped by Dave Oothoudt, friend of the groom and Steve Hanson, cousin of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, the couple is at home in Bloomington. The groom is employed by the Napa Machine shop in Burnsville.

Housewarming set for Wayne Swanson

An open house housewarming celebration will be held Saturday, December 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Wayne Swanson, nine miles south of Thief River Falls. Wayne's previous home was destroyed by fire last April. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Kristi-Lynn Moan to wed Scott Grochow

Kristi-Lynn Moen and Scott Grochow together with their parents, Dennis and Beverly Moen of Oklee and Donald and Shirley Grechow of Thief River Falls, are happy to announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The bride-to-be is a 1988 graduate of Oklee high school and is presently employed by the Club cafe in Thief River Falls. Her fiance is a 1984 graduate of Lincoln high school and is presently attending the Thief River Falls technical college in Welding.

A May 30 wedding at the Oak Park Lutheran church, rural Oklee, is being planned.

Members are asked to bring a book for the Angel Tree packages.

St. John church has live Nativity scene

St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls is continuing its tradition of holding a live Nativity scene at the church on the corner of First street and Pine avenue in Thief River Falls. The event will be held this year on Sunday, Decembery 15 from 4 to 6:45 p.m. This is the ninth year that members of the congregation have portrayed characters involved in the Christmas narrative. Live animals take part in the scene and outdoor carillon speakers will broadcast Christmas music and a reading of the Luke 2 Christmas account.

A musical concert will be presented in the church sanctuary at 5:20 p.m. Refreshments will be served in the education wing throughout the evening. St. John Sunday school program will begin at 7 p.m. and characters from the live Nativity scene will be part of the program. The community is welcome and encouraged to stop by the church and enjoy the pre-Christmas celebration. The Christmas celebration will continue with festival worship services at 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve and 9 a.m. on Christmas Day.

THE TIMES' WEDDING POLICY

The Times' policy on wedding write ups is as follows:

◆ If the wedding took place within one month from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write up will be published from information provided, along with a picture if submitted.

◆ If the wedding took place from one to three months before receipt at The Times office, there will be brief write-up, including names of participants but no description of decor, gowns, flowers, etc.

◆ For a wedding that took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of the wedding, and where the couple is residing.

◆ There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

◆ Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write up within two issues of receipt.

◆ Forms are available free of charge at The Times office to help in organizing information about the wedding for publication. Nearly all information can be filled in on the forms prior to the wedding. To request forms by mail, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to The Times, P.O. Box 100, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

◆ Photographs may be picked up at The Times office after the wedding write up has been published. Photographs will only be returned by mail if accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope.

posed facility on the above identified site, specifically, and to other matters, in general, which concerns have been discussed at length and negotiated between the county, city and the RLB and have now been addressed in the form of a proposed agreement to be executed by the RLB, city and county, which agreement is acceptable in principle; and,

"Whereas, the RLB's representatives have publicly stated on numerous occasions their intent to pursue a "Good Neighbor Policy" towards the county and city and its residents and towards any concerns or needs which may arise in the future.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the council for the city of Thief River Falls does hereby tender an invitation to the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians (the RLB) and does strongly encourage the RLB to establish a gaming casino in the city of Thief River Falls on the aforesaid property.

"Be it further resolved that the city council does hereby authorize the mayor and city clerk/treasurer to finalize the agreement between the RLB, the city and the county.

"Be it further resolved, that the city, in conjunction with the RLB, shall carry this resolution to the Governor of the State of Minnesota and such city officials as are appropriate are hereby so authorized and directed."

Home course on drying and storing grain is offered

A home study course on drying, storing and marketing of quality grain is being sponsored by the Minnesota extension service of the Northern Lites cluster. The six lessons will relate to corn but many of the practices employed also apply to other grains more commonly grown in northwestern Minnesota.

The course covers drying and storage techniques to preserve the quality of grain and gives marketing tips for corn with unique quality factors. Objective of the course is to improve the quality of Minnesota grain and to help get better prices, according to Bill Wilche, extension agricultural engineer and co-author of the study course.

There are six lessons of 10 to 12 pages each and include discussion of quality corn, natural-air drying, reducing kernel breakage associated with high temperature drying, maintaining corn quality in storage, selecting fans for drying, cooking and storage and marketing high quality grain.

The lessons will be mailed out one per week and the first will come with a binder to keep the materials organized. Participants will also receive a certificate of completion when finished with the course.

Materials used were written by extension service educators with the help of research conducted on the university's agricultural experiment stations. It was designed for all Minnesotans who produce, dry, store or market grain as well as equipment dealers, elevator operators, crop consultants and marketing consultants. First offered last year, it has received positive evaluations.

Persons interested in taking the course should contact the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116.

Dear Readers,
As a funeral director, it is often difficult to see so many people suffer through the pain of death of a loved one. However, we at Belmont Funeral Home, wish you to know that our main objective is to give thoughtful service. If in so doing we are able to lift some of the burden of grief and help you through a very trying time, then our aim has been accomplished.
Respectively,
Belmont Funeral Home

Local staff of SWCD attend state convention

Supervisors and staff from the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation district participated in the 55th annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts December 1-3 in Duluth.

About 765 people from throughout the state attended the convention which had the general theme "Diversity in Conservation—The Future."

Attending from Pennington county were Leonard Skaar, Danny Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson, Al Gustafson, Barb Molskness and Maggie Leach. Beth Natvik and Jared Goldesberry, Lincoln high school students, were recognized with awards for being state essay contest winners. Veral and June Mosbeck, representing Mosbeck Brothers of rural Red Lake Falls, were honored as "Conservation Cooperators" for Pennington county at a Tuesday luncheon sponsored by The Farmer magazine.

Robert Herbst, president of the Lake Superior Center in Duluth, gave the convention's keynote address on the importance of water resources and role that soil and water conservation districts play in encouraging stewardship.

"I like to think that the environmental ethic is gaining strength in America today," Herbst said, "that people are beginning, at long last, to understand how the quality of their own lives is diminished by dirty water, dirty air, denuded forests and even filling the marsh for yet another shopping center."

Another focus of the convention was the recently-approved Minnesota Wetland Conservation Act. Beginning Jan. 1, 1992, the act prohibits draining, burning or filling certain wetlands. Soil and Water Conservation districts and other local units of government have a number of new responsibilities under the act.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts are local units of government that develop and manage conservation programs. There are 91 of the districts in Minnesota.

SWCD meeting at Grygla on December 16

Because of the upcoming holiday season, the December board meeting of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district will be held Monday, December 16, at 9 a.m. at the district office in Grygla.

All meetings of the board are open to the public.

Those from the Marshall-Beltrami district who recently attended the 55th annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Duluth were board supervisors Oliver Howland, Gordon Foss and Milton Anderson and staff members Cheryl Sistad and Kathy Walsh.

Recognized as "conservation cooperators" for the district at ceremonies sponsored by The Farmer magazine were David and Barbara Rodahl of rural Thief River Falls. Julie Sundberg of Grygla was honored for her first place award in the elementary division of the state conservation essay contest.

Speaking Of . . .

by Sharon LaCoursiere

Many people are running around with the Christmas crabbies nowadays and I certainly don't want them around me. To be fair, however, I must say that there are plenty of other people that I really like being around at Christmas time. These are the people who have the Christmas spirit.

You can tell who these people are by their big smiles. They often wear red and/or green clothing, too. Sometimes their coats have little pins that say, "Merry Christmas," or "Happy Holidays," or are replicas of little Christmas trees, wreaths, Santa faces or bells. Sometimes these people make pleasant sounds when they walk by you, sounds like jingling bells or the music of Christmas carols being sung or hummed under their breath.

These people are the ones who are behind all the good deeds in the area at Christmas time. They give of their time and energy to make Christmas merry for everyone, and they are the ones we all want to be around because their Christmas spirit is just as contagious as the Christmas crabbies, but much more fun to have.

Some of these Christmas spirited people prepare and serve a Christmas dinner for the community on Christmas Eve. People who cannot help with the dinner participate in it by donating homemade dishes and desserts to be served that night. The people who put on and help with the Christmas Eve Dinner are filled with the Christmas spirit, you betcha. They are fun to be around because they make you want to help, too.

Many people make special visited to area nursing homes and hospitals during the Christmas season, bringing treats and presents to those who live there, as well as imparting a bit of holiday cheer by putting on programs and making all sorts of Christmas music. These personable people have the Christmas spirit, too. They are fun to be around because they make you want to visit people, too.

Some groups have been visiting the homebound in the area already, helping them get ready for Christmas by writing on their Christmas cards, helping them shop for and wrap presents, trimming their Christmas trees and shoveling their walks. I just know these energetic, helpful people are Christmas elves in disguise. They are fun to be around because they are so ambitious and that is a good thing to catch at Christmas time.

Some people spend lots of their time putting on Christmas programs and Christmas musicals. Most of these people are working with children. Anyone who is working with high-spirited, active children at Christmas time must be endowed with more patience and a better sense of humor than normal people, and these types of people must have lots of Christmas spirit. They are fun to be around because some of their joy rubs off on everyone they are near.

Many people go from house to house singing Christmas carols before Christmas. These people are not only filled with the Christmas spirit, but with an extra helping of insulation, because it gets mighty cold in this neck of the woods on some of those nights before Christmas. These warm-handed, warm-hearted people are fun to be around because they will warm your heart and their songs will stay in your head for the entire Christmas season, and make your ears happy, besides.

Many people pick names from the gift Christmas trees in area stores, and buy presents for needy children. These anonymous Santas have the true Christmas spirit in their hearts, because their good deeds are unsung and unheralded. But we know about these people and enjoy being near them because their generous hearts radiate with Christmas spirit and we can feel it.

Some people make gifts for people who might not get any at Christmas. These talented people spend hours and hours before the holidays, making presents and trinkets to give to others. These Christmas artists are filled with the Christmas spirit for months before Christmas actually begins and can make Christmas last all year for everyone around them.

Some people bake and cook Christmas goodies for people who might not have treats at holiday time. These bakers and cooks are great fun to be around at Christmas because they know how to share the Christmas spirit and sometimes give out free samples of their goodies. They are fun to be around because they smell like Christmas.

Some people stand on cold street corners or go door to door in the cold collecting money and food for charities, food pantries and donations for needy families. Some people pack gift boxes of food and supplies for needy families. These busy people take time from their own families to give to others and give of themselves so that others may have a happy holiday. People who do things like this are always cheerful and pleasant, and so energetic that we hope some of their energy might rub off on us.

Although I tried very hard to think of everything, I'm sure I've overlooked many things that people with the Christmas spirit do at Christmas time. My apologies to all of you. Anyway, all of these kind people filled with the Christmas spirit deserve a well-earned pat on the back for the things they are doing for others at this holiday season. They are the people who have the true spirit of Christmas, and I hope I can catch some of what they have as soon as possible. Go ahead, come sneeze some on me, please.

Joel Johnson

Joel Johnson violin recital slated Sunday

Senior violin recital by Joel Johnson, son of Rev. Mark and Beth Johnson, will be presented Sunday, December 15, at 4 p.m. at the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Joel will play Sonata in G minor by Tartini, Sonata in A major, K. 305 by Mozart and Scene de Ballet by deBeriot, all accompanied by Ellen Olson on piano, and Concerto No. 1 in A minor, Allegro assai by J. S. Bach, accompanied by the high school orchestra.

Currently concertmaster of the Lincoln orchestra, Joel has been taking private violin lessons since he was in fourth grade. His first teacher was Sue Carlson in Marinette, WI, and for the past three years he has received lessons from Barb Rask at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

For the past two summers he has been a first violin member of the Minnesota All-State Orchestra and the first summer served as its concertmaster.

The public is invited to attend the Sunday afternoon recital.

Correction:

Halfway through printing of the second section, staff at the Times noticed that cutlines under two pictures had been inadvertently switched. The problem was corrected, but several issues went out with the incorrect cutlines under the photos. The two pictures involved were of the new manager at Kordel's and the first dollar award to Town and Country Discount. The Times regrets the error and any inconvenience caused by the error.

Hispanic Month at Northland CC

Dr. Herminio Diaz, director of the concert and jazz bands at Inver Hills Community college, will open Hispanic Month at Northland Community college in Thief River Falls Wednesday, December 11, by presenting "The Music of Puerto Rico" at 11 a.m. in the college theatre.

Prior to the concert Mexican food will be served in the theatre lobby. There is no charge for the concert or food and public participation is encouraged.

Dr. Diaz performs on the saxophone, clarinet and flute and will present an hour-long concert. He holds a PhD degree in music from the University of Illinois.

Two other events scheduled during the month, which has been designated Hispanic Month at Northland by the Student Life Committee, include the following:

- Panel discussion on "Transitions: Migrant Farm Worker to College Student" will take place Thursday at 2 p.m. in room C-54 at Northland. Panel members are NCC students Jose Rubalcava, Rodrigo Cruz, Mary Cruz and Ruben DeLaCruz. Speaking will be Martha Barrabosa from the Midwest Farm Workers Employment and Training agency.
- "Taste of Mexico," a sampling of foods and music of Mexico, will be presented at 12 noon Wednesday, December 18, in room D-62 at Northland. Food is being prepared by members of the NCC Spanish class which is also serving as host.

Crossroads Displaced Homemakers program in Thief River Falls recently purchased the Minnesota Career Information System (MCIS) with funds provided by the Eagles Lodge and Branch 8129 of Lutheran Brotherhood. MCIS is a computerized information resource which provides current information on occupations, educational programs, job search, financial aid, scholarships and other career-related topics. Presenting the $599 checks to Margaret Nelson, bookkeeper/program coordinator for Crossroads and Sally Erickson, past director, are Godfard Svir of the Eagles and Kay Wedul of Branch 8129. Crossroads provides career development and pre-employment information to economically disadvantaged women in seven northwestern Minnesota counties.

BY BETH JOHNSON

Remember what our town of Thief River Falls looked like just a mere few months ago? Now, I don't mean the green grass and flowing river, but that is worth remembering as we watch the snow continue to pile up and the river freeze. I'm remembering a town with stores which were standing empty.

No longer are the many stores standing empty. New businesses have emerged to replace old businesses. Old businesses have moved to more attractive locations. Some businesses have remodeled their stores. Some have changed their merchandising. Some of the changes are good, some not so good. But, we do once again have a town which has much to offer in the way of merchandise.

This past Saturday I went Christmas shopping. What a pleasure it was to shop in our town. With my trusty list in hand, I was able to buy gifts for everyone on my list.

This year I had a variety of stores in which to browse, and perhaps buy a gift or two. It was interesting to see the changes made to some of the stores. The spirit of Christmas was definitely in the air as merchant after merchant cheerfully asked for my Santa Bucks.

Too often we hear that rural America is lacking in what it can offer to those who live there. Sometimes that is true. But a look around our town tells me that here in Northwestern Minnesota, in a little bit of rural America, we are trying our best to do well with what we have. The ambition and dreams behind those who are the merchants in this town are good examples of rural America's spirit of trying to succeed. Without vision, our town could probably have simply been another statistic of a dead or dying small town. But, we are blessed with vision and the know-how to make at least some of our visions come to be.

The vision to succeed is not limited to Thief River Falls. What a pleasure it was to hear this past week that the Newfolden School district can rebuild the building it so tragically lost to a fire just a few weeks ago. The vision that the people of that school district had for the continuing of their school led to the decision that the school could be rebuilt.

Rural America, including its rural schools, does have much to offer. Teachers and students interacting in a learning environment does not necessarily mean that every new educational gadget must be employed for the success of that education. Learning can take place in small school districts with limited funds to provide all the new gadgets, as well as in the larger, better funded, districts. The advantage in a small school district of being a person, not a number, outweighs the advantages of the latest gadgets.

It was good to see that the people of the Newfolden School District felt that their children were worthy of educating to the best of their abilities. It was good to see that the state of Minnesota listened to the persuading voices of rural America.

We must not underestimate ourselves simply because we do not live in a major metropolitan area. We do need to see that we are represented when decisions are being made that would adversely affect our life here in rural America. Not being afraid to express our opinion, not being afraid to speak out on behalf of rural America, are ways in which we will help guarantee our survival.

Look around you. Count the advantages you have because you are living in a bit of rural America. Compare what you have and what you would gain in a metropolitan setting. If you find that your quality of life would be better here in rural America, then don't neglect the things that make our area good. Support the local merchants. Support the activities of the town and schools and churches. Be proud to live in an area in which you are greeted by first name as you shop. Be proud to live in an area in which the people were not afraid to band together to support their community's children. Be proud to live in rural America. Concentrate on bettering it for yourself and your children and your grandchildren.

County seeking nominations for committee

Pennington county board of commissioners and the Northwest Regional Development commission (NWRDC) are seeking nominations for members to serve on the NWRDC economic development planning committee.

This committee established priority work areas for NWRDC economic and community development programs, reviews economic development needs in the seven counties of Region 1, and works directly in projects such as planning conferences and encouraging the development of new innovations.

Members on the committee also have the opportunity to find out about programs and resources that can be of direct assistance to their own community. The committee meets every other month and meetings are usually held on the second Thursday at 5 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

Anyone wishing to make a nomination should contact Kenneth Olson, Pennington county auditor, at 681-4011.

MCC heartened by efforts

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls and Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy in a joint statement have credited a "tremendous community effort" with allowing Marshall County Central high school to "rise from the ashes."

They also praised Commissioner of Education Gene Mammenga for his decision to allow the district to rebuild.

The school was largely destroyed by an early morning fire November 7. After Commissioner Mammenga had said he could not allow the district to rebuild, the community, legislators and others urged him to reconsider. He announced last week that he would take favorable action on the district's rebuilding plan.

"I called Superintendent Gene Busch to congratulate him and the community on this," Sen. Stumpf said. "I know how hard he and other community residents worked to get the rebuilding approved."

"Jim, LeRoy and I all talked to Mammenga and told him how important the school is to the community," Rep. Sparby added. "When he started hearing from the people of Newfolden he realized just how strong their commitment is."

Rep. Tunheim agreed. "We are glad to see that the commissioner recognized the importance of the school," he said. "Everyone has a stake in this because of the school's role not only for education, but for community events as well."

School District 441 board has been looking at schools designed by various architects and will soon be hiring an architect to work with getting reconstruction underway as soon as possible.

Cathy Mueller is Northern Prairie Artist of Month

December Artist of the Month for the Northern Prairie Artists association is Cathy Mueller of Thief River Falls. She is shown with two of her paintings which will be on display this month at the Best Western Inn. She is holding one of her train paintings entitled "Cinders and Smoke" while the painting on the wall is entitled "Autumn Whitetails." Other of her paintings will be on display in the Northern Prairie gallery at Country Class Arts on Riverside avenue in Thief River Falls.

Cathy Mueller has been interested in art since she started elementary school. She won blue ribbons when her art work was always taken to the county fair and she was encouraged by her elementary teachers to take an art course when she entered high school.

When she entered high school, however, no classes in art were offered. An art contest to design an original Christmas card was conducted by the school for all students during Cathy's junior and senior years, and she won the contest both years.

About 11 years ago she joined an art club which consisted of about 10 women who met every Tuesday to paint and draw all day.

"It was a 'do your own thing' day," Cathy explains, "and there were no teachers available to help beginning artists really get started. Then going to work and also being a Girl Scout leader took care of any extra time there may have been for pursuing her interest in art.

After moving to Thief River Falls Cathy joined the Northern Prairie Artists association. She spent more time promoting original art than taking the time to paint very much, however, and she wrote the club brochure, designed the club's show cards and helped to start the club gallery. She has been a member of the association's board for the past five years.

Favorite painting subjects for Cathy are seascapes, landscapes and steam locomotives.

"On every vacation we've taken, my husband Stan and I have used one whole film to take photos of trains and depots. We love riding the old narrow gauge trains when we go to Colorado. It's a little bit of history I want to preserve in my paintings," she said.

"I also have a whole set of paintings of old steam tractors to work on," she added. "Most of them will be from old family photos, but others have come from steam threshing reunions that we attend. The one I like best is the one at Rollag. I plan to work extensively on these paintings after Christmas."

Cathy does most of her painting in oils and is currently working with watercolors. "There are some things that seem to look better done in oils," she said, "but I would like to paint the same picture sometime, using oils on one painting and watercolors on the other, to see what the difference and impact would be."

Some of the instructors she has taken lessons from recently are Marv Espe, Roseau; Karlyn Holman, Bayfield, Wi; June Young, Grand Forks, ND; and LaVonne Forsberg, Thief River Falls. In the past she has taken art lessons from Christopher Schink in California; Rose Edin, Staples; Judy Blain, Minneapolis; and Carol Kelley, Grand Forks.

Paintings by Terry Redlin are admired by Cathy because they preserve a way of life. She also likes the work of Rose Edin, Edward Szmyd and Timothy Clark.

Cathy is displaying some of her paintings at the Best Western Inn during December and others are on display at the Northern Prairie Artists association gallery at Country Class Arts on Riverside avenue in Thief River Falls.

City budget hearing held

cation in 1992 over 1991 of $38,709 or 5 per cent. According to DeLap, the city's levy (including special levies) increased 4.4 per cent from $1,486,561 to $1,551,722. Property owners will provide roughly 5.9 per cent or $859,517 of the total budget revenue. An estimated $738,516 will be reimbursed from the state.

As the city's net local levy of $813,207 as a comparison, the county's net local levy will be $2,368,580 and the school district's is $2,338,380. In all, the total net local levy is $5,520,167. An additional $2,174,740 in Minnesota Property tax aids brings the total to $7,694,907. The city's portion accounts for 10.6 per cent of the total. The county's portion accounts for 30.8 per cent of the total, and the school district's total accounts for 30.4 per cent of the total.

DeLap also provided an estimate of where each tax dollar is allocated. For every tax dollar, 25.2 cents goes to the city, 33.1 cents goes to the county, 40.5 cents goes to the school district and 1.2 cents goes for special tax districts.

Budgeted revenue from governmental sources has been estimated at $4,184,112. That total includes the $859,517 raised in local government tax. Of the total, 20.5 per cent represents local government tax, 17.4 per cent represents Minnesota Property tax aids, 20.2 per cent represents Minnesota Local government aids, 3.5 per cent represents state an county aids, 10.5 per cent represents fines/rent and department revenue, 10.1 per cent represents specials/license and interest, 14.5 per cent represents transfers from electric, liquor and RCF grant, and 3.4 per cent represents miscellaneous revenues.

To the Editor:

Once again it seems that the Thief River Falls Times, especially its editor, is showing its negative view upon the community. I am referring to its editorial in the Northern Watch on December 6, 1991 about its objection to the Lincoln High School Choir's pending trip to Europe.

It seems to me that the LHS Wind Ensemble received the same negative treatment when it was planning its trip to Norway in 1984. Well that trip took place and was a huge success, and I very much hope this one will too. Why does this editor seem so negative against anything that could prove positive for Lincoln's music programs?

I really enjoyed your statement, "Little of a lasting educational nature stands to be gained from the trip." That has to be one of the MOST ignorant statements I have ever heard. I was fortunate enough to be able to go on a tour of Europe in the spring of 1990. I learned so much about history, art, culture, music and more about myself than any course or textbook ever could. I would say to anyone, if given the opportunity, to travel internationally because it is an incredible and exciting experience. A trip to Europe is unlike any experience that one can comprehend unless you have done this yourself. You are able to see a different part of this world, a new culture, language and customs. This I see as only beneficial especially for the youth.

As for your statement on appreciation, I really feel you underestimate today's youth. I think high school students could get much out of such a trip. Their views are more likely to be open to understanding and accepting different cultures than someone older and more "set" in their ways." Also, where did you find the correlation of your fish story and a trip to Europe? GET REAL!

I ask the school board to consider this proposal very seriously. It would be a greater educational opportunity than an entire year of classroom work could ever do. For me, hands on experience is much better than classroom experience. Also which of these students would ever forget this chance of a lifetime?

I realize that it is a large amount of money and realize it would be much time and effort for the choir, its director, parents, and the community. However, nothing worth having is very easy. I say to Mrs. Reese to "GO FOR IT!!" There will always be negativism and jealousy, as displayed by this editorial staff, but you have the experience and motivation to make this dream happen. It would be a dream that the Lincoln High School Choir would never forget and a special sense of pride for the community.

Sincerely,
Dean Fugleberg

To The Editor:
Dear Friends of MCC:

We want to sincerely thank all of you for your continued support during and after the tragic fire at our high school. Educating students has always been a challenge, but this has been our ultimate challenge.

We feel very fortunate to have the warm, tremendous support from area schools and communities. We really appreciate this support as we meet our challenges each day. MCC is alive and well and will go on with pride.

Thank-you again.

To The Editor:

A recent article about Minnesota's community colleges left an inaccurate impression of the vital role played by colleges such as Northland Community college.

For many people, community colleges offer the best—and sometimes the only—chance for entry into our higher education system. But community colleges are not single-purpose institutions, existing only to prepare full-time students to transfer to four-year colleges and universities.

That is a major role, but not the only role. Many students attend part-time because they have jobs and families. Many students attend for only a quarter or two because they have met their goals. For example, employed workers may want to upgrade their management skills or computer skills. Having completed that work, they are not "dropouts" as the article suggests.

The article fails to mention that:

- This fall, 16,000 former community college students are attending four-year public and private colleges and universities in Minnesota.
- The number of students transferring from community colleges to public and private four-year colleges and universities is up 34 per cent since 1984.
- The vast majority (84%) of transfer students interviewed by a House Research Team staff reported no problems in transferring their community college credits.
- Community colleges provide two-thirds of the registered nurses in Minnesota, nurses who take and pass the same tests required of four-year graduates. Over the past six years community college students had a pass rate of 92 per cent compared with a 91% pass rate for graduates of four-year nursing programs.
- As the University of Minnesota and state universities raise standards for admission, it is even more important that community colleges remain the "open door" colleges for Minnesota.
- Community colleges are unique institutions, designed to serve the diverse higher education needs of people who live in the community. Nearly one-half of our students are over 25 years of age, 56 per cent attend part-time and 60 per cent are women. They need a community college.

That is the REAL story of Minnesota's community colleges.

Sincerely,
Gerald W. Christenson
Chancellor
Minnesota Community Colleges

Several thefts reported to LEC

Just in time for Christmas, law enforcement in Pennington county and Thief River Falls have received numerous reports of theft.

Thefts. On December 4 at 8:13 a.m. Midge Green, Thief River Falls, reported that someone had taken their snowmobile and returned it damaged. Damage consists of damage to the right ski, hood, windshield and belly pan. The snowmobile had a value of $800 but is now considered a total loss. During the investigation of the incident two 14-year-old local boys were contacted. They allegedly admitted to taking the snowmobile and reported that they had hit something on the river. Both were thrown from the snowmobile and one had hurt his leg. Both now face charges of theft over $500.

On December 4 at 8:40 p.m. Elvera Cullen, Thief River Falls, reported that her daughter had had two Black Hills gold rings stolen from a Franklin Middle School girls locker room in November. The theft loss was estimated at $120.

On December 3 at 8:54 p.m. police received a report of theft from the Northland Community College locker room. Several youths belonging to the Marshall County Central basketball team which was practicing in the school's gym, reported items taken from the locker room. A brown leather jacket valued at $225, a $60 pair of boots, a $30 pair of mittens, $3 in cash and a gas credit card were reported stolen. The total theft loss was estimated at $318.

On December 3 at 5:30 p.m. Manuel Peralta, Thief River Falls, reported that while his vehicle was parked at an apartment complex sometime over the first through the third someone broke into the car and took a blue toolbox, tools, a jumper cable, and radar detector. Total theft loss was estimated at $400.

On December 3 at 2:33 p.m. Sara Bakke, Thief River Falls, reported the theft of between $170 to $180 from her purse. The theft is believed to have taken place sometime during the evening of November 27-28.

On December 5 at 12:30 p.m. Home Sweet Home reported that an 18-inch high doll in a peach color dress had been taken from the store. Theft loss was estimated at $40.

On December 5 at 7:16 p.m. Hugo's reported that a man had taken a pack of cigarettes and another small item from the store without paying for them. They attempted to stop the individual but he drove away. Police went to the residence of the man, took him back to the store where he paid for the items and then cited the 33-year-old man for theft under $200.

On December 5 at 10:18 p.m. Pennington county sheriff's office received a report of someone trying to cut down a tree. Three individuals were described in a pickup. When the sheriff's department responded they found foot prints at the scene and later located the pickup. They followed the pickup which had an evergreen tree in back of it and later stopped it. Three subjects in the pickup were taken into custody and later released pending further investigation. The vehicle and tree were impounded.

On December 6 at 4:15 p.m. Pennington county sheriff's department received a report from J. Duane Nelson, route 1, Goodridge, that someone had cut down an evergreen tree on his property in Cloverleaf township. The 12-15 foot tall tree was valued at $100. It was cut at about four feet off the ground.

On December 8 at 6:58 p.m. Pennington county sheriff's department received a report from Wayne Kruse, St. Hilaire, that someone had taken his chain saw from the back of his pickup while it was parked in St. Hilaire. Theft loss was estimated at $300.

On December 9 at 4:53 p.m. Hugo's reported that two 13-year-old girls had taken some cigarettes without paying for them. The girls face charges of theft.

Consumption Under Age. On December 3 at 1:52 a.m. Pennington county sheriff's deputy stopped a vehicle in the city for erratic driving and made one arrest for driving while intoxicated, which has been reported already. In addition, Justin Larson, 19, Virginia was cited for consumption under age.

On Decmeber 7 at 12:59 a.m. police received a call from the parents of a youth that complained their son had been drinking alcohol. The 16-year-old boy was cited for consumption under age.

On December 9 at 12:58 p.m. police received a report of forgery. A number of checks were taken from a local resident and cashed. To date, $230.92 have been written on the account. The incident is under investigation.

Abuse. On Decmeber 6 at 6:06 p.m. police received a report of a child being punished. Police believe an 8-year-old boy had been excessively punished. Charges of malicious punishment of a child, a gross misdemeanor, are pending against Mitchum Troy Johnson, Thief River Falls, age 26.

Accidents. On December 5 at 5:43 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Horace and Third street. According to the report, a blazer driven by Michelle Kohler, Thief River Falls, was going west on Third street and a vehicle driven by Eunice Grothe, route 1, Thief River Falls, was going east on Third and attempting a left turn onto Horace avenue and turned in front of Kohler. Damages were estimated to be in excess of $500 to each.

On December 5 at 9 a.m. police received a report of an accident that happened at about 10:30 p.m. on December 5th in an alley behind Hubert's. According to the report, Gerald Gonsorowski, Thief River Falls, was driving his pickup southbound in an alley leaving Hubert's parking lot when he looked to the west and as he did so his pickup struck a trailer owned by the Minnesota Deer Hunters association, Thief River Falls chapter. Damage to the pickup was estimated at $7,000. Gonsorowski complained of pain in his left side.

On December 7 at 4:25 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Third and Kneale. According to the report, a van driven by Sheryl Northrup, Thief River Falls, was going east on Third and slowing to turn north onto Kneale, and a pickup driven by Brad Holte, Thief River Falls, was also going east when the vehicles collided. Holte said he was momentarily distracted and struck the Northrup vehicle in the rear. Damages were estimated at $300 to each.

Assault. On December 8 at 1:50 a.m. police received a report of a domestic assault. A 49-year-old man had been struck the left elbow and was bleeding from the wound. A citation for fifth degree assault was issued to Julia Castillo, 34, Thief River Falls.

On December 6 at 2:08 p.m. Lincoln high school reported an assault to police. A 14-year-old boy complained that another 14-year-old boy had injured his finger, possibly breaking it. The boy faces charges of fifth degree assault.

On December 9 at 5:30 p.m. police received a call about a disturbance on North LaBree. A subject had become unruly and had hit two men. The subject was held down until police arrived and a citizens arrest issued. Scott Delphis Bergdohl, 29, Thief River Falls, faces charges of fifth degree assault.

Vandalism. On December 6 at 12:18 p.m. Kim Magner, Thief River Falls, reported that while her vehicle was parked in the Northland Village parking lot the windows of her car were smashed by what appeared to be a B-8 or pellet gun. Damages were estimated at between $200 and $300.

On December 6 at 10:48 p.m. police received a report that someone had entered an apartment in the downtown area and had broken a light fixture and a door. Damage loss was estimated at $25. The case is under investigation.

Driving while intoxicated. On December 7 the Minnesota state patrol turned over Michael D. Jarshaw, Newfolden, to the law enforcement center on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

On December 8 at 1:40 a.m. a Pennington county sheriff's deputy on patrol observed a snowmobile traveling north in St. Hilaire at a high rate of speed. As the snowmobile turned west the snowmobile rolled. The driver got back on and attempted to leave but the snowmobile would not start. Troy Dale Rolland, 29, St. Hilaire, was arrested and charged with driving a snowmobile under the influence of alcohol. There was no report of damage to the snowmobile or injury to the driver.

AIDS or a son who's alive."

Teaching youth about preventative techniques, such as the use of condoms, is important. Many youth are under the impression that if they use a condom they will be safe, he said. Petersen cited studies, however, that show condoms are not 100 per cent safe.

Petersen also explained that AIDS is most often trasnmitted through sexual contact, but may be spread by transfusions of blood or blood products, and the sharing of contaminated hypodermic needles or syringes. Petersen warned students not to come in contact with blood, even dried blood.

While Petersen has overcome many difficulties brought on by AIDS, discrimination in his home town of Fergus Falls has not been one of those difficulties. Petersen said when it became known that he had AIDS he was not shunned by friends. Instead, he said, he found kindness and understanding.

Their kindness and understanding allow him to continue to fight against the disease and bring a message to the public. His message is often laced with humor and vivid descriptions of the cruel disease.

It is also ironic that Petersen is highly critical of the drug companies that produce the drugs that help keep him alive. Petersen explained that despite the fact that the government has provided millions to develop the drugs, the drug companies continue to charge exorbitant prices for the product. For instance, when he started taking AZT, it cost $1,004 for 100 pills. He was taking four pills a day at the time. At the time, it was also an experimental drug and therefore not covered by insurance. The little pill, no bigger than a dime, which he displayed to those at the meeting, only costs the manufacturer about 19 cents per capsule to make, he said.

There is no explaination for why he has lived so long. Three times he has fought off diseases when statistics say he should have died. The only reason he is alive, he believes, is because his God still has something for him to accomplish. Bringing a message to the public about AIDS may be that reason.

Hockey JV wins 3-2

Jared Lee scored the tying goal with just four seconds left in regulation time, and Jason Niemi picked up the game-winner with 21 seconds remaining in a five-minute sudden-death overtime as the Thief River Falls junior varsity high school hockey team opened its 1991-92 season with a 3-2 win over Bemidji.

Trailing 2-0 after two periods, Thief River Falls got on the scoreboard midway through the third period on a goal by Jared Goldesberry.

Thief River Falls goalies Eric Dowers and Brad Svir combined for 25 saves. Bemidji goalie Brock Stebakken stopped 31 shots.

Hides for Habitat

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association reminds those planning to make a donation to the Hides for Habitat program to turn the hides in by Dec. 12.

The hides can be left at Hubert's Service, located on Highway 59, just north of Thief River Falls.

For additional information, call 681-2277.

Meetings...

■ Thief River Falls Sports Boosters will meet Thursday at 12-noon at the Rex Cafe. Lincoln High School wrestling coach John Anderson will be the guest speaker.

■ Thief River Falls Archery Club will be holding its annual organizational meeting on Thursday at 7 p.m. at the indoor range above the Old Arena. Items of discussion will include the upcoming indoor league rules and regulations, city user fees, club insurance, 1992 tournament bids and election of officers. The public is invited. For additional information, contact Darrel Janisch at 681-2106, evenings.

Boys JV wins opener

Thief River Falls defeated Hallock-Kennedy 46-32 in Saturday season-opening boys junior varsity high school basketball.

Josh Balmer scored 9 points and Cory Thorson had 8 as Thief River Falls built quarter leads of 10-8, 26-13 and 39-21.

JV girls lose 40-36

Roseau was a 40-36 winner over Thief River Falls Saturday in girls junior varsity high school basketball.

It was the 1991-92 season-opener for the Thief River Falls girls, who led 12-7 at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind 22-17 at halftime and trailed 30-26 through three quarters.

Lori DeLap led Thief River Falls in scoring with 12 points.

Freshman fall 52-41

Thief River Falls freshmen girls lost their 1991-92 season-opening high school basketball game at Grand Forks Valley Monday, 52-41.

Valley had quarter leads of 15-13, 28-21 and 50-28.

Lisa Rendulich scored 17 points and Kara Boughton had 15 for Thief River Falls, scheduled to host Crookston Thursday at 4:15 p.m. in the auxiliary gym at Lincoln High School.

Cornell is honored

Lincoln High School graduate Kelly Cornell was one of four Concordia College students named as all-MIAC athletes Wednesday.

The award was based on voting by the league's sports information directors. Nearly 200 athletes were nominated by the 13 Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference schools for the fall awards. Nominees must have at least a 3.2 GPA and be a starter or significant reserve on a fall sports team.

Cornell, a senior, was the MIAC medalist as the Cobbers captured the first official conference women's golf championship. She finished tenth at last spring's NCAA Division III national tournament.

Sporting a 3.27 GPA in physical education and health, Cornell has also earned all-MIAC honors in tennis and is currently a student-assistant coach for the Concordia women's basketball team.

Thief River Falls goalie Barry Dowers covered the goal mouth and two Prowlers kept close tabs on Bemidji forward Jake Thompson on this first period rush during Saturday's high school hockey game at the Sports Arena.

Boys high school basketball at Hallock-Kennedy...

TRF falls in overtime

A three-point shot at the buzzer by Thief River Falls' Tom Upham sent the game into overtime, but the dramatics failed to produce momentum for overtime as the Prowlers dropped a 49-46 season-opening boys high school basketball decision to Hallock-Kennedy Saturday at Kennedy.

It was the head coaching debut for the Prowlers' Scott Brekke. "I was pleased with our defensive effort," reported Brekke, "but we didn't run our offense quite as well as I would have liked."

The two teams were tied 7-7 at the end of the first quarter. Thief River Falls went ahead 20-17 at halftime, Hallock-Kennedy led 32-30 through three quarters and Upham tied it again at the close of the fourth quarter.

Upham led the Prowlers with 15 points, while John Wallberg turned in a 10-point, 12-rebound performance. Aaron Hedman of Hallock-Kennedy led all scorers with 16 points.

Thief River Falls was 17-for-47 from the field (37 percent) and 3-for-11 at the free throw line. Hallock-Kennedy went 16-for-51 from the field (31 percent) and had a 17-for-24 night at the line. The Prowlers finished with a 43-26 rebound advantage, but they also had more turnovers, 20-16.

"The kids put in the effort," pointed out Brekke. "They worked hard."

Thief River Falls' 1991-92 home opener Tuesday will be a 7:30 p.m. North Sub-Section 8AA match-up with Bemidji. Junior varsity game starts at 6 p.m.

Prowlers post 4-1 first-game victory

Thief River Falls opened its 1991-92 high school hockey season Saturday with a 4-1 Section 8 win over Bemidji at the Sports Arena.

It was a solid debut as four Prowlers scored goals; a group of inexperienced defensemen came through in fine fashion; and Barry Dowers turned in a top-notch performance in the nets.

A senior who made only one varsity appearance last year, Dowers might have established himself as one of the top goalies in Section 8 with a 25-save outing that included several big-time stops – especially early.

"Barry Dowers played a heckuva game," said Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo. "You've got to rank him right with some of the best goaltenders in Section 8. He was facing a good one tonight, and he did a great job."

Dowers wasn't alone in playing well as a first-game regular. Defensemen Shane Skeim, Jeremy Olson and Brent Kleinvachter did the job, along with a third forward line combination of Marc Seaverson, Chad Frazer and Corey Mattson.

"We've got to be happy with our performance against a good Bemidji team, especially considering the fact that it was the first varsity game for so many of our kids. It has to be a real confidence-builder for them, and it certainly makes the coaches feel a lot more comfortable."

After Dowers turned back breakaway rushes by Matt Motzko and Jake Thompson late in the first period, the Lumberjacks broke through on a power play goal by Mike Donaghue with just 17 seconds left. Dowers got a piece of the Donaghue slap shot from the point, but not enough to keep it from slipping across the goal line.

Thief River Falls tied it just 49 seconds into the second period when Jason Svir stole the puck from a Bemidji skater behind the Lumberjacks' net and fed Marc Haugen at the top of the face-off circle to the right of goalie Toby Kvalevog. Haugen, the Prowlers' lone experienced defenseman, put a quick, low shot through Kvalevog's pads.

A strong forechecking job produced the Prowlers' go-ahead goal at 8:35 of the second period. Hard work by Frazer behind the net produced the puck, and he centered it out front to Aaron Broten, who hit an open corner for a 2-1 edge.

Carter Rogalla kept the puck in front of him on a rush early in the third period, got in close and beat Kvalevog cleanly with 11:27 remaining – just nine seconds after play had resumed following a five-minute delay ordered by the officials because of problems with the ice surface.

Frazer tipped in Haugen's slap shot from the point at 6:52 to complete the scoring.

Kvalevog, a junior and a second-year varsity starter, wound up with 22 saves.

Thief River Falls was scheduled to be in Warroad tonight (Tuesday). A Twin Cities trip for the varsity team only will include games against St. Paul Johnson Thursday and Blake Saturday.

Northland Pepsi-Cola Invitational basketball semifinals...

Pioneers rally for wins

"It ain't over 'till it's over."

Certainly nothing original in that quote that so often pops up in sports venues. But sometimes it's a perfect fit in a post-game interview. Like Friday when Northland Community College basketball coaches Chet Engelman and Sue Barnd watched their teams rally from double-digit second half deficits to win first round games in the men's and women's Pepsi-Cola Invitational.

Northland women overcame a 13-point, 48-35 deficit with 16:28 remaining to post a tournament-opening 70-62 win over Willmar, while the Northland men trailed by 17, 74-57, with 13:27 left before beating UND-Lake Region 97-94 in the final game of the two-day event hosted by the Pioneers.

"It ain't over 'till it's over," said Engelman, whose team scored 10 points in the final 24.6 seconds to pull out an unlikely victory. "I don't think we ever really believed we were going to lose," he said. "It just kind of surprised us that it took so long to get it done."

While both coaches were obviously elated with the comeback efforts, neither was happy with the manner in which their teams fell behind.

"We came out flat-footed at the start of the second half," said Barnd. "We turned it around when we started playing some defense. We were stopping them at one end of the court, then turning around and scoring ourselves. That's a four-point swing each time."

"I was not happy with our effort, especially in the first half," mentioned Engelman. "Whether you win or lose isn't important if you don't put in the effort. We have to learn to play with more intensity at the beginning."

UND-Lake Region beat the Concordia College junior varsity 77-54 in the other women's semifinal, while Iowa Lakes rolled to a 115-52 win over Willmar in the first men's game.

Northland 70
Willmar 62

Willmar turned a narrow 33-31 halftime edge into a 48-35 lead with a 15-2 run to start the second half, but Northland promptly answered with a 23-6 surge of its own that started the Pioneers on their way to the 70-62 victory.

A 34-point effort by Rhonda Rothschadl carried the Pioneers, with teammates Alice Dunning and Jill Brantl contributing key points down the stretch.

It was tied at 60-60 with 4:15 remaining when free throws by Dunning and Brantl put the Pioneers ahead for good.

Michelle Severtson connected from the side with 1:17 showing to pull the Warriors within 63-62, but the Pioneers did the rest of the scoring. First, they broke the Willmar press with a lay-up by Brantl; then Dunning made the first attempt on a bonus free throw opportunity; Brantl came back with a rebound basket; and Rothschadl finished it by hitting two free throws with just 8.5 seconds showing.

Dunning wound up with 11 points and Brantl had 9. Marquita Acosta led a balanced Willmar attack with 20 points, while Tracy Marquardt and Sherry Thelen both had 16.

Northland was 30-for-66 from the field (45 percent) and 9-for-15 at the free throw line. Willmar went 23-for-70 from the field (33 percent) – which included eight three-point baskets – and wound up 8-for-13 at the line.

The Pioneers finished with a sizeable 43-26 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 20-14.

Scoring

Northland	31	39	70

Willmar - Sherry Thelen 16, Deb Schiffler 2, Michelle Severtson 4, Tami Lippert 4, Tracy Marquardt 16, Marquita Acosta 20.

Northland - Jill Brantl 9, Susie Bengston 2, Nanette Berg 1, Nikki Anderson 2, Rhonda Rothschadl 34, Melanie Martin 9, Alice Dunning 11.

Northland 97
UND-Lake Region 94

UND-Lake Region appeared to have the game won, but the Royals left the door open just a crack, and the Northland men took advantage of the ever-so-slight opening to pull out the head-shaking 97-94 decision.

There were five ties, and the lead changed hands eight times in the first half before a 14-2 UND-Lake Region finishing kick opened up a 54-43 spread at intermission.

Northland scored the first seven points of the second half to get back in the game at 56-52, but then watched the Royals go on a 16-3 run that produced the before-mentioned 17-point gap.

UND-Lake Region still maintained a 90-79 spread with 4:50 remaining, but the Royals' clock-eating delay game failed to protect the lead.

And the Royals were their own worst enemy down the stretch. A drive through the middle by the Pioneers' Larone Greer cut the UND-Lake Region lead to 92-89 with 24.6 seconds left. After a quick Northland time-out, jostling for position on the in-bounds play resulted in an intentional dead-ball foul called against the Royals. That put Greer back on the line for two free throws (he made one). The Pioneers also retained possession, and after Derrick Thomas was fouled on a rebound shot, he made the first attempt on a bonus free throw opportunity to make it 92-91 with 16.1 seconds left.

A Northland foul stopped the clock with 13.1 seconds to go, but the Royals' Jason Breding extended a run of 15 straight UND-Lake Region free throws without a miss for a 94-91 lead.

However, the dramatics were just beginning. Northland's John Clark drilled a three-point shot from the corner to tie it at 94 with 8.9 seconds to play, and the Royals promptly called a time-out. The problem was, they didn't have any time-outs left. That produced a technical foul call. Clark broke the tie by making the two free throws with 6.6 seconds left, and after being fouled on the ensuing possession, Greer capped the comeback by making one of two free throws with 5.2 seconds go to.

Travis Brown led the winners with 22 points, while Clark netted 18, Fred Sculfield 14 and Greer 11. Richard Buck matched Brown's 22 points for the Royals, with Breding and Mo Nelson both getting 17 and Guy Smith 16.

Northland was 36-for-84 from the field (31 percent) and 20-for-33 at the free throw line. UND-Lake Region went 32-for-70 from the field (46 percent) and 28-for-32 at the line. The Pioneers out-rebounded the Royals 46-36. The sometime wild affair also had 64 turnovers – 34 by the visitors and 30 by Northland.

Grygla-Goodridge girls lose 46-44 to Lake of the Woods

A fourth quarter Grygla-Goodridge rally briefly pulled the Wolverines even, but Lake of the Woods wound up a 46-44 winner Monday in a girls high school basketball game played at Grygla.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Wolverines, who will meet Climax Thursday in the first round of the Red Lake County Central Invitational in Plummer. Finals are planned Saturday.

Lake of the Woods had a 38-25 lead through three quarters before Grygla-Goodridge stormed back. The Wolverines tied it at 44-44 on a steal and a lay-up by Brandy Stratton with 30 second left, but a foul sent the Bears' Erica Klassen to the free throw line and she made both attempts on the bonus opportunity with 16 seconds left to win it.

"We're shooting and passing very poorly," reported Grygla-Goodridge coach Mike Gast. "We're getting good shots, but we just can't get the hoops."

Lisa Verbout scored a game-high

Willmar defenders Tracy Marquardt (left) and Marquita Acosta couldn't stop Northland's Rhonda Rothschadl from getting this shot off during the Friday afternoon opener to the Northland Pepsi-Cola Invitational basketball tournament. Rothschadl scored 34 points to lead the Pioneers past the Warriors 70-62.

Pioneers beaten in NCC finals

UND-Lake Region women and Iowa Lakes men were winners over the host Pioneers Saturday afternoon in the finals of the Northland Pepsi-Cola Invitational basketball tournament.

The UND-Lake Region women rolled to an easy 122-70 title game decision, while the Iowa Lakes men collected a 95-84 victory.

In Saturday's third place games, the Concordia College junior varsity defeated Willmar 75-54 (women) and UND-Lake Region handled Willmar 91-63 (men).

UND-Lake Region 122
Northland 70

UND-Lake Region mixed 59 percent shooting from the field with 39 Northland turnovers to produce to 52-point, 122-70 championship game blow-out.

Northland overcame a 13-point second half deficit in a 70-62 come-from-behind semifinal win over Willmar Saturday, but there was no rally this time. A perennial National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region 13 power, UND-Lake Region built up a 56-30 halftime lead and doubled the point spread in the second half.

"They're good, and they're tall," pointed out Northland coach Sue Barnd. "We didn't play awful, but we didn't play as well as we did the day before."

Northland received a 24-point, 10-rebound effort from Alice Dunning, with teammates Rhonda Rothschadl and Jill Brantl adding 15 and 10 points, respectively. But six Royals hit double figures, led by Sarah Faaland with 25 points.

The Pioneers were 24-for-55 from the field (44 percent) and had a 21-for-29 showing at the free throw line. UND-Lake Region was 50-for-85 from the field and 16-for-19 at the line. The winners finished with a 45-33 rebound advantage, and they had 21 turnovers – a relatively high figure, but still almost half the number charged against the Pioneers.

Northland, 1-2, will face Itasca tonight (Tuesday) at 6 p.m. in Grand Rapids before playing host to another tournament Friday and Saturday – the NCC Women's Invitational. Mesabi and Itasca will open the draw at 5 p.m. Friday, followed by Hibbing vs. Northland at 7. Saturday's schedule includes the third place game at 11 a.m. and championship game at 1 p.m.

Tournament Results - Women

■ Semifinals - Northland 70, Willmar 62; UND Lake Region 77, Concordia College JV 54.

■ Finals - UND Lake Region 122, Northland 70 (championship); Concordia College JV 75, Willmar 54 (third place).

Tournament Results - Men

■ Semifinals - Iowa Lakes 115, Willmar 52; Northland 97, UND Lake Region 94.

Results from the day before might have had a major bearing on the championship game, according to Northland head coach Chet Engelman, whose Pioneers spent a lot of energy in their 97-94 come-from-behind semifinal win over UND-Lake Region. Iowa Lakes, meanwhile, coasted to a 115-52 first-day romp over Willmar.

Championship game final: Iowa Lakes 95, Northland 84.

"First and foremost, they have a very good basketball team," pointed out Engelman. "And they were a little fresher than we were. We had to work awfully hard the night before, and we were a little leg weary on the second day. On the other hand, they had a much easier time of it Friday and had a lot of energy left."

Iowa Lakes, after building a 12-point, 52-40 halftime lead, held off two Northland second half runs – one at the start and one at the end – to wind up with an 11-point victory.

Final Northland charge cut the difference to 90-84, but Iowa Lakes finished it off at the free throw line.

Anthony Anderson scored 36 points and Marcus Owens had 25 for a potent one-two Iowa Lakes scoring punch. Travis Brown led the Pioneers with 19 points and 15 rebounds, while Joe Comstock and Derrick Thomas added 15 and 13 points, respectively, to the Northland total.

The Pioneers were 31-for-77 from the field (40 percent) and 18-for-23 at the free throw line. Iowa Lakes made 34 of 74 field goal attempts (46 percent) and sank 22 of 35 free throw tries. The Lakers out-rebounded the Pioneers 57-41, but had more turnovers, 24-20.

Northland, 2-1, will meet UND-Lake Region again Wednesday in a 7:30 p.m. game at Devils Lake, ND – the Pioneers' only outing this week.

Fosston beats TRF 43-42 in swim dual

Thief River Falls dropped a 43-42 decision to host Fosston Thursday in season-opening boys high school swimming.

"They swam really well," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "There were a couple of disappointments, but it was a good meet for us. We had some real good times, and our strokes are a lot better than they were at this time last year."

A disqualification in the meet-opening 200 medley relay for a false start came back to haunt the Prowlers at the end.

The Prowlers host Detroit Lakes Thursday in a 5 p.m. dual. Bemidji, Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Fosston, Moorhead and Park Rapids will be at the Franklin Middle School pool Saturday for the annual Prowler Relays. Meet time is 1:30 p.m.

Wrestlers lose 35-33 match

Larimore got off to a 24-point head start Friday, but Thief River Falls came back to make it close at the end before the visiting Prowlers surrendered a 35-33 high school wrestling decision.

It was the 1991-92 season-opener for the Prowlers, who were scheduled to face Warren and Roseau tonight (Tuesday) in a double-dual format at Warren starting at 5 p.m. They will compete in the Grand Forks Sertoma Club Invitational Friday and Saturday.

First points for the Prowlers came on a forfeit at 130 pounds, but pins by John Davis at 152 and Lee Nieland at 160, along with a 5-4 victory for Matt Kaushagen at 171 pulled the Prowlers within 29-27 before David Gratton sealed the decision for Larimore with a fall at 189. That provided the North Dakota outfit with an unsurmountable 36-27 cushion to offset a forfeit at heavyweight.

"I'm reasonably happy with our performance," reported Thief River Falls coach John Anderson. "We just ran out of gas in most of the matches. With so many young kids we had to start by working a lot on wrestling and not so much on conditioning. Now we can work on getting in wrestling shape. We were ahead in most of the matches before we got tired."

Larimore 35, TRF 33

TRF girls open with win

Jodi Kruta led the way with 24 points, and four other Prowlers contributed 7-to-9 points as the Thief River Falls girls opened their 1991-92 high school basketball schedule with a 57-48 Saturday night win at Roseau.

"We played very well as a team," said Sally Wiltse, who made her debut as the Thief River Falls head coach. "It was a tough ball game for us; we really had to work hard." But the girls did a nice job. We're real happy with the win."

Thief River Falls led at the quarter stops 17-15, 31-22 and 41-36, then protected a four-point lead with a delay game over the final 2 1/2 minutes.

Julie Kindzerski led the Rams with 13 points.

The Prowlers' task was made more difficult when starting center Amy Adams went down with an ankle sprain in practice that will sideline her up to four weeks.

Without Adams the Prowlers were beaten on the boards 45-31, although Terik Koivisto came through with 11 rebounds for the winners, and her 9 points included a 4-for-7 fourth quarter at the free throw line when the Rams were forced into a must-foul situation.

Thief River Falls was 20-for-53 from the field (38 percent) and went 14-for-25 at the free throw line. Roseau had a 20-for-60 game from the floor (33 percent) and an 8-for-21 night at the free throw line. The turnovers were even at 19-apiece.

The Prowlers' home opener will be a 7:30 p.m. Saturday match-up with Dilworth-Diyndon-Felton. Junior varsity game starts at 6 p.m.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Thief River Falls	17	14	10	16	57
Roseau	15	7	14	12	48

TRF - Jodi Kruta 24, Toni Chiodo 7, Tarik Koivisto 9, Lisa Ulrich 6, Vanessa Anderson 7, Leslie Ammerman 2.

Roseau - Julie Kindzerski 13, Taresa Gotzlaman 6, Elisa Kotz 7, Sue Roadieich 6, Charissa Lundbohm 6, Sue Falk 4, Jenni Bilberg 2, Bobbi Jo Whitechurch 2.

Nordics edge Mustangs

Shane Borg opened a three-minute overtime with a three-point basket to spark Marshall County Central to a 67-60 Friday night boys high school basketball win over Red Lake County Central at Plummer.

Two free throws by the Mustangs' Ryan Melby with 11 seconds remaining in regulation time tied the game at 60-60, but Red Lake County Central failed to pick up a point in overtime.

It was the 1991-92 season opener for both teams.

The Nordics led 15-8, 33-23 and 44-35 before the Mustangs caught them as the end of the fourth quarter.

Both teams had a pair of double figure scorers. For the Nordics, Tim Olson scored 26 points and Ivan Hirst had 19. For the Mustangs, Ryan Melby netted 22 and and Jacob Melby had 14.

The Nordics shot 45 percent from the field, hitting 26 of 58 attempts, and went 14-for-26 at the free throw line. The Mustangs shot 48 percent from the floor on a 23-for-48 showing, and had a 10-for-15 night at the line. Both teams had 19 turnovers, but the big difference came in the rebounding department, where Marshall County Central finished with a 29-11 advantage, including a 14-1 difference on the offensive boards – resulting in a bundle of extra points for the visitors.

"We really got hurt on the boards," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Tedd Fore. "We just couldn't stay with them on the offensive end."

Red Lake County Central visits Fertile-Beltrami tonight (Tuesday) and will be at Win-E-Mac Friday. Marshall County Central has a 'home' game tonight against Warren at Northland Community College. The Nordics' home schedule is split between various sites throughout the area following the November fire

Skippers win opener 73-59

Middle River shook off Lake of the Woods when the Skippers went to a second quarter press Friday in a 73-59 season-opening boys high school basketball win at Baudette.

Facing a man-to-man defense at the start, Lake of the Woods was within 16-14 when the first quarter ended. But with the defensive switch in the second quarter, the Skippers out scored the Bears 27-5 for a 43-19 halftime cushion. It was 58-33 through three quarters.

"We did all right for a first game," noted Middle River coach Eldon Sparby.

David Nelson led the winners with 15 points, while Jarrett Walton netted 14 and John Sparby contributed 13. Neil Gushalak and Bredy Willis were the Bears' leaders with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Middle River was 29-for-78 from the field (37 percent) and 11-for-17 at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods went 18-for-59 from the field (31 percent) and wound up 3-for-9 at the line. The Skippers finished with a 30-27 rebound advantage, including a 15-4 difference on the offensive boards, and the Bears topped the turnover charts 25-9.

Next outing for the Skippers will be their Friday home opener against Badger-Greenbush.

Rams down Skippers

A brief season-opening two-game Middle River winning streak ended Monday when the Skippers dropped a 52-41 home court decision to Roseau in girls high school basketball.

The Rams had quarter leads of 10-7, 27-18 and 36-25.

"We played terrible," said Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "We had as many turnovers as points. Our passing just wasn't sharp, and that should be our strong suit. We just threw it away against their press."

Teresa Gotziaman scored 20 points and Sue Roadfeldt had 11 for the Rams, while Krissi Supper's 16 points represented the Skippers' lone double figure production.

Middle River was 16-for-41 from the field (39 percent) and only 13-for-25 at the free throw line, while Roseau went 4-for-12.

The Skippers will meet East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the first round of the Warren Invitational, where play will continue Friday and Saturday.

RLCC girls notch first win, 65-35

Five Red Lake County Central scorers hit double figures Monday as the Mustangs broke into the win column with a 65-35 girls high school basketball victory over Clearbrook-Gonvick in Clearbrook.

Red Lake County Central scoring included Jenny Walter with 12 points, Cheryl Greenwald, Dawn Bachand and Jill Radniecki with 11 each and Lisa Howard with 10.

"You have to be pleased with that kind of balanced scoring," noted Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto, who gave special recognition to Lisa Howard, a junior who added seven rebounds to her double figure scoring off the bench.

Red Lake County Central made 27 of 72 field goal attempts (38 percent) while struggling through a 9-for-21 night at the free throw line. Clearbrook-Gonvick was 15-for-57 from the field (26 percent) and 5-for-12 at the line. The Mustangs, with Bachand grabbing 11 rebounds and Walter getting 9, finished with a 42-41 edge on the boards. The Bears wound up with more turnovers, 24-20.

The 1-2 Mustangs host the annual Red Lake County Central Invitational Thursday and Saturday in Plummer. On Thursday, Grygla-Goodridge plays Climax at 7 p.m. and Red Lake County Central meets Valley North at 8:30. Saturday, the third place game will be played at 2 p.m. and the championship game starts at 3:30.

Youth Hockey

Reports were received from Bantam A, Pee-Wee B-1 and Elmer Poole Conference play for 7-8-year-olds, but the rest of the weekend Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) results were not turned in for today's weekly Youth Hockey column.

Bantam A

A season-opening losing streak continued Friday in a 6-5 overtime loss to Roseau, but the Thief River Falls VFW Bantam A team finished a three-game weekend homestand with a 4-2 Saturday win over East Grand Forks and a 4-3 Sunday victory over Crookston.

Trailing 5-2 midway through the third period, a Thief River Falls came back to force overtime, but watched Roseau pick up the game-winner with just 52 seconds left in the extra period. Aaron Ehrenstrom, Keith Anderson, Kaine Martell, Nick Chiodo and Chad Hanson scored the Thief River Falls goals. The Thief River Falls goaltending tandem of Chanc Keefe and Shane Duffy combined for 38 saves. The Roseau goalie stopped 26 shots.

Tim Barry scored twice in the win over East Grand Forks. Chiodo and Anderson both scored once, while Hanson and Ehrenstrom both picked up two assists. Duffy finished with 24 saves; the East Grand Forks goalie had 29 stops.

Barry had another two-goal game against Crookston, with Steve Rambeck and Brian Howe adding single goals. Keefe finished with 31 saves; the Crookston goalie stopped 25 shots.

Pee-Wee B-1

It's a 1-4 start for the Thief River Falls Pee-Wee B-1 team.

The season opened with a 5-3 loss to Crookston, with the winners picking up an empty-net goal at the end. Jason Swanson, Nick Daley and Nathan Ptacek scored the Thief River Falls goals.

A recent trip to Fergus Falls included a 2-1 Saturday loss and a 4-3 Sunday victory. Nathan Jordet scored the lone goal in the first-game defeat, while Adam Swanson and Chad Paulson both scored twice in the second-game win behind the goaltending of Josh Holmes.

Over the weekend, Thief River Falls lost a 6-5 Friday decision to Bagley and dropped a 4-3 Saturday contest to East Grand Forks before beating West Fargo 7-1 Sunday.

Jason Carlson turned in a three-goal hat trick performance against Bagley, with Daley and Ptacek both scoring once.

Eric Rouland, Adam Swanson and Daley scored the Thief River Falls goals against East Grand Forks – all in the third period.

Adam Swanson and Rouland both had hat tricks against West Fargo, while Carlson added a single goal. Holmes and Seth Martell shared the Thief River Falls goaltending duties.

7-8-Year-Olds

First-week scores in the Elmer Poole Conference In-House program for 7-8-year-olds found Bridgeman's beating Pepsi 7-1, Pizza Hut out-scored McDonald's 10-9 and Coke defeated Hardee's 10-1.

DIRECTOR OF NURSING-LONG TERM CARE

Roseau Area Hospital District is a 45-bed acute care facility with 64 beds of Long Term Care. We currently have eight active physicians on staff with another one scheduled to arrive in August of 1992. We service 15,000 people in Northwestern Minnesota and southern Canada, with 2,000 of these people being over the age of 65. We are seeking a Director of Nursing who wishes to accept the challenge of providing quality long term care services to our golden citizens.

A 44-bed replacement facility is scheduled to begin construction in the spring of 1992. This facility will have 40 single bedrooms with the balance in semi-private. This will be attached to a present 20-bed skilled care facility. This will create an opportunity to provide resident centered quality care.

We are seeking an individual who is an R.N. with two to five years of supervisory experience in a Long Term Care setting with increasing responsible track record. This person will be responsible for long term care nursing, activities and social services. We provide a very competitive salary and above average benefits.

PLEASE SUBMIT YOUR RESUME TO:

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to everyone for your kindness and sympathy shown us at the death of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Oscar Amundson. Our thanks to Rev. Lilette Johnston for leading the service and for her songs, to Rev. Raynard Huglen for his message of comfort. Also to Rev. J.A. Rivenoss for his visits with Oscar, Lowell Hogberg for singing, to organist Beverly Lindstrom, the pallbearers, and for all prayers, beautiful cards and flowers, memorials and gifts of food. Thanks to the Ladies of Bethlehem Lutheran church for serving the delicious lunch and to the entire Nursing Staff at the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Center for their excellent care of Oscar and to everyone who visited him there. Special thanks to Green Funeral Home for their kind and helpful services. May God bless you all.

Another Christmas season
Somehow there is a reason
To feel somehow lonely and blue
Another year without you
Can it really be true
So many years without you
But you will always be
A part of a very special place
We hold in our hearts

Beloved and missed by children and grandchildren

THANK YOU

Thank you Dr. Schoeneman and nurses at NWMC for the fine care I received while in the hospital. To all who sent cards, flowers, gifts, and to all who telephoned and visited, a big thank you. Having friends and family that care certainly made recovery go much faster. It was all very much appreciated.

IN MEMORY

The troubles that beset you
Along life's winding road
Are sent to make you stronger
To share another's load.

We cannot share a sorrow
If we haven't grieved a while,
Nor can we feel another's joy
Until we've learned to smile!

Sweet mystery of music,
Great masters and their art,
How well we understand them
When we've known a broken heart!

In loving memory of Floyd Haugen who passed away Dec. 2, 1985. We miss you Floyd! Love, your family, Mom and Dad, brother and sisters. 1t99p

Christmas Eve dinner

Plans are well underway for the annual community Christmas Eve dinner to be served at 5 p.m. Tuesday, December 24, at Lon's Restaurant on Oakland Park Road in Thief River Falls.

Sponsored by the community of Thief River Falls and conducted by many volunteers who give of their time and talents to obtain, prepare, serve or deliver the traditional roast turkey dinners, the event is free and open to anyone who does not have family with which to spend Christmas Eve.

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce office is serving as a contact point for the annual event. Although there is no charge for participation, reservations are requested so plans can be made for adequate food preparation. Call 681-3720 to indicate how many will be attending the dinner.

Arrangements are also made to deliver meals to persons who are unable to attend the event in person. Requests for meals to be delivered should also be directed to the chamber of commerce office at the same number, as well as requests for rides to attend the event in person.

Additional volunteers are always needed—to provide transportation for persons attending the dinner or to deliver meals to those unable to attend as well as to set tables, serve the meals and assist with clean-up.

Some food items such as lefse, cookies and bars may be donated and should be brought to Lon's Restaurant prior to December 24. Also needed are about 100 pounds of potatoes and several volunteers to help peel them Christmas Eve morning.

The chamber of commerce office is also keeping a list of people willing to volunteer and accepting cash donations to help pay for items which must be purchased.

Christmas party was hosted Monday evening for the mentally disadvantaged of the area by the Thief River Falls adult care providers. A meal was provided at the Eagles Hall and dancing followed with music by Cathy Erickson. Food for the meal was provided by donations from the Eagles Aerie, Bridgemen Creameries, Hugo's, Hardee's, Kon's Hertz, Norwest Bank and the Old Dutch Potato Chip company of Crookston.

Stumpf and Sparby set town meets

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls have scheduled several town meetings for mid-December and encourage concerned citizens to attend the meeting in their community.

"We are arranging these meetings with residents of House District 1B to hear about public concerns," Sen. Stumpf said. "We will be returning to St. Paul next month for the 1992 legislative session and are interested in the views and ideas of the people in our area prior to the start of the session."

"It is our hope that arranging these six meetings throughout the district will make it convenient for all people to participate," Rep. Sparby added. "We have had similar meetings in the past and they have been extremely helpful in allowing us to be responsive to the needs of the district."

Meetings have been scheduled for Thursday, December 19, at 9:30 a.m. at the Grygla community center, 12:30 p.m. at the Goodridge senior center and 3 p.m. at the Oklee recreation center.

On Friday, December 20, Sen. Stumpf and Rep. Sparby will be at the Oslo city hall at 9:30 a.m., the Prairie Cafe in Alvarado at 12:30 p.m. and the Town Square Restaurant in Warren at 2:30 p.m.

My name is Abdul, but you can call me Timmy

Trip to Tangier in Morocco provides an interesting experience and adventure for writer

The outside of the estate of Malcolm Forbes is as beautiful as it is inside. Our guide took us inside the home where we saw many things.

Inside the Casbah, the older part of Tangier, a visitor will find residents marketing clothing, food, trinkets, carpets and just about anything imaginable.

Hey, I'm the guy on the camel. We joked about where the other two "wise guys" were. Our tour guide in Morocco took us to a number of places including, as pictured above, to a place where we could ride on a camel.

This is the third and final installment of a series of stories about my trip to Spain. This adventure begins early the third or fourth day of our trip. That day we drove to Algeciras on the coast of Spain where we took a ferry over to Morocco. It cost about $54 per person. Once we arrived we met a man who actually forced his way into our lives and offered to give us a tour of Tangier.

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Before we arrived we considered walking to a few of the sites in Tangier. Mom and Dad had visited Tangier, Morocco, about 16 years ago. We learned from a very insistant guide at the port that the population of the community was probably around 150,000 16 years ago. It is now around 850,000 and as such had swelled beyond its older boundaries. He also warned that Tangier had unemployment rate of between 35 and 40 per cent. That's all it took to convince us that we needed a tour guide.

"My name is Abdul, but you call me Timmy," said our self-appointed tour guide in broken English. The elderly man wearing a white toga-like djellaba worn by bedouins endeared himself to us with his expertise and unexpected humor.

Our tour with "Timmy" began with a drive past several palaces, including King Hassan II's, and several consulates. It was interesting that the King pays his army guards twice what the government pays them — wise man.

Timmy also took us to a small parking lot on a hillside where we could ride camels. I climbed on for a short ride around the parking lot while mom and dad took some photographs. He also took us to Malcolm Forbes' palace — the palace where Forbes held his four-day $8 million birthday bash. To our surprise and delight, he took us inside the mansion. We were able to see a limited part of the palace, but what we were able to see was amazing. There is inside, a display of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of miniature soldiers staged in some of history's most famous battles. Also inside were various posters from wars, artifacts of war such as medals and other items, and pictures of past and present rulers in Morocco. And, of course, there were pictures of his hot air balloons and his white motorcycle parked against one wall. In the back yard — you could call it the back 40 — we walked past the swimming pool, patio overlooking the Atlantic and Mediterranean and through lush gardens where mom posed with Timmy next to a huge poinsettia "plant", which was more like a large tree.

After leaving Forbes' palace we went to the Casbah, the native section of the community, but really a marketplace. Did I mention that unemployment is around 35 to 40 per cent and that there were young unemployed people everywhere and there were lots of poor and greedy and angry people. The point is that I didn't feel safe. Mom and dad were having a good time — not that they aren't sensitive to the poor and their living conditions, but they weren't afraid to face it or learn from the experience.

All kinds of leather goods, clothing, trinkets, food and wares, different peoples and smells and sounds waft up at you from the dark and narrow streets of the Casbah and assault all of your senses. It is a noisy, busy place. Someone else

New release from Terry Redlin

"Evening Solitude"

Somewhere is the ideal camping site, far from the tensions of modern civilization. Here the healing powers of nature slowly emerge and for a few precious days all is right with the world. In his newest release, "Evening Solitude", Terry Redlin shares with us this message. The campers, not yet fully in touch with their magical surroundings, are unaware of the Canadas who fly by on the way to their own resting place. This wilderness medicine is offered in limited prescription of 9,500 s/n. 18½x32".

GOD'S LOVE APPEARS IN THE SPARKLING WHITE OF WINTER

When autumn colors fade away
And skies aren't overcast with gray,
The brightest stars are on display
  To brighten up the night;
And meanwhile, on the earth below,
The ground and trees are all aglow,
They're blanketed with ice and snow,
  To everyone's delight
The icicles adorn the trees
And all the world would seem to freeze;
However, everyone agrees
  It is an awesome sight.
Each lesson of our faith implies
A blessing we should recognize:
The love of God before our eyes,
With winter's sparkling white.

— Gloria Nowak

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
Filling the sky and the earth below.
— John W. Watson

"...he saith to the snow, be thou on the earth."
— Job 37.6

Strandquist

The Strandquist Senior Citizens didn't meet on Thanksgiving Day but will meet again on the 7th to tie a quilt and get ready for Santa Claus day which will be held on Saturday, the 9th. At that time they will be having drawings and serve coffee and goodies for all and candy for all the school children. The Christmas party will be held later.

Richard Johnson of Minneapolis stopped in to visit his grandmother, Elphie Adlis on his way to be with his parents, Mike and Betty Johnson of Warroad. On Thanksgiving Day, Elphie, Linda and Stanley Adlis joined them for dinner.

Jennifer Anderson was home from Hamline University for Thanksgiving. She returned Sunday with Chris and Liz Johnson. Thanksgiving supper guests at Paul and Shirley Anderson's were Eve Bernard and Walter Thompson. On Friday Jenny Anderson visited with Allison Britten.

Marie and Bud Steffen stopped at Frank Kleinvachter's Friday evening on their way home from a six weeks trip through Eastern Canada, Nova Scotia, Vermont, Prince Edward Island, Niagara Falls and other places of interest and treated Frank and Judy to supper at Ken's Kitchen.

Thanksgiving Day guests of Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom were Jeff, Peggy and Jarad Lindstrom of Akeley, Bob, Pat, Dionne, Tylor and Cessie Lindstrom, Ted and Lori Johnson and Jaimie, Andy and Allies of Hallock, Dianne Hoff, Danny and Bradley of Bemidji, and Dr. Paul Dittanson of Red Lake.

Elmer and Anne Holmstrom and Judy Kleinvachter visited Ellen Stromberg and Frank Grochowski Sunday afternoon.

Earl and Ebba Sihlberg are out of seclusion after entertaining hunters for two weeks, and are now rested up. Kelly and Donny and Danielle Donarski visited them on Sunday. This zero weather reminds them of summer days on the farm and of the time the geese got into the garden and ate the poppies. When the geese came out in the yard the drug in the poppies took effect, and when they were found they were laying all over. Not knowing what had "killed" them they wouldn't eat the meat, but decided to save the feathers for pillows. They all sat down and plucked the geese and threw them in a pile as it was dusk by this time. The cold rain that night helped awaken the geese from their overdose and the next morning the family looked out at almost bare naked birds. If it had been weather like we are having now you can see where we get the saying "goose bumps."

Wayne Stromgren's spent Thanksgiving Day at the Eldor Engen's of Newfolden. Sunday Lauri and Nikki attended a shower for Tammy Sorter in Middle River, and later in Christmas party at Bethesda Lutheran church in the afternoon.

Morris and Hazel Anderson enjoyed Thanksgiving Day dinner with Jim and Cindy Wetterlund in East Grand Forks, returning home on Friday evening.

Thanksgiving guests at Philip and Yvonne Boen's were Michelle Boen of Grand Forks, and Cory Boen of Moorhead.

Elmer and Anne Holmstrom and Ellen Stromberg visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter Saturday evening.

Debbie and Mike Evans and family of Circle Pines, came to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with her mother, LaVonna Johnson and grandparents, Peter E. and Pearl Thompson. They visited at Danny and Becky Johnson's and David and Phaele Thompson.

Ellen Stromberg and Frank Grochowski visited Frank and Judy Friday evening. Stevan Benson and friend, Kathy, from Rochester visited Frank and Judy Wednesday afternoon.

On Friday Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom visited Ted and Lori Johnson at Hallock.

My name is Abdul, but call me Timmy might describe it as wonderful; I wanted to know the location of the nearest exit.

Timmy quickly and expertly led us through the maze of side streets and to a rug dealer. Mom had expressed an interest in buying a "magic" carpet. It was funny at the time.

We were taken to the upstairs room of a rug dealer off a noisy street of the Casbah. In these quiet and relaxing confines our host explained we were his guests and we were given a sweet green mint tea, practically considered a national drink. Our mustachioed host, who was dressed in a white toga and wore pointed yellow slip-ons, or babouches, briefly explained how the carpets are made and what the symbols on them mean. With great fanfare a number of carpets were thrown out by several assistants. Then the bargaining began.

Mom and dad really enjoyed the experience and the bargaining. The prices sounded reasonable to me — at first. I thought $37.50 sounded reasonable when he mentioned price. I turned to my mom and said, "I don't know, $37.50 sounds pretty good to me."

She laughed and said, "they're talking about thousands, dear."

I turned so white the merchant noticed. I was quickly led from the room by an astute salesman.

A smaller carpet, a smaller rug dealer, add up to the same results. I was terrified they would be insulted by me and that I would be beaten and chased through the market. So I have an imagination.

A number of carpets were brought out for me and I finally asked what one rug would cost and when he told me $900 to $1,000 I gasped. He asked what I would be willing to pay.

Not wanting the rug I paused long and hard. I told him I had a house which I lived in alone. I told him I had little use for a fancy rug and little money as well. They again asked, but asked what I could afford. I again told them I don't earn much and not wanting to insult them by giving them what I thought the rug was worth, which was obviously more than I could afford, I said I could afford $250. They were slightly taken aback — my dad had just made a purchase in the thousands.

They then asked what I thought the value of the rug was and said my estimate would not insult them. If they didn't like what I said they just wouldn't shake my hand and all would be okay. I would have my money and they would have their rug.

I said $300. They said good and shook my hand. I was stunned. They asked me to pay in cash.

I'm still stunned. If nothing else, I learned how to bargain and to be more careful in the future. And, I have an expensive carpet for my small house.

After the carpet shop we were taken to a restaurant over-looking the Casbah. There were wall to wall carpets and a small group of musicians playing a variety of instruments. It was the type of foreign experience people think of when they think of Morocco.

Our dinner included a glass of wine and Cous-cous, Morocco's national dish of semolina, vegetables, and chunks of lamb, prepared with cinnamon and sweet yellow raisins. The food was actually pretty good, though obviously different. I would not have attempted to purchase food or even find a restaurant in the Casbah if we had been alone. I suspect that tourists are often taken to the restaurant Timmy took us to.

Our experience may have been less exciting than others. I talked to one man who paid for the boat ride and bus tour, which amounted to about $25 more than the ferry ticket we purchased.

Bus tour guides usually request the passports of those on the tour. It expedites matters at check points. They turned their passports over to the the guide, but while at a different carpet dealer, the guide announced that one of the passports was missing.

The bargaining was ruined. After searching everywhere, a passport that belonged to an English man and his wife was still missing. The tour guide didn't even offer to help, said the man who was on the tour.

The English couple and their daughter were left behind to fend for themselves. They were told to contact the English embassy and that it takes about two days to process a request for a passport.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

by Dr. Richard L. Lesher
President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

One of the best kept secrets of our time is the vast amount of money our society spends on environmental protection, much of it spent neither wisely nor well.

Many people believe the environment gets shortchanged, a notion starkly at odds with reality. While it is true that the federal Environmental Protection Agency spent a "mere" $5.5 billion in 1990, that was only the tip of the iceberg. There are countless other agencies at the federal, state and local level spending billions more to enforce environmental rules, and even that represents a tiny portion of overall environmental spending. The real money is being spent by business, government agencies, and private citizens to comply with environmental requirements.

When all of our environmental spending is totaled up, the result is impressive. In 1990, for example, we spent $115 billion to clean up environmental pollution. That amounts to about 40 per cent of our defense budget, and over 2 per cent of our gross national product.

Further, our environmental spending is on a steep upward curve. By the year 2000, we will be spending $171 to $185 billion on environmental protection, equal to about 60 per cent of the defense budget, and 2.8 per cent of GNP.

These numbers come from a special report prepared by EPA at the instruction of Administrator William Reilly, who is determined to provoke a public debate over environmental priorities. We are spending an awesome amount of our resources on the environmental in an era of persistent fiscal crisis when many pressing social needs are going unmet. If we could address environmental problems more efficiently, and at less cost, we could redirect many billions of dollars into other areas, such as education and health care.

There is no doubt such saving is possible. Too often, our government enacts environmental laws and regulations in response to political pressure, not scientific data. the nationwide campaign to remove asbestos from buildings is a case in point. Much of this expensive work creates more hazards than it eliminates. Hardly a week passes without yet more than a third of its budget cleaning up hazardous waste dumps, though studies insist other problems, such as radon and threats to wildlife habitats, should have higher priority.

Reilly is right — we desperately need a sensible public debate about environmental priorities. At a minimum, the people should be informed just how much of their money is being spent on the environmental, and that a substantial portion of it is being wasted.

Toy Safety At Christmas Worth Thinking About

Watching a child's excitement when he or she receives a new toy at Christmas is one of the joys of the holiday season. Anticipation of that excitement is what makes toy shopping tolerable in the busy days before Christmas.

And while looking for those toys to make a child's eyes sparkle, it is good to keep in mind any potential hazards that the toys may involve. Of course there can be some risk involved with virtually anything a child can handle, but the age of the child and the capabilities or deficiencies of the toy should be kept in mind while selection is being made.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has estimated an increase in toy-related injuries to children. Nationally, since 1989, toys accounted for 122,000 emergency room visits by children under age 15. Riding toys were connected with more hospital-treated injuries than any other type of toy.

"The injuries most commonly caused by toys include lacerations, contusions and abrasions," the CPSC reports. "Children can be seriously injured by toys that choke, cut, puncture, shock, burn or damage hearing. When toy-related deaths occur, the most common hazards involve either riding toys or toys that cause choking. Choking deaths are most commonly caused by balloons, marbles and small parts from toys."

While it seems as though most adults would exercise care in selecting the toys they give to children, it is often easy to overlook potential hazards. The CPSC suggests that the following guidelines be observed when purchasing toys for young children:

- Choose toys carefully and selectively. Choose only toys that are appropriate for the child's age, skill level and development;
- Follow the age recommendations and safety and warning labels listed on the packaging;
- Be a label reader. Check for and choose fabric toys with labels that state "Washable/hygienic materials" or "Flame-retardant/resistant."
- Avoid toys that produce excessive noise; they could damage a child's hearing.

When considering purchasing a toy, inspect it carefully with the recipient in mind. Make sure the toy:

- Is non-toxic;
- Is too large to be swallowed;
- Does not contain detachable parts that could lodge in a child's throat, ears or nostrils;
- Does not have sharp edges or points;
- Does not have parts that could pinch or pull out hair;
- Does not have cords, ribbons or ropes over 12 inches in length that could strangle a child.

For families with children the following suggestions also apply and, although they seem obvious, should not be overlooked:

- Supervise children at play. Remember that any misused toy can be dangerous.
- Inspect toys periodically for regular wear and tear that could, if left unchecked, become a potential hazard.
- Shelve the toys or put them in a toy chest when play has ended. This will prevent breakage and prevent accidents.

For more information on toy safety, call the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission hotline at 1-800-638-2772.

Give With Your Head As Well As Your Heart

When you open your heart and your purse or wallet to give to charities contacting you this Christmas, don't forget to open your eyes and ears as well. In other words, use your head as well as your heart when attempting to help those less fortunate than you.

Minnesota Attorney General's office—which handles a number of complaints about fraud in various charity situations—suggests that there are some important things to keep in mind before writing a check or donating cash to charities.

Often the requests are made by telephone or in a mail effort which is timed to solicit an immediate response. Don't rush, the Attorney General's office states. Any charity worthy of a donation is willing to wait a few days for your gift. Don't be swayed by emotional appeals; give yourself time to think them through.

Ask questions. Find out if the person asking for your money on the phone is a professional fund-raiser. If the fund-raiser is professionally hired, much of your contribution will be kept by that fund-raiser and never get to the charity. Ask what the charity really does, how it will accomplish its goals and how much of the contribution will actually go to the charity. Ask if your contribution is tax-deductible.

Don't give to a charity because it has an official sounding name. Copycat names and logos are common, the AG's office reminds, and some organizations use them to capitalize on the work or reputation of the established popular charities.

"Some of the worst abusers of charity money are the schemes that offer a chance to win a contest or sweepstakes," the Attorney General's office says. "Don't give to a charity hoping to win something! Give if you agree with the organization's goals, and believe in the organization's ability to carry out those goals."

And if you have questions about a charity's methods or operations, or if you just want more information on wisely donating to charity, contact the Attorney General's charities division at 340 Bremer Tower, St. Paul, MN 55101 or call (612) 296-6172.

The Rutherford Report

by Gary Rutherford

Join the "War of Economic Independence"

In this column last week we identified a vital human resource for economic development: leaders who actually lead. But a leader can do little without another vital resource: citizens who get involved and supply the effort to support the leader. If citizens expect a leader alone to "create" economic development, the job probably won't get done.

Citizen-involvement is just as vital to economic development today as it was to national development in America's infancy. Back then, to be a citizen was the equivalent of being actively committed to the nation's welfare.

Do you know that one reason for the American Revolution was that King George of England had taken colonial citizens off ships and forced them to fight against the colonies? The Declaration of Independence asserts this charge when it states he forced "Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country (America), to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren....".

The charge implies that it was the obligation of every Citizen to owe allegiance first and foremost to the commonwealth of "Country... friends and Brethren." Thus, to be a citizen was to accept both rights and duties.

The Declaration of Independence asserts that we have "certain inalienable Rights...Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness." But who can be free or happy when the economy of their town is dying? Thus, the threat of economic decline is interfering with our rights as surely as King George did in 1776. In order to secure our right to be free and happy, we must remember our duty: to actually participate in our community's "war of economic independence."

It follows that if the community is a basic building block of the nation, allegiance to the community is the same as allegiance to the nation. When the nation's survival is threatened, we do our patriotic duty to the point of bearing arms and laying down our life. Do we not owe the same duty to our community to join in the fight for our community's economic independence? Apparently, however, just as in the days of King George, pressure and trends are interfering with citizens doing their duty.

And as harsh as it sounds, even in rural America's present state of emergency, many of us are becoming "the executions of (our) friends and Brethren" – literally, the cost of your non-involvement can be the death of your community.

Why? Because just as a "generals-only" army could never have force the surrender of Corwallis in 1781, neither can an economic development director and a handful of citizens force the surrender of economic decline in your town. Like a general, the main job of a development director is to manage all the resources, plan strategy, rally the citizen troops, assign missions, and implement battle plans. Thus, a development director needs you as much as Washington needed the Army of the Potomac!

What, then, keeps the majority of citizens from joining that fight? And what can we do about it?

One major problem is the self-image small towns have. A long period of decline convinces many the war can't be won. A cynical mindset replaces self-confidence. Unable to see optimism anywhere, the fight seems hopeless. Non-involvement is the result.

The antidote begins with leadership rebuilding confidence. Where would England and the allies be without Churchill? Where would Chrysler be without Iaccoca? Hope is in the hands of leadership.

Second, celebrate the successes of your community no matter how small. And make heroes everywhere you can. The newspaper needs to make progress the norm. Finally, criticism must be replaced with creativity and encouragement.

Remember, there would be no America today had citizens in 1776 passively submitted to the tyranny of King George. Today we face the tyranny of long-term economic erosion. This creates a crisis of confidence that "forces" some to passively submit to the "inevitable" death of their town. Yet, it is their own non-involvement that fulfills the prophecy.

The answer is a new citizen-army of "minute men and women" across rural America. There can be a small town America tomorrow if we begin the fight today.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

In celebration of Farm-City Month observed this past November, I would like to address your readers concerning the safety of the food we eat every day.

I am sure there are some people in the Pennington area who are concerned that pesticide residues make our food less than safe to eat. This isn't true. In fact, without pesticides, insects and rodents can infect crops with unhealthy micro organisms. Molds and bacteria can interact with certain crops to produce poisons. Pesticides help us grow safer, and certainly more plentiful, food supplies.

The medical community backs up what we farmers believe about food safety. "There is no food safety crisis," former U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop told Congress in June. Pesticide residues present on the food supply "occur at such minute levels that they present no risk of harm to human health," Dr. Koop said.

"While approximately 9,000 people die from bacteria-caused food poisoning each year, there is no scientific evidence showing that residues from the lawful application of pesticides to food have ever caused illness or death."

Pesticides are extensively tested before they are even put on the market. Only one out of a potential of 20,000 compounds are ever manufactured. Chemical companies typically spend $35 million over 10 years of testing to bring a product from test tube to farm supply dealer. Most of that time and money are spent on making sure the product is safe to use on food crops.

Besides that, the EPA carefully checks laboratory tests to be sure pesticides are really safe. Once food is brought to market, the FDA and many state agencies test foods for pesticide residues.

So go ahead and eat an apple a day—it's safe. In fact, eat whatever you like, knowing that we farmers, and many agencies are taking special steps to be sure it's good for you.

Sincerely,
LuAnn Carow, President

Ice Rink To Open Sunday

"Good news for young people of the community is contained in the announcement by T. Thronson of the arena management committee that the skating rink in the arena will be opened to the public next Sunday, December 14, assuming continuation of the present cold weather. Mr. Thronson stated that no season tickets will be issued this season, but that the schedule of admission charges will be on the basis of five cents for children and nine cents for adults."

County Defense Council To Meet

"With the United States now in a state of war, Major Gustav Schilbred, chairman, has called a meeting of the members of the Pennington county civilian defense council for Friday evening, December 12, at 8 o'clock in the district court room in the courthouse. He stated that county and city officials, members of various advisory committees and the public in general are invited to be present to share in a discussion of the part to be played by the agency in the nation's war effort."

Red Cross Gets Wartime Call

"On the heels of the successful annual Red Cross roll call completed last Saturday, the Pennington county chapter swung into action again early this week in response to an appeal for an additional quota of $2,100, representing this county's contribution toward a fund of $50,000,000 to be raised throughout the nation for emergency war relief. The national organization acted immediately following the declaration of war on this nation by Japan Sunday."

—Mail carriers in England are cheering. Christmas greeting cards have been banned because of a paper shortage.

—Mayor LaGuardia of New York, head of civilian defense in the United States, last week married a movie actor and a radio singer. That won't help any.

—Times change. A year ago funds were being collected in this country for Finnish relief.

—After that Japanese war declaration, there no longer is any question of public sentiment being divided in the United States.

Is This The Banana Belt?

"We have heard of many illusions about this being the banana belt, and many wonderful tales about our warm and balmy winter climate, but we will confess to being surprised last Monday when William Eickhoff brought us in an orange which he claimed he had raised on his farm. It is about one inch in diameter and would have been a large orange had it not been picked. It is perhaps needless to state that it was grown in the house convenient to a good stove."

Post office may lose 8 people

Automated processing facility to be located in Grand Forks will handle more mail

by David Hill
Associate Editor

As many as eight jobs at the post office in Thief River Falls could be affected by a plan to process mail in Grand Forks, ND.

Distribution clerks, or employees who process the mail, may see a significant change, but other employees and residents of Thief River Falls will probably see little change. A proposed automated mail processing system, which will replace hand sorting, is expected to streamline mail processing operations; but, that means several jobs will be phased out.

Dick McCloskey, postmaster in Thief River Falls, explained that he is already losing some part-time employee hours because some mail is already being sent to Grand Forks, ND, for processing. He expects to lose some full time positions in the next year.

Even though some of the processing is already taking place, the site for the proposed 60,000 square foot facility that will house the automated equipment has not even been identified. McCloskey said the Grand Forks post office is building up the extra hours, getting more people and mail now because they want to have staff on hand before the building is completed and not have to start after it's built.

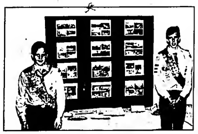
Distribution clerk positions in Thief River Falls may be reduced from 13 to 5 full time positions. McCloskey said the decrease will be first accomplished by natural attrition — not hiring new people after someone quits or retires — and by transfers.

Residents and merchants may benefit from the change because it is expected to stablize postage rates over the long term. According to information from the postal department, the cost of a manual operation is $35 per 1,000 letters. Cost of mechanization is $15 per 1,000. Automation checks in at $3 for every 1,000 letters. Processing becomes 12 times cheaper using automation than by manual means.

Trucking mail from Thief River Falls to Grand Forks for processing may not seem an efficient way of handling the mail, but it is more cost effective than staffing people in both locations. According to information from the postal department, the processing centers will be able to handle large volumes of mail faster as a hub and spoke system. The work hours saved by this move will far exceed any expenditures incurred in transportation. As far as time, processing on the automated equipment not only makes up for transportation, it surpasses the old method.

The program is not just a local one. The program is national in its scope. The Omaha division is one of 74 divisions utilizing area mail processing. Mail processing centers are being consolidated in states all around the area. Among them: Missouri, from 14 to five, Kansas from 11 to six, Colorado from nine to five, Nebraska 10 to four, South Dakota eight to three, and North Dakota 10 to four.

The automated processing centers are still being studied. McCloskey said he doesn't expect the center in Grand Forks to be completed until sometime in 1992.



Newest Eagle Scouts in Troop 57 of Thief River Falls are Jon Hendrickson (left), son of Clark and Anita Hendrickson, and Jason Lambert, son of Jim and Carol Lambert. They received their Eagle rank at a court of honor December 8 at St. Bernard's Catholic church.

Hendrickson and Lambert advance to Eagle Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 57 at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls has added two more members to its list of Eagle Scouts. Jon Hendrickson and Jason Lambert were advanced to Eagle Scout rank at a court of honor Sunday, December 8, at the church.

Jon is the son of Clark and Anita Hendrickson and Jason is the son of Jim and Carol Lambert, all of Thief River Falls. Four other members of the troop received Eagle Scout ranking at a court of honor earlier this fall.

Kent Larson, recently advanced to Eagle Scout and a member of Troop 57, served as host for the court of honor. Darryl Tveitbakk was master of ceremonies and invocation was given by Rev. John Kleinwachter of St. Bernard's church.

Members of the troop participated in the candle lighting ceremony, Bill Fogarty presented the "Voice of the Eagle," Jim Hoks led in the Eagle Scout Oath and Jerome Cota made the presentation of the Eagle Scout award. Special presentations were made to the new Eagle Scouts, choir members sang "On Eagle's Wings" and Mat Hollifield gave the Eagle Challenge.

Brian Fogarty read letters and greetings, comments were given by the new Eagle Scouts and Art Heinze presented the national Eagle Scout award. Rev. Joe DeCrans led in a prayer and benediction, "Let Us Walk in the Light" was sung, colors retired and taps played by Billy Fogarty.

Jon and Jason each completed a special project toward their Eagle Scout qualification. Jon built and installed goose nesting structures on the Elm Lake wildlife management area northeast of Thief River Falls. Jason designed and built a double outdoor toilet for men and Aviation mechanics students at the Thief River Falls Technical college gathered around the Boeing 727 airplane which flew into the Thief River Falls regional airport Thursday afternoon. There are currently 433 students enrolled in the aviation program here. The plane above was provided by Northwest Airlines to carry a group of about 75 people to Thief River Falls for ceremonies involving donation of another Boeing 727 to the technical college here. Fifty-four members of that group had traveled from Thief River Falls to the Twin Cities by school bus early Thursday morning. The plane to be donated, which was to arrive 15 minutes after the plane pictured above, was grounded due to mechanical difficulties and didn't arrive until shortly before 9 a.m. today (Friday). The plane donated by Northwest is valued at approximately $1 million.

Petition apologizes to Red Lake Band

Throughout various locations in Thief River Falls a petition apologizing to the Red Lake band of Chippewa is being circulated. No organization or individual has come forward to take responsibility for or explain the petition, but it is being signed by a number of people.

"There is some pretty strong language in the petition," said Mayor Bob Carlson. Carlson indicated that he'd rather the sponsors just ask the band to reconsider their position. He said he doesn't know why they have to keep stirring it up.

The petitions are being circulated in at least two locations — Dee's Kitchen and The Club.

The petition states: "Please accept our apology for the distrust,

Nativity pageant at Rupprecht farm

Public attendance is invited for the live Nativity pageant to be presented Saturday, December 21, at 7 p.m. at the Donald and Margaret Rupprecht farm northeast of Thief River Falls. A large lighted star will mark the farmstead.

"Come to the Star—Christmas Live" is the title of the half-hour program to be presented. In addition to use of costumes and live animals, the program will include numbers by several soloists and instrumental accompaniment.

Also part of the program this year will be a Nativity narrative as seen through the eyes of Deborah, an orphaned serving girl living and working at her uncle's Bethlehem inn. Deborah, played by Bev Rupprecht, describes the events surrounding the birth of Christ as it might have happened on that first Christmas night nearly 2,000 years ago.

Other characters include Mark and Virginia Swanson, Clark Nelson, Iris Floistad, Darren Nelson, Melodee Rupprecht, Jonelle and Jennifer Swanson, Shara Guidry, Curtis Johnson, Chad Kaushagen and John Sang.

Rev. Eugene Floistad of the Holt Lutheran parish will be narrator and soloists will include Don Lunke, Cecily Johnson, Jan Peterson, Kari DeLap and Groce Hammer. Instrumental music will be provided by Rev. D. Josh Nelson, Rev. Bob Dahlen, Heidi Berning and Lisa DeLap.

Persons attending will join in singing of Christmas carols under the direction of Judy Nelson throughout the program.

The public is reminded that the program is presented in an unheated pole barn with straw bales provided for seating. Those attending are advised to dress appropriately for the weather and conditions.

The Rupprecht farm is located three miles east of Thief River Falls on highway 1, five miles north on Pennington County Highway 20 and one mile east on Marshall County Highway 2.

TRF man enters no plea in Kittson county court

Steven Mark Beich of Thief River Falls entered "no plea" when he appeared Tuesday morning in Ninth District court in Hallock.

Beich is charged with possession of a controlled substance in the first degree after Kittson county officers confiscated packets of cocaine valued at $3,000, a car and over $600 in cash on December 2.

Maximum penalty on the charge is 30 years in prison, a $1 million fine, or both.

Newfolden celebrates OK for school rebuilding

Ron Paggen
MCC Principal

Victory gathering by the Newfolden community to celebrate approval for rebuilding of Marshall County Central high school took place Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden. A lunch was served during those two hours and a brief program was held at 1 p.m. Participating in the program presided over by Ron Paggen, principal at Marshall County Central, were Rep. Jim Tunheim, Kennedy; Rep. Wally Sparby, Thief River Falls; Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, Thief River Falls; and Mark Carlson, member of the School District 441 board. Carlson said preliminary estimates for reconstruction include $3.6 million for the building and $1.1 million for furnishings, fixtures and educational materials. He said demolition of the portion of the building destroyed by the November 7 fire would start soon and it is planned to have graduation ceremonies for the MCC Class of 1992 in the rebuilt school gymnasium this spring.

Organ donation can provide a "Gift of Life"

This year, make a resolution you know you'll be able to keep. The National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest suggests in the season of giving, consider the Gift of Life. "Sign your name to save a life...discuss your feelings about organ donation with your family" is the program theme.

The National Kidney Foundation is launching this special holiday campaign to urge people to consider making a personal commitment to organ donation by signing their driver's license or a Uniform Donor Card.

"The critical shortage of organs available for transplantation is an unnecessary problem, but one that can be lessened by Americans realizing that they have the ability to help save someone else's life someday," said Dr. Charles Smith, Foundation president.

More than 23,000 Americans are waiting for organ transplants, but thousands will not receive one because of a lack of organ donors. In 1990, 9,000 Americans received kidney transplants and more than 18,000 Americans are currently waiting for kidney transplants.

This number could be drastically reduced if more people choose to sign donor cards. "But just as important as signing a donor card is letting your family know your wishes," Dr. Smith added. "Signing a donor card indicates your wish to become a donor, but at the time of donation, your next-of-kin must still sign a donation consent form."

The National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest is one of 50 affiliates which helps more Americans prevent, treat and cure kidney and urinary tract disease than any other voluntary health agency. The foundation is committed to the goal of ensuring that everyone who needs a transplant is able to get one. The work of the National Kidney Foundation is funded entirely by public donations.

For more information about organ donation and a Uniform Donor Card, contact the National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest, 920 South 7th Street, Minneapolis, MN 55415 or call (612) 337-7300.

Beverly Arnston

Arnston is coordinator of tech prep

Beverly Arnston will begin her new position of tech prep program coordinator with School District 564 in Thief River Falls Falls early in January, according to Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools.

She will work with staff of Northland Community college, Thief River Falls Technical college, Northwest Vocational center, Thief River Falls public schools and the University of Minnesota-Crookston to set up curriculum to assist students in preparing for technical careers and/or technical education.

Also joining in the program are Jobs Incorporated of Thief River Falls, the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce and St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator association. The program is funded by a $200,000 tech prep grant received by the school district.

Mrs. Arnston lives in Ada with her husband and two children. She has taught for 14 years in public schools, done one semester of graduate assistant teaching at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks and done professional inservice training for adult basic education instructors. She has been lead teacher for the Northwest Educational Cooperative Service unit adult education program and has six years of experience coordinating the Carl Perkins Women's support services grants for Moorhead technical college.

In addition, she developed curriculum for the state board of technical colleges and worked as a private consultant to develop inservice programming for many public and private professional groups.

Global Studies Institute seeks host families

One thing students at the Northwestern Global Studies Institute at Red Lake Falls have in common is that they are all without family in a world of new experiences, according to Karsten Anderson, residence hall director for the institute.

"One of the most important aspects of the program is to place students with host families for several weeks during their stay in Minnesota," Anderson said.

"The International Pavilion provides residential needs, but it can't match the comforts of home. It's important for students to form family ties through host parents and to strengthen ties to the community."

Anderson said placements are not limited to the Red Lake Falls school district. "By expanding placement options," Anderson said, "we're promoting community involvement on a larger scale, giving more people a chance to participate in global education."

For more information on the program or becoming a host family, contact Anderson or the Red Lake Falls school district at 253-2139.

IMPRESSIONS

BY BETH JOHNSON

'Tis the week before Christmas and all through the town the households are busily running around. A look at the calendar, and a peek in the checkbook, tell all of us that Christmas must soon be here.

So, what do you have left to accomplish before Christmas this year? Are you one of those rare persons who is able to say that all is done for Christmas? Or, are you like me, still trying to get everything done before Christmas has past us by for yet another year?

Gifts are upper most on my list of things to do before Christmas. I have accomplished a great deal in that I have purchased the gifts that I need to mail to all of the various grandparents and cousins and aunts and uncles. That for us is no small task as all of our relatives live hundreds of miles away.

But, the most important relatives, my sons and husband, still need a gift or two from me. It makes me wonder about priorities. Yes, other relatives are very special, but why do I leave my immediate family's gifts until last? At Christmas I sometimes forget in my busyness that those closest to me should be treated with even greater respect and honor than others.

After Christmas gifts, foremost on my list of things to do before Christmas, is Christmas cookies. Christmas just wouldn't seem like Christmas without those cookies which I bake just for Christmas. So far this year, I have not baked a single Christmas cookie. My family is beginning to be somewhat vocal about reminding me that it is my Christmas duty to bake those special cookies. Now, my family has not lacked in Christmas cookies as they do have a grandmother and grandfather who spent most of a week baking special cookies for them which arrived in the mail just a couple of days ago. But, as those cookies are mostly eaten, I guess I can't get away with using my mother's cookies for Christmas. I guess that I'm simply going to have to take time to bake. Actually, I really enjoy baking those cookies, for each time I bake them, I really am baking a little bit of love for my family.

Low on my list of things to do before Christmas this year is Christmas cards. I may or may not have the time to send cards to family and friends. I regret that this may be the year that that means of communication with those on my Christmas card list may need to be neglected. Priorities have to again be assessed by me. Settling into a new house and making that house a home just seems to be a mite more essential than Christmas cards. Next year I'll just—or maybe I should try for Valentine or Easter cards this year????

One thing I have accomplished for Christmas this year is the decorating of our home for Christmas. A week ago, I thought that that would be an impossible task. I barely knew where the boxes were that held the Christmas decorations much less be able to empty those boxes of their contents and in so doing decorate the house for Christmas. But, priorities once again reigned.

Christmas, minus the memories we all associate with various Christmas decorations, just wouldn't seem like Christmas. So, this past weekend, the boxes were opened and the decorations were placed in new places in this, our new home. With those decorations came a sense of peace as they soothed us with the many memories they represented. Our house seems so much more like home with bits of memories spread throughout.

Gifts, cookies, cards and memories are a part of Christmas, but they are not Christmas. Christmas is the birthday of the Christ Child. In all of our scurrying, in all of our baking and memories, if we neglect the Christ Child, we have missed Christmas.

Let priorities reign this Christmas in your family. Don't neglect the Christ Child in your celebrations. He should be the premier priority of your family's Christmas celebration.

River clean-up effort

Red Lake Watershed district will be aided by a Minnesota Youth Conservation Corps cleanup project and a Department of Correction "Sentence to Service" program, according to the International Coalition for Land/Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin.

The youth cleanup project was initiated by former Gov. Rudy Perpich. It is being reinstituted next summer to complete several cleanups.

The "Sentence to Service" program uses area jail inmates to conduct river cleanups. Crews from Crookston and Thief River Falls will begin working this month at various locations throughout the watershed district. Cleanup sites are marked by the watershed district and the Department of Corrections supervises the work.

Marie Hvidsten

Marie Hvidsten hired by TRF school district

Thief River Falls School District recently hired Marie Hvidsten as a part time curriculum specialist for the district.

Her duties will include working with the curriculum committees in the district, Assurance of Mastery program, district-wide Staff Development committee, Outcome Based Education committee, and Planning/Evaluating/Reporting (PER) committee.

Marie will continue to work with the planning and implementation of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts at Lincoln high school that will begin in the Fall of 1992.

She is also employed half time with the Center for School Change, a Blandin Foundation initiative, as the Northern Outreach coordinator. The Center for School Change is an educational innovation program for rural school districts. The center is directed by Joe Nathan and is based out of the Humphrey Institute in Minneapolis.

Marie is married to Larry Haugen and together they have five children. She is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Northland Community College, Bemidji State University, and the University of North Dakota.

slander and threats made towards you by some of the citizens of our community. To say that we are shocked, embarrassed and outraged would be an understatement.

"We did not know Thief River Falls has citizens capable of threatening fellow Americans in such a shameful way. We hope you do not judge the rest of us by the actions of these few people.

"If we had known you were receiving telephone calls that were slanderous, racist or threatening, we would have flooded your offices with calls reassuring you that we (the majority) trust you, honor your heritage, value your friendship and welcome your presence in our lives.

"Although we have never been called on to approve or disapprove of a new business, if we had known the possibility existed that your business would not have been welcomed, we would have become involved to assure a smooth transition of your endeavor.

"We wish you well in your new location, wherever it may be. We wish it could have been in Thief River Falls."

Albert L. Erickson, 73

Thief River Falls — Albert L. Erickson, 73, died December 9 at the Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held December 14 at the Grace Lutheran church in Grygla with Rev. Percy Smerek officiating. Special music was provided by Marie Anderson and Joy Nordby, vocalists, and Joy Nordby, organist. Casketbearers were Wayne Cummings, Reuben Erickson, Donald Thomas, Leland Thomas, Carl Westling and Donald Westling. Interment was in the St. Olaf cemetery. The Green Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements

Albert Lawrence Erickson was born Aug. 31, 1918 in Spring Brook township, Kittson county, the son of Gust and Anna (Warner) Erickson. He attended rural school near Halma, where he farmed until he entered the U.S. Army on May 1, 1942. He served in the South Pacific during World War II and was discharged on Oct. 10, 1945. On June 7, 1946 he was united in marriage to Gladys Tollefson at Pinewood. They made their home and farmed in rural Grygla, Beltrami county, until moving to Minneapolis in 1962. He was employed by Mate Punch and Die company in Anoka as a truck driver. He retired in 1980 and they moved to Brook Park. In 1983 they moved Thief River Falls.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Duane Erickson of Finlayson; two brothers: Leslie Erickson of Coon Rapids and Raymond Erickson of Crosby; and four sisters: Mrs. Albin (Carrie) Anderson of Wall, SD, Agnes Tureson of Hallock, Grace Kiesow of Karlstad and Ruth Tenold of Coon Rapids.

He was preceded in death by one daughter, Diane Lynn in 1977; his parents; three brothers: Roy, Lester and Fred; and five sisters: Minnie Lysford, Ella Cummings, Anna May Erickson, Selma Wertling and Jennie Lofberg.

Alfred Setten, 84

Strandquist — Alfred I. Setten died December 12 at the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Home in Karlstad.

Funeral services were held Decmeber 16 at the Hegland Lutheran church near Strandquist with Rev. David Grothe officiating. Special music was provided by Nancy Mastenbrook, soloist, and Debra Boen, organist. Casketbearers were Mark Ekman, Charles Engler, Lanny Engler, Paul Hagesag, Ryan Knutson and James Polzine. Interment was in the Hegland church cemetery with military honors accorded by the Strandquist American Legion Post #466. The Collins Funeral Home of Karlstad was in charge of arrangements.

Alfred Ingvald Setten was born Dec. 18, 1906 at Eimore, the son of I. J. and Bertha (Benson) Setten. In January 1907 he moved with his family to a homestead in Nelson Park township of Marshall county, near Strandquist, where he attended school and grew up. He was baptized and confirmed in the Hegland Lutheran church. He served in the U.S. Army in the South Pacific during World War II, and, following his discharge in November 1945, he returned to the family farm which he purchased. On Feb. 9, 1947 he was united in marriage to Lorraine Holmlund at Strandquist. The couple farmed until September 1952 when he began employment as a conservation officer for the state of Minnesota. He worked in law enforcement near Lancaster, Plainview and Dundee until his retirement in July 1973. The couple then returned to the farm in Nelson Park township. He was a member of the Strandquist American Legion post. Since June 1991 he has lived at the Karlstad Memorial Nursing center.

He is survived by his wife; three daughters: Mrs. Charles (Julie) Engler of Heron Lake, Mrs. Lanny (Grace) Engler of Wertbrook and Mary Johnson of Newfolden; two sons: Adrie of Chugiak, AK and Gary of Eagle River, AK; nine grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; one brother, Julius of St. Cloud and one sister, Synneva Rokke of Midway City, CA.

Dear Readers,
Many of us feel uneasy when making a call at the funeral home to express our sympathy to the bereaved. Always remember, it doesn't matter how awkwardly an arm is laid across a shoulder, or how over-acted a look of sympathy can be. The important thing is "being there". The presence of friends who care can be a tremendous help to a family in adjusting to their loss.

Respectively,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Visitation will be held Wednesday from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Carlin-Hoialmen Funeral Home with a 7 p.m. prayer service and on Thursday at the church for one hour before the service.

A complete obituary will be printed in a later edition of the Times.

Gladys Ballingrud, 79

Bemidji — Gladys Ballingrud, 79, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died December 13 at the Whitehouse Health care center in Roseville.

Funeral services were held December 16 at the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. D. Josh Nelson officiating. Special music was provided by Dorothy Larson, organist. Casketbearers were Michael Phelps, Mathew Phelps, Kim Engelstod, Rosanne Ballingrud, Michael Hajostek and Thales Grindeland. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery. The Belmont Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Gladys Qual was born Feb. 2, 1912 at Twin Valley, the daughter of Peter and Anna (Groslie) Qual. At the age of 13 she moved to Bemidji with her family and lived there until 1931, when she moved to Thief River Falls. She was married on Nov. 2, 1933 to Ernert Ballingrud in Thief River Falls. Her husband died on Jan. 4, 1982. In September 1982 she moved to Bemidji, where she lived until September 1991. At that time she entered the White House Health care center in Roseville. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church and a former member of the Eagles auxiliary.

She is survived by five daughters: Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Carpenter of Hawthorne, CA, Mrs. Ronald (Donna) Aase of Roseville, Bette Davenport of Chandler, OK, Arden Phelps of Roseville and Mrs. Joseph (Susan) LaFontaine of Seattle, WA; two sons: Philip of Grand Forks, ND and Milo of St. Louis Park; 17 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; two sisters: Fern Scheuerman of Sedro Woolley, WA, and Floy Eddy of Bow, WA; and one brother, Wallace Qual of LaPine, OR.

She was preceded in death by her husband; her parents; one great-grandson; and six brothers: Phillip, Quinton, Kenneth, Levi, Vernon and Lloyd.

Karl G. Poppenhagen, 42

Prior Lake — Karl G. Poppenhagen, 42, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died December 10 at Prior Lake.

Funeral services were held December 13 at the Ballard-Busse Funeral Home in Prior Lake with Rev. A. Paul Olson officiating. Casketbearers were Keith Poppenhagen, Kip Poppenhagen, Lee Rupprecht, Mark Hegdtveldt, Bruce Prichasd and Craig Chislom. Interment was in the Fort Snelling National cemetery in Minneapolis.

Karl G. Poppenhagen was born July 12, 1949 in Thief River Falls, the son of George and Laura (Rupprecht) Poppenhagen. He had been a resident of Prior for many years. He was self-employed as a flooring contractor. He was a member of the Vietnam Veterans association at Apple Valley.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. T. R. (Mischelle) Yantis of Mankato; his father; two brothers: Keith Poppenhagen of Anoka and Kip Poppenhagen of Maple Grove; one sister, Kay Poppenhagen; and special friend, Susie Scherer of Prior Lake.

He was preceded in death by his mother.

Karen L. Maves, 44

Kelso, WA — Karen L. Maves, 44, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died November 19 at Cathlamet, WA.

Funeral services were held December 5 at the Shekinah Christian center in Longview, WA, with Rev. Roger Lucas officiating. The Dahl's Ditlevsen-Moore Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Karen Lynn Maves was born July 31, 1947 at Denver, CO, the daughter of Ralph and Edna (Kayala) Maves. She was raised by her uncle and aunt, Wilbert and Hazel Maves in Thief River Falls. She attended school in Minnesota and moved to the Longview-Kelso ase in 1983 from Newport, OR. She was a member of the Shekinah Christian center and was active in the bereavement support group.

She is survived by one son, Cory of Duluth; and one daughter, Stephanie Anderson of Duluth.

Scholarship in Gerald Hoefer memory given

With the support of the Hoefer family, Northwest Stockmen's association recently elected to establish the Gerald Hoefer memorial scholarship fund at the University of Minnesota—Crookston.

Hoefer, who farmed at rural Red Lake Falls for 19 years, died last summer. He was a member of the Northwest Stockmen's association.

Hoefer's family and the stockmen's association have committed $6,500 toward the endowed scholarship fund and the association has initiated a fund drive to raise a matching $6,500. When the endowment has been established, interest earnings from the fund will support one or more scholarships annually for agriculture students at UMC.

"The family is so pleased the stockmen's association has chosen to honor Gerald by establishing a scholarship in his memory," his wife Barbara said. "Gerald believed that agriculture is very important to the economy and if we want our children to continue on in that field we need to help support them."

To contribute to the memorial fund, send checks payable to the "UMC Foundation-Hoefer Scholarship Fund", to the Development Office, University of Minnesota, Crookston, MN 56716.

Caps, mittens purchased for school children

Agreement on credit transfer

An agreement between the Minnesota Community Colleges and the University of Minnesota's College of Liberal Arts will now make it easier for students to transfer into CLA with an associate of arts degree.

Effective immediately, completion of a community college associate of arts degree will automatically satisfy CLA requirements for freshman composition, science, math and logic, social science and fine arts. Students would no longer be subject to a course-by-course review, as under the old system. They would still have to complete some additional CLA requirements such as cultural pluralism, world studies and second language proficiency.

"We studied the content of the associate of arts degree and found it was very similar to our own understanding of the core requirements of a liberal education," said Anne Hopkins, vice provost for arts, sciences and engineering. "The graduation rates and academic performances of students with AA degrees compare favorably with students who begin their academic careers in CLA."

The associate of arts degree requires completion of at least 60 credits in liberal arts courses, with at least 48 of those credits distributed in subject areas similar to CLA's group distributions. The comparable package of requirements in CLA amounts to 53 credits.

"I'm so pleased we've been able to work out this arrangement," said CLA dean Julia Davis. "It'll be enormously beneficial to students throughout Minnesota."

Gambling hotline is available

Minnesota's Department of Human Services has announced a new state-wide, 24 hour hotline number for compulsive gamblers. The hotline is being operated by the Minnesota Institute of Public Health.

With new and increased availability of gambling it can be expected that more people will gamble and more people will develop gambling problems, according to Alan Mathiason, director of the compulsive gambling treatment program.

Between 60 and 80 per cent of all adults in Minnesota have gambled in one form or another. Studies done in Minnesota in 1990 found that over eight per cent of adults were problem or pathological gamblers. Over six per cent of Minnesota adolescents are considered problem gamblers with an additional 20 per cent defined as "at risk" gamblers.

By calling 1-800-437-3641, gamblers, concerned persons or organizations can receive information about compulsive gambling and/or referrals for compulsive gamblers. The hotline service is free, confidential and available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Callers to the hotline will be provided information and/or be directed to an appropriate resource: a referral to a local Gamblers Anonymous or Gam Anon meeting; referral for assessment or treatment services for the gambler; referral to an agency that can provide legal or financial assistance, or referral to individuals who can provide counseling or just simply listen.

"Most importantly," Mathiason said, "there is help available for the gambler and the gambler's family."

The Minnesota Institute of Public Health has openings for volunteers to answer hotline calls as well as people in local communities throughout the state to make presentations on compulsive gambling. Individuals interested in either type of service may call Roger Svendsen or Karwyn Meyer at the Minnesota Institute of Public Health, phone (612) 224-5121, for more information.

Hal Freeman

Hal Freeman attends diabetes clinical update

Hal Freeman, OD, Thief River Falls, was among 250 optometrists, physicians, educators, nurses and paraoptimetrics to attend "Diabetes: Clinical Update '91". The three day seminar, held in Rochester, MN, was sponsored by the North Central States Optometric Council and the Minnesota Optometric Association.

Approximately 14 million Americans have diabetes. The disease is the leading cause of blindness in adults. Nearly 8,000 new cases of diabetic vision loss are recorded each year. At the same time, the disease can have harmful effects on the brain, kidneys, heart, and peripheral blood vessels.

The conference addressed topics related to diabetic prevalence, research, testing, treatment, side-effects, complications and education. The goal of the conference was to decrease complications of diabetes through better detection, earlier diagnosis, improved treatment, patient care and education, and cooperative management.

According to a 1988 Minnesota Department of Health surveillance project, the cost of diabetes to the health care system in Minnesota alone is in excess of $300 million per year. Each year that figure is rising. The study cited that $37 million could be saved each year with early detection and proper treatment of diabetes.

Cenex reports record sales

Cenex, the regional agricultural supply cooperative, reported record net income of $60.5 million for 1991 on sales of $1.7 billion at its annual meeting December 11-12 at the Minneapolis convention center.

Results are for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1991. The strong financial performance places the cooperative in a position to undertake significant investments, it was announced, including a recently completed $30 million pipeline extension and a planned more than $80 million upgrading at its Laurel, MT, refinery.

The 1991 results were the culmination of the three strongest consecutive years in the cooperative's 61-year history. Cenex recorded net income of $44.1 million on sales of $1.6 billion for 1990 and earnings of $43.7 million on sales of $1.4 billion for 1989.

The 1991 net income of $60.5 million exceeded the previous record of $50.8 million set in 1975. Cenex serves 320,000 farmers and ranchers through approximately 1,900 local cooperatives in 15 states from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Northwest.

Speaking Of . . .

. . . Solving My Christmas Problems

Christmas Eve is less than a week away. Am I the only person who is behind with Christmas things this year?

Monday morning I realized that I have started everything and finished nothing, and what's worse, by the time this column comes out, Christmas Eve will be less than a week away.

I saw several magazine articles on how to structure my time for Christmas, but I didn't have time to read them when I saw them and now it is too late. Besides, I can't find the magazines any more. I'm just going to have to solve these problems by myself.

I know of several people who are finished with their shopping, baking, decorating, Christmas cards, tree, and all the rest. I'd rather not talk to them. Actually, I decided I'm going to avoid anyone like that, because they just make me feel guilty. If you've finished everything, don't tell me about it or I won't talk to you any more. No more feeling guilty, and one problem solved.

I haven't finished shopping. I just know everything I want is gone by now, so I've been trying to think of alternate things to buy, and I just know that anything I want or need is on sale this very minute but will not be by the time I get to the store. I don't care, I'll buy it anyway, even if I pay a little more. Another problem solved!

I ordered some gifts from a catalog this year. I thought that was extremely brilliant—until I didn't receive some very important gifts. I solved that problem by running out and buying replacements immediately, but…

…Now I have another problem coming because I know that my charge card will be wrong when it comes this month and I will spend all of January trying to figure out what I got and what I didn't get and trying to get the company to understand why I am only paying part of my bill. Oh well, what better things do I have to do in January, anyway? I guess the problem will get solved by February, at least.

I have wrapped hardly any gifts, unless you count the ones I popped into those little "gift bags" for the office Christmas party. Not only have I not wrapped the gifts I have, but I'm not even sure I can find them all. I hid them around the house and I hid them at the office, and I wonder if I will ever be able to unearth them. Oh well, no one will know if I don't tell them. I'll just save them for next year. Ha—another one solved!

I haven't finished my Christmas baking. I have some cookies hidden away—I think—unless the kids got into them. But I haven't made several of those special things that I always make for Christmas, like caramels and rosettes. And I know that if I don't make some certain thing, thinking I might cut it out just this once because I don't have time, surely one or another of the kids will say, "Why didn't you make _____ ? It just isn't Christmas without _____!" Would I be a terrible mother if I solved that problem by telling them to make it themselves?

I didn't write Christmas letters to go with my Christmas cards. I sent cards to friends who live out of town with notes telling them that I would write them after the holidays. I solved that one, too!

I haven't finished decorating the house. I still have a box of decorations sitting in my living room. I'm going to put it away until next year. Another problem solved!

My tree could use a little work. It is looking a little shopworn, since I've had it up since the last week of November. But it's good enough. With the lights shining and presents piled, it will look just fine.

I realized I had another problem Monday morning too. I hadn't done my December 17 column on Sunday night, and I couldn't think of anything to write about. Well, I guess I have solved that problem, too, haven't I!

Hotline helps college students

Students wishing to transfer credits between colleges and universities can get help by telephone from a newly-established transfer hotline.

The toll-free line is staffed by former students who have gone through the transfer process themselves and is operated by the Office of Intersystem Cooperation, a coordinated effort among the University of Minnesota, Community College System, Technical College System and State University System.

The hotline can be reached free from anywhere in Minnesota at 1-800-374-5000. Along with telephone advice, the former students staffing the hotline can also provide students with the name of a transfer specialist on each public college or university campus in Minnesota.

The hotline is one of the steps being taken by Minnesota's public colleges and universities to simplify the transfer of credits. Number of students starting at one college and finishing at another has grown considerably since 1983. About 20,000 students enrolling last fall brought with them college credits earned somewhere else.
